NOTICE.

TO THE ELECTORS OF ERNESTTOWN.

Gentlemen,—The reason our names were not on the ballot for Councillors for 1922 was that our Township Clerk, E. O. Clark, said at the nomination we had till 9 o'clock Wednesday night to qualify. We went out Wednesday, but were told we were too late.

Hoping to serve you in the future, and wishing you the compliments of the Season, we remain

Yours truly,

CHESTER NICHOLSON
WESLEY SHARPE.

KIRBY—SHANNON.

On Thursday, December 29th, 1921, the marriage of Miss Norma Eilleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Shannon, of Napanee, to Mr. Herbert Bell Kirby, of Calgary, was solemnized at the bride's home, at high noon, the Rev. Dr. S. J. Shorey officiating. The side of the drawing room where the ceremony was performed was banked with beautiful ferns and cut flowers, and the bride was very pretty in her travelling suit of soft reindeer velour, richly embroidered and trimmed with beaver. A chic hat of king's blue and silver completed her costume, her only ornament being a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. She wore a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses, lilies-of-the-valley and maidenhair fern.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by the bride's sister, Miss Muriel Shannon. A dainty wedding buffet luncheon was served in the dining room, where the decorations were all in white and green; fragrant white narcissi and graceful trailing smilax giving the bride's table a pretty effect. Mr. and Mrs. Kirby left at once for Calgary, where their future home will be, and will spend several days in Toronto, Hamilton and Winnipeg en route.

This is the season for feeding Dr. Hess' Stock Tonic. Every pail guaranteed to give results. Wallace's, Napanee agents for Hess' Poultry Panacea.

Winter on Monday, Jan. 2nd.—Miss Jean Ramsay, who has been teaching at Enterprise, is taking charge of Violet school. — Mr. Shorey, son of Rev. Dr. Shorey, of Napanee, has been engaged as teacher in the High School, filling the vacancy made by the resignation of Miss Wilson.—Mr. and Mrs. Herkimer Aylsworth, of Deseronto, were in the village on Friday last, attending the funeral of the late J. B. Aylesworth.—Misses Hazel and Edith Dafoe, of Violet, were bright guests at the home of Mrs. J. S. Yeomans, for a few days last week.—Mrs. Libbie Weese was at the home of her son, Briden Weese, on Saturday last, and witnessed the marriage of her granddaughter, Miss Marion Weese, to Mr. Hubert Wartman, of Wesley.—Rev. E. B. Cooke, pastor of the Methodist Church, and Mr. J. J. Lindsay, of Toronto, are conducting evangelistic services for two weeks.—Miss Marion Sutton, of Watertown, N.Y., was with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sutton, for the holidays.—There was a good attendance at the Methodist Sunday School on Sunday last despite the cold weather. This school is undertaking the study of the graded lessons. The memorizing of Scripture is one of the features of Sunday School work. There is no time like youth to learn the Scriptures. John Yeomans was awarded for saying the most number of verses during 1921, while James Yeomans received a reward for reciting the Primary catechism correctly. Every one is invited to come to Sunday School.—Miss Quail, of Utica, N.Y., and Miss Gladys Quail, of Kingston, were home for Christmas.—A number of the villagers attended the teameeting at Centreville on Monday, Jan. 2nd, and took part in the programme.

BETHANY.

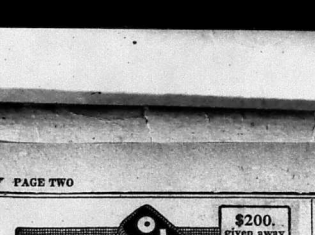

Election passed off quietly, it being very cold, not a large vote being cast. —Miss Neva Hambly returned to her school at Roblin, after spending the Xmas holidays with her parents. — Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. H. Miller spent Friday last at E. Rendell's, Deseronto.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Rowe, Northport, spent New Years with their daughter, Mrs. E. Hambly.—The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. F. Clark on Wednesday. —Mr. Clarence Lowry and Miss Dowling, of Toronto, spent the week end at A. Dean's and G. Burtch's. — Mr. and Mrs. B. Huyck and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Miller spent the New Year at Mr. W. R. Miller's.—Mr. and Mrs. G. Burtch spent Wednesday evening at A. Dempsey's.—A little girl has applied for board at Mr. J. Davis'. — Mrs. R. Loucks, Napanee, is spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Davis.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Keech were At Home to a number of friends on New Years Day.—Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Wamsley and daughters, also Mr. and Mrs. S. Wamsley spent New Years Day at Mr. E. Wamsley's. — Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vandewaters, of Wellington, also Mr. and Mrs. H. Aylsworth, of Deseronto, visited at Mr. Jas. Miller's, on Thursday last.—Mr. and Mrs. E. Howell, also Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Burtch spent Friday evening at Ross Joyce's. — Some are hauling wood, but there is not enough snow to draw very much.

McLEAN.

The Xmas tree on Dec. 22nd was a great success.—Mrs. Mary J. Cronk continues very low at time of writing. —The scarlet fever patients are all better, and several families are suffering with pink eye. Some think it would be a good thing if a health officer lived at this corner.—Mrs. Chas. T. Guiles has returned home, after spending the holidays at A. Cousins', accompanied by her little daughter, Elva.—Etta Kellar, Harry Foster, Toronto, and Oscar Vanvolkenburg and Phillis have returned to their respective homes, after spending their holidays at A. Foster's. — Wesley Young at Milford Wagar's.— Joseph Card at Levi Snider's, on Sunday.—Ross Cousins is spending New Years holidays with friends at Enterprise and Moscow.—It is to be hoped that the township election will not cause as much excitement as the Provincial did. Glad to say our Reeve, G. M. Drew, was elected by acclamation.—School meeting passed off very quietly, but no teacher for here yet as usual. It would be a great surprise if McLean school would open on regular terms as most all other schools do. We have had a change of eleven teachers in eight years.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

By the Canadian Forestry Association.

Q. I have a son just graduated from High School who wishes to take a training in Forestry. What schools are available in Canada?

A. There are Forestry Schools at University of Toronto, Laval University, Quebec, University of New Brunswick, Fredericton and University of British Columbia, Vancouver. Write to the nearest one for a calendar. The usual course is four years and the summer vacations are usually spent in actual woods work in the employ of governments or private companies.

Q. I have had some little experience as a woodsman and would like to qualify for a position in the Government Forest Service. Is there any short course available?

A. Nearly all the senior executive officers in the government forest services are graduate foresters who have spent at least four years in a college of forestry. We have not as yet any Canadian schools to train men for the junior branches. You might write the College of Forestry, Syracuse, N.Y., for particulars regarding the State Ranger School at Wanakena, N.Y. The latter provides a short course such as you desire.

Q. I have heard somewhere that it takes several hundred spruce logs to produce a single edition of one of our large daily newspapers. Have you the figures for this?

A. It has been estimated that a newspaper with one hundred thousand circulation will require about 225 average size spruce and balsam logs for a single issue.

Q. Would you advise planting Manitoba Maple as a shade tree?

A. As you are living in Eastern Canada you had better choose a more satisfactory maple. The Manitoba Maple is a quick grower and that is about its only worthy feature, particularly when you have the choice of a dozen far superior shade tree species. Why not a Norway Maple?

Q. Is it true that the people of Canada are the legal owners of nearly all the forest lands?

A. It is true indeed and a fortunate fact for the Canadian people. While a considerable part of the standing timber is leased to corporations and put to good use, the title to the land itself remains in the name of the people. This means that the many lumbermen or pulp manufacturers are responsible for the management of the timberlands and will be answerable for handing on to the next generation the forest asset in as good or better condition than we ourselves have found it.

ROD AND GUN IN CANADA.

Lovers of the out-of-door life will welcome the January edition of Rod and Gun in Canada, which contains many interesting and instructive articles and stories dealing with Nature and her children, in the winter. "Teens Less Twenty," is the title of a romantic story by Charles Dorian, the well known short story writer, which appears in this issue along with several other stories by such well known writers as E. T. Williams, Harry M. Moore, E. T. Martin and others equally well known. For the firearms crank there is the usual valuable Guns and Ammunition department and special articles on rifle and revolver shooting. The fisherman takes a trip along a New Scotian trout stream, by Bonnycastle Dale, while Robert Page Lincoln's articles open the road to the thrills of ice fishing. The trapper is taken care of by M. B. Bates and Archie Jesselyn, in the Trap Line department. The January issue of the national sportsman's magazine of Canada is published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock.

Pat was helping the gardener on a gentleman's place, and, observing a shallow stone basin containing water, he inquired what it was for.

"That," said the gardener, "is a bird bath."

"Don't ye be foolin' me," grinned Pat. "What is it?"

"A bird bath, I tell you. Why do you doubt it?"

"Because I don't believe there's a bird alive that can lift Saturday night from any other."

YULETIDE MARRIAGE.

Since the passing of Mrs. C. E. Wilton some time over half years ago, Du Loe Farm has been without a mistress. Mr. Wilton and Mr. Clarence dwelling together in loneliness. But time has brought changes. Brighter days have dawned and Du Loe Farm has once more a mistress, for on Monday of this week Mr. Clarence Wilton brought to his ancestral home his bride, nee Miss Ruth Henwood, to whom he had been wedded at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Henwood, Napanee on Wednesday, Dec. 14th. The ceremony was performed at 1 p.m., by Rev. Mr. Tait, the bride's pastor, assisted by Rev. J. N. Lovelace, Centreton, brother-in-law of the bride, and was witnessed by only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The parlors were decorated with evergreens, mums and carnations. During the ceremony the bride and groom stood beneath an arch of evergreens twined with white ribbon and flecked with flowers. The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her father and was most becomingly attired in a gown of ivory pean-de-soie with garniture of seed pearls and silk fringe, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and lilies of the valley. Dinner was served in the dining-room which was decorated after the same plan as the parlors, and then the happy couple left amid showers of confetti for their honeymoon trip to Belleville and Port Hope. Mrs. Wilton travelling in a dress of navy blue serge relieved with touches of henna, with hat to match.

Mrs. Wilton does not come among us as a stranger, because last winter she spent a couple of months at the parsonage here with her sister, Mrs. Lovelace, and during her stay assisted freely in church work and social activities, thereby making many acquaintances and not a few warm friends, all of whom join in welcoming her as a resident of the community and wishing long life and prosperity to her and her husband, who by the way, is generally esteemed a jolly good fellow in the best sense of the term.

On Monday evening a number of friends gathered at Du Loe Farm to greet Mr. and Mrs. Wilton and enjoy a social evening together.—Cobourg World, Friday, Dec. 23rd, 1921.

RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism is produced by the accumulation of Uric Acid in the Blood and this poisonous substance attacks and inflames the membrance covering the joints and muscles. The sharp needles, thus producing severe pains. If the waste products in the system are not properly carried off, Uric Acid forms and is deposited in the joints and between the different layers of muscles. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS will correct this by its action on the Kidneys, and removing the Uric Acid from the blood. Try them and watch the results. If they fail, your money will be refunded. 50c. and $1.00 a box at Hooper's Drug Store, Napanee, Ont. The Henderson Herb Co., Toronto, Ont. " 1b

SEED POTATO STORING

Practical Advice Regarding Their Winter Placing and Keep.

The Stored Tubers Require Oxygen—Importance of Ventilation—Influence of Temperature—Look Over Seed at Planting—Danger to Hogs In Feeding Salt.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The potato is a living organism and if not kept under conditions favorable to continued life will die. Seed potatoes frequently fail to produce plants. The cause may be due to the death of the buds before planting.

Oxygen a Necessity.

All living plants require oxygen, and with the potato in storage this is obtained directly from the air. Potatoes in storage take in oxygen and also give off carbon dioxide and heat. The carbon dioxide and heat are harmful, and will destroy the tubers for seed purposes. Potatoes stored in dead air for 100 days rarely sprout and grow when planted. Potatoes stored in a moisture saturated air generally mold, soften and rot. Potatoes for seed purposes should be dry, clean and cool when placed in the storage bin or cellar—a dry earth floor is to be preferred.

Ventilation Important.

The ventilation should be arranged so that air is admitted at the bottom of the bins, move upwards very slowly and escape at the ceiling or roof through ventilators designed to carry away water vapor and heat. Small bins separated by an air space or some arrangement such as an air box or double slatted gate that will prevent dead or warm air accumulations are to be preferred to large bin storage where the temperatures may run too high or the air become moist and dead.

Influence of Temperature.

Potatoes stored in cellars when the temperature is kept at 55 degrees will sprout in about 75 days. If the temperature is kept at 45 degrees the sprouting will be slower, usually about 125 days. A 40 degree temperature will delay the sprouting still further, holding up the maturing process so that the buds do not start while in storage until about 200 days from the time of entering the storage. Temperatures of 60 degrees and upward, together with light generally give considerable trouble through inducing sprouting. Cellars that can be kept under 50 degrees and given sufficient ventilation to prevent dead air or moisture accumulations are generally satisfactory.

Examine Seed at Planting Time.

At planting time the seed may be firm and look all right. If it fails to send up good strong sprouts in reasonable time after planting you are advised to investigate the conditions under which the seed potatoes had been stored as one of the possible causes of failure. Plant live seed and get a one hundred per cent. stand of vigorous plants. In buying seed potatoes get them early, examine the tubers and if in doubt about their vitality plant a few early and watch developments before planting the main crop.—L. Stevenson, Secretary Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

Danger to Hogs In Feeding Salt.

Salt is dangerous to hogs. Though, like other animals, swine crave salt they are more easily poisoned even by small quantities of it. If they receive small amounts regularly at first they seem to develop a tolerance for salt, but care must be exercised in giving it to them.

Certain pigs were allowed to graze in pastures with cattle where they had access to a salt block or trough, licked the salt ravenously, and all but three of the herd died. In another case where salt brine was mistaken for sugar-water and fed to hogs with garbage, the pigs were poisoned and died within 48 hours.

Salt-poisoned pigs usually show no symptoms until from 12 to 24 hours or more. They then show increased thirst, dizziness, or a deep stupor, frothing at the mouth, refusing food, and sometimes being afflicted with vomiting or diarrhoea. Death usually follows after 24 hours.

Treatment in such cases may consist of a dose of two teaspoons of cornstarch boiled in two ounces of water until transparent and then diluted with water enough to make one pint; or a tablespoon of unground linseed mixed with water until it makes a mucilaginous mass.

When salt is given to pigs it should be included as an ingredient in a mixture containing three parts each of sodium sulphate, sodium chloride (salt), sodium carbonate, iron sulphate, and one part of flowers of sulphur. This may be placed in some kind of a self-feeder where hogs may have free access to it, or, it may be given by mixing about three to five tablespoons to a barrel of slop-feed, or from two to three tablespoons to the bushel of dry feed, mix thoroughly.

It is not advisable to have salt alone in any kind of container at the free disposal of hogs.

Place for Horses to Roll.

Unless horses are closely confined in stalls most of the time, they are more apt to roll in the filth and manure than if they had been taken out and allowed to roll once a day. Letting them roll outside of stalls saves much currying and brushing, avoids the possibility of the animal rolling where it would get dust, and adds to its health and vigor by anything but closely.

CARE OF THE TRACTOR

Practical Advice About Running This Farm Machine.

House the Tractor—It Must Be Kept Clean—Be Careful In Lubricating With Oils and Grease — Air Cleaning.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

In the year 1892 the Hart-Parr Co. built their first tractor. During 1910 there were about 1,300 tractors sold in the United States, and in 1920 this number was increased to 175,000. This year the sales are greater than the total for the past ten years, many dealers being sold out in the first four months of the year. These figures are a pretty fair indication that the tractor is taking its place as a farm implement. Farm implements generally have a very short life, and tractor depreciation is usually reckoned at from 20 to 25 per cent.

Housing.

A good tractor deserves the best of protection and when not in use or stored for the winter should be in a shed that is weather tight. If it is to be left in the field over night it should be covered with a waterproof canvas to properly protect the wiring, magneto, etc.

Cleaning.

Exposure is not by any means the only ill-treatment to which a tractor is subjected. Have you not often seen them so covered with dirt and grease that you wonder how they can carry the extra load? If the work of carrying it was all it would not be so bad, but the great trouble with these dirt accumulations is that sooner or later the grit is going to work into the bearings and get into the carburetor, with the result that you have ground-out bushings and scored cylinders. To clean off these accumulations each day will take but a few moments and pay you well. To allow them to stand for a week or so means that the heat of the engine will burn them and make their removal a very difficult matter.

Lubricating.

Oil in a gas engine or tractor serves three purposes: 1, general lubrication; 2, compression seal in the cylinder; 3, cooling.

For each part of an engine that requires oil there must be an adequate supply or that part is going to fail sooner or later. It has been said that not one man in a hundred knows every oil hole on his tractor. This is nearer the truth than may be imagined, and part of the fault lies with the manufacturer who places oil holes or grease cups in places where it would almost require a detective to find them. You must study your oiling chart, and then follow the system of oiling as laid down in your tractor manual. Give the manufacturer credit for knowing the oiling needs of his product. Oils and greases should be bought most carefully. Each manufacturer will tell you what oil to use in his particular machine. The reason different tractors call for different oils is because they differ in construction, speed and operating temperature. To make sure that you are getting the oil recommended, buy it in sealed containers.

Mechanical Oilers.

Some tractors are equipped with mechanical oilers. In these cases fresh oil is constantly supplied to certain parts. These oilers work so well that they are often forgotten. Not long ago a tractor operator heard one of his cylinders blowing gas past the piston. On examination it was found that the piston was dry and badly scored. Further examination revealed the fact that the little pump in the oiler which should have been supplying oil to that cylinder had stopped working. The oiler was drained and washed out well with kerosene. Then it was turned out and fresh oil put into the oiler. It was again turned by hand and again that particular pump did not work. The oiler was now removed and taken apart when, after quite a careful search, a small bit of chaff was found in one of the tubes of passages. The bit of chaff would let the thin kerosene pass but stopped the thick cylinder oil.

Equal care as to cleanliness should be observed as to greases. If grit is on your hands or whatever you are using to fill the grease cups with, you may be sure you are going to have scored bearings. In filling the cups see that there is no air left in them and then turn them down until you see grease squeezed out of the bearing. This makes sure that it is getting where it will do good. It is wasting money to buy a low grade grease because they consist mainly of a low grade soap and a large amount of water and will freeze. Cheap greases also contain acid fats and are certain to spoil the highly-finished surfaces of anti-friction bearings.

Air Cleaning.

Do not neglect the air cleaner. If water is used, for example, it should be cleaned out at noon and again in the evening. It is very important to not allow it to get dry. Old style cleaners drew the air through felt pads. This type should be discarded and a more modern one put in its place. In such circumstances it is possible to ruin a tractor in two days by refusing it without the washer performing its functions.

The above does not pretend to cover all the points in tractor care, but does emphasize those that are most commonly neglected.—S. W. Kendall, Farm Mechanics Dept., O. A. College, Guelph.

THEIR LUCKY DAY

How Members of Camping Party Found a Cook.

Finding of Manna in the Wilderness or Getting Water From Rock Would Not Have Been Wonderful After That Experience.

It might seem reasonable to believe that in the wilderness the troubles and trials caused by cooks or the want of cooks could be comfortably left behind, but according to Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart such is not the case. So essential a place in the routine of a large camping party does a cook occupy that trouble with that important personage is a dire calamity. In "Tenting Tonight" Mrs. Rinehart gives her views on the subject and describes the nerve-racking experience of trying to keep hold of an unstable cook.

By the end of the second day, she says, we were well away from even that remote part of civilization from which we had started, and a terrible fact was dawning on us. The cook did not like us!

Now, the center of a camping trip is the cook. He has the hardest job that I know of. He cooks with inadequate equipment on a tiny stove in the open, where the air blows the smoke into his face and cinders into his food. Worse than that, he must cook not only for the party, but for a hungry crowd of guides and packers that sits in a circle and watches him, and urges him, and gets under his feet. He is the first up in the morning and the last in bed. He has to dry his dishes on anything that comes handy, and then pack all his "grub" on an unreliable horse and start off for the next camping ground.

So, knowing all this, and also that we were about a thousand miles from the nearest employment office and several days' hard riding from a settlement, we went to Bill with tribute. We praised his specialties. We gave him a college lad, turned guide for the summer, to assist him. We gathered up our own dishes. But gloom hung over him like a cloud.

A few days later the climax came. One afternoon we found a ranger's cabin and rode into its inclosure for luncheon. Breakfast had been early, and we were very hungry. We had gone long miles through the thick and silent forest, and now we wanted food. We sat in a circle on the ground and talked about food.

At last the chuck wagon drove in. We stood up and gave a hungry cheer, and then—Bill was gone! Some miles back he had halted the wagon, got out, taken his bed on his back, and started toward civilization on foot. We stared blankly at the teamster.

"Well," we said, "what did he say?"

"All he said to me was 'So long!'" replied the teamster.

And that was all there was to it. There we were in the wilderness, far, far from a cook.

In savage silence we lunched out of tins. When we spoke it was to impose horrible punishments on the defaulting cook. In silence we finished our luncheon; in silence, mounted our horses. In black and hopeless silence we rode on north, moving every moment further and farther from cooks and hotels and tables d'hote.

At last in a clearing we saw a man sitting quite idly beside the trail. We rode up to him and said:

"Do you know of any place where we can find a cook?"

And this man, who had dropped from heaven replied:

"I am a cook."

So we put him on our extra saddle horse and took him with us. He cooked for us with might and main, down and night, until the trip was over.

There Are Many of Them.

An old woman from Sullivan county came to a recent convention held at Indianapolis. Now, never before had she attended a convention, and she had very strange ideas of conventions—such as to thinking that they were made up of banquets, parties, etc. But this one was just a line of lectures, lectures, lectures. And the old lady did not like it at all.

At the close of the last day she went back to her hotel, weary, disappointed and hungry. She saw another delegate and began to talk to her of the week's lectures. "No, indeed, I have not liked this," she said emphatically. And, more than that, I know I never shall be a conventional woman."—Indianapolis News.

Resumed Trade With America.

Senator, the most important Turkish port on the Black sea, is chiefly noted as a center for high-grade tobacco, most of which is purchased by American buyers of American tobacco companies. The first shipment for the United States after the armistice was on March 24, 1919. The only two articles exported to the United States up to December 1, 1919, were tobacco and poppy seed.

Oil Cake Substitute for Coal.

In Egypt cottonseed oil cake seems to be proving a satisfactory substitute for coal. The present value of the oil cake is less than a fifth of the cost of coal.

A Question.

"He accused me of pussyfoot methods."

"I didn't hear him say anything like that."

"Well, he said I was a cat's paw."

The Railways of Canada Draw to Your Attention the

NEW RAILWAY RATES!

FOR PASSENGERS

The advance on sleeping and parlor car tickets authorized in 1920 has been cut in half—the advance made on ordinary fares at that time having been completely taken off many months ago.

FOR SHIPPERS

The percentage of advance granted to the Railways in 1920 has been reduced ten points. In addition to a five point drop at the first of the year.

These changes became effective December 1st.

Your cost of Living

YOUR cost of living should be directly affected. If it is not it is because (1) as the railways have pointed out before, the actual money paid for their services is an almost negligible factor in making prices, and because (2) even the huge sum now cut out of the railways' revenues and amounting to approximately—

$25,000,000.00 *

annually—becomes a very small fraction of a cent when split up among the billions upon billions of small and large articles which constitute the freight traffic of Canada during a year. And because

(3) the Court which has the power to control railway rates is not able to direct who is or is not to get the benefit of reductions. In other words, whether these savings in railway charges are passed on to you—or whether they are absorbed in marketing, cannot be controlled either by the railways or the public.

BUT this fact remains: a very great sum of money—enough to build every year a small city, or a Quebec Bridge, or four hundred and fifty of the newest and most powerful locomotives—is now removed from the revenues of the Canadian Railways and should be reflected, at least to some extent, in the family budgets of all Canadians!

WHETHER your railways can continue to function without the revenue thus lost to them, is an experimental problem facing the various managements. It depends largely on whether traffic keeps up or falls off—and whether costs rise or decline. But the managements are attempting the problem cheerfully and with determination to keep Canada's railway service the cheapest, mile for mile, and among the most efficient in the world!

The Misses Estelyie and Bessie Garrison, of Sillaville, have returned home, after spending a few days with their sister, Mrs. James Powell, Empey Hill.

A DELIGHTFUL DANCE.

"Kilmeaden" was en fete Wednesday evening of last week, when Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Daly entertained one hundred guests, in honor of their daughter and son.

The home was beautifully decorated with Christmas holly and with the ever-bewitching mistletoe.

Miss Daly received, wearing a hand some French gown of black charmeuse, with overdress of Spanish lace, panels of gold cloth and touches of blue on the bodice. The lovely daughter was greatly admired in a soft shade of rose satin, exquisitely draped, and a tiny rose-bud in her fair hair.

Dancing took place in the two large living-rooms and hall, at one end of which, a three-piece Orchestra played sweet strains of music. The conservatory, with its high ferns and flowers, made a delightful rendezvous, while the dining bowl, presided over by a mischievous little Cupid, was a recipient of attention to the dining-room. A buffet supper was served at midnight, the guests leaving later, after a most enjoyable evening.

Among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. Morden and Miss Daly, who have been spending a few weeks in town.

BRIDGE AND TEA.

Mrs. W. A. Daly's handsome home was the scene of a delightful Bridge and Tea, Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. W. G. Morden and Miss Daly were the guests of honor.

Mrs. Daly received in the rose drawing-room and wore a becoming gown of turquoise taffeta. Mrs. Morden was charming in a frock of black canton crepe, the flesh-colored bodice of georgette falling over a wide girdle of blue and gold. Miss Daly was smartly gowned in navy charmeuse.

Four tables were in play, a number of guests coming in to chat, at the tea hour. On entering the dining-room, one's impression was "yule-tide". In the centre of the tea table was a miniature Christmas tree, lighted with tiny red candles, while larger ones, on either side, cast a soft glow to every niche of the spacious room. The mantle over the grate was hung with red satin, caught here and there with bits of evergreen, watched over by a jolly old Santa.

Mrs. Herbert Daly had charge of the tea table, and was assisted by the three pretty daughters of the house, who assumed their responsibility in a most delightful manner.

Mrs. Daly entertained again for her guests on Wednesday afternoon.

If you think you are beaten, you are—
If you think you dare not, you don't;
If you'd like to win, but you think you can't,
It's almost certain you won't.

If you think you'll lose, you've lost;
For out of the world we find Success begins with a fellow's will,
It's all in the state of mind.

It's not a policy to "slip back" with us. If it is humanly possible we strive to go ahead, to make each year better than the last, we want to co-operate with our patrons and help bring prosperity to all. The year 1922 looks as promising as any for business, we are going to make it so by the best merchandising methods we know how. Read our advertisements carefully, keep posted on what we are doing. IN MEMORIAM.

In sad but loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Harvey Bradshaw, who died January 9th, 1919.

I'm so lonesome here without you, mother, and sad the weary way,
For life is not the same to me since you were called away;
I often sit and cry, mother, when I am all alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own.
Only those that have lost can tell the pain of parting without farewell.

Great Salt Lake a Mystery.

The inland sea, known as Great Salt lake, in the northwestern part of Utah, about 20 miles from the city to which it has given its name, has a curious habit of receding and coming back. For many years men of science have studied its rise and fall, but have been unable to solve the mystery.

Aside from the interest that attaches to the lake because of its beauty, it is valuable as a commercial asset in the production of salt. In the spring water from the lake is pumped into large evaporating ponds, which have been constructed near by, covering several hundred acres. Throughout the summer the desert sun draws out the water, leaving salt behind. The harvest takes place in September, when the salt beds resemble a vast plain of blue-white snow.

Much of the salt is shipped out just as it is quarried to supply the large demand for it from the ore reduction plants and for the millions of cattle and sheep that roam over the western prairies.—Kansas City Star.

CITY'S GLORIES OF THE PAST

Adrianople, Today Only Geographically Important, Was Once Metropolis of a Great Empire.

If Adrianople cannot boast as long and romantic a story as Constantinople, she can point to the days when she was the metropolis of one of the greatest empires the world has ever known.

The foundations of her greatness were laid some 1,800 years ago by Hadrian, one of the greatest of Roman emperors, who built palaces and temples there of a splendor such as eastern Europe had never known. And she soon promised to eclipse her great rival on the Bosporus, though that city had already been a world-famous capital for 700 years.

During the centuries that followed her imperial building Adrianople lived through exciting and perilous times. Less than 200 miles from Constantinople, she shared nearly of the turbulent life of which that coveted city was center. In the fifth century we see her fighting fiercely against Attila's savage hordes until her streets ran red with blood. Again and again she fought no less valiantly and stubbornly against the raiding Bulgarians.

We see her in furious battle with Persians and Avars, and also sent her sons under the banner of Heraclius, of wars war against the Saracens. Thus the turbulent tide of Adrianople's history rolls on through the centuries, storm-tossed and tinged with blood.

But the Byzantine empire, which had seen over 1,000 years of stirring life, at last came to its end. The Turkish tide, which had swept to the eastern shore of the Bosporus, and now sought to swamp Europe, proved much too strong for the dying empire to resist; and in 1361 we see the soldiers of Amurath marching into Adrianople, and the sultan installing himself in the city.

Thus, after more than 1,500 years, the city Hadrian had founded blossomed into the capital of a new and alien empire, which was soon to spread itself further than the empire it had succeeded. Within a few generations Amurath's successor, Bajazet the Magnificent, was ruling over more than twenty races of men in three continents. Of the stirring events of these few years remain.

A DOCTOR'S DAUGHTER & Zam-Buk

Well-known Salvationist Tells of Mother & Son Saved from Blood-Poison & Disablement.

"One cannot speak too highly of this wonderful Zam-Buk," says Mrs. Jane C. Zealley, an ex-Major of the Salvation Army and daughter of the late Dr. Bevan, of St. David's, South Wales.

Called upon at her home, 3, Business Avenue, Toronto, Mrs. Zealley said: "Eight years ago my boy Alfred scratched his leg with the brass tag of a shoe lace and blood-poisoning set in. I had used various ointments on the sore, without doing good, when, hearing splendid reports about Zam-Buk I decided to give it a trial. You can imagine my relief, when, after a few applications of Zam-Buk, I saw that healing had already started. Continued treatment quickly removed every trace of the obstinate sore. It made me realise what pain and suffering I might have saved my boy, had I got Zam-Buk at first."

"What I have said over a leg sore applies equally to a septic finger and injured knee," Mrs. Zealley added. "I again used Zam-Buk. My daughter, who was a nurse, thought an operation would be necessary to remove the mass of inflammation and pus, but I hadn't forgotten Zam-Buk's experience with Zealley. Again regular applications of the balm took out all pain and swelling and healed the wound in a few days. The knee has never given further trouble." Herbal Zam-Buk is 50c. box, all dealers.

THE FOODS OF PLANTS

Like Human Beings, They Need a Balanced Ration.

Poor Plant Growth Without Nitrogen —Phosphate Also Required for Best Results — The Dieting of Plants Explained.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Plants, like animals, require food. Their food consists of simpler substances, but it is none the less necessary. In general farm practice we do not feed plants; but we grow them in a soil, from which and the surrounding air, we expect them to gather their food. In nearly every instance there is an abundance of food around the plant, but it is not always in a form that it can be absorbed. Sometimes there may be an abundance of some of the food constituents and very little of others. We recognize the importance of a balanced diet for man, but fail to realise that it is just as important for the plant.

The Soil Must Have Nitrogen.

Fortunately, while there are quite a number of essential parts to the balanced diet of a plant; there are only three or four that it has difficulty in getting, and, of these again there are two that are more frequently deficient than others. These are nitrogen and phosphoric acid. There is a great store of the former in the gaseous form in the air around us, as much as approximately 70,000,000 pounds over every acre of land. Yet, because the plant takes its nitrogen in a soluble form through the roots of the plant, this inert, gaseous nitrogen is of no use until it is taken into the soil and rendered available. Among other methods of getting this nitrogen into the soil, nature has provided that if we grow legumes, such as clover, peas, etc., we will get some of this nitrogen built into the plant. Then on the decay of the accumulated vegetable matter from these and other plants, the nitrogen is left in the form that is of use to plants. This means that decaying vegetable matter in the soil is the main source of nitrogen as a food for farm crops other than legumes. We may be quite sure that if the soil is low in decaying vegetable matter there will be a small amount of nitrogen. Without plenty of available nitrogen we cannot get the abundant growth of leaf and stem that is necessary; necessary, because it is the leaf that has the carbon dioxide taken from the air is built up into sugars, starch, and other compounds of like nature, and that anything that limits the size of the leaf just as surely limits the plant's ability to make and store these compounds. Nitrogen forces big leaf and stem growth, hence its great value in crop production.

The decaying vegetable matter, however, does more than furnish nitrogen; it improves the physical condition of the soil, thus making it easier to work. It increases the ability of the soil to hold water, thereby insuring better returns in dry weather, and by its decay furnishes food which help to bring insoluble plant food into a available condition. These are strong statements to make about any constituent of the soil, but they show the importance of growing catch crops to plough down as frequently as possible in the soil. A legume naturally is the best crop, but where this is not possible, or too expensive, grow rye, rape, or some crop that will furnish organic matter to the soil.

Phosphate Also a Necessary Food.

The element next to nitrogen in importance is phosphorus. Nitrogen can be got from the air by leguminous plants, but the phosphorus supply in the soil can be supplemented only by adding some form of manure or fertilizer. The supply in the soil is comparatively small, and is naturally held in an insoluble form, so that losses by leaching may be reduced to a minimum. So firmly is the phosphorus held, that in our study of the soils of the Province, we find that after nitrogen, no plant food constituent that may be added will give so decidedly good results as phosphorus. This is especially true when applied for the cereal grains and turnips. On fall wheat, 400 pounds of acid phosphate per acre has doubled the yield, and basic slag on heavy soils has given even better results. On soils fairly rich in vegetable matter, and that is well supplied with nitrogen, there is usually no need of supplementing the general manuring with anything but the phosphate, the exception being when fall wheat has entered poorly and is having a hard time to make growth in a cold backward spring. Then an application of nitrate of soda at the rate of 100 to 150 pounds per acre on the poorer parts of the field will usually pay well.

Turnips have difficulty in absorbing phosphates, since although the ground is usually well manured for this crop, it will pay to add three or four hundred pounds of acid phosphate per acre. On ground that was rich enough to grow twenty-five tons of turnips per acre we have raised the yield five tons by the use of three hundred pounds of acid phosphate per acre.

The points to be kept in mind are that while nitrogen is so valuable there is a very large supply in the air which can be got through the growing of leguminous crops, and that the phosphate, for various reasons, have a peculiar value when used to supplement good general manuring and good cultivation.—Prof. Robert Harcourt, O. A. College, Guelph.

THE FARM CISTERN

A Good Supply of Soft Water a Household Boon.

The Farmer's Wife and Daughter Will Appreciate It — Location of the Cistern — Advice Given for Local Installment.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Lucky indeed is the farmer who can boast of a never-failing supply of pure and fresh water from well or spring on his premises. Its value cannot be reckoned up in dollars and cents. Another source of water supply on the farm is the rain water caught on the roofs of the buildings and stored in large underground tanks, called cisterns. It is commonly called soft water in contrast to the hard water of wells and springs.

A Supply of Soft Water a Boon.

Every housewife who is fortunate enough to have a plentiful supply of soft water for washing dishes, clothes and woodwork, and for use in the bath, knows well how much superior it is to hard water. It saves a lot of soap, and the operations are more easily carried out and the results more satisfactory. This valuable supply of water comes down from the clouds in fairly copious amounts month by month, and costs nothing except a small outlay, probably $150, once in a lifetime for eave-troughing and a storage tank or cistern.

Over Ontario the average rainfall from April to December is about 2⅓ inches per month, and if all the buildings of an average-sized farm were provided with cave-troughing, no less than four barrels of water per day on the average over the whole year would be collected. This quantity of water will serve efficiently a family of six living in a home equipped with modern plumbing fixtures. The only draw on the well, or hard water, supply would be the amount required for drinking and cooking purposes.

A Good Cistern a Necessity.

To safeguard against a shortage of soft water in times of drought and during the winter season when rains are scarce, the cistern should be large enough to hold a two or three months' supply. This would require a storage tank at the very least 10 feet square and 10 feet deep, or its equivalent in different dimensions, or two smaller tanks having together this capacity. It is well to remember that the tank built in the cubical form, say 10x10x10, is more economical than one of the same size but built to form (6 2-3x15x10) for example. The cylinder form takes even less material than the cubical, but it may be a little slower and harder to build. Sometimes the bottle form is constructed. Either the cylindrical or bottle type is usually built of brick laid in a rich concrete mortar and finally well coated on the inside with a rich mixture of cement, preferably super cement, and fine sand. The 10x10x10 size will hold 6,250 Imperial gallons, or approximately 200 barrels. In U.S.A. gallons the capacity would be 1-5 more, or 7,500 gallons. To build the cube-shaped cistern (10x10x10) it would require 12 cu. yds. of concrete, the walls, bottom and top being six inches thick. Using a 1-2 mixture it would take approximately 18 barrels of cement and 15 loads of gravel. For the cylindrical shape it would take about 11 cu. yds. of material, and for the oblong shape (6 2-3x15x10) about 12 cu. yds. With a knowledge of local prices of material and labor, it would be an easy matter to estimate the cost of a 6,000 to 7,000 gallon cistern.

The Location of the Cistern.

The house cistern may be located in the cellar, or outside underground, according to conditions. If the cellar be large and provided with good drainage for the overflow of the cistern, there can be no serious objection to having the cistern in the cellar. If the roof of the house is not large enough to collect sufficient rain water for the water service of the home, the roofs of barns and other buildings may be connected up to another cistern at these buildings and the two cisterns connected by joint service if necessary. In this case probably the best arrangement would be to build one very large underground tank, 12 or 15 feet square and 10 feet deep, at a point where rain water from both house and barns would gravitate and collect. Between the barns and this cistern it would be advisable to build a sifting basin to intercept dirt from roofs. The water system would be connected to this large cistern to supply the house or barn as required. The same water system could be used to supply the house or barn with the water from the well or other source used for drinking and cooking purposes.

In building a cistern do not make the serious mistake of making it too small. Then install some form of water system in order to have the soft water, both hot and cold, on tap throughout the house. In subsequent articles I will describe various types of water systems for the farm home.

The Department of Physics, O.A.C., Guelph, Ont., is prepared to advise you without charge regarding installation of water systems, plumbing, sewage disposal, etc. R. R. Graham, O. A. College, Guelph.

Every farm and country home should feed itself, and to do this it is necessary for each family to grow garden vegetables and small fruits.

All grain bins and grain bags should be carefully inspected to see that they are rat and mouse proof. A concrete foundation for farm buildings is advisable whenever it is practicable.

Your Profits

IT'S astounding how some folks'll let a habit run away with their profits. Take right now, for instance, when produce is cheap and every nickel counts, you keep on hauling in the most expensive way.

You've got into the habit of doing it with horses, when a Ford One-Ton Truck would do it at half the cost, or less.

Maybe you feel that you can't afford to pay spot cash for a Ford Truck. You don't have to when you do business with us. You'll be in town on Saturday. Come in and let us talk it over.

HOW TO HANDLE BACK FIELDS WHICH NEVER RECEIVE MANURE.

(Experimental Farms Note).

In Eastern Canada, including Ontario and the provinces eastward, there are approximately 20,761,000 acres under cultivation, of which 9,686,000 acres are in hay. The live stock in these provinces can produce during the winter months only about 50 million tons of manure, an amount insufficient to cover the entire area under cultivation when applied in any ordinary length of rotation. For this reason, extensive areas, estimated between one-quarter and one-half the entire area, never receive any application of manure whatever. Such land is usually far removed from the farm buildings; it is left in hay and pasture for several years, then ploughed, planted-to oats and seeded down to hay again. Casual observation, as well as the foregoing statistics, confirm the widespread extent of this practice.

Now, what is the best method of handling such land? It is useless to say "apply manure" because the farmer has already applied elsewhere all the manure that has been produced. As the land is usually far from the buildings and often poorly drained, it would be unwise to plant corn or roots and to include it in the rotation used on the land near the buildings. The present practice is more preferable than that, but is the present practice the best possible one?

There is much reason to think from the results of definite experiments, that an improvement can be made in the present practice which will result in increased profits. One improvement which is widely known but poorly followed, is surface drainage. The removal of surface water by care in plowing and attention to outlets, materially improves the tilth of the soil and, in some years, greatly increases the crop yield. Another improvement which may be adopted in many districts is the growing of alfalfa. If a few pounds of alfalfa are included in the ordinary hay mixture, one can learn at small expense whether alfalfa will grow profitably. If it will grow, it will be found to materially increase the yield of hay. Finally, as there is not enough farm manure, commercial fertilizers may be used.

At the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, commercial fertilizers have been used in comparison with farm manure and unmanured land for over ten years. The results have shown a large profit accompanying the use of the commercial fertilizers. In a four year rotation of mangels, oats, clover hay and timothy hay, application of fertilizers were as follows: on the mangels, 200 pounds superphosphate, 75 pounds muriate of potash and 100 pounds nitrate of soda; on each of the oats, clover, and timothy crops 100 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre were applied. For the five year period, from 1916 to 1920, the total cost of these fertilizers on four acres of land, was $142.22; the value of the increased crop over unmanured land was $318.03; the net profit was $175.71. Figured on the basis of one acre, the net profit was $8.78 per year.

When one considers the extensive areas of land which never receive manure, it might be worth while to plan to use some commercial fertilizers. If a small area were tried first, it would enable a farmer to decide whether such applications were profitable. The most profitable use of commercial fertilizers requires prudent buying and intelligent practice in making applications to the land. Persons desiring information on this subject are invited to correspond with the Field Husbandry Division, of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

YOUR TEETH.

STAINS.

By Rea Proctor McGee, D.D.S., M.D., Editor "Oral Hygiene"

More than half of all of the people in the world live in Asia and have yellow or brown skins.

These people have changed the course of history many times in the past and they may do it again in the future particularly if they should learn the laws of sanitation as we know them.

There are so many men in Asia who chew the betel nut, which dyes the teeth red, that it is a good guess to say that one-tenth of all of the men now living dye their teeth red.

Chewing the betel nut may be a pleasant pastime, but the bright red stain will never become popular in this country.

Over here we seem to favor green stains for children's teeth and brown or black stains for the teeth of adults.

All of us think a Mongolian is a queer "gink" to deliberately make a habit of chewing an astringent nut that will leave its marks; yet we daily neglect to remove, or have removed, the various shades of green and brown stains that obscure the teeth that Nature gave us.

All stains should be removed from the teeth. If you cannot get them off yourself go to someone who knows how to take them off.

The green stain upon children's teeth must be removed immediately if it is not to be followed by caries, or decay of the teeth.

It is the normal that is beautiful.

Keep your teeth a normal color so that when you do smile you will get an encore.

"Say, Red," said Dead Shot Bill to a bartender in one of the thirteen leading speak-easies of Dry Powder, Arizona, "didn't Shifty Pete tell you that he thought I had a hasty temper?"

"Why, no," replied Red, "not that I can remember."

"Too bad," said Billy, givine one of his holsters a hitch. "Then I've killed an innocent man."

A Chinaman who had recently arrived from China was desirous of starting a laundry, but was at a loss to know what sort of a sign to put over his shop. He, therefore, decided to take a walk and investigate other signs in order to get an idea.

After walking a while, he came to a restaurant, before which appeared the following: "Never Closed." A little farther on he saw another restaurant with this sign: "Twenty-four-hour Service". Walking still farther, he came to one reading: "Meals Served Day and Night." Finally he hung up the following: "Me No Sleep, Too."

A minister who guarded his morning study hour very carefully, told the new maid that in no circumstances were callers to be admitted—except, of course, he added, in case of life and death.

"A gentleman to see you, sir."

"Why, I thought I told you——"

"Yes, I told him," she replied, "but he says it's a question of life and death."

So he went downstairs—and found an insurance agent.

Chemicals Extracted From Seaweed.

Dr. J. W. Turrentine of the department of agriculture, in addressing the spring meeting of the American chemical society at St. Louis, said that before long America would be independent of foreign countries for iodine and bleaching carbon and to a large extent for potash.

Dr. Turrentine further stated that the seaweed which grows in abundance on the Pacific coast can be made a part of a profitable industry in the making of potash. About 30 products and by-products and derivatives have been obtained from kelp, some of which have commercial value and are obtainable in large quantities and at small cost.

Growth of Museum of Art.

The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Metropolitan Museum of Art recalls much that is interesting in the early history of the museum, which was incorporated April 13, 1870, and whose opening reception was held on Feb. 20 1872, says the New York Evening Sun.

The museum came into being by raising $250,000 for all purposes including the purchase of works of art of every description, as well as the maintenance of the institution. Today one article of one collection, the Rogiglioni cup of Benvenuto Cellini, is valued at this sum, while the value of the collection as a whole cannot even be estimated.

Fatally Injured.

Mr. Arthur Hicks, son of Mr. William Hicks, Jr., was injured while felling a tree at Kenora, Ont., on December 1st, 1921, and passed away the following day from the injuries received. The deceased was 21 years of age and had been a bandsman in the Salvation Army Band for six years. He was buried at Kenora. The late Mr. Hicks leaves a number of relatives in Napanee to mourn his sudden and untimely death.

Death of Dr. Bissonette.

Dr. Bissonette, a well known physician of Stirling, passed away on Saturday, after being ill for some time. Deceased was about 65 years of age, and was one of Hastings County's well known practitioners. His illness was of brief duration. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and a Liberal. His wife, three sons and one daughter survive. One son, Roy, made the supreme sacrifice during the war, his body lying in Flanders' Fields. Two other sons—Don, of Toronto, and Hume—served in the war. The late Dr. Bissonette was well known in Napanee, having practised his profession here some years ago.

Broke His Leg.

Mr. Ernie Dafoe lies at his home on the Belleville Road, in a very serious condition. Last week while working on the Grand Trunk section between Marysville and the boundary road, and when moving some steel rails on a hand car, going down grade with the load the hand car jumped the track, throwing the section hands and rails off, one of the rails falling on Mr. Dafoe's left leg, breaking the thigh bone above the knee and putting the knee out of joint; also breaking the right leg between the knee and ankle and breaking the ankle. Mr. Dafoe was removed to his home and was attended to by the railroad doctor at Shannonville and other doctors. The breaks are very painful and very serious, but it is thought that the patient will recover.

Trinity Church Missionary Anniversary. Sunday, Jan. 8th, 1922.

Morning Service, 10.30 o'clock, Rev. F. C. Stephenson, Secretary of Young People's Forward Movement.

Evening Service, 7 o'clock, Mrs. F. C. Stephenson will give an illustrated address.

In writing to a fellow-worker, Mr. Stephenson uses the following words:

We certainly needed your prayers. We had no idea of the dangers of the journey and we marvel at the narrow escapes we had. The following are a few:—Our up-river steamer was fired on twice by soldiers, but no one was hurt. The little mat-covered boat on which we came part way down the river was fired on by robbers, but no one was hurt. We had robbers for escorts—they did not hurt us. We got out of Ichang twice just before it was sacked—first, on our way up; second, on our way down. Both times many people were murdered and millions of dollars' worth of property destroyed and stolen. Shortly after we visited Wuchang that city was sacked. Just before we went up the Hankow-Peking Railway a fierce battle was fought on the railroad. Many other battles and raids could be mentioned, and yet we were not hurt, nor did we suffer from suckness or accident. Just before we arrived in Chungking, an English business man, Mr. Coville, who shot dead while crossing the river.

Now what did we go to Japan and China for? Just for a pleasure trip? No. When we reached Shanghai it did not look as if there would be much pleasure ahead—no one was going up the Yangtse for pleasure. The reports of civil war, raids by bandits and robbers were such that only the sense of duty would warrant the risk of such a journey. Well, what did we want? Why did we go?

First, we wanted to get a vision and a message. We wanted to see our missionaries at their work, to see the opportunities and hear what the native Christians and missionaries had to say.

Second, we wanted to get photographs and maps of our work, such as would make our young people see the whole field just as clearly as the army in France saw the difficulties in front of them. You know how the Intelligence Department made maps and photographs, and how these were studied by the officers and men before they advanced to take their objectives We have visited every mission station and we have photographs, maps and diagrams.

W. C. T. U.

The December meeting of Newburgh W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Dunwoody. The principal feature of the meeting was a report of the Provincial Convention at London, given by Mrs. Sexsmith, delegate for this County. Her report gives one an idea of the wonderful work the Unions of Ontario are doing, and the work there is still to do, and how necessary it is that every woman take an interest in the work of making this world a cleaner, purer place for the rising generation.

The Travellers' Aid are working to protect young women and girls from the wiles of their would-be destroyers. 41000 persons have been assisted during the year by our station workers.

Our Unions have done much to make our prisons more habitable and such as to raise the standard of morals of the prisoners. They have also done much to aid released prisoners.

Then there is the work of encouraging the foreign-born citizens of Canada to learn the English language and by treating them as brothers and sisters, teaching them to be loyal, God-fearing citizens of our Dominion.

There is also Willard Hall Extension work at Toronto. Willard Hall was built first to take in the friendless or homeless girl. It still does this work. There are also the girls, who go to the city to get a situation, and so often find none. There are helped to find employment, and they may go back three times. The girl who runs away from home is taken to Willard Hall, and word sent to her parents. The permanent boarder has the use of a reception room, a piano, and a library, all for a reasonable price. The moral atmosphere all over the world seems to have been lowered. The tendency is for enjoyment alone. All pleasure and nothing educational is not good. Willard Hall provides the latter.

Mothers, teach your girls to be clean inside as well as outside, to be chaste in dress and conversation; teach your boys to be true and honest and pure as God would have them. Think not only of the little bodies God has given you to care for, but of the souls you are to train for eternity.

Press Secretary.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. George L. Johnson.

Early on Tuesday morning, December 27th, 1921, there passed away at Dorland, Ont., at the home of her parents, Viola, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percival Strawbridge, and wife of George L. Johnson. In the early age of 17 years, 5 months and 17 days. A wee one came to gladden the hearts of this loving young couple on Monday, Dec. 26th, and of which the young mother was fond and proud. Death came suddenly and unexpectedly the following day. All that medical aid and loving friends to minister to her could do was done, but it was God's will for her to go. Viola was of a kind and loving disposition and never complained or complained during her illness, and was much beloved by her relatives and friends. She leaves to mourn her loss her young husband, her wee son, father, mother, two brothers and one sister.

The Rev. Mr. Pringle spoke a few short impressive words at the house on Wednesday, Dec. 28th, before removing to Napanee vault. At the same time Mr. Pringle baptised the baby, Percy John.

The funeral service of Mrs. Johnson will be held at St. Alban's Church, when the women's auxiliary will take charge of the service. Interment in the churchyard near this church.

PROFESSOR ROY AGAIN. NEXT WEEK.

For the first time in the history of the Historical Society a lecturer has been requested to return again the same season to lecture upon the same subject. Everyone who heard Prof. Roy in November on the Silesian question was so well pleased with his address that it was the unanimous request of all those present that he return in January and give another address along the same lines. This he has consented to do on Friday, January 13th. Professor Roy is a soldier and a scholar of repute, the author of "Pilsudski and Czech in Silesia", and was a member of the Inter-allied Commission appointed to find a solution of one of the most difficult problems in the reconstruction of Central Europe. Everyone who professes to keep pace with the events of the day should hear this address enlivened as it will be with the personal experiences of the lecturer. Remember the date,—Friday, January 13th. Everyone is welcome and no admission fee is charged.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY.

One of the smart functions during the Christmas week was a party given by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Fretts, on the evening of their silver anniversary, and although the weather was very cold, friends came from quite a distance to shower good wishes upon the happy couple.

The large rooms were tastefully bedecked with Christmas greens, streamers, etc. The host and hostess assisted by Mrs. F. Allison, welcomed their friends in the drawing room.

The early part of the evening was spent in progressive games, and at the hour of midnight a very dainty buffet luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by a number of friends among the younger married set.

After supper progressive games, followed by a short programme of piano numbers and readings, added greatly to the evening's pleasure. Mr. S. D. Wagar, Enterprise, in his inimitable manner proposed a toast to the bride and groom, which was responded to by the host in his usual witty manner.

The evening was brought to a close by the usual sing song "Auld Lang Syne", "Good Night Ladies" and "Bear Went Over the Mountain", and "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows".

All the guests, forty in number, united in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Fretts many happy years long may they live together, and heartily wished that they might all be together to celebrate also the golden wedding in that very happy home. Mr. and Mrs. Fretts have a family of three, all very lovely girls.

Ronald Colebrook, Napanee, has purchased the Ford garage at Tweed from Frank Bell, and will take possession on January 15th.

HENRY'S BOOKSTORE

—1922—

We would join in this general salutation. We wish also to thank our friends and the public generally for the very liberal patronage extended to us during the holiday trade. It is with satisfaction we inform them that our Christmas trade just closed was the largest we ever had, and was larger than under the circumstances we had anticipated. We believe this result was owing to the fact that we had the goods the people wanted, at prices that were right,—that we made no statements that were subsequently found by customers to be misleading. Our sales of Books were highly satisfactory,—we had the principal new Books by the most popular Authors,—we kept them constantly in stock,—as soon as a line became exhausted, we replaced. In the general stock for medium-priced presents the result was also satisfactory. We seemed to have the very lines that everyone wanted, and the prices were right, and the goods were sold. We have still on hand the new Books from the pens of the most popular writers, Lady Byng; Cody, Porter, Hall Caine, Ralph Connor, Zane Grey, etc.

We have received several Books for the High and Public Schools lately, and now have pretty nearly every Book on the list.

Uptons and Bryant Committed for Trial For Murder of Constable Beard

Sherwood Upton and Erwood Upton Both Make Confessions Accusing Bryant of Firing the Shot That Killed Mr. Beard

The preliminary hearing of Sherwood Upton, Erwood Upton, and Fred Bryant, the three Kingston youths who are suspected of being implicated in the murder of Night-Constable Richard A. Beard, on Sunday morning, August 28th, 1921, came up before Magistrate Rankin, in the Court House, yesterday morning at 11 o'clock.

FRED BRYANT

The prisoners were brought to Napanee on the 10.54 train, and were immediately taken to the Court House. Both Upton boys are apparently not giving much outward sign of the serious predicament they are in, but Bryant, on several occasions, showed signs of extreme nervousness.

The court room was filled to capacity before the hour set for the hearing, and after but little delay the case was proceeded.

U. M. Wilson, County Crown Attorney, conducted the hearing for the Crown, while T. J. Rignet, of Kingston, appeared on behalf of Fred Bryant. Col Cunningham & Smith, of Kingston, for Sherwood and Erwood Upton.

Dr. T. W. Simpson was the first witness called, and stated that the cause of the late Mr. Beard's death was a gunshot wound, the ball penetrating the heart.

F. F. Miller, C.E., identified a plan made by him of the scene of the shooting and also a plan of the south portion of the town from Bridge St. to the river.

W. B. Dalton, jr., wholesale hardware merchant, Kingston, told of having four rifles stolen from his store on Sept. 3rd and Oct. 20th, 1920, one 30-calibre Remington, serial No. 7004B; one 30-calibre Remington, serial No. 67362; one 32-calibre Remington, serial No. 64304, and one 22-calibre Remington, serial No. 74509. Witness had seen four rifles in Kingston police station recently, and identified two of them by their serial numbers; the serial numbers had been filed off of the other two, but they were exactly like the ones stolen.

W. F. Young, who is a farmer living near Murvale, 11 miles north of Kingston, saw Fred Bryant a year ago last Thanksgiving. Bryant, in company with another young man, went to witness' home about 5.30 a.m. to get warm, and dry, and something to eat. Bryant and his companion had a 30-calibre and a 32-calibre special Remington rifle. They said they had been out with a party hunting near Yarker, and had become lost in the woods. After breakfast the boys left on foot for Kingston.

Police Sergeant Marshall Armstrong was next called and told of being present with Sherwood Upton on the 11th of December when two 30-calibre rifles were found. He had asked Upton where the goods were stored after he had arrested him. Erwood told me where the stolen goods would be found, but when I went there the goods were gone. Later, Kerston told me the goods were hidden out near the outer station, and I went out with him and found them. I also found another 30-calibre rifle in the Upton home, and the fourth, a 32-calibre, was found at Portland village by Inspector Boyd, through an order given him by Erwood Upton. Witness said he was present when the Upton brothers made statements regarding the Napanee case, and Chief-of-Detectives Inspector Boyd were also present. Inspector Boyd had warned the boys that any statement they might make could be used against them in Court.

Benj. Loftman told of sitting in front of his hotel on the night in question, when about five minutes to one o'clock, Hugh Duncan came along and told him the late Constable Beard, A minute or two after one o'clock Mr. Beard came across the road from Mr. Loftman's hotel and followed Wess in Smith's garage. Beard and Duncan went to the garage way on John street and witness went across to Perry's garage way on Dundas street. He heard a noise on John street, started for there, and while on his way he heard a shot fired. Met Bova and Duncan coming from the garage way, and Duncan said he guessed Beard had got one. Witness then saw three fellows running on Dundas street, east of the Royal Hotel, about where Scrimshaw's grocery is located. I went across to the hotel and by that time the three fellows were at the corner of Dundas and East streets and turned south towards the river. I took them to be of medium height and young fellows.

Police Sergeant Armstrong (recalled) said he made a search of the Upton premises on Dec. 7th, and found a quantity of ammunition of 30 and 32-calibre in the very top garret of the house, a portion of the ammunition being produced in Court.

To Mr. Rignay, Mr. Armstrong said he had searched Bryant's house on Alfred St. He had escorted Bryant to the police station on the evening of Dec. 11th. Bryant went into the Chief's office and was asked some questions concerning jewelry hidden under the barn, but Bryant said he didn't know anything about it. He was then locked up. In the search of Bryant's house on Dec. 12th, some new jewelry and a motorcycle tire were found.

This concluded the case for the Crown.

Mr. Cunningham, in his brief address to Magistrate Rankin, submitted that there was no evidence at all against Bryant.

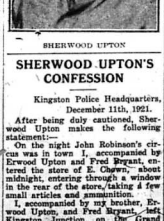

Mr. Rignay, in his address, said there should be a distinction between Bryant and the Uptons. There was not a tittle of evidence upon which to commit Bryant, and thought there was no alternative but to dismiss his client.

County Crown Attorney Wilson asked for the commitment of the prisoners.

Magistrate Rankin said he was satisfied that there was evidence enough to warrant the holding of a commitment, and committed the three men to stand trial before the first Court of competent Jurisdiction.

It is altogether likely that the prisoners will be tried at the Spring Assizes, on Tuesday, February 21st, 1922, before Mr. Justice Logie.

The prisoners were returned to Kingston last evening.

SHERWOOD UPTON

SHERWOOD UPTON'S CONFESSION

Kingston Police Headquarters,
December 11th, 1921.

After being duly cautioned, Sherwood Upton makes the following statement:—

On the night John Robinson's circus was in town I, accompanied by Erwood Upton and Fred Bryant, entered the store of E. Chown, about midnight, entering through a window in the rear of the store. We took no small articles and ammunition.

I, accompanied by my brother, Erwood Upton, and Fred Bryant, left Kingston Junction, on the Grand Trunk train for Napanee, about five or six p.m., on the Saturday previous to the shooting of Constable Beard, at Napanee, carrying between the three of us a club bag, a suit case, and a parcel containing a Remington Pump Rifle wrapped in a white canvas. On arriving at Napanee we went to a Chinese restaurant on Dundas St., west. Robinson's Dry Goods Store. We had something to eat there and left the club bag and suit case and rifle there. We walked around town for an hour. We then went down to the old sawmill, taking the club bag and suit case and the rifle from the restaurant. Arriving at the mill, we changed part of our clothing. We then left the club bag, suit case and rifle there.

We went up to town and waited around for a while. We looked in the jewelry store. We followed Smith's delivery car. We saw him with his car to Smith's home. We then went down to the lane in the rear of Smith's Jewelry Store and looked around, after which we went to the old mill again, bringing back with us one parcel containing the rifle and two kit bags. These we hid in the lane at the back of Smith's store. While I was looking around the lane a man came out of the rear entrance of a fruit store into the lane. We waited around for awhile after this. At about 12.20 o'clock a.m. we went to where we had hid the rifle and kit bags, Fred Bryant taking the rifle and my brother, Erwood, the two kit bags. We then went to the rear of Smith's store. Fred Bryant was standing closest to the street, I was next, then my brother, Erwood, was standing at the window. I saw a man across the street trying the different doors. A couple of minutes after, three men swung into the lane from the east street; one of these men threw his flashlight on us; he attempted to catch one of us; I believe Fred. Bryant pushed him back towards the walk. We then ran back into the lane. I, my brother, Erwood, was in a backward position, not watching the way. I tripped against Fred. Bryant, causing him to stumble, at which time the rifle he was carrying went off. I heard my brother cry: "What in the hell did you do that for?" We then made our way back to the old mill where we changed part of our clothing. The rifle was taken down and wrapped up; we then secured jewelry and suit case and started westward towards Belleville and continued to the outskirts of the town. We came back a little ways towards the city and turned in where we saw a garage. My brother took out a pane of glass from the side of the garage with his penknife, My brother, Erwood, got in through the window into the garage and threw the door open and let us in. We stayed in the garage for an hour; owing to the switch of the car being locked we had to have some in order to get the car started. My brother, Erwood, backed the car out of the garage, hit a tree. We started towards Belleville, but got mixed up in the roads and found we were back to the place we had started from. We then drove back down Dundas street past Smith's Jewelry Store towards the road leading to Kingston, arriving in Kingston about daylight. After reaching Kingston we went out Division street, going as far as Westport; we filled up with gas at Westport. We came from Westport to Gananoque, we came from Gananoque to Kingston, entering by the Montreal road; this would be about two or three in the afternoon of Sunday. We crossed on the Montreal road to the Perth road, going out to the Concession leading to Collins' Lake, and the Concession towards the lake, where we slept until near dark.

About dark we came into Kingston and stopped on a street running off Division street towards the Fair grounds. My brother and I brought the grip, suit case and parcel containing the rifle to our home; Bryant staying near the car. I took my brother's motorcycle and started out Division street, and a short way out my brother overtook me as the engine in me was running good, so we put it in the back seat of the car. I got into the car with my brother and we drove out the Perth road to the Concession leading to Collins' Lake and put the car where it was found later on, we continued on, returning to Kingston on the motorcycle.

The evening previous to the shooting of Constable Cotter, and shortly before midnight, my brother and I went to a garage near to the corner of Stuart street, near the Hospital, and entered it. We took one of the cars that were in there, by myself driving same, taking it to a cross road near McAdoo's wood. Before going out to these woods we stopped at the house and got a couple of wheels and brought them along with us in the car. After leaving the car in the Concession in McAdoo's woods, we returned home on our wheels.

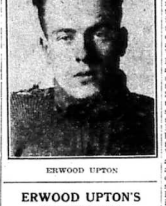

I met my brother the next morning on Division street, he having the car. At about eleven o'clock I met Fred. Bryant, who also got into the car. We then got several small villages including Harrowsmith, and I exchanged a five dollar bill at the bank in the village. After leaving the car at the same place where the Willys-Knight car was previously left, and returned home.

I and Fred Bryant drove out on a motorcycle to Harrowsmith, and on arriving at the place the car was cached I noticed my brother's car. We cached the motorcycle among some scrub, and then all got into the car and drove through Harrowsmith and Inverary, and then all got into the car and drove through Harrowsmith and Inverary, and then all got into the car and drove to where we had hid the rifle and kit bags, Fred. Bryant taking the rifle and my brother, Erwood, the two kit bags. We then went to the rear of Smith's store. Bryant was standing closest to the street, I was next, then my brother, Erwood, was standing at the window. I saw a man across the street trying the different doors. A couple of minutes after, three men swung into the lane from the east street; one of these men threw his flashlight on us; he attempted to catch one of us; I believe Fred. Bryant pushed him back towards the walk. We then ran back into the lane. I, my brother, Erwood, was in a backward position, not watching the way. I tripped against Fred. Bryant, causing him to stumble, at which time the rifle he was carrying went off. I heard my brother cry: "What in the hell did you do that for?" We then made our way back to the old mill where we changed part of our clothing. The rifle was taken down and wrapped up; we then secured jewelry and suit case and started westward towards Belleville and continued to the outskirts of the town. We came back a little ways towards the city and turned in where we saw a garage. My brother took out a pane of glass from the side of the garage with his penknife, removed the glass from one of the side windows of the garage, getting in through this window, opening the double doors. Bryant and my brother came through the doors into the garage, where we three remained about an hour. I found that the Willys-Knight car that was in there was locked and I had to fix the switch to get it into running order. I backed the car out of the garage; in doing so I backed into a tree. We turned up and headed towards Belleville. I got twisted in the roads and finally landed back in the same street I had started from, then continued east on Dundas street, passing Smith's Jewelry Store, and continued direct on the York Road to Kingston. Arriving at Kingston after seven a.m., we continued through Kingston out to Buck Lake and came back by way of Elgin, getting gas on the outskirts of Westport, going from Westport to Gananoque; from Gananoque we went to Kingston, arriving about two p.m. Sunday afternoon; we came by Montreal street to Russell street, across Russell to Division, our Division street to the cross road leading into Collin's Lake. We turned down the side road towards the lake, where we had a sleep. That evening we three drove back to the city and the car was stopped on a street leading from Division towards the Fair grounds. Fred Bryant and Sherwood Upton, who had been in the car with me from the time we had left Napanee, got out of the car, Bryant standing on the corner of Division street, while I and my brother, Sherwood, took the club bag, suit case and parcel containing the rifle home. I returned to the car first, my brother, Sherwood taking my motorcycle, which was at the house, and riding it out Division street. On arriving back to the car, Bryant went to his home and I drove the Willys-Knight car out Division street. I picked up my brother on the way, and placing the motorcycle on the rear seat we continued on out Division street to the side road leading into Collin's Lake, and cached the car where it was found a week later.

On or about the evening of the 14th of September, between eleven and eleven-thirty p.m., I broke into the garage of E. Adams; I then left the garage and got my brother, Sherwood Upton, and returned to the Waldron garage with my brother, Sherwood; this would be about 12.20 a.m. Sunday night; I and Sherwood Upton got into the car, which had the extra tires carried on each side of the car, and I backed the car out of the garage. We then drove to the crossroad at McAdoo's turning where we cached the car for the night, and I and my brother returned home on our wheels, where we had left out in the car. The next morning I went out to the car on my motorcycle, went to Division street to the cross road which leads to Cataraqui and picked up Erwood and Fred Bryant. We drove through several small villages, and at Harrowsmith Sherwood Upton changed either a five or ten dollar bill at the bank. We cached the car on the cross roads where the Willys-Knight car was previously left.

Friday morning I wheeled out to the car, Bryant and Sherwood came out on one motorcycle and I met me, and they put into the car with me. I drove through about the same places as we did the day before.

ERWOOD UPTON

ERWOOD UPTON'S CONFESSION

Kingston, Ont., Police Headquarters
December 11th, 1921.

After being duly cautioned, Erwood Upton makes the following statement:—

During the months of September and October, 1921, I accompanied my brother, Sherwood, and Fred Bryant, entered the store of W. B. Dalton & Sons, I removing a suit off one inside of the door by putting my hand through the broken glass and using a pair of pliers and a small monkey-wrench. We took from the store two rifles, ammunition, and some other small articles.

During the above mentioned period I and Sherwood entered the store of W. B. Dalton & Son, accompanied by one J. H. Inglis and G. H. Stewart took a quantity of goods off a motor truck, which was containing goods for the World of Mirth Shows, consisting of jewelery, cigarettes, etc.

On or about June the 11th, 1921, I, Fred Bryant and Sherwood Upton, entered the store of Edwin Chown, at about midnight, through a window in the rear of the store. We took ammunition and small articles.

On or about July 18th, 1921, I, J. H. Inglis and G. H. Stewart took a quantity of goods off a motor truck, which was containing goods for the World of Mirth Shows, consisting of jewelery, cigarettes, etc.

Several days previous to the shooting of Constable R. A. Beard, Sherwood Upton, I and Bryant stole a auto, leaving here about seven p.m., and arriving in Napanee in the neighborhood of the Grand Trunk railway, and the lay of the land in Napanee. I then returned to Kingston, arriving about 2 a.m. next morning. I and Bryant then returned to Sherwood and Fred Bryant, went to Napanee, on the Grand Trunk train, leaving Kingston Junction about 5.55 p.m. Sherwood Upton carried a black club bag; Bryant carried a brown suit case; I had a parcel containing one Remington rifle pump Calibre 30 done up in a white canvas. We had ammunition in the club bag. Either Sherwood or the Chinaman carried the two kit bags. On arrival at Napanee we went to a Chinese restaurant on Dundas street, where we left the club bag, suit case and parcel containing the rifle, telling the Chinaman that we would call back later. During the evening I visited Smith's Jewelery Store twice. At about eleven p.m. we went to the Chinese restaurant on Dundas street, and got the grip, suit case and parcel containing rifle; we then went down the street that leads to the saw mill; we cached the suit case, club bag and parcel at the mill; we then went up town again. We watched until Mr. Smith closed his store and followed Mr. Smith and another man home. We then went back to the mill where we took the rifle and the two kit bags that were either in the suit case or club bag and returned to Dundas street. We then went to the lane in the rear of Smith's Jewelery Store and hid the rifle and kit bags. We hung around the town until about midnight, when we went to the lane in the rear of Smith's Jewelery Store, where we got the two kit bags and the rifle which were hid there, and went to the window in the rear of Smith's Jewelery Store. At this time we saw a man with grey whiskers trying the doors on the far side of John street, and we waited to see if he would visit the laneway, but he turned along Dundas street. At this time Fred Bryant was carrying the Remington Pump rifle, 30-calibre, he being closest to John street, Sherwood Upton was next, and I was furthest in the lane at the window. In a minute or two after we arrived there, three men appeared on John street, and turned sharply into the lane, one flashing his light on Bryant, the man with the flashlight grabbing Bryant by the shoulder and saying come on or words to that effect. Bryant shoved or tripped this man, causing him to stagger back on to the sidewalk. He then drew his gun, having gun in one hand and flashlight in the other, and we three, myself, Sherwood Upton and Fred Bryant, ran back in the lane, Sherwood Upton in the lead, I was next, when I tripped and fell, Fred Bryant passing me. The man with the flashlight was just about even with me and within easy reach when a shot, we three fired and this man dropped, making no outcry. On getting up I said: "What the hell did you do that for?" I then followed Bryant and my brother. We eventually got to the mill where we had left our club bag and suit case; we then took down the rifle. When we went to the mill the first time we changed our clothes, for different ones, which were in the club bag and suit case, then when we came back to the mill again we re-changed. Taking the suit case, club bag and parcel containing the rifle, we went west on the back streets down near the water doubling back on Dundas street to Robinson's house, where I, with a penknife, removed the glass from one of the side windows of the garage, getting in through this window, opening the double doors. Bryant and my brother came through the doors into the garage, where we three remained about an hour. I found that the Willys-Knight car that was in there was locked and I had to fix the switch to get it into running order. I backed the car out of the garage; in doing so I backed into a tree. On motion the Council adjourned until 7.30 p.m.

Council met as per adjournment, Mayor Graham presiding.

Members all present.

MAYOR GRAHAM'S ADDRESS.

The Municipal Council,
Town of Napanee.

Gentlemen:—

Your fellow citizens have honored you by selecting you as their Municipal Representatives for the year 1922.

I would like to congratulate you upon your selection and at the same time I would impress upon you the fact that in accepting office you have assumed large responsibilities. Knowing each one of you I am confident that you will discharge your duties in a manner that will meet with the approval of your electors, and that the affairs of the town will be looked after in an honest and able manner.

In view, not only of local conditions, but taking a wider view of affairs, it should be a year of retrenchment. Only those works that are absolutely necessary should be undertaken. I believe in following this course you will best satisfy the taxpayers.

Each Committee has its own part of the town to look after, and I would like to outline briefly the most important matters that will engage the attention of the several Committees during the coming year.

Finance Committee.

The most important work for this Committee is to prepare the estimates at as early a date as possible, to watch closely the expenditures of each Committee, and to see that the different Committees do not over-expend their appropriations. Every effort should be made to make the tax rate as low as possible, and I feel confident that a reduction can be made over last year's rate, providing nothing of an unforseen nature arises.

It is the duty of the Chairman of Finance to check all Pay Lists, countersign all cheques, and to carefully direct expenditures of the town's moneys.

Streets Committee.

The roads within the town are in a fair state of repair. All that should be required to keep them in good order during the coming year is a little re-surfacing.

During the past year Centre St. and John St. were oiled, and Bridge St. was not treated in a like manner. In comparing the streets that were oiled with those that were not oiled, you must of necessity have been convinced that oiling pays. Centre and John Sts. came through the year in good shape while Bridge St. soon went to pieces. I would strongly advise the oiling of streets at an early date in the year, and if necessary giving them a light coat of oil later in the season. By following this policy the water sprinklers can practically be eliminated.

To properly take care of the pavement on Dundas St. a proper plan of flushing and cleaning must be established. This should be one of the first problems to be dealt with by this Committee.

Fire, Water and Light Committee.

The question of new hose and additions to fire fighting appliances should be taken up with the Fire Chief at an early date. The town has been remarkably free of bad fires, but no one knows at what moment we may need to have our fire department equipped with the proper appliances for meeting a large conflagration.

When the work at the Waterworks Plant is completed, this Committee acting with the Utilities Commission, should immediately approach the Fire Underwriter's Association with the object in view of having the Town's insurance rates lowered. Taking into consideration the fact that we will have one of the best Waterworks plants in Ontario, when this work is completed, there should be no difficulty in convincing the Fire Underwriters that Napanee is entitled to a better rating for fire insurance.

There are still a few back yards in the business section that are not properly lighted. This matter should be energetically dealt with as there is no better protection than plenty of light in these parts of the town.

Printing and By-laws Committee.

To make arrangements for the necessary printing and to see that all by-laws are promptly and correctly prepared is the duty of this Committee.

Town Property Committee.

During the past year a considerable effort was made to improve the appearance of the east entrance to the town. The completion of the retaining wall and the filling in along the north side of the river west of the bridge should be completed at as early a date as possible. There is a very good situation at this point for a park, and the completion of this undertaking will add materially to this part of the town.

The island or filled space at the east end of Dundas St. should be seeded, and possibly arrangements could be made with the Horticultural Society to lay out flower beds and in other ways beautify this spot.

The heating plant in the Town Hall is worn out and a new heating system should be installed at once. Care should be taken in this work and a small expenditure to secure expert advice as to the proper system to be installed would undoubtedly be warranted.

The roof on the Town Hall is in a bad state of repair and this Committee should take this question up early in the year.

Considerable improvements have been made at the Disposal Works during the past three years, and some special attention should be paid to the filteration beds during the coming year. The question of removing some of the top material from the beds, and the addition of new material should be considered. The caretaker should regularly scarify the filteration beds and clean the sedimentation tanks and sludge wells.

Poor and Sanitary Committee.

Unfortunately there are a considerable number of men out of work at the present time in Napanee, and from the present outlook this condition may become worse. Apparently there is no corporation work to be initiated at this season of the year to relieve this situation, and it undoubtedly will be necessary to give a certain amount of assistance to those who are in need of the necessaries of life. This Committee should co-operate with the Police and carefully investigate all applications for assistance.

During the past year an effort was made to persuade the Provincial Government to continue the reducing of the grade at Roblin's Hill. The Minister has not definitely refused this request, and a further effort along these lines might have the result of getting this work started at an early date. This work is not alone necessary to reduce this hill to the proper grade, but it would also provide work for the unemployed. I would strongly urge that the Department of Highways be approached at an early date and that every effort be made to persuade the department to start work on this project this winter.

These are a few of the questions that will engage our attention during the coming year. There will be other matters arise which will demand your careful consideration, and I feel sure that if we all pull together and the spirit of co-operation is continued as in the past, there will be no question but that the town's affairs will be taken care of in a satisfactory manner.

In closing I only have to say that I earnestly solicit your support during the coming year, and I can assure you that any assistance I can render to you in the carrying out of your respective duties will be gladly given.

Yours sincerely,

MARK P. GRAHAM,
Mayor of Napanee.

Napanee, Jan. 9th, 1922.

Communications.

Council adjourned.

A CANADIAN RECORD HEN.

WHITE WYANDOTTE LAYS 325 EGGS IN YEAR.

(Experimental Farms Note.)

"Lady Dot", a White Wyandotte pullet, leg band No. D. 2, at the Dominion Experimental Station, Invermere, B.C., completed her yearly record on October 31st, producing 325 eggs during the preceding 365 days. She was hatched on March 25th, 1920 and commenced to lay in October. She was placed in a permanent laying house and trap-nested from November 1st. The following is her monthly egg production for the year:—

November	27 eggs
December	27 eggs
January	27 eggs
February	27 eggs
March	29 eggs
April	25 eggs
May	27 eggs
June	29 eggs
July	29 eggs
August	31 eggs
September	30 eggs
October	27 eggs
Total	325 eggs

During the four winter months "Lady Dot" produced 103 eggs, which is more than many pullets do in a year. From August 1st to October 17th, when she quit laying she laid 78 eggs in 78 days. Commencing on May 18th, and continuing until October the 17th, a period of 152 days, she produced 150 eggs. "Lady Dot" did not go broody during the year, but commenced to moult on October 11th, and quit laying on the 17th. Unfortunately there is no trap nest record of her eggs prior to November 1st, 1920, otherwise her yearly record would have been more. As an individual she is, if anything, small for the breed, but is the most active bird in the flock.

"Lady Dot" is from an Experimental Farm flock that averaged 197.5 in their pullet year and is the result of 6 years' breeding and selection.

THE GRAND BANKS

Con Cregan, Lever's roving character, was disappointed on crossing the Atlantic that he could not see the Grand Banks. It had been his notion that the fishing banks of the North Atlantic consisted of mounds of sand sloping into the sea. Perhaps he was even entertaining the idea of camping on one of these "sandy islands." A good many are possibly just as ill-posted on the subject as the irrepressible Con Cregan, but are not so willing to confess their ignorance. The fishing banks are not exposed above the surface. They are actually banks or mounds on the bed of the ocean, but are perceptible only by the aid of sounding devices.

The Grand Bank of Newfoundland, the largest, located south-easterly from the Ancient Colony, covers an area about 330 miles north and south and 280 miles east and west and it is generally traversed by ships crossing the North Atlantic between European points and ports in Nova Scotia or on the Bay of Fundy. The general depth of water on the Grand Bank varies from thirty to forty-five fathoms, and the bottom is usually sand, gravel, or broken shells. The water surrounding drops off to anywhere from one to two hundred and twenty fathoms. The only dangers to navigation on the Grand Bank have been verified are the Virgin rocks and banks and the Eastern rocks. The area covered by the Grand Bank really includes St. Pierre and Green Banks, which are separated only by narrow channels.

The approach to the Grand Bank is generally evidenced by an increasing number of sea-fowl around the vessel. The great shearwater, very common to the fishermen as hae or hagden, is met with across the Atlantic, but on the banks it, as well as divers and other sea fowl, becomes very numerous. The shearwater, by the way, derives its name from its skimming or shearing the water when flying.

One will observe by studying a chart of the North Atlantic how close the maritime provinces are to the great fishing banks as compared with American ports, yet it is an actual fact that our neighbors to the east fish from these areas between two and three times the quantity of fish we do, and are serious competitors in our foreign trade. It seems logical from an economical and geographical standpoint that the business should be centralized in the Maritime provinces, excluding possibly supplies destined for consumption in Portland, Boston, New York and American centres conveniently at hand. Undoubtedly fish may be landed sooner in our ports and if intended for the fresh fish trade will be on the way to interior markets much sooner than when travelling circuitously via Boston. Furthermore, the entire country export gives the fishermen more actual value on the banks. Naturally, when the distance to port is shortened the fishermen can produce more in a stated time and consequently should be able to meet all competition profitably. With the exception of Georges Bank the Americans are at a disadvantage.

There seems to be a big opportunity for profitable investment. The fresh fish demand in Canada is developing rapidly and fish consumption generally is on the incline throughout the Dominion and the United States, as well. In addition, our foreign trade has grown tremendously in recent years. We should be able to produce cheaper than anyone else and the premium on any American dollar at the present time handicaps the United States' producer further in competing for foreign trade. Canadians have everything to help them but our neighbors are well doing a large proportion of the business.

The North Atlantic Banks are fished by fleets from the United States, Canada, Newfoundland, France and an occasional ship from Iceland. Large French fleets embrace with the French Island of St. Pierre as a base. A cold storage plant costing $1,200,000 having a freezing capacity of 700,000 in twenty-four hours and storage capacity of 6,000,000 pounds boxed ready for shipment, has recently been built there by the French Government and especially equipped steamers are provided to carry the supplies to Europe. The Parisian government is lending great assistance to the fishing industry looking, apparently in that direction for material for her navy.

DENBIGH.

A very successful concert and box social was held on the evening of December 16th last, in Chas. Both's Hall, which was very well attended and much enjoyed.—Christmas services were held in the Methodist Church on the evening of Dec. 24th, and in the Lutheran Church on the evening of Dec. 26th. Both services were well attended.—A very lively interest was also shown in our last Municipal election. There were only two candidates for the Reeveship, but eleven were aspiring to the honor of becoming members of our Municipal Council as Councillors. The latter were, Reeve, Mr. Frank Rodgers; Councillors, Messrs. R. G. Adam, Charles Hall, Oscar Chatson and Adolph Glaeser. Subscriptions were taken up in both polling rooms in aid of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, and $145.29 were collected in Polling Sub-division No. 1, (Denbigh) and $3.50 in Polling Sub-division No. 2 (Vernacharg).—Miss Flora Fritsch, of New York, is enjoying a pleasant visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Fritsch, and her brother, George, of Renfrew, also joined the family circle for a couple of weeks.—Mr. J. Adams, of Kingston, is also a welcome guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Adams.—Other visitors were, at C. Stein's, their daughter, Gladys, from Indian Island, and O. Lastey, of Northbrook; at O. Kleim's, their daughter, Anna, from Napanee; at W. Warlick's, their father, Mrs. Lapp, from Plevna.—Mr. Chas. Both enjoyed a pleasant holiday visiting his aunt and other relatives at Cloyne and Northbrook.—Mr. Ed. Petzold met with a serious accident, falling and pushing his left shoulder out of joint. Dr. Adams was promptly on hand and the patient, who is past 80 years of age, is doing as well as can be expected.—Rev. Mr. Gaul was also called to Cobourg, as members of his family had been taken seriously ill.

PINE GROVE.

Christmas and New Years passed off very quietly.—School has re-opened with Miss Herrington as teacher.—Misses Marion McLaughlin, Bernice Nugent and Jean Asselstine visited at W. O. Asselstine's, on Xmas afternoon.—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. York, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. W. Wicklam, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Marlin and daughter, Marie, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. York and son, Vimy, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Young and Bernice and Clinton Young spent Xmas at Mr. R. H. York's.—Mr. and Mrs. Nellis Allen and family at D. Axford's.—Mr. and Mrs. J. Kimmett spent Xmas at John Wilson's.—Ed. York is able to be out again, after being shot through the arm by a stray bullet.—Calvin and Ruth York visited their cousin, Bernice Young, on Friday.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Booth and family spent New Years Day at his father's, Wilson Booth.—Mrs. L. Schermerhorn spent a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Ada Kimmett.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Asselstine and family and Marion McLaughlin spent New Years Day at W. Asselstine's.—Miss Stella Allen, Miss Florence Stinson and Miss Helen Allen spent last Thursday with their friend, Miss Ruth York.—Miss Stella Asselstine gave a birthday party on Wednesday afternoon.—Mr. and Mrs. Booth also had dinner Friday at D. Richmond's.—Miss Gertrude Young visited her sister, Miss N. Allen, on Wednesday.—Glenn and Margaret Allen visited their grandmother, Mrs. C. Young, on Friday.—Mr. R. York, J. Kimmett and J. F. York spent Saturday in Napanee.

CENTREVILLE

The farmers are taking advantage of the good sleighing and are getting out a supply of wood.—The anniversary services in the Methodist Church on New Years were well attended both morning and evening, the Rev. J. G. Robson, of Consecon, having charge of the services.—The tea-meeting Monday night was a decided success.—Mrs. Wm. Hinchey and daughter, Genevieve, called on Mrs. G. B. Clancy, Saturday evening. — The Tamarha Club held a dance in the Town Hall Friday evening, January 6th, with a large crowd in attendance.—Miss Eva Cronk, of Enterprise, spent the week end with her aunt, Mrs. G. B. Clancy, and attended the Club dance.— Miss Vida Brown, of Lake Road, spent a week with her cousin, Helen Doupe.—Mrs. A. N. Lapum was taken suddenly ill at the prayer meeting Sunday night, but is slowly recovering.—Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Gerow and family motored to Napanee on Sunday last and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. W. Gerow.—Mr. Harold Brown at R. J. Nixon's, Reidville.—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. McMaster left on Thursday at Mr. Fred Milligan's, Sunday — Miss Marion Milligan, of Napanee, and Mr. Sherman, of Wesley, were quietly married at the bride's home, on December 31st. We extend to them our heartiest congratulations.

Supposed Paupers Miners.

Many paupers who begged for a livelihood were found after their death to have considerable wealth. A notorious case is that of Jean Baptiste Restieux, who died in a garret room outside of Paris, after begging for 20 years. Gripped tightly in his hand was found the key to a strong box in the garret he lived in. The box contained $100,000 in gold, notes and securities—all the property of his benefactor.

Before the recent world war there died in a Berlin garret Herr Schwarz, Jacob, his neighbors set him one of the poorest of the poor. He dwelled out daily into the fashionable quarters of the city and lived in filthy rags and carrying a sack in which he collected crusts and other scraps of food. When he died there was found in his wretched garret a mattress filled with money, concealed in jars and bottles, and as bank notes, which served as stuffing for his bed.

Samuel Rogers lived the life of a tramp at Long Branch, N. J., and used to walk from that city to New York to bank his money. He left $40,000, although he always contended that he was too poor to buy food or clothing. He caressed his feet in old pieces of burlap and ate whatever he could find, even to apple cores and crusts from the street.

ALWAYS USE GOOD SEED

Early Seed Preparation a Mark of Good Farming.

Careful Selection Advised — Poor Seed May Have Excellent Feeding Value — What Experiments With Seed Show—Buying a Farm.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Farmers, like others, are prone to put off to-day what they can do to-morrow, and, as a result, often neglect to get seed grain ready for sowing until the fine days of early spring call them to the land. Much time may be saved and the rush of spring work lightened if seed is prepared in the late months of winter for spring sowing. This early seed preparation will likely result also in the seed of different varieties being sown at the right time to insure the best results.

Use the Very Best Seed.

The first step in good seed selection should be the selection of the very best variety for sowing, a variety whose yield is high and whose quality of grain is good. Varieties of oats, such as O.A.C. No. 72, Banner, and O.A.C. No. 21; varieties of barley, such as O.A.C. No. 21; varieties of spring wheat, such as Marquis, Red Fife, and Wild Goose; varieties of spring rye, such as O.A.C. No. 61; varieties of field peas, such as Canadian Beauty, Arthur, Potter, and Golden Vine; varieties of field beans, such as the Common White Pea Bean; varieties of buckwheat, such as Rye, and Silver Hull, are all well suited to Ontario conditions.

Grain May Be Poor for Seed But Good for Feed.

Small, shrunken, or broken seed has a feeding value nearly equal to that of large, plump, sound seed. Seed selection experiments conducted at the O. A. College, Guelph, have shown, however, that there is a very great difference in the value of these for seed purposes.

What Experiments Show.

Varying qualities of seed of oats, barley, spring wheat, peas and field beans were tested, and it was found that one year's seed selection of seed grain has a marked influence on the resulting crop. In every single instance, the large plump seed produced a greater yield of grain per acre than the medium sized, small, shrunken, broken, or split seed. In the average of four classes of grain, the large plump seed surpassed the small plump seed in yield of grain per acre by 26 per cent. and, in the average of three classes of grain, the plump seed gave an average yield over the shrunken, broken, or split seed of 64 per cent. In this experiment, equal numbers of seeds were used in each instance. Large plump seed produced a larger, more vigorous, and more productive plant than that produced from small plump, shrunken, broken, or split seed. It should be remembered that in districts where only the largest and plumpest seeds are used for seed, the very nature of the selection eliminates the majority of the weed seeds which may have been in the grain before selection.

When the farmer has obtained the best variety and sown only the best seed of this variety, he has placed the very safest insurance possible on the future of his crops.—W. J. Squirrell, O. A. College, Guelph.

BUYING A FARM.

Some Very Practical and Timely Hints to Would-be Purchasers on Farm Property.

The most important decision that a farmer is called on to make is the selection of a farm on which to live and earn a living. The judgment used in making the selection of a farm may make or unmake a man, may tie him up for life to poverty or to wealth. In districts where the soil is uniformly good over a large area there is very frequently a evident on all sides the task is not so great and risky. But in districts where various types and grades of soil exist a poor farm and a good farm may lie side by side. The good farmer will no doubt help to sell the poor one, which, by the way, is always for sale. See Your Prospective Farm in July.

Farm purchases are most frequently made during the winter when the opportunity for close examination is least. This should not be so. If farms were purchased on the basis of the crop showing during the month of July there would be fewer regrets. If a man contemplates purchasing a farm in a district where he has lived for a long period, he will know the soil and district conditions. Knowing conditions the purchaser will head over his money with his eyes wide open; if he does not know conditions in the district he will be handing over his money with his eyes closed and must depend upon the honesty of some one else. Purchasers of farms are advised to live and work in the district of their choice for at least a year before investing heavily.—L. Stevenson, Secretary Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

Fix Harvesting Machinery.

A rainy day spent in putting that mowing machine, hay loader, binder and other harvesting machinery in shape is a mighty good investment of time. This is more true this year than usual for two reasons—first, labor is much scarcer, and therefore the loss of any time wasted will be greater, and, secondly, the parts may be harder to get than usual, due to a shortage of supplies in many lines. Pore-thought may save some aftervorries.

Millet is a splendid smother crop and weed seed destroyer, especially when cut thickly for hay and cut early.

WEEDS ARE ROBBERS

They Cost Older Ontario at Least $28,000,000 Annually.

They Are Heavy Reducers of Legitimate Crop Yields—Move After Harvest Village Is Needed—Dandelion Control — Why a $5,000 Bull Was Sold for $50.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

A superficial survey of Southern Ontario shows very clearly that the weed plants have gained so much headway on many farms as to have become the largest profit-robbing factor. Thistles, ragweed, mustard, etc., are crowding out the useful food plants, reducing yields and making work more difficult.

Too Little Farm Help and Too Many Dogs.

In the old days when labor was more plentiful and gang-ploughs for after harvest tillage were found in use on every farm, clean crops and fields were to be seen on every hand. Farms that were models of cleanliness and the pride of their owners are now the exception rather than the rule. The old school and the condition of abundant, willing help on the farms has gone. The presence of competing weeds does not worry the present day farmer to a point of action. Shortage of help, apathy on the part of farm owners, neglect to make noxious weed by-laws operative, and the sheep-killing dog, have been the chief contributing factors favoring the wholesale weed development that is now experienced by this province.

Annual Losses Run to Millions of Dollars.

The average loss per acre on cultivated and grazing lands is difficult to determine. On the well kept farms the annual loss caused by the presence of weeds is not less than two dollars per acre. On the farms that have been poorly managed for a number of years the annual loss from weeds may be as high as ten dollars per acre. Taking the lower figure of two dollars per acre as the minimum loss, on the Southern Ontario farms that have an aggregate area of 14,000,000 cleared acres we have a loss of $28,000,000 per year. The weed increase which has been so rapid during the past ten years will, if no; checked, cause a direct loss to the Ontario farmers of $100,000,000 per annum.

Let the Plough and the Harrow Be Kept Going.

If the noxious weed robbery that is being perpetrated on the Ontario farmer from April to October each year just became be in willing to be robbed were stopped, money for household comforts, etc., would be more plentiful. After harvest tillage, autumn ploughing and thorough fitting up of the farm and roadside in good time will help greatly to solve the weed problem. The agriculture of no province is so rich that it can afford to tolerate the nuisance that is costing many millions every year.—L. Stevenson, Secretary Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

DANDELION CONTROL.

Four or Five Sprayings With Iron Sulphate Will Do the Trick.

Little attention was paid to the dandelion as a weed thirty years ago, but with the clearing up of lands and removal of obstacles to the spread of the weed great increase of the nuisance has been made possible everywhere. The dandelion cannot succeed on land that is well cultivated, but areas of grass, roadsides, waste places, fields, roadways or lawns, are usually heavily infested. Large areas cannot well be treated unless the use of the land is such as to permit heavy expenditures. Small areas, such as lawns and portions of golf courses, may be kept under proper management be kept free of dandelions.

Spraying with 15% sulphate, four or five applications during one season, will generally free a grass area side by side. The treatment must be repeated every third year. The first spraying should be applied just before the first blooming period of the dandelion and followed by four more at intervals of three weeks. Two further applications should also be given during September or October. Spraying should not be done during the hot, dry period unless water can be applied to keep the grass growing vigorously. Grass treated with spray will usually black-en considerably after each application, but this turned appearance disappears after a few days. Areas that are being sprayed with the eradicator will have over his money with his eyes wide open; if he does not know conditions in the district he will be handing over his money with his eyes closed and must depend upon the honesty of some one else. Purchasers of farms are advised to live and work in the district of their choice for at least a year before investing heavily.—L. Stevenson, Secretary Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

COPY OF BETTY'S LETTER

Dear Mr. Simpson:
Say, Mr. Simpson, Come, don't you? WELL SHE WANTED TO BE A NURSE. What do you think of that? OF COURSE SHE WAS SIMPLY TRYING TO AVOID A SISTER OF MINE. However she left for Toronto taking her maid Topsy to carry her luggage. When they got to the station the train was pulling out. BETSY RAN SO FAST TOPSY RUPTURED A BLOOD VESSEL IN HER LEG. However Class got on the train alright. Then what do you think happened? SHE TUMBLED AND FELL PELL-MEL ON HER BAGGAGE. Isn't that funny? BET SHE WANTED TO BAN A NASTY EINGER FOR JERKING THE TRAIN TOO SO. She soon got herself in order and reached her aunts. SHE TOOK OUT A BOOK BY CHARLES LAMB READ A PAGE AND FELL ASLEEP. On arriving in Toronto she woke with a start, and looked a burden. A NICE CHAP PLEAD-ED TO HELP HER She refused to let him as he was a stranger. But after walking two blocks she was urged out TO HAVE A THOUGHT HERSELF. A SIMPLE MONSTER FOR REFUSING HIS HELP. She finally reached the Training School and registered. But she did n't like it a bit. She left very QUIET-LY FACT AT HER DINNER SHE ATE A VERY LITTLE. She longed with homesick haste. IN A FIT OF JEALOUSY OR ANGER SHE LEFT. However before going home she bought a new dress at Simon's store. Anyway she got one as it didn't fit. SO SHE TOOK IT TO SMITH'S ALTERATION ROOM FOR CHANGES. Even then it didn't fit, and Betty Beatty.

FIND ABOVE THE NAMES OF 12 ARTICLES SOLD IN A GROCERY STORE

John Tipkins was amazed when he read over his father's article. Betty was looking for-ward to the time when she could read it. So I've hidden the name of each article I've carried in her each of the underlined sentences. Puzzle it out, and I'll tell you the quantities," said Mr. Simpson. "I can't find the name of a single article," said Betty, after a long time. "I'm sure there aren't," said Betty. "Yes, there are. In each underlined sentence I've hidden one name. It is only the name of a grocery, fruit or vegetable, and there is just one thing in each sentence. The letters won't jump out and say 'I'm here, Betty,' but you'll find it better to start out with a scanner. Read over the sentence 'B', on the fifth word of the first line, and you'll quickly see B-I-A-N-S. Then the next one of the things I want. Then the twenty-four altogether. Find the names and underline them. Then I'll tell you how many quantities you do as well." If you can read you can do as well. Betty read over the first underlined sentence. Presently she gave a little cry. "I've got it," she said. "Bians, Peas, Potatoes, Onions, Carrots, Beets, Cabbage, Rice, Tomatoes, Corn, Pumpkin, Turnips, Parsnips, Lettuce." Do you see how quickly and easily they appear in the sentence.

That good Cod Oil at Harper's.

UPTONS AND BRYANT COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Either my brother or Bryant changed a bill in the bank at Yarker. A week the day we got gas at Yarker, and Sunbury. At Sunbury we got gas and oil from A. Sharpe, who keeps the general store there, and who has been in business for 37 times during the last two years. At about three o'clock we arrived at the corner of the Perth road and the Concession leading into Colin's lake, turning down towards the lake and stopped the car a short distance down the road. In about fifteen minutes a car turned into the Concession with three men in it and stopped about 75 yards from us. I noticed that the man in the back seat had in his hand what I thought was a rifle. I left Bryant, was in the front seat and my brother, Sherwood Upton, was in the rear seat where the three rifles were. At this time, I mean we were in the Packard car. I recognized the man with the rifle as a Police Officer belonging to Kingston. He told us to surrender or words to that effect. I then picked up one of the rifles and fired, without taking aim, shooting through the wind shield of our car. The shell from the rifle in being ejected, struck Bryant in the right eye. At the time I picked up the rifle out of the back of the car. I picked one up for Bryant and handed it to him. Several shots were fired by the Police Officer; one of the officer's shots made a hole in the left shoulder of my coat. I told the officer to stand aside and everything would be alright. I fired about twenty shots towards the officer's car. Bryant went into the field and fired two shots at the officer's car. My brother did not fire any shots, being too afraid. The officer and another man left the car after which someone (another man) put his head over the back of the front seat. I told him to get out and go with the rest, but he crouched back into the bottom of the car. Bryant walked out into the field, about opposite the car, and told this party to get out of the car or he would bore it full of holes. Not receiving any answer, Bryant fired several shots at the side of the car. Bryant then came back to our car and got in with my brother and myself and drove past the officer's car into the Perth road. We went via Inverary to Sunbury, Kingston Mills, and Barrisfield, where we cached the car on the road leading into Cartwright's Point.

Arriving there shortly before five o'clock, my brother, Sherwobd, and Bryant went at home at once. I remained to cache the rifles, clothing, etc., and then I went home. The week of the Kingston Industrial Fair I hired a rig from Finkle and took the articles that were cached to my home.

On Hallowe'en night I sized up the situation in the lane at the rear of Mahood's store. About eleven o'clock of the same evening Fred Bryant and I visited the premises and cached a rifle and some tools which were in white canvas sacks. We came out of the laneway and walked around town. As arranged, Bryant and I met my brother, Sherwood, on Princess street and returned to the laneway at about eleven-thirty. Bryant and my brother kept watch while I was gaining access to the rear door of Mahood's store. After I had forced the door we all three went in, where we partly filled three sacks with jewelry, and took same from the building.

On the morning of the 5th of December, 1921, I, accompanied with Charles Harvey, entered L. T. Best's drug store, Princess street, at about twelve midnight, taking away with us a sum of money, stamps, and a few packages of cigarettes. We gained entrance through the front door by a key which I made beforehand from a drawing supplied me by Charles Harvey.

Bryant Committed for Trial at Kingston

In the Kingston police court on Thursday morning of last week Frederick Bryant was committed for trial on a charge of receiving a quantity of jewelry stolen from the store of Mahood Bros., on Hallowe'en night. The accused pleaded "not guilty" through his counsel, T. J. Rigney, but after the evidence of Sherwood Upton, Police Sergeant Marshall Armstrong and Frederick Mahood had been taken, Magistrate Farrell committed the accused to stand his trial before a Judge and jury.

Sherwood Upton was the first witness called by Mr. Whiting.

Questioned by Mr. Whiting, witness said that he had removed some articles from under a workshop at his home, to a barn near the station. The goods were placed under this barn. The goods were taken away in a club bag, suit case and a couple of sacks. Two rifles were removed at the same time, along with the other goods. The guns were taken apart and were wrapped up. The goods were removed at night, between eleven and twelve o'clock, and about three-quarters of an hour was taken up on the job.

"And who assisted you in the removal of the goods?" asked Mr. Whiting.

"Fred Bryant," was the reply.

Questioned further, witness said that Bryant was not with him when he had placed the goods in the suit case, club bag and sacks. Witness telephoned Bryant and asked him to come and help remove the goods. Witness said there was a telephone in the barn and also at Bryant's home.

Asked how they managed to get the goods under the barn, witness said that they pulled an open place. The barn had a stone foundation, and some of the stones were removed, so he thought this would be a good place to hide them.

"Who put Bryant's kinks of this for a hiding place?" queried Mr. Whiting.

"We did not talk over whether this would be a good place or not."

"Did Bryant crawl under the barn with the goods?"

"I just pushed them under the barn," replied the witness.

Witness stated further that he pushed the suit case, club bag and sacks under and then covered up the opening by replacing the stones.

Police Sergt. Marshall Armstrong was then called, and to Mr. Whiting stated that he had made a visit to the barn near the outer station, with the previous witness.

Witness said that on arrival at the barn, Sherwood Upton pulled away some of the stones in the foundation, and stated that the jewelry and guns they were looking for were hidden under the barn. After pulling away some of the stones, Sherwood Upton crawled under the barn for a distance of about twice his own length. He first brought out a club bag and then a suit case. Witness relished in as far as he could and helped take the things out. After handing out the suit case and club bag, Upton brought out two rifles and one of the guns was loaded. Afterwards the club bag, suit case and guns were taken to the police station.

The Crown Attorney at this stage produced a long list of the different articles of jewelry recovered from under the barn. Mr. Whiting read the list for the benefit of Judge Price. The loot in the bags included, among other things, the following:—Two bunches of keys, 36 wrist watches, 10 watches, 8 wrist bands, 99 brooches, 93 pairs of cuff links, 2 pairs of cuff links and studs, 1 set vest buttons, 1 set cuff links, 21-in. pins, 1 pendent, 1 cigarette case, 1 pair of ear rings, 63 tie pins, 13 vanity cases, 116 lockets, that he noticed an open pencils, 7 boxes of cartridges, 48 pairs of cuff links, 6 collar pins, 72 brooches, 61 rings, 11 vanity cases, 77 bracelets.

Witness said that a square hole had been dug under the workshop, and this had been covered over with stones. Bryant was present when arranged, worked by wires, to lock and unlock this secret hiding place.

At the time the witness had visited the place, the combination was off, but the apparatus was there to be viewed.

Frederick Mahood, a member of the firm of Mahood Bros., stated that he had visited the police station and made an inspection of the goods recovered from under the barn.

"I immediately recognized the goods as coming from our store," said Mr. Mahood. "Every article had our tag string, showing the price and the source it came from."

Witness told of his store being robbed on Hallowe'en night, and following this evidence, the Crown Attorney asked that the accused be committed for trial, and this preliminary over, the court adjourned.

BICKNELL'S CORNERS.

At time of writing we are having real winter weather, with furries of snow.—Several of the farmers have been busy drawing hay from back north, where there seems to be an abundant supply.—Also some of the men on this street have been drawing sand for Leslie Skinner.—Everybody welcome.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Robinson, of Camden East, called on Mr. Sewell's, on Sunday afternoon.—Mrs. W. Dunn entertained a few friends on Saturday evening.—We are still expressed in hope that Mr. Delbert Benjamin has been elected as Councillor.

Women's Hudson Seal Coats at Less Than Present Manufacturer's Costs

An old trapper told us a day or so ago that in his opinion the run of muskrats this spring would be very limited. If this is the case and from other indications it seems to be true, Skins are bound to be very high in price. Hence Hudson Seal Coats which are made from Muskrat skins are sure to be a lot more money than they are selling at present.

As furriers in the Fur Trade, we advise you to buy now if you want to save a lot of money.

We have in stock several guaranteed A. 1 Coats. These garments are made on approved lines from deep well furred Ontario Muskrat Skins, which have been carefully dressed and finished. Our Coats are made by very experienced operators; the skins are smoothly joined; no raw edges are to be seen, and every detail reflects care and attention.

Coats come plain and Alaska Sable trimmed. Lengths 40 and 42. Give us the privilege of "proving" them to you.

Fur Pieces and Fur Setts of Sterling Dependability, At Wonderful Values

CARHARTT OVERALLS

I FIGURE that when a man wears overalls he wants to be able to bend, twist or stoop freely without being conscious of them. So I purposely make my Carhartt's extra roomy, and double stitch every seam. The suspender buttons stick as if they were embedded in concrete. Interlacing suspenders give you shoulder ease you never knew before—and they stay together in the wash, while the first grade denim cloth I use has a staunch durability that ensures a surprising length of service.

THE GIRL GUIDES.

Since a company of Girl Guides was recently organized in Napanee, the public may be interested to know something of the history and aims of the movement.

When the Boy Scout movement was started by Sir Robert Baden-Powell, its program was so attractive that all over England girls were trying to join Scout troops with their brothers, or forming troops among themselves. There were about 300 of these girl would-be-scouts in England, when they asked Miss Baden-Powell, Sir Robert's sister, to be their leader. She very wisely refused, fearing that the boys would resent the girls trespassing on their preserve, and that the girls' parents would feel that the Scout program was too "tom-boyish" for their daughters. But Miss Baden-Powell's refusal did not mean that the girls were to be left neglected, for soon after, Sir Robert outlined a parallel movement for them in his book, "Girl Guiding".

The "Guides" is the name of a famous corps serving on the frontiers of India. The laws and aims of the Girl Guides are similar to those of the Scouts, but the two movements are quite distinct in their organization. The Chief Guide is Lady Baden-Powell; the President of the movement, Princess Mary. In Canada, where the Girl Guides were recently incorporated by act of the Dominion Parliament, the President is Lady Byng. As Chief Commissioner for Canada, Mrs. H. D. Warren, of Toronto, succeeded Lady Pellatt in May, 1921.

The Guide company is the unit corresponding to the Scout troop, and like it, is divided into patrols of eight, two of whom act as patrol leader and second. The patrols used to take the names of flowers, but some Guides felt that as they meant to do more in their patrol than sit around and look pretty, they wanted a name with a little more character. So now patrols may be named after flowers or birds. In the Napanee company, for example you may find yourself in a mixed group of Violets, Bluebirds, Eagles, and Orioles.

To become a Guide a girl must be between the ages of 11 and 18, and must have passed the tenderfoot test. This is almost exactly like the corresponding test for Boy Scouts, requiring a knowledge of the Guide laws, the Guide signs and salute, the composition of the Union Jack, and four different knots, as well as elementary company drill and a month's attendance. When she has passed the test, the recruit is enrolled as a tenderfoot Guide, and makes the Guide promise: "To be loyal to God and the King, to help other people at all times, and to obey the Guide law." She is then entitled to wear the Guide pin, a small gilt trefoil to remind her of her three promises, and under it a scroll with the motto "Be Prepared".

The next step is to become a second-class Guide. The twelve requirements for this test illustrate the all-roundness of the Guide training. The tenderfoot must show a further knowledge of the Guide law; must know the legends of the crosses of the Union Jack; must be able to read and send the alphabet in the Morse code; must tie seven different knots; must lay and light a fire, preferably in the open, using only two matches; must know how to bandage a sprained ankle, how to stop bleeding, how to treat burns, and to remove grit from the eye; must follow on a trail of at least ten miles in twenty-five minutes; must know the life history of six birds, plants, or animals; must make a Morse flag or some other useful article; must know the rules of health and the health exercises, and must run 100 yards in 20 seconds, or skip 100 times. The second class badge is a green trefoil on a khaki ground worn on the left arm.

As soon as her second-class badge is won, a Guide finds there are proficiency badges to suit the most varied interests. For those domestically inclined there are needlewoman's, cook's, laundress', knitter's, child nurse, sick nurse, or domestic service; for those who love the open, there are the naturalist's, the bird lover's, the gardener's, or the boatswain's; for the athletic girl, the sportswoman's, the athlete's, the gymnast's, or the swimmer's, and so on to suit every taste. Not that badge-guessing only to pile on the number of badges is encouraged, for the Guide must always remember that the proficiency should be measured, not by her smart ness at meetings, nor by the number of badges on her arm, but by the use in which she lives up to the ten laws that are the beginning and the whole of the true Guide movement.

The Guide Law.

1. A Guide's honour is to be trusted.
2. A Guide is loyal.
3. A Guide's duty is to be useful and help others.
4. A Guide is a friend to all and a sister to every other Guide.
5. A Guide is courteous.
6. A Guide is a friend to animals.
7. A Guide obeys orders.
8. A Guide smiles and sings under all difficulties.
9. A Guide is thrifty.
10. A Guide is clean in thought, word, and deed.

ROBLIN.

On Saturday evening, January 7th, 1922, the Ladies' Aid and Woman's Missionary Society called at the home of Mrs. A. Kimmerly and presented her daughter, Mrs. Earl Whiteman, with a mahogany rocking chair and jardaniere stand. The evening was spent in music, and lunch was served. The following address was read by Mrs. C. Woods:—

Dear Ellen,—We, your co-workers in the Ladies' Aid and W. M. S., knowing that you are about to leave us, as gathered here to-night to spend another social hour in your old home, where we have been so many times entertained in the past; and to wish you and your husband a long, happy and prosperous wedded life. We shall miss you, Ellen, when we gather in our accustomed places, because our numbers are few and every willing worker counts, and we try to get the broader vision, looking at the Master's work as a whole, and realizing that our little is some place of gain.

For we know that the service so freely and cheerfully given here will be just as willingly rendered where ever your lot may be cast.

We ask you to accept this chair and jardiniere stand, not for their value, nor that we consider them any compensation for the help you have given us, but just to-ever as a link in memory's chain. As you sit in this rocker at close of day may it bring to your remembrance every face and every happy time we have all spent together. And be assured you will always be sure of a hearty welcome any time you can attend our meetings.

Signed on behalf of the Ladies Aid by Mrs. Carleton Woods, President, and the W. M. S. by Mrs. Wm. Waddell, President.

EDIE—ADAMS.

On Wednesday, January 4th, 1922, pretty wedding was solemnized at Danforth Ave., Methodist Church, Toronto, by the Rev. J. J. Coulter, when Annie T., the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Adams, Hazelwood Ave., Toronto, formerly of Pape, was united in marriage to Mr. Donald Roy Edie, son of Mrs. and the late Mr. Wm. Edie, Concord Ave. The bride looked dainty in a gown of embroidered blue crepe-de-chene with small gold diadem hat and corsage bouquet of orchids. The bride was assisted by Dr. Vivian Marvin Laughlin, in midnight blue silk and small rose hat, while Dr. Geo. F. Laughlin was groomsman. After the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, the happy couple left for a short honeymoon, the bride travelling in a dress of brown canton crepe, and black Persian Lamb coat.

—Joseph Oliver, Grand Sire of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows of the World, died in Toronto on Sunday morning last and was buried on Tuesday in Toronto. He had twice been elected Mayor of the City and for a number of years was a member of the City Council and Board of Control. He was a strong temperance advocate and a great favorite with everybody who knew him. Napanee Lodge No. 86, I. O. O. F. were holding their regular meeting on Tuesday evening, and the Noble Grand remembering it was the Grand Sire's funeral day, had the organist play the Dead March in Saul, while the members stood at attention as show respect for the dead Grand Sire.

HOCKEY.

Senators 9, Canadians 5.

In the opening game of the Town League Monday night, Spencer's-Senators trimmed McNeill's Canadians to the tune of 9 to 5.

The ice was very sticky, which prevented good team play, and individual play was the feature of the evening. What little combination that was attempted was broken up by good back checking or by the puck being overskated on account of the sticky ice. McNeill and Caldwell were the pick of the losers, although Maracle tried hard. For the winners, the Spencer brothers were good on the defence; Lawrence Douglas was the pick of the forwards, in fact he was the outstanding player on the ice. Young Davern and Perry were also good, but are a little light for the company.

A very unfortunate accident occurred just after the start of the second period, when Frost and Caldwell of the Canadians, collided head-on, necessitating Caldwell being taken to the doctor immediately after the game. The game was as clean as could be expected considering the condition of the ice, only one penalty being handed out by Referee Roe, that falling to McNeill for chopping just after the start of play. Mr. McNeill was handicapped on account of having no subs. The score by periods was 4 to 1, 6 to 3, 9 to 5, in favor of the Senators.

Canadians (5)—Goal, Vanslatine; R. Defence, Maracle; L. Defence, Frost; Centre, McNeill; R. Wing, Caldwell; L. Wing, Kelly.

Referee—"Judy" Roe.

CARHARTT OVERALLS

I FIGURE that when a man wears overalls he wants to be able to bend, twist or stoop freely without being conscious of them. So I purposely make my Carhartt's extra roomy, and double stitch every seam. The suspender buttons stick as if they were embedded in concrete. Interlacing suspenders give you shoulder ease you never knew before—and they stay together in the wash, while the first grade denim cloth I use has a staunch durability that ensures a surprising length of service.

THE GIRL GUIDES.

Since a company of Girl Guides was recently organized in Napanee, the public may be interested to know something of the history and aims of the movement.

When the Boy Scout movement was started by Sir Robert Baden-Powell, its program was so attractive that all over England girls were trying to join Scout troops with their brothers, or forming troops among themselves. There were about 800 of these girl would-be-scouts in England, when they asked Miss Baden-Powell, Sir Robert's sister, to be their leader. She very wisely refused, fearing that the boys would resent the girls trespassing on their preserve, and that the girls' parents would feel that the Scout program was too "tom-boyish" for their daughters. But Miss Baden-Powell's refusal did not mean that the girls were to be left neglected, for soon after, Sir Robert outlined a parallel movement for them in his book, "Girl Guiding".

The "Guides" is the name of a famous corps serving on the frontiers of India. The laws and aims of the Girl Guides are similar to those of the Scouts, but the two movements are quite distinct in their organization. The Chief Guide is Lady Baden-Powell; the President of the movement, Princess Mary. In Canada, where the Girl Guides were recently incorporated by act of the Dominion Parliament, the President is Lady Byng. As Chief Commissioner for Canada, Mrs. H. D. Warren, of Toronto, succeeded Lady Pellatt in May, 1921.

The Guide company is the unit corresponding to the Scout troop, and like it, is divided into patrols of eight, two of whom act as patrol leader and second. The patrols used to take the names of flowers, but some Guides felt that as they meant to do more in their patrol than sit around and look pretty, they wanted a name with a little more character. So now patrols may be named after flowers or birds. In the Napanee company, for example you may find yourself in a mixed group of Violets, Bluebirds, Eagles, and Orioles.

To become a Guide a girl must be between the ages of 11 and 18, and must have passed the tenderfoot test. This is almost exactly like the corresponding test for Boy Scouts, requiring a knowledge of the Guide laws, the Guide signs and salute, the composition of the Union Jack, and four different knots, as well as elementary company drill and a month's attendance. When she has passed the test, the recruit is enrolled as a tenderfoot Guide, and makes the Guide promise: "To be loyal to God and the King, to help other people at all times, and to obey the Guide law." She is then entitled to wear the Guide pin, a small gilt trefoil to remind her of her three promises, and under it a scroll with the motto "Be Prepared".

The next step is to become a second-class Guide. The twelve requirements for this test illustrate the all-roundness of the Guide training. The tenderfoot must show a further knowledge of the Guide law; must know the legends of the crosses of the Union Jack; must be able to read and send the alphabet in the Morse code; must tie seven different knots; must lay and light a fire, preferably in the open, using only two matches; must know how to bandage a sprained ankle, how to stop choking and bleeding, and to remove grit from the eye; must follow up a trail of half a mile in twenty-five minutes; must know the life history of six birds, plants, or animals; must make a Morse flag or some other useful article; must know the rules of health and the health exercises, and must run 100 yards in 20 seconds, or skip 100 times. The second class badge is a green trefoil on a khaki ground worn on the left arm.

As soon as her second-class badge is won, a Guide finds there are proficiency badges to suit the most varied interests. For those domestically inclined there are needlewoman's, cook's, laundress', knitter's, child nurse, sick nurse, or domestic service; for those who love the open, there are the naturalist's, the bird lover's, the gardener's, or the boatswain's; for the athletic girl, the sportswoman's, the athlete's, the gymnast's, or the swimmer's, and so on to suit every taste. Not that badge-guessing only to pile up the number of badges is encouraged, for the Guide must always remember that her efficiency should be measured, not by her smartness at meetings, nor by the number of badges on her arm, but by the way in which she lives up to the ten laws that are the beginning and the whole of the true Guide movement.

The Guide Law.

1. A Guide's honour is to be trusted.
2. A Guide is loyal.
3. A Guide's duty is to be useful and help others.
4. A Guide is a friend to all and a sister to every other Guide.
5. A Guide is courteous.
6. A Guide is a friend to animals.
7. A Guide obeys orders.
8. A Guide smiles and sings under all difficulties.
9. A Guide is thrifty.
10. A Guide is clean in thought, word, and deed.

ROBLIN.

On Saturday evening, January 7th, 1922, the Ladies' Aid and Woman's Missionary Society called at the home of Mrs. A. Kimmett, and presented her daughter, Mrs. Earl Whiteman, with a mahogany rocking chair and jardaniere stand. The evening was spent in music, and lunch was served. The following address was read by Mrs. C. Woods:—

Dear Ellen,—We, your co-workers in the Ladies' Aid and W. M. S., knowing that you are about to leave us, have gathered here to-night to spend another social hour in your old home, where we have been so many times entertained in the past; and to wish you and your husband a long, happy and prosperous wedded life. We shall miss you, Ellen, when we gather in our monthly meetings, because our numbers are few and every willing worker counts. But we try to get the broader vision, looking at the Master's work as a whole, and realizing that our loss is some place else's gain.

For we know that the service so freely and cheerfully given here will be just as willingly rendered where ever your lot may be cast.

We ask you to accept this chair and jardiniere stand, not for their value, nor that we consider them any compensation for the help you have given us, but just to serve as a link in memory's chain. As you sit in this rocker at close of day may it bring to your remembrance every face and every happy time we have all spent together. And be assured you will always be sure of a hearty welcome any time you can attend our meetings.

Signed on behalf of the Ladies Aid by Mrs. Carleton Woods, President, and the W. M. S. by Mrs. Wm. Waddell, President.

EDIE—ADAMS.

On Wednesday, January 4th, 1922, pretty wedding was solemnized at Danforth Ave., Methodist Church, Toronto, by the Rev. J. J. Coulter, when Annie T., the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Adams, Hazelwood Ave., Toronto, formerly of Pape, was united in marriage to Mr. Donald Roy Edie, son of Mrs. and the late Mr. Wm. Edie, Concord Ave. The bride looked dainty in a gown of embroidered blue crepe-de-chene with small gold diadem hat and corsage bouquet of orchids. The bride was assisted by Dr. Vivian Marvin Laughlin, in midnight blue silk and small rose hat, while Dr. Geo. F. Laughlin was groomsman. After the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, the happy couple left for a short honeymoon, the bride travelling in a dress of brown canton crepe, and black Persian Lamb coat.

He had twice been elected Mayor of the City and for a number of years was a member of the City Council and Board of Control. He was a strong temperance advocate and a great favorite with everybody who knew him. Napanee Lodge No. 86, I. O. O. F. were holding their regular meeting on Tuesday evening, and the Noble Grand remembering it was the Grand Sire's funeral day, had the organist play the Dead March in Saul, while the members stood at attention to show respect for the dead Grand Sire.

HOCKEY.

Senators 9, Canadians 5.

In the opening game of the Town League Monday night, Spencer's Senators trimmed McNeill's Canadians to the tune of 9 to 5.

The ice was very sticky, which prevented good team play, and individual play was the feature of the evening. What little combination that was attempted was broken up by good back checking or by the puck being overskated on account of the sticky ice. McNeill and Caldwell were the pick of the losers, although Maracle tried hard. For the winners, the Spencer brothers were good on the defence; Lawrence Douglas was the pick of the forwards, in fact he was the outstanding player on the ice. Young Davern and Perry were also good, but are a little light for the company.

A very unfortunate accident occurred just after the start of the second period, when Frost and Caldwell of the Canadians, collided head-on, necessitating Caldwell being taken to the doctor immediately after the game. The game was as clean as could be expected considering the condition of the ice, only one penalty being handed out by Referee Roe, that falling to McNeill for chopping just after the start of play. Mr. McNeill was handicapped on account of having no subs. The score by periods was 4 to 1, 6 to 3, 9 to 5, in favor of the Senators.

Senators (9)—Goal, Stewart; R. Defence, I. Spencer; L. Defence, L. Spencer; Centre, L. Douglas; R. Wing Davern; L. Wing, Perry; Sub., R. Douglas and Howie.

Canadians (5)—Goal, Vanalstine; R. Defence, Maracle; L. Defence, Frost; Centre, McNeill; R. Wing, Caldwell; L. Wing, Kelly.

Referee—"Judy" Roe.

RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism is produced by the accumulation of Uric Acid in the Blood and this poisonous substance attacks and inflames the membrance covering the joints and separating the muscles, thus producing severe pains. If the waste products to the system are not properly carried off, Uric Acid forms and is deposited in the joints and between the different layers of muscles. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS will correct this by its action on the Kidneys, and removing the Uric Acid from the blood. Try them and watch the results. If they fail, your money will be refunded. 50c. and $1.00 a box at Hooper's Drug Store, Napanee, Ont. The Henderson Herb Co., Toronto, Ont. 1b

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

By the Canadian Forestry Associa.

Q. How many railway ties are used for the Canadian railroads each year and what wood is chiefly employed?

A. About twenty million ties. Jack Pine is the wood used for this purpose. A comparatively recent development has been the creosoting of Jack Pine ties so as to double their life.

Q. I have an island in Georgian Bay on which considerable white pine of large dimensions is growing. Would it be a paying proposition to do some cutting?

A. Better consult the nearest sawmill. Get a practical lumberman to look over your island and estimate the commercial quantity. Don't start cutting until you know your costs and your market.

Q. I have heard it said that of the millions of little trees found growing in a forest only a trifling percentage survive. How far is this true?

A. Ninety-five per cent of the juvenile trees in a forest eventually sacrifice themselves in order that five per cent may live.

Q. Has Ontario any scientific plan whereby the present deterioration of her white pine forests can be corrected?

A. Only last week the Provincial Forester of Ontario announced the scheme whereby ten thousand acres of barren lands should be planted up with pine seedlings each year, and this would eventually supply the province with as much mature pine as is now cut annually. The scheme looks like a good business proposition.

Q. Does our Canadian system of licensing timber differ from that of the United States?

A. Materially so. The people of the United States own less than one quarter of their total forest — whereas the people of Canada own about 90 per cent of the forest area. In Canada we merely lease timber cutting rights and retain State control so as to enforce sensible methods in forest conservation as a safeguard to future generations. The United States unfortunately faces the ticklish problem of applying mandatory laws on forest conservation to private property. In Canada we can enforce forestry provisions on our own estate which is much simpler job.

A green brakeman was making his first trip up the Sierras. The train was going up a very steep grade, and with unusual difficulty the engineer succeeded in reaching the top. At the station, looking out of his cab, the engineer said with a sigh of relief:

"I tell you what, my lad, we had a hard job to get us there, didn't we?"

"We certainly did," said the brakeman, "and if I hadn't put on the brakes we'd have slipped back."

The politician rushed past the official Cerberus into the editorial sanctum.

"What do you mean by insulting me as you did in last night's Clamor?"

"Just a minute," replied the editor. "Didn't the story appear as you gave it to us—namely, that you had resigned as City Treasurer?"

"It did," admitted the politician. "But you put it under the head, 'Public Improvements'."

DESERT IN BLOOM

Irrigation Makes Garden Spot of Death Valley.

Furnace Creek Ranch, in Eastern California, Probably the Most Isolated Farm in the World—Many Feet Below Sea Level.

Probably the most isolated farm in the world is situated to a certain spot in eastern California, near the bottom of the United States, where some enterprising men have fitted out a ranch of some 40 acres. The place is known as Furnace Creek ranch, and it has been made possible by irrigation, the water being piped from springs in the Funeral mountains.

Edward Hogg, in describing the ranch, says that it "is situated 178 feet below sea level on the floor of the greatest depression on the face of the western hemisphere, within pistol shot of and only about 100 feet higher than the greatest depth of Death valley. Yet, in spite of its peculiar location, the ranch is within the shadow of Mount Whitney, whose eternal snows tower into the heavens to a height of nearly three miles, the highest point of land in the continental limits of the nation.

"Furthermore, Furnace Creek ranch is probably the only farm in the world where weeds are unknown. As it is entirely artificial and surrounded by a desert barrier, the seeds of noxious weeds have had no way of getting there, and unless they be imported by man, the ranch will undoubtedly always remain free from them.

"Obviously the introduction of an abundant water supply was the prime requisite to make the ranch possible. This is obtained from two large springs far back in the Funeral mountains, which pour their streams into the burned-out Death valley soil through two great aqueducts, one of steel and one of masonry. Part of the water is diverted along the route to freshen a heavy growth of willows planted to give shade to the watercourse. But in spite of this, the loss of water from evaporation is very great, and in summer the water emerges from the aqueduct at temperatures up to 110 degrees. Men and live stock, of course, cannot drink it so hot. Cooling is therefore effected by means of large evaporation 'olas,' and the drinking water is quickly reduced to 70 degrees in the hottest weather.

"The humidity of Death valley's atmosphere varies like that of other places, but according to analyses made by the United States weather bureau, its air is the driest known. Its average moisture content is less than 21 per cent. Water thus becomes as valuable as gasoline and evaporating cooling is accomplished with great rapidity. It is this speedy evaporation that has largely made Furnace Creek ranch possible. The ranch is primarily a hay-farm, the principal crop being alfalfa, which is fed to cattle and hogs. After being dressed, the meat is sent to mining camps. The live stock will speedily heal cuts and contusions. It is a medicine chest in itself, and can be got for a quarter of a dollar.

"White men cannot live long in the withering heat. Consequently all the work about the ranch is done by Indians of the Piute and Shoshone tribes, under the direction of an educated foreman. The average life of a white man in Death valley is very short. Three white foremen employed on the ranch lasted two summers each and perished during the third. Two others went insane and attempted to flee out of the valley on foot. Neither of them lived to mourn the maze of Funeral mountain canyons.

"The Stygian temperature of Death valley lasts for about five months of the year, usually from May 1 until October; the other months are cool and pleasant. Rain is virtually unknown. Consequently the irrigation of Funeral creek ranch is continuous."

Thrifty? Yes.

The other day an Indianapolis lawyer took one of his women clients out to lunch. He, being discreet, decided to say nothing about the event to his wife. But the tattling friend who always learns of such affairs told wifey fastend, and that evening he was duly scolded for this misdemeanor.

"But you sometimes go out to lunch with men who are our friends," protested her husband, "and I don't object. Now, what is the difference between your coming and my going in this way?"

"Why," the difference is in the bill," smiled the wife. "One way you save it and the other you pay it."

Needed Her Help.

Will R——, is a high school pupil who knew very little of children until his married sister and her three-year-old son came home to visit for a other day. Now the variety of the three-year-old's language amazed his uncle. So he said, "Bow-wow" for dog, "toy-toy" for automobile, "moo-moo" for cat, and even "is-is" for the violin.

The other evening Will came into the house. "Say, sis," he called upstairs to his sister, "you'll have to get me some help. I want to ask this youngster to go with me to a show and I don't know what kind of a noise it makes for moving pictures."

The Ear of the Public!

Is it waiting for your message? The Telephone is at your elbow—and over the telephone you always get a hearing.

How much of your traveler's time is spent in selling? While he is on the train or cooling his heels in an outer office, waiting, you or he might be talking to the customer by Long Distance, making another sale.

One merchant estimates that 46% of a salesman's time is spent in travelling — that only 15% of his time goes to actual selling. He sells only while the other man is listening! "It enables a salesman to cover ten towns a day and stay at home," writes the Banking Service Corporation, Limited, Toronto.

A banker tells us that every day's delay in turnover costs Canadian business men one million dollars. If you placed orders by Long Distance and secured shipment the same day, or next, by how many dollars would it increase your turnover?

We have yet to hear of a business that has not been benefited by an increased use of Long Distance. Apply the classified Long Distance schedule to your business consistently, and you will secure good results. Our manager will give you hearty, intelligent co-operation.

CHEWING GUM.
By Rea Proctor McGee, D.D.S., M.D., Editor "Oral Hygiene"

The teeth and jaws and salivary glands and all of the mechanism of the mouth were made for a useful purpose.

We have invented so many tasks for the mouth that mastication is not so popular as it formerly was. Nothing we have ever done as an energy waster equals the chewing gum habit.

Everywhere there are hundreds and thousands and millions of jaws with a chronic motion, that ranges from the gentle tremble of an almost impassive face to the enthusiastic "squash" of the "mug" that doesn't care tooth substance, energy, time and saliva wasted and what of the tantalized stomach?

Should not the Society for the Prevention of the Broken Promises to the Stomach step in and do something?

Chewing all day with nothing to swallow the jaws get all of the exercise they need at mealtime and in conversation. Why not use the chewing gum energy in some useful manner?

Wherever you go, stores, railway stations, churches, theatres, offices, you find gum stuck around to wait the return of its former owners; carpets, rugs and floors are ruined with gum.

When you do go to the dentist, or to anyone else for that matter, leave your gum at home.

All that chewing gum does is to make good teeth bad and bad teeth worse.

HENRY'S BOOKSTORE

—1922—

We would join in this general salutation. We wish also to thank our friends and the public generally for the very liberal patronage extended to us during the holiday trade. It is with satisfaction we inform them that our Christmas trade just closed was the largest we ever had, and was larger than under the circumstances we had anticipated. We believe this result was owing to the fact that we had the goods the people wanted, at prices that were right—that we made no statements that were subsequently found by customers to be misleading. Our sales of Books were highly satisfactory,—we had the principal new Books by the most popular Authors,—we kept them constantly in stock,—as soon as a line became exhausted, we replaced. In the general stock for medium-priced presents the result was also satisfactory. We seemed to have the very lines the average customer wanted, the prices were right, and the goods were sold. We have still on hand the new Books from the pens of the more popular writers, Lady Byng, Cody, Porter, Hall Caine, Ralph Connor, Zane Grey, etc.

We have received several Books for the High and Public Schools lately, and now have every needed Book on the list.

ADMINISTRATRIX'S NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the Estate of William James Sweet, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given pursuant to Chapter 121, of the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1914, Section 56, and amending Acts, that all persons having any claims or demands against the estate of William James Sweet, late of the Townships of South Fredericksburgh, in the County of Lennox and Addington, fisherman, deceased, who died on or about the 2rd day of October, A.D. 1921, are required to deliver or send by post prepaid to U. M. Wilson, Napanee, Ontario, Solicitor for Lena Pearl Sweet, Administratrix of the property of the said William James Sweet, deceased, on or before the 28th day of January, A.D. 1922, their Christian and surnames, addresses and descriptions, with full particulars of their claims or demands duly verified, and the nature of the security (if any) held by them.

And further take notice that after the said 28th day of January, A.D., 1922, the said Administratrix may proceed to distribute the assets of the said estate amongst the persons entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims or demands of which she shall then have received notice, and shall not be liable for the said assets, or any part thereof so distributed, to any person or persons of whose claims or demands she shall not have received notice at the time of the distribution thereof.

U. M. WILSON,
Solicitor for the said Administratrix.

PEPS

are real breatheable tablets, make the throat, chest, and lungs cold resisting. When a nasty cold or a coughing bout foretells the revival of your old bronchial trouble, the best thing to do is to take Peps at once to strengthen and the chest. When a Peps tablet is taken from its preserving silver wrapper and allowed to dissolve in the mouth, it gives off powerful medicinal and germicidal fumes that immediately circulate with the breath through all the air-passages, and destroy any germs that have got into nostrils and throat. At the same time check-fever, inflamed membrane is soothed, healed and protected, phlegm is released from the bronchials, breathing is made easy, and that distressing cough and throat soreness disappear.

PROTECT

By this direct treatment Peps keep trouble off the and lungs, and the worst weather can be faced without fear of evil consequences. It is the safest plan to always have a few Peps handy to arrest a cold, and prevent it reaching the lungs or starting bronchitis and chest weakness.

ARDEN

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William McGregor, on the evening of January 2nd, when twenty-six of their neighbours took them by surprise by entering their home to spend a social evening with them, it being the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day. When hand shaking and congratulations were over, a social hour or more was spent. Then Mr. and Mrs. McGregor were seated, and the Rev. Mr. Stocker read an address. Mrs. S. Alexander made the presentation of $10.00 in gold coin. Addresses were then given by some of the gentlemen, testifying to the esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. McGregor were held in the community. Mr. and Mrs. McGregor made suitable replies, thanking all for their kindness and well wishes shown them. The ladies served refreshments. A very pleasant evening was spent, the memory of which will be appreciated by Mr. and Mrs. McGregor while life lasts. The event closed by all wishing Mr. and Mrs. W. McGregor many more happy years.

Following is the address:—

Dear Mr. and Mrs. McGregor,—A few of us have gathered to-night in your home to express to you our hearty congratulations on this fiftieth anniversary of your wedding day. Looking back it certainly seems like a long period of time that has gone by since that memorable day in 1872, when somewhat younger than you are to-night, you both ventured upon the highway of a married life with all its happy and bright purposes and ideals that must have stood out before you as a young couple thus blending your lives for each other's welfare and happiness. You are the best judges as to how those fifty years of Providential care over you have worked out those purposes and plans and hopes. Almost one-half of this period of half a century of your wedded life has been lived among many of us, who like yourselves, have made our homes in this township. We can look back with you to those days of struggle and anxiety when we were endeavouring to gather a home about us, and to improve the many primitive conditions that existed in those earlier days of your coming to these parts, to do your part in helping to shape and mould the life of the community. What great changes have come we all realize very fully when glancing back to those days and comparing them with the present; you have endeavoured to do your part through the years to be a help and blessing to your friends and neighbours and to make possible the enjoyment of the improved conditions we now enjoy. When we reflect on the fact, we notice that it is not a very common experience to have the pleasure of enjoying the golden wedding anniversary of ones wedding days, and we, too, count it a pleasure to be able to just run in for a while this evening and spend a little social time together with you to show you that somehow or other such an outstanding event as this in your lives can't pass by unnoticed by your friends who are proud it might have been. But you see it looked out, and here we are, it is true, not the company that gathered the signing of that nuptial knot. We have the pleasure of witnessing it as secure as ever. Now we want you to have a little tangible moments from us so that the memory of this event in your lives may help you to keep fresh the expression of our good will toward you.

We join in wishing you not only one Happy New Year but very many more such of God's continued goodness to you as your hearts in silence go out and up in loving gratitude to Him whose goodness and mercy have followed you through the years.

Signed on behalf of friends,
REV. ROBERT STOCKER, Pastor.

Dragged by Horse Woman Is Dead.

The body of Mrs. Jacob Maracle, aged sixty, of Tyendinaga Reserve, was found in some bushes five miles west of Deseronto, last Thursday morning. She had been driving home from a place near Shannonville, where she had been working, and was taking a short-cut across the fields in last night's storm. She either stepped or fell out of the vehicle, and the reins getting foul of her body, was dragged a considerable distance across the plowed field. An inquest was considered unnecessary, as death was due to exposure. She leaves a husband and grown-up family.

Customs Official Dead.

Deseronto was shocked Saturday to hear of the sudden death of one of its most prominent and respected citizens in the person of Allison Stanley Valleau, who has been Collector of Customs at the port of Deseronto for twenty-five years past. Mr. Valleau was at his desk in the Customs Office in his usual good health, and there were no indications that he was ill or near approaching death. He left the office at 3 p.m. Friday and went to his home on Stanley avenue, a street of Deseronto named after him. But about nine o'clock he became ill, and Dr. Boyce was called. It was found that he was suffering from acute obstruction of the bowels and all the efforts possible to relieve him but to no avail and the patient passed away at nine o'clock Saturday morning.

Death of a Former Resident of Enterprise, Ont.

Following a general decline in health of over two years, Miss Alzina Grass, aged 75 years and 8 months, passed to rest peacefully, on Saturday, Dec. 31st, 1921, at the home of her brother, Alexander Grass, Hanover, New Hampshire, with whom she had lived for over twenty years. The deceased was born near Enterprise, Ont., and most of her life was spent there, when in 1903 she went to New Hampshire with her brother and family. In religion she was a Presbyterian. She is survived by her brother, Alexander Grass, of Hanover, N.H.; three nephews, Chris. Grass of Hanover, N.H.; Frederick and Frank Card, of Smith's Creek, Mich.; two great-nephews and several nieces. Funeral services were held at her brother's home on Monday afternoon, at 1.30 o'clock, the Rev. Roy Clarke, of the Congregational Church, officiating. H. H. Rand was conductor. Interment was in Hanover cemetery.

The Dinner Set to be given away to the lucky winner is on exhibition in our window, and is open for your inspection.

After stocktaking, odds and ends, Shelf warmers—slow parting friends—are placed on sale for this week.

Our Jumble Sale, which was such a rousing success last week, will be continued for one week more, with many big bargains rooted out, to be given away at 25c each.

It will pay you to watch MacGregor's move for the next few days. It will help swell your pocketbook more than anything else you will take an interest in.

In short, we invite you to be present at these series of sales we are staging, as space and time will not allow us to enumerate the bargains we have in store for you.

OBITUARY.

G. Walter Boyes.

George Walter Boyes, youngest son of the late Robert Boyes, passed away quite suddenly on Friday afternoon last, January 6th, 1922. Mr. Boyes had been ill for some weeks, and in poor health for over a year. For a number of years he carried on a grocery business on John St., until ill health forced him to give it up. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, from his late residence, East St. The members of the Oddfellows' and Foresters' lodges attended in a body to pay their last respects to a deceased brother. Besides his widow, he leaves four brothers, Messrs. J. L. Boyes, Napanee; W. E. Boyes, Montreal; A. E. Boyes, California, and C. H. Boyes, Kingston; and one sister, Mrs. Jas. A. Wilson, Napanee.

Mrs. Robert Bennett.

The late Mrs. Robert Bennett was born in Napanee, the daughter of Andrew Wiseman, and moved to Odessa with the family when quite young. She married Robert Bennett, of Kingston, and after a short time in Napanee, moved to Odessa, where they have made their home ever since.

The late Mrs. Bennett was of a bright and cheerful disposition, and had endeared herself to a large circle of friends. She was active in works of charity, the sick and the poor were the objects of her care, and she was a devout member of the Church of England. She has been interested in the working of the local lodge of the C. O. C. F. since its formation, acting as assistant financial secretary.

Mrs. Bennett had an attack of acute indigestion which confined her to her room for a few days. On Saturday she felt well enough to venture down stairs, but on Sunday morning, January 8th, it was discovered that she had passed away during the night.

The funeral service was held at St. Alban's Church, which could not accommodate all who desired to pay a last tribute to one held in such universal respect.

The deceased lady is survived by her two daughters, Mrs. Wm. Daugherty and Mrs. Delbert Snyder, and her husband, who desire to acknowledge the many expressions of sympathy, and the beautiful floral offerings received.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

A golden wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kellar, of Richmond, on the Deseronto Road, on Wednesday, December 28th. The ceremony which joined the lives of this fine old couple was performed at the home of her brother, the late James Fitchett, of Hawley, by the Rev. David Wilson, the only surviving witness being Mrs. Richard Cronkwright, of Hawley, who was also present at their anniversary. To their happy union there were born two sons and five daughters, of whom two sons and two daughters survive. Also twenty grandchildren and one great-grandchild. They received some valuable presents and a well filled purse from those present and also her brothers, who were unable to attend, one, Isaac, on the old homestead, Hay Bay, on account of sickness; and the others on account of distance, David in California; Joseph in Washington, and Robert in Milwaukee. All the guests, thirty in number, join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Kellar many more years of happy wedded life, and heartily wish that they might all be together to celebrate their diamond jubilee.

WEESE—WARTMAN.

A very pleasant event took place on Saturday, December 31st, 1921, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Weese, of Centreville, when their eldest daughter, Miss Marion Juanita Weese, was united in marriage to Mr. Hubert M. Wartman. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. Hoare, uncle of the groom, in the midst of a number of their relatives. The groom was ably supported by his cousin, Mr. Bruce Finlay, while the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Florence Weese. The bride was becomingly gowned in a pale pink satin dress. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. H. Henderson. After the ceremony a dainty lunch was served. The wedding party motored to the station in time to take the west bound train at 2.30 p.m., for Toronto, where the happy couple spent their honeymoon.

STELLA.

The ice bridge over to the mainland is now safe for travelling. The different roads have been marked off.—The snow storm of Saturday has made some heavy drifts on the island roads.—The C. O. F. held their annual ball in Victoria Hall on Friday evening, Dec. 30th. Music was furnished by Glenn & MacDonald's orchestra. There was a good attendance.—The committee of the skating rink held a dance in Victoria Hall on Friday evening last. It was quite well attended. Music was furnished by Glenn & MacDonald's Orchestra. The owners of the skating rink have erected the building on Stella harbor and it is about in readiness.—The schools have all re-opened after the holidays. New teachers in two schools are reported. No. 1 has Mr. Bell, Odessa, as teacher, and No. 2, Miss M. McGuiness, Emerald.—W. Dodd has returned here, after spending Christmas and New Years with his parents in Hamilton.—W. J. McCormal has returned home, after spending a few weeks with Hugh Instant, Adolphustown.—Miss Ruth Marshall, nurse-in-training, Kingston General Hospital, is spending a few days at her home here.

BEAVER LAKE.

Everyone is glad to see good sleighing and the men are busy drawing wood and ice.—A number from here attended the horse races on the lake on Saturday, and Mr. Frank Yorke took first prize.—Mr. Ernest Thompson spent a number of days at Mr. Oscar Thompson's.—Mr. D. A. Reid has been drawing his wood from Sand Street.—The children seem very glad to be taken to school in the vans.—A new baby boy came to stay at Mr. Herb. McDonald's.—Owing to the good sleighing a large number attended the driving party held at Mr. Timothy Steel's.—Mr. P. McDonald and wife, from Copper Cliff, are visiting his brother, Herb.—Mrs. Robt. Gilmour is very low. We hope for a speedy recovery.

MOSCOW.

Several from here attended the hockey match at Verona on Saturday.—The roads are in a bad condition since the storm.—Mrs. R. Asselstine received word of the death of her uncle, Mr. W. Hough.—Mr. Henry Huffman and sister, Mrs. B. Rombough, are spending the winter in Florida. W. W. Asselstine accompanied them to New York, where he is visiting his daughter, Miss Ethel.—Miss Ruth Lampkin spent the holiday season at home, and has returned to Guelph.—Mr. Wilfred Potter is on the sick list.

OBITUARY.

Milton Clark Jackson.

On Friday, January 13th, 1922, there passed away at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. J. Cline Browne, 1 Afton Ave., Toronto, a former and highly esteemed resident of Napanee, in the person of Milton Clark Jackson, in his seventy-fourth year, son of the late Dorland Jackson and Malinda Scott-Jackson, whose families were among the early U. E. L. settlers of this County.

The late Mr. Jackson resided in Napanee until 21 years ago, when he with his family moved to Pittsburgh, Penn., later returning to Toronto, where he resided until his death. Besides his sorrowing widow, who was before her marriage, Miss Jane Arnold, of Roblin, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. J. Cline Browne, Toronto, and Mrs. R. Grant Browne, of Castile, N.Y.; also three brothers, Walter, of Baldur, Manitoba; Alzona, of Marlbank, and Irvine, of Selby; also one sister, Mrs. F. S. Wilson, Thomas Street, Napanee.

The remains were brought to Napanee on the 1.49 p.m. train Sunday, and were taken from the station to Riverview vault to await interment in the spring. The burial service was conducted by the Rev. W. D. P. Wilson, of Belleville, assisted by the Rev. P. A. Scott, of Napanee. The esteem in which the late Mr. Jackson was held was shown by the large number of friends who gathered at the station and cemetery to pay their last respects to the departed.

Address and Presentation.

The friends and neighbors of Mr. John Chambers met at his home on Wednesday, January 11th, and presented him and his bride with a mantel clock and a pyrex casserole, and the following address:—

To Mr. and Mrs. John Chambers.

It is with sentiments of deepest pleasure that we, as residents of this community, have gathered on this occasion to pay our warmest respects to Mr. John Chambers and his bride.

We have always thought of John as one of our own boys, and have watched his career from babyhood to manhood with the greatest interest. Now that he has entered the ranks of the benedicts we wish him and his good wife a long and happy married life. We gladly welcome Mrs. John Chambers to our Church and community, and trust that she will speedily feel "at home" amongst us.

As a token of our heartiest goodwill and best wishes for a bright future we desire you to accept the accompanying gift. Our prayer is that God will shower His choicest blessings upon you and that you will find "His ways are ways of pleasantness and all His paths are peace".

Signed on behalf of our Community,

Mrs. James Mills.
Mrs. Arthur Curle.
Mrs. Henry Page.

Big Creek, 11th January, 1922.

In a few well chosen words, Mr. John Chambers, on behalf of himself and bride, thanked the friends, and after serving a dainty lunch, all dispersed to their several homes.

UPTON BROTHERS NOW IN PENITENTIARY.

THEY WERE REMOVED THERE FROM THE JAIL SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

Sherwood and Erwood Upton, who were committed by Police Magistrate Rankin in Napanee on Thursday to stand trial on the charge of murdering Constable Beard, were removed from the county jail to Portsmouth penitentiary on Saturday afternoon. The Upton boys were sentenced to penitentiary on the charge of burglary. When the two were taken to the prison they did not appear to mind their position in the slightest. It is likely that when their cases are heard in Napanee they will be removed from the penitentiary in prison garb.

Frederick Bryant, who was committed by Judge H. A. Lavell to stand trial on the charge of receiving stolen goods, will appear at the sitting of the Kingston Spring Assizes, which will be held on February 21st. He will be held at the county jail until his trial takes place.

NEWBURGH.

Miss Mae Johnstone is on a visit to Perth and Ottawa.—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Yeomans, of River Road, Napanee, called on Miss Ella Yeomans, on Wednesday.—The first hockey match of the season was played at the rink on Saturday evening, between Yarker and Newburgh, resulting in a score of 9 to 2, in favor of Newburgh. —Miss Edna Allen visited with Mrs. Sager over Sunday.—Miss Ethel Embury visited at Jay S. ODESSA.

Quite a number of people have started to fill their ice houses, and claim the quality of the ice to be very good.—The work is going on slowly on the new ice rink on Centre street. The young people are very anxious to see it completed.—Sidney Clark has been appointed Assessor for 1922. The Liberty Moving Picture Company gave a delightful entertainment in the Town Hall, Saturday night, and considering the disagreeable weather, had a large attendance. —Harold Cairns, Napanee, spent last Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cairns.—Mrs. Joyce, of Fredericksburgh, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. D. O. Frink.—Mrs. William Vrooman has returned from spending the past two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Lindsay, Sydenham.—Mrs. Freeman, who has been spending the past three weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Snider, returned to her home in Sydenham last Sunday.—Miss Laura Fraser has accepted a position with the High School staff, Whitby.—Charles Conway, Sydenham, has accepted a position in the Royal Bank.—A large number of relatives and friends arranged for a variety shower for Mr. and Mrs. Earl Silver, at their home, last Thursday night, and a very enjoyable time was spent. The many useful and beautiful gifts told of the esteem in which they are held by all. Among the gifts was a handsome sum of money, in which was included a cheque for one hundred dollars from the groom's father, Sidney Silver.—Mrs. D. O. Frink met with a very serious accident last Monday. She fell on the icy street causing a double fracture above the ankle. She was taken to the Kingston General Hospital for a few days and has now returned to her home.

McGill's.—The young people of this community are looking forward to the grand ball which is to be held in Centreville town hall on January 27th.

TOWN COUNCIL

On account of no regular meeting of the Council on Monday night, a special session was held Tuesday evening at 7.30, in the Council Chamber.

The full Board was present,—Mayor Graham, Reeve Paul, Councillors Boyes, Ming, Perry, Steacy, Tustin and Wilson.

A copy of an Order-in-Council from the Ontario Government, re the unemployment situation, was read. The Government agrees to participate in the cost of work specially provided by municipalities to relieve unemployment, and in co-operation with the Federal Government will bear two-thirds of the expenditure over the excess estimated cost in normal times This excess would be due to inefficiency of labor and difficulties to be met with under winter conditions. Accompanying the document was a reply to Mayor Graham's communication to the Government, asking that work be resumed on the cut on Roblin's Hill. The Minister of Labor intimated that the Public Works Department would advise the Council what attention would be given this matter.

Coun. Steacy read the following report of the Town Property Committee, re heating of Town Hall:—

We, your Committee, beg leave to report as follows:—

That we have carefully examined the specifications of the heating plant of Messrs. Boyle & Son. We have also examined and seen in operation a similar system, and would recommend that Boyle & Son be given the contract, with the understanding that the tender be reduced by the difference between the price quoted and the present price of furnaces.

W. A. STEACY.
A. E. PAUL.
E. MING.

Boyle & Son's tender is for a Pease hot air furnace, price $667.00; Council to bear the expense of foundation, mason work and carpenter work, if any.

Some discussion took place among the members as to the best method of heating the hall.

Coun. Wilson thought too much heat energy would be expended on the lower floor when it was found necessary to heat the hall above.

Coun. Perry took exception to the single furnace system on the same ground and favored a separate furnace to heat the upper floor, which would only be used occasionally during the winter. What was wanted for the hall was a quick heater.

It was finally moved in amendment by Coun. Wilson, seconded by Coun. Perry, before we proceed with the tenders for a heating system, that tenders be asked for a hot water system for heating the Council Chamber and offices, and a hot air system for the hall above. Carried.

On motion of Coun. Perry, the Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee was instructed to interview the North Fredericksburgh Council with a view to having that body change the light in the cut.

Moved by Reeve Paul, seconded by Coun. Perry, that the Ontario Government be memoralized, asking that an act be passed making it obligatory for all drivers of vehicles on the public streets to expose after dark a light on both front and rear of their vehicles. Carried.

Coun. Tustin, Chairman of Poor and Sanitary Committee, reported the purchase of twelve cords of mixed wood at $7.00 per cord, for charitable purposes.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were paid:

J. J. Haines, rubber boots	$ 7.50
Insurance premium on Fire Hall and contents	10.80
Plate glass window for door of Town Hall	10.00
Robt. Light & Son	48.60

Account, Napanee Iron Works, $8.64, was referred.

Accounts, Hydro Electric Commission, installing lights, $141.25, and also $282.99, were referred.

Council adjourned.

AHMIC HARBOR.

The weather is fine after the recent cold snap; also plenty of snow.—Nearly everyone is busy hauling logs hay and wood.—Some of the young folks from here attended the oyster supper and ball at E. Vanvolkenburg's, Dunchurch, and report a fine time.—Mr. and Mrs. F. Shane and Mr. and Mrs. R. Shane spent New Years at Mr. S. Shane's, Ahmic Lake. —Mr. and Mrs. W. Wager, R. Wagar and Miss Ina Wilie spent Sunday last at E. Moulton's.—Miss Margaret C. Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hunter, and James R. Johnston, of Dunchurch, were quietly married at Parry Sound, on January 4th. A party was held at the bride's home. The young couple received many beautiful and useful presents. They will reside on their farm near Ahmic Harbor.—A little baby girl came to stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moulton's, on Christmas Eve, Dec. 24th; Carl Earl.—Leslie Hearns, of Wagarville, is visiting relatives and friends around here and Ahmic Lake.—Wesley Wager spent Xmas week at Burkes Falls, visiting old acquaintances.—Mrs. T. Wager, of Maple Island, spent Sunday with her son, J. Wager.—Mrs. W. Croswell spent Xmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wager, Ahmic Lake. —Mrs. F. Shane and little son, Glenn, spent Friday afternoon with her sister, Mrs. E. Moulton.—The young men have returned to Paxley, after spending Xmas with friends and relatives.—School re-opened on the 2nd, with the same teacher at the helm.—Mrs. W. Wager spent a few days with her daughters, Mrs. F. Shane and Mrs. E. Moulton.

GRAND ARMY OF UNITED VETERANS.

A meeting of Ex-Service men was held in the Town Hall, on Monday night, for the purpose of forming a Branch of the Grand Army of United Veterans. Addresses were given by Com. W. L. Rayfield, V.C., 1st Dominion Vice President, and Com. J. H. Higgins, 2nd Vice President. The aims and objects of the G. A. U. V. were placed before the meeting, and also a brief outline of what the G. A. U. V. have done on behalf of the Ex-Service men and their dependants. The speakers dwelt very strongly on the question of amalgamation, and clearly showed that the G. A. U. V. have at all times expounded the unity of all existing soldier organizations into one body, and have every confidence that eventually amalgamation will take place. A further conference of all soldiers' organizations is to take place in Winnipeg on February 6th, 1922. A number of cases have been given to the representatives of the G. A. U. V. to try and settle, and steps will immediately be taken by Headquarters to have same adjusted. Unfortunately the attendance was not very large owing to the great interest that is taken in hockey, and the citizens can rest assured that if the comrades present have desired by their actions in making applications for membership in the G. A. U. V. that they desire a branch in Napanee, and have elected Comrade J. R. Bradley, President, and Com. J. Russell, Secretary. Arrangements are being made to call another meeting in a short while, when we expect Napanee to go over the top.

A BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On Tuesday evening of last week, a party of ladies met at the house of a friend to celebrate her birthday. They were all dressed in costumes of a generation ago, and were a picturesque group, as they entered the hall with elaborate curtseys and formal congratulations. Isabella and Celestine were two elegant dames, whose graceful and dignified appearance proved conclusively that the modes of twenty-five and fifty years ago were more truly beautiful than those of to-day. Samantha was sweet and motherly in her gay-flowered gown, with her hoops, her snowy kerchief, her steel-bowed spectacles, and her pantalettes (hand sewn). Georgietta was a blushing bride, gorgeous in her white satin, with pearl trimming. She was accompanied by her husband, Handsome John, the only man of the party, in modern clothes. The fit of which necessitated an attitude of unbending dignity during the entire evening. The presence of Mandy, "a cullud lady from down South" showed that the color line was not strictly drawn. Mandy prayed a lady of unlimited allurement, and so many languishing glances were cast in her direction, during the evening, by the gallant John, as to seriously endanger the peace of mind of Georgietta, his devoted spouse. Last, but not least, came Sally Ann, looking like a small edition of Mandy, long trained gown, with her hitch-piled hair, and general mien no tamgere tir.

These ladies came like Santa Claus, bringing gifts, and words fail to describe the beauty and variety of these remembrances. In fact, their hostess was completely overcome when she saw them. There were a set of illuminating fixtures, whose beauty was only exceeded by their usefulness; a handsome set "to match", of sterling metal, equally useful and ornamental; a box of universal cleanser; a bottle containing a specific for the ailments of children, and not entirely ignored by adults; a box containing an assortment of small, but useful ointments, harmonizing in color with the complexion of the donor; a night-cap, not of the kind objected to by Mr. Exley; a kitchen utensil, equally useful as a fly-swatter or an egg-beater; an exquisite buttonniere, which came all the way from Mexico; a costly emerald ring; an article, which, though it may never be used by its present owner, will undoubtedly be a boon to some younger matron; and lastly, a "really truly" present, deeply appreciated by the recipient, as an evidence of affection.

As a change from their usual mode of spending an evening, the ladies indulged in a game of bridge, and seemed to be quite the real equal of the game with remarkable rapidity, so much so, that at the close of play, the venerable hostess was presented with a magnificent bouquet of cut flowers, and her aged contemporary also received a prize for proficiency. Mandy received an consolation prize, a small article much used during the late war, and which proved a consolation to more than one poor boy in the trenches. Georgietta also, was given a speaking token of regard.

After the dainty refreshments, which were also a part of the "surprise", the party broke up, Isabella carrying her parasol, to protect her from the searching rays of the moon, and Georgietta parting with reluctance from the too-susceptible John. She was only consoled by the thought that, as Samantha was accompanying them, he could not possibly flirt with the "young visitor" on the way home. By the irony of fate, Samantha, who would certainly have had to pay double fare, had a long way to go, while Mandy, who probably perhaps have travelled free, lived next door. Celestine left wearing her jet bonnet and Paisley shawl, having inadvertently left her winter coat at a neighbor's. However, she was efficiently escorted by Sally Ann, in her yellow stockings, and pale blue slippers. As none of the party were "run in", it is presumed they reached home safely, after an evening of delightful frolic, long to be pleasantly remembered.

Johnny was entertaining his sister's caller and said, "Helen told me yesterday you were a born politician."

"Indeed!" said the young man pleased as he could be. "Why does she think that?"

"That's just what ma wanted to know, and Helen said it's because you can do so much talking without committing yourself."

AS TO "SATURDAY NIGHT".

The Toronto weekly "Saturday Night," having gone out of its way to attack the Smoot and Dickson, and other business firms in Toronto and elsewhere, an expert has looked up the record of H. T. Gagnier and "Saturday Night" with the following result:

A Disgrace to Canadian Newspaperdom.

"Saturday Night's" own estimate, January 20th, 1906:

Paid-up shares, $50,000; plant, $20,000—$70,000.

Bradstreet's estimate, January 20th 1906:

"Estimates actually worth about $15,000; were transferred for $46,000." In other words, assets worth only $15,000 were unloaded for $46,000, a cash profit of over 200 per cent.

"Saturday Night" advises the public that no stock is safe on which over 10 per cent. is promised:

Harold T. Gagnier, President of Saturday Night, Limited, reported to Bradstreets on October 12th, 1908, as follows: "Last year we earned about 28 per cent."

On April 18th, 1910, Mr. Gagnier, reported to Bradstreets as follows: "Saturday Night is practically out of business."

Yet, on April 12th, 1912, "Saturday Night" succeeded in raising a bond mortgage of $50,000 from Britton Osler of Toronto.—Bradstreets Report.

Here is a concern, claiming $70,000 of assets in 1906, which Bradstreet's state was worth only $15,000 and which, according to the statement of their President was practically out of business in 1910"; but raised the sum of $50,000 in 1912. What does the public think of this kind of financing?

Here is the method this concern uses to avoid financial responsibility for the opinions it expresses and to get out of paying judgments that are standing against it.

H. T. Gagnier reports to Bradstreet's as follows:

"Saturday Night" prints its own paper and employs its own mechanical staff, renting machinery from Consolidated Press, Ltd." The latter, while owners of the paid-up capital stock of Saturday Night, are not in any way responsible for its debts. Practically nothing could be collected from "Saturday Night" under pressure.

On April 11th, 1917, Gagnier further stated, according to Bradstreet's Report: "Saturday Night, Ltd., have no assets and do no buying."

Bradstreet's opinion of "Saturday Night, Ltd., dated 17th May, 1917: "The actual financial responsibility is very slender."

The man who owns nothing can slander you and blemish your character and you have no redress. The man of financial responsibility must be cautious in his utterances. "Saturday Night, Ltd." belongs to the former class.—Financial Post, July 30th.

Canada's Trade

Examination of Canada's trade figures brings out a number of peculiar circumstances. First of all, the figures demonstrate that we are buying too much from the United States in comparison with their purchases from us. Secondly, while our sales abroad are in a measure satisfactory, we are not buying enough from the foreign countries that buy from us.

Broadly speaking, this results in two sets of adverse conditions. The amount we purchase from the United States being too large results in depreciation in the Canadian dollar there. We must equalize our purchases to the basis of what they buy from us, as only by that means can the adverse exchange be adjusted. Another condition is that the ships of the Canadian Merchant Marine are at present returning from foreign ports with inadequate cargoes. It is not sufficient to load ships one way only. Return cargoes are necessary to the economical operation of ships.

The countries to which the Canadian Merchant Marine are open-time, British West Indies, China, Belgium, France, Britain and South American ports, offer opportunities for the purchase of many commodities which Canada does not, or cannot produce herself. We must not simply sell to these people, we must "trade" with them.

The revision of our buying and selling operations on this basis would result in the advance of the Canadian dollar to our value in the United States and have a most salutary effect on the financial condition of the country. Nationally-owned railroads and ships, by directing to Canadian ports the much larger proportion of the tonnage which for years has entered and left Canada through the seaports of the United States.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. James McAlpine.

Time, the inevitable spirit of change, has brought to the hearts of her relatives and friends a grief and real sorrow, in the death of Mrs. James McAlpine, on New Year Day, at the age of seventy-seven.

Fortified by the spiritual consolations of the Church she loved, she passed peacefully away to her eternal reward, after an illness of nearly a year.

The late Mrs. McAlpine was born in Odessa, and while yet a girl, moved with her parents to Richmond Township, and remained until she married and settled on a farm in Sheffield, where the remainder of her life was spent. Through all the activities of a very busy and strenuous life, deceased has gone with a great measure of Christian charity. Her kind words and genial presence will be missed by many long years; her doors were always open free for the homeless.

Her funeral took place from her late residence to the R. C. Church, Erinsville, where a requiem mass was sung by the Rev. Pastor, Father Meagher.

Deceased leaves a husband and two daughters, Mrs. D. McNeil and Miss Annie, to mourn her loss, who were with her during all her illness; and also a brother, Mr. Thomas Manion, of Napanee, and a number of nieces and nephews, to all of whom the sympathy of many friends extends. The remains were placed in the vault at Erinsville to await future burial. May God grant her soul eternal happiness.

Address and Presentation

At the regular meeting of the W. M. S., Empey Hill, this month, Jan. 4th, 1922, held at the home of Mrs. Bruce Russell, a unique item of the afternoon's proceedings was the presentation to Mrs. Chester Kimmerly of a Life Membership certificate.

The following address was read by Mrs. Wilbert Winters—

Mrs. Chester Kimmerly.

Dear Fellow Worker,—It is with feelings of pleasure and gratitude that we find it our privilege to assemble here to-day, and in a few remarks would like you to know how much we appreciate the work you have done for our Society in the twenty years as President, and over thirty years of general service you so ably rendered; always at your post doing all in your power to promote the interests of the cause you love. In fact we realize that to you we are indebted as one of the main factors in the founding of our Society, and we all know you have not confined your labors of love and giving to foreign fields by any means, but have not forgotten that home missions are equally essential. It is written, "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country", and we sometimes think the humble home-duties well and kindly performed, do not receive the same glory but are often taken for granted, but the inner circle who are best personally benefited by your willingness to help and comfort feel a gratefulness not appreciated by those who know us collectively only, and have yet benefited by our financial aid, we wish whom you are constantly associated esteem it a privilege and pleasure to present to you to-day a Life Membership from our Society, and earnestly pray that you may be spared to us for many years of further helpfulness. As Mary sat at the Saviour's feet to learn of Him, so we should in humble suppliance be willing to learn of each other and be helpful, willing workers for the extension of Christ's Kingdom.

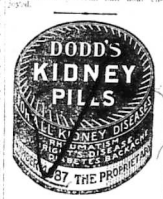

Lovingly yours in the Master's service.

Empey Hill Missionary Society.

Mrs. Kimmerly, although taken by surprise, replied in a few well chosen words, after whom all sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

All enjoyed the addresses given by Rev. and Mrs. Anderson on behalf of the work done by Mrs. Kimmerly.

Lunch was then served by Mrs. Russell, and a social half hour enjoyed.

VARIETY SHOWER.

On Friday evening, December 30th, the young people met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Lee, and presented Mr. and Mrs. George McFarlane with two beautiful upholstered chairs and a sum of money. A very enjoyable evening was spent with music and singing and other amusements. Then with January 4th, there were fifty other friends met and presented them with a chair. A most pleasant evening was spent in games and music. Mr. Lord with his violin and mouth organ, and Mrs. A. Hollands at the piano, made excellent music, which was enjoyed by all. After which ice cream and refreshments were served in abundance. The many presents received showed the high esteem in which the young couple are held. Following is a list of the presents received:

Mr. and Mrs. Lee, water set; Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Wallace, cut glass sugar bowl and cream pitcher; Mrs. W. J. Warner, cut glass berry dish; Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Martin, half dozen tea spoons; Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith, cut glass sugar and cream; Mr. and Mrs. Down, cut glass celery dish and jelly dish; Mr. and Mrs. E. Lee, cut glass water pitcher; Mr. and Mrs. Casson (Carrie), fancy cake plate; Mr. Fred. Connolly, fancy dish; Mr. and Mrs. Hollands, roast pan; Mr. W. Vandusen, fancy dresser scarf; Vivian Holland, dresser scarf; Mrs. M. Wilson, table cover; Mrs. Lord, china salad bowl; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hoalton, brown Betty teapot; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wallace, three doilies; Mr. and Mrs. Oray Lee, salad bowl; Mrs. Hedley, fancy cake plate; Mr. Fred. Connolly, fancy dish; Mrs. Hollands, roast pan; Mr. W. Vandusen, potato peel; Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Lake, sums of money received; Mr. and Mrs. Carl, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Storms, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Bradley and Mrs. James Freeman and Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Edgar,

Mr. and Mrs. McFarlane wish to thank their many friends for the many gifts received.

YOUR TEETH.

CLEFT PALATE.

By Rea Proctor McGee, D.D.S., M.D., Editor "Oral Hygiene"

The roof of the mouth is called the palate. There are two parts to it, the hard bony part surrounded by teeth, which is naturally called the hard palate, and the soft part that is so sensitive, at the back of the mouth, called the soft palate.

Some unfortunate children are born with a separation of the palate length wise. In these cases the nose and mouth open into each other.

It is very difficult to feed cleft palate children and if they do grow up, they have a lifetime of suffering and embarrassment. They cannot speak distinctly and have great difficulty with the fluids of the mouth and nose. Usually there is a fissure in the upper lip extending from the nostril through the border of the upper lip.

Two methods are used to give relief to these children. One is to perform an operation, or rather a series of operations, to close the roof of the mouth and the opening in the lip.

The other way is to make a plate that will mechanically, cover the opening in the palate.

The nature of the deformity makes the wearing of this plate very unpleasant for the patient.

When a child is born with a harelip and cleft palate, the first thing to do is to get a cleft palate nursing nipple, because these children are so very hard to feed. Then have the palate closed as early as possible. If these children are successfully operated on before they learn to talk, the voice will be normal. If the cleft is left until the child becomes accustomed to the faulty use of the tongue that is necessary to speak the palate, his speech will never be perfect.

ICE SUPPLY ON THE FARM.

(Experimental Farms Note).

One day last summer I met a farmer who had been to the station with his cream. He had just received his cheque for July and showed his account with the Company for the same month. It credited him with 52 pounds butter fat—at 47 cents from grade cream, and 224 pounds butter fat at 37 cents from second grade cream. When I asked him how he came to have so much sour cream, he said he had no ice and that his well water wouldn't keep his cream sweet, especially over Sunday. Then I asked him why he hadn't put up ice. "Well", he said, "it was too much bother."

A glance at the figures in this man's account will show that he lost $22.40 that month by not having ice.

Outside of its use in the dairy, ice is essential in the farm home for supplying the refrigerator, in which meats, butter and other perishable foods can be kept fresh for a number of days.

To know how much ice to put up, the following is a safe rule to follow:—If engaged in the city milk trade the farmer should put up two tons of ice per cow; if supplying cream, one ton per cow is sufficient, and four tons for household use.

In putting up ice, one foot below the snow, one foot along each side and two feet above should be allowed for the sawdust. If the weather is cold, it is a good plan to pack damp snow between the cakes. This prevents the air from melting the ice.

Ice may be stored in the corner of a building or outbuilding, but it is better to have a building especially built for the purpose, because the dampness is apt to rot sills and walls.

In building, two things are essential, drainage and ventilation. Unless the soil is sandy, a few inches of gravel under the ice, with a drain to carry off the water is necessary. By having openings in the gables a draught can be secured which will carry away the warm air under the roof. Plans and suggestings for farm ice houses can be obtained free from the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, or from your nearest Experimental Station.

As ice often comes into direct contact with food and drink, it is important to secure it as clean as possible. It should never be taken from streams or ponds into which there is any drainage from houses or barns. Disease germs lying dormant in the ice may become very active if they get into man's food.

Ice is free for the taking and requires only a little labour in harvesting, therefore, why shouldn't it be used on every farm, when it gives such good returns, not only as cash, but in convenience to the household.

QUEER LITTLE YAP

Odd Customs on Small Island, Now American.

Peculiar Currency System Would Seem to Have Some Disadvantages —Religious Rites Observed by Parties of Fishermen.

The island of Yap isn't such a yap place, after all.

Returned travelers from the South seas give illuminating details of life on the queer little island which even President Wilson hadn't heard of until the Paris conference decided that America ought to get something out of the war—and generously gave us Yap.

If America's would-be czars should adopt the well-known Russian plan of using Yap as a "Siberia"—as suggested the other day by a senator, who got a big laugh for his idea—here are some strongly American customs with a Malayan twist that deported persons would find in operation there:

Money as big as cartwheels "not only," but considerably bigger—huge stone dollars from two to twelve feet across!

Bachelor's club houses occupied by the entire male population on certain occasions, women being entirely excluded.

A social order, consisting of four castes—magicians, impoverished aristocrats, rich men and the populace.

A language that would delight a diplomat or a blushing maiden, having nearly 40 different ways of saying "No."

The two great products of Yap are coconuts and typhoons. The typhoons save the natives the trouble of picking the coconuts. It is precisely in that quarter of the Pacific that the worst storms on earth are born, and from July to December the weather would delight Professor Porta.

Gold or silver money has no more value in Yap than goldenrod pollen have here. The Yaps have such faith in human nature that they have devised a coin nobody can lift. A small coin is a disk of granite two feet across and six inches thick, with a hole in the middle.

A large coin is two fathoms across and two feet thick. Rich people in Yap simply pile their money in the front yard or lean it against the side of the house, which saves them the trouble of showing off by elaborate dress or other indirect methods. It also gives full publicity to all cash transactions.

For "chicken feed" they use large pairs of oyster shells and hundred pound sacks of copra. To "pass the plate" in a Yap church you have to be a mighty strong man.

Americans who oppose foreign entanglements may take comfort from the fact that the word "Yap" originally meant "foreigner." The early Yaps were great traders and voyagers around the South seas. In other words, foreigners are Yaps—the same old story.

Today the Yaps fish religiously. Before every fishing party the men are obliged to leave their wives and spend four days in the club houses, which are large stone mansions.

After the first successful catch, the men come ashore and—everybody takes a pull at the fermented juice of the green coconut. This is dubbed a religious rite, and the women have to keep quiet about it or get cussed by the gods—an idea which should interest Americans who are still fond of little fishing parties.

When a Yap gentleman wishes to steal he prays to Luk. Luk keeps other people from looking. If the thief gets caught anyhow, he simply decides that Luk must have been too busy to hear his prayer, and hopes for better Luk next time.

For the rest of it, Yap is 35 miles long and five broad, surrounded by a coral reef, has hills 1,000 feet high, runs out of water whenever it fails to rain for a week, has five smaller islands near it, grows yams and tropical fruits, but not rice, and contains some 10,000 natives of the Malay race, whose language, curiously enough, contains a basic relation to Sanskrit.

And it's ours, every bit of it.

Photography From the Air.

In Tasmania photographic enterprise has taken on a new form. A Tasmanian photographer, determined to make rivals in getting pictures of the most picturesque state in the commonwealth, chartered a recently imported aeroplane, went aloft, and obtained magnificent views. These were exhibited in his shop window, sold like hot cakes, and amply rewarded him for his enterprise. The cinematograph man will now be put upon his mettle and the picture shows, no doubt, will soon be showing their audiences moving scenic pictures of surprising range and beauty. In time pictures taken from the airplane will probably be used to instruct children in geography.

The Undefeated Office Boy.

"But didn't you get off once before to attend your grandmother's funeral?"

"Yes, sir, she came near being buried alive that time, sir."—Sydney Bulletin.

"Do you suppose any tax is popular?"

WEALTH IN DETROIT RIVER

Waters Said to Conceal Valuables That Would Easily Be Worth Millions of Dollars.

While thousands are striving to stretch the shrinking dollar to meet the U. C. L. in Detroit these days, a fortune lies unclaimed in the bed of Detroit river. No one can estimate, even approximately, the value of the submerged treasure in dollars, but it is safe to assume that it will run into the millions.

Marine divers testify to the tons of copper ingot, coal, machinery, unsalvaged vessels and money scattered along the river bed from Windmill Point to Detroit River light. The banks and abetting beaches of the harbor line at and above Belle Isle are in shallow water, but the bank of the undivided river section below the island is built out to deep water, and explorations are more difficult than near Belle Isle.

In recent years it has been known that money and jewelry to the value of $500,000 has been lost in the river. One rum runner lost $500 in a wallet while trying to escape federal officers by jumping overboard from a boat. A wealthy woman dropped a $7,000 necklace from a passenger boat and the string of gems broke as she leaned over the boat's rail.

James McCabe, immigration inspector, who patrols the Canadian border for Chinese smugglers, affirms that within the past ten years smugglers drowned Chinese to escape immigration officers who pursued the smuggler's boats, and in nearly every case the drowned Chinese had large sums of money concealed in their clothing. Neither the bodies nor the money have been recovered because the feet of the drowned Chinese were weighted with iron.

The engines of sunken wrecks if salvaged, would be as good as new today, marine engineers say, and their sale would bring large profits to salvagers.

A rumor is current in local marine circles that a syndicate is forming to operate in Detroit river at a certain point, kept secret, in the hope of recovering lost treasures. Just what treasures the syndicate seeks is not revealed.

Detroit police department officials say that the river holds the loot of many burglaries in Detroit. The thugs and crackmen who dropped the loot into the river, evidently noted carefully the direction of the currents so that at some opportune time they could return to recover their spoils.

Valuable Material From Tree.

"Hickboy" is a name commonly applied to the peculiar grass-trees (Xanthorrhoea) of western Australia, which grow to a height of 7 to 10 feet, and have thick blackened trunks with terminal tufts of wiry, grass-like leaves. The abnormal species of the abundance of fragrant resin. Experiments by Henry Rowley, formerly city analyst of Perth, the resin may be obtainable from these plants were studied, and methods were devised for extracting and treating the gum, pith and fiber. The company now formed for developing the products commercially has provided an equipment of retorts, furnaces, condensers, receiving tanks, etc., sufficient for utilizing a considerable quantity of what has been a vegetable waste. Among the useful substances obtained are tars free from harmful acids, tarpaulin dressings, rope tar and sanitary tar, lacquers, steam and refrigerating pipe lagging, stains and paints, pitches for marine insulating, phenol, benzol, alcohol, coke, potash, and pyrogenous acid; and dyes, perfumes, formalin and various varnishes are expected to follow.

His Prior Right.

A major in the stevedore regiment employed one of his men to take care of his horses and do little chores around the yard. One day Sam came into the major's office, and he was some agitated man. After he had saluted he exclaimed: "Major, I want to be relieved from dis hyar job right now."

The major asked him why he didn't want the job any more.

"Major, that thar Job is good enuff but I just can't seem to get along with yo' all's wife. Seems every time I goes down to that thar house she puts me to doin' all kinds of chambermaid work and a-naggin' at me all a ther time, too."

Then it was the major's turn. "Sam, I've been living with that woman for thirty-odd years now, and if there is going to be anyone relieved it's going to be me."—William Rea Black, U. S. A., in Judge.

Swift Ships for Pacific.

Sharp competition between the Canadian Pacific ocean services and the Nippon Yusen Kaisha bids fair materially to reduce the time of transPacific travel. The former is adding a 22,000-ton passenger steamer to the two now in the service, the running time of which is nine days from Vancouver to Yokohama and 17 days to Hongkong.

The Japanese company has three boats under construction, each of about 30,000 tons, and it expects that these will make the run from Yokohama to Seattle in eight days.

Out West.

"We want some rope."

"I have some at $4 a pound, also some at $6. What do you want it for?"

"To buck a profiteer."

ALL ARE TALLER LYING DOWN

Fact Which at First Seems Peculiar Is Easily Susceptible of Scientific Proof.

How many people are aware that we are shorter when standing than when lying, and taller in the morning than in the evening?

An Englishman was the first to discover this. He put forward Doctor Marnand of the Royal academy of France made several experiments to prove the theory. He found after a year's trial that usually in the night he gained almost three-eighths of an inch, and lost almost as much during the day. The cause of this is to be found in the different state of condition of the cartilages which go to make up the spine.

The joints of this part of our bodies are separated and yet joined by particular bony substances, every one of which has a spring resilience. These are capable of yielding on all sides without bending the backbone or spine itself. Of course, the difference is scarcely perceptible in one joint alone, but the combined effect is apparent. Naturally, when the spine is supporting the weight of the head it is liable to contract, and we are taller after lying down for some time than after we have been walking about all day with our bodies in an upright position, with the spine supporting the weight of the head.

At night time, when we lie down in a more or less horizontal position, these top parts do not weigh so heavily, and the springy muscles being expanded, our spines consequently become longer.

Another proof of this is to be found in the increase of height sometimes experienced by invalids who have spent a long time in bed; and also in the fact that the more rest a young child has, the taller he will grow.—London Tit-Bits.

This Toad Was a Vagrant.

How she indulged in an experiment to determine the truth of the assertion recently made by a Youth's Companion contributor that toads have homing instincts, and was disappointed, Miss Dora Read Goodale tells in the Springfield Republican.

Some time ago, she writes, I read that the unswerving toad has the "homing instinct" to as great a degree as the housing pigeons, and the assertion was supported by definite accounts of various toads that were removed to a distance but returned to their native haunts even before their owner or landlord. Therefore, on a fine Sunday morning I caught in my garden a portly toad, whose portly corpulency suggested that he had executed numberless fine, and, after tying a red thread round his leg like a badge of honor, I carried him, partly by automobile and partly on foot, three miles from home.

When I gently deposited him near a mossy log by the roadside, he sat perfectly still for fully two minutes, as if getting his bearings; then, after winking two or three times and curling an ant or two with his lightning tongue, he gave a prodigious leap and disappeared in the undergrowth. I confess I had not much hope of seeing him again—and I never have.

No "Mute Inglorious Miltons."

There are no "mute, inglorious Miltons," although there are many inglorious persons who imagine that they are Miltons, writes St. John Ervine in the Manchester Guardian. A Milton may be "inglorious" for a period, but he is never "mute" for a moment. Even the inglorious persons who imagine that they are Miltons, when they would be much better employed as haberdashers, are never mute. They are as a rule, more articulate than the Miltons, for they put into their tongues what they are unable to put into their pens.

The problems of society in dealing with men of genius is not how to encourage them but how to keep them in order. It is probably true that in a disorganized nation the average intelligent man, if he be reared in poverty, will rise to the top, and that it is equally true that the man of genius, however harsh his circumstances may be, will find his level as certainly as water does.

Some Feat.

Mother was out for the evening, so father was minding the new baby and he. Moreover he was beginning to realize why his wife was so tired in the evening.

"Now, Ronald!" he said sternly, when the blankets had been drawn over the little figure, "remember that I will be very cross if you aren't a good boy when I have gone downstairs."

He left the room reassured by the awed silence which followed his words. But he had hardly reached the foot of the stairs when a shrill voice yelled:

"Come and tuck me in, farver!"

He lost his temper.

"I won't!" he retorted. "Get out and tuck yourself in."

War Diverces Increase.

The post-war divorce crush in England is steadily increasing and it was declared in London that no diminution is in sight. There were 1,325 undefended cases in the list at the last divorce court and a new list is being prepared to take care of the surplus cases. The big increase in divorces is attributed to the upheaval in social conditions caused by the war.

"Oh, It's Good to Hear Your Voice!"

THE night wind rattled the sash as she sat on the bed in her drab hall bed-room. Lonely, discouraged, she seemed to have lost her grip of things in the big unfriendly city.

And then—the telephone jingled imperatively. A cheery voice called up the fairway, "Miss Jackson, your mother's calling on Long Distance."

How many of us realize what that means to the girl in the little hall bed-room, eating her heart out with loneliness?—to the boy at College or school plugging in a half-hearted way to make good in exams?"—to the shy school girl surrounded by strange faces?—to the traveler deprived of home and dear ones?

Why don't you call her or him to-night?

She needs the encouragement that only your voice will give. He needs a helpful word, doubly welcome because it comes from you. A Long Distance chat will give them a new outlook on life — stimulate them to new efforts — help them to make good. Their faces will glow with the light of a new courage, and, "It's good to hear your voice" will be music to your ears!

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Wm. Thos. Brown, son of the late Richardson Brown, Enterprise, Ont., who departed this life Jan. 19th, 1921, in his fifty-third year.

The day of sadness still comes o'er us,
Years of sorrow often flow,
Memory keeps our loved one near us,
Whom God claimed one year ago.
Though his loving voice is silent,
And his true heart ceased to beat,
Yet we miss his well known footsteps,
And his face we use to greet.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Robert Francis, beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wallace, who died January 17th, 1921, aged 1 year.

He was a sunshine in our home,
A treasure to us given,
And when we learned to love him most
God took him home to heaven.
He needed one more angel,
Amidst his happy band,
God looked down with a loving smile
And plucked our darling's hand.

Sadly missed by

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT. AIR

BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, F. E. Johnson, 246 Craig St., W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, sell without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month. 3c

AUSTRIAN DESPOT IN ITALY

Excellent Reasons Why Commander-in-Town of Baja Was Feared and Detested.

During the war, Austria, fearing and hating the Italians of Istria, placed every town under drastic military control.

It was the chief task of Colonel Vogelsbusher, commander of Baja, to make the Italians feel his presence. They had felt it one day. Incensed by his latest decrees, they had come in crowds below his windows, discussing, gesticulating, angrily demanding an audience, until his troops had rammed them in the stomach with the butts of rifles and driven them off—off to their homes where they would find that during their absence a few piece objects had mysteriously disappeared. woolen clothing, perhaps, or some pieces of furniture or a cherished picture. Not stolen, of course, but "requisitioned." It was neat.

He had had a good day but he would have a better evening. They had wanted an audience. Very well. That evening he would grant an audience to their leading citizens. More than that—he would dine them!

The leading citizens of Baja will not soon forget that dinner. The meal itself was excellent—infinitely better than any that they had had for months. It consisted of meats "requisitioned" from their own herds and flocks, grains from their own fields, wine from their own cellars. The host, Colonel Vogelsbusher, sat at the head of the table, all smiles and benignity. He was solicitous that every one should have plenty. When the repast was finished, he rose.

He called the attention of the Italians of Baja to the fact that he had sent very few of them to Austrian interment camps. He emphasized his tolerance and liberality in this matter. His action, however, had been guided by a definite purpose. It might please them to be informed as to the purpose which he had had in mind.

"I do not care to intern you," he said, in a smiling climax, "because I prefer to execute you!

"The troops of Italy are at present making some advance. I wish simply to announce to you now that before they ever reach Baja I shall have the pleasure of seeing every man of you shot. Good night, gentlemen. The pleasure has been mine."

Then, showing the yellow streak always present in such natures, he hastily summoned his soldiers, and every guest was escorted to the street at the point of a bayonet.

A guy, dashing wag was Vogelsbusher. Dashing he was certainly, a few weeks later, when the Italian Bersaglieri entered Baja so suddenly that he did not have time to make good his promise, but found it prudent to run to save his own skin, even leaving a precious carload of stolen treasures behind him.—Willard Price, in World Outlook.

Thermometers Vary.

The readings of old mercury thermometers are often too high, while spirit thermometers with age are liable to give indications lower than the actual temperatures. Shrinkage of the bulb, forcing the mercury up the tube, has been suggested as the cause of the high readings. For the opposite effect, several theories have been offered—such as taking up some of the spirit in an invisible film wetting the bore of the tube, or chemical combination of the spirit with the glass or evaporation through invisible cracks—but it is now believed that an explanation simpler than the early ones is available. Mercury thermometers sealed off when almost filled, contain practically no air, the tubes thus being given the reduced internal pressure favoring shrinkage. But spirit thermometers are sealed with the bulbs in a freezing mixture, so that they may contain as much air as possible, and such bulbs are constantly subjected to an internal pressure greater than outside. This gives the tendency to expand, allowing the spirit to fall too low in the tube.

The Helicopter.

A new flying machine, called a helicopter, has been invented, quite different from anything that mankind has yet stared up at, in that its propellers have a diameter of 51 feet, revolve so much more slowly than the more-and-more familiar airplane propeller that they are practically noiseless, are located just over the roof and so take the place of the wings of the customary airplane. The propellers, in fact, are practically moving wings, and the machine, as described by Robert G. Skerrett in the New York Sun, presents quite a list of advantages over anything that has preceded it for air navigation. It can: It is designed, descend slowly, rise and come down without difficulty anywhere, carry a considerable load and is thoroughly stable. Aviation, after all, is still quite young, and it may possibly turn out that the helicopter is the next forward step.—Christian Science Monitor.

Clever Work.

The pupils of the second grade kid been given a test in writing, and after it was over, the teacher requested them to take their copy home to show to their mothers.

The verse which Dwight had written was: "Little drops of water, Little grains of sand," etc.

His mother examined his work and praised his effort. "But what is this little word dog doing up here in the corner?" she asked.

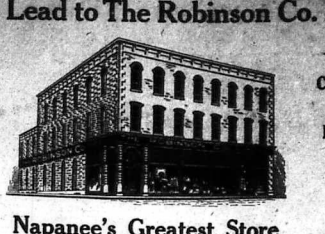

"Oh," explained Dwight, "I forgot how to make a 'w' and had to write dog to find out."

Napanee's Greatest Store

TO OUR PATRONS:—

On Saturday, January 21st, 1922, at 8.30 a.m., we start in motion another selling achievement, namely "Our Buy Now" Sale. The quantity of merchandise offers a diversified range from which you will be able to supply your immediate and early spring requirements. The values, we are making unsurpassable and completely out of harmony with the excellent quality of all sale merchandise.

We have chosen "Buy-Now" for the name of our Sale, because it best expresses the reasons why this huge Sale is being held. Simply to keep business good, to move merchandise from our shelves and racks, so that we can go in the markets and purchase our spring requirements, to help keep Canada busy, to help make work and prosperity for all. This Sale should arouse the interest of everyone in the Counties of Lennox and Addington. To do our share and so you can do your share, we are placing on sale Thousands of Dollars worth of reliable Dry Goods, at prices reduced as much in many instances as fifty per cent. Hence to share in these generous values you must buy in our "Buy-Now" Sale.

This Sale takes in every department in our Store, all merchandise will stand the acid test of comparison. In this Sale as at all other times, we invite you to examine and compare our qualities and our values.

We have mailed over 4000 circulars describing the numerous lines which are on sale. Brief as we have been, it has not been possible to tell of all the bargains that this "Buy-Now" Sale affords. To do yourself justice it will be necessary to come often.

Telephone and Mail Orders will have our most prompt and careful consideration.

Sale Prices will continue until further notice, but remember early buying offers widest assortments.

Famous Old Tavern Closed.

The rising tide of prohibition has swept away another ancient hostelry, the Blue Anchor, at Front and Dock streets, Philadelphia, claimed to be the oldest tavern in Pennsylvania, and one of the two or three oldest in America.

The Blue Anchor is one of the landmarks of the city. Its walls bear the inscription that the inn was founded in 1682, shortly after the landing of William Penn, when Dock street was Dock creek. As a tavern and bar the building on this site has been operated continuously for 237 years.

Chroniclers of Dock street say that the original building was burned in the later years of the eighteenth century, and that the present building dates from about 1780. The inn was long known for its fish dinners.

Heroic Preacher.

In a little cave on a hillside, also under shell fire, a war correspondent found a preacher secretary tending his little group of wounded. The men had fallen too fast that day for the ambulances to carry them all, and so he had picked up a dozen others, one by one, and carried them back across the shell holes to his little cave in the hill, where he thought they would be safe. All night long, while the guns roared, he made his lonesome journeys out, bringing in new wounded and carrying water to those who cried out for it.—Red Cross Magazine.

Crops Worth Billions.

The cereals crops of the United States were worth over $7,000,000,000 to the farmers who raised them in 1918. The product of these crops, all together, was a little under the total for 1917, but, while the prices of some of the cereals were lower in 1918 than in 1917, the prices of others were sufficiently higher to make the total value of the cereals crop in 1918 greater than a corresponding crop in 1917.

Foot Saved in 4 Days!

"Nothing but Zam-Buk could have done it," says Mrs. [illegible] Berrymau, 190, John Street, North Hamilton,—in describing how her right foot, crushed by a waggon wheel, was healed. "The doctor was terribly brusque, blackened and inflamed, and I fainted right away with pain. When I was quite myself again he spoke quite impatiently to my husband. 'Your mother got me to try Zam-Buk,' he said, 'I am surprising!' Within TWO DAYS all swelling and discoloration had disappeared and pain was banished. In FOUR DAYS, through this sturdy use of Zam-Buk, I could get about as usual; the injured foot was thoroughly healed."

Zam-Buk is the powerful antiseptic healer which quickly frees the skin of contagion and disease and grows new healthy tissue. No common ointment or salve can possibly compare with Zam-Buk. Get a box to-day! 50c. all dealers or FREE SAMPLE for 1c. postage from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Notwithstanding the much talked of depression in trade the SALADA Tea Company had an increase in 1921 of Two Million and one-third, making their total output over eleven million five hundred and ninety-six thousand pounds. If these packets were all placed in line, and touching end, they would stretch for two thousand one hundred and ninety-six miles.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

By the Canadian Forestry Association.

Q. Will you tell me how it comes that agitation for better handling of the forests seems so much more advanced in the United States than in Canada?

A. This is hardly the case. In the United States the people own only a small fraction of their timber lands while in Canada the people (or as we say, "The Crown") owns about ninety per cent. The American people are trying to establish public authority over private owned timber tracts. That involves a stiff battle. We in Canada haven't that fight to go through. We never alienated more than a small proportion of our timber lands and therefore the Canadian governments retain ample authority to proceed with conservation of the timber resources.

Q. One forest fire in our district last year destroyed 56,000 cords of spruce. Is there any way of estimating what this quantity would cost to reproduce by planting small trees and waiting until they mature?

A. A very interesting calculation. It works out at about $8,000 for the young seedlings and cost of planting them. But you would have to compound the interest for fifty years at least, plus cost of protection and administration compounded for a like period. The original eight thousand dollars would multiply many times before the plantation would reproduce the original 56,000 cords.

Q. I plan to plant a few hundred spruce trees in our local park next Spring. Are there any precautions I should take?

A. You had better secure nursery-grown stock and save disappointment. Arrange for planting immediately after arrival of trees. Keep the roots thoroughly covered and moist. Make your planting holes amply large and plant the trees slightly deeper than they were in the nursery. Avoid destroying the fine hair roots during the planting process.

Q. As an Ontario farmer I would appreciate information as to how to go about planting pine trees on a large stretch of sand dunes. With the right information I believe I can persuade our county council to tackle the job.

A. The Ontario government will welcome your co-operation. Write to the Provincial Forester, Toronto, for full particulars of the new provincial plan. The Government is willing to supply the trees stock and do the planting if the county will supply the waste land. At the maturity of the trees, the county gets the whole of the timber crop without deduction.

NIGHT COUGH

CHESTS torn and made sore by an insistent night cough, are comforted and strengthened by Peps. When placed in the mouth, Peps dissolve away into powerful healing and germicidal vapour that are breathed straight to the lungs. Harmful germs in the throat are immediately destroyed and the tender tissues in the bronchial tubes soothed every time you breathe and get rid of. In fact you have the best medicine for your cough right at home. Take them for a cough, cold or asthma, for grippe, sore throat, influenza, bronchitis or hoarseness.

All druggists and stores sell Peps. Ask for them by name. Refuse substitutes. Insist on PEPS. Price 50c per box.

Desperate Chances to Escape Taken by Prisoners.

Even When Almost Certain Death is Faced, Convicts Have Been Known to Go On With Their Efforts.

Pepper got his cognomen from his method of highway robbery. Walking along the street in the evening, he carried an unlighted pipe between his teeth. When, in some lonesome spot, he saw a pedestrian stop to light a cigar, Pepper would accost him, asking him to "hold the match." When the fellow traveler obliged, Pepper, instead of lighting his innocent-looking pipe, turned it toward the eyes of his victim, and blew hard. The pipe was of special construction and filled with red pepper. The victim, blinded by this horrible assault, could do nothing to defend himself until relieved of his valuables.

With two terms already behind him, Pepper was sent to Clinton. There he immediately began to plan an escape, and in his plans exhibited great cleverness.

He worked in the clothing shop of the prison. One piece at a time, working over a period of eight months, Pepper stole a complete civilian outfit from the shop. The ensemble he hid in his pillow.

Banging his way loudly, Pepper made for the warden's office. Without even knocking he stumbled in. The warden happened to be very busy at the moment, but this did not deter Pepper. "I've come to sell you some meat!" he declared confidentially.

"Sergeant!" bawled the warden, "take this d—— d pest and throw him out! He's bothering me!" The sergeant came in and removed the obstreperous meat seller, dumping him outside the gates with force and relish. It was not until Pepper was across the 20 intervening miles to Canada that he really allowed himself a good laugh. Pepper stayed out of the clutches of the law until five years later, when he was foolish enough to return to New York.

Near the prison laundry stood an empty barrel. Taking the bottom out of this, four prisoners took turns at tunneling.

After two weeks of intermittent work they reached the wall, and excavated a small chamber there for working purposes.

Finally one of the huge slabs was loosened, and worked forward to a point where it was almost about to topple into the excavation.

Here a terrific difficulty became apparent. It would be perfectly simple to release the slab, but the second it came out it would crush beyond recognition the man working in the excavation. The men talked it over gravely and decided that one of the number must be sacrificed that the other three might escape.

They drew straws. By ironic chance G——, the one of the four with more than an ordinary reason for escape, drew the shortest straw. His was the assignment. One of the others, proclaiming himself unattached, offered to take his place, but G—— refused. In the few seconds after his election he had formulated a scheme that might give him something of a chance to escape the slab when it fell.

He took down a short piece of plank. This was insufficient to stop the rush of the big stone, but he thought that, in breaking, the wood probably would delay the fall long enough to permit him to squirm out of the way. Propping it in place, he grimly worked the slab until it gave way.

It struck the plank, breaking it. Jumping back, G—— endeavored to get out of the way. He succeeded—except for his right hand. This was mashed until it was scarcely recognizable as a member. Gritting his teeth, he made no outcry, however, but turned to the workshop yet remained.—E. T. Bronedon, in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Guild Long in Service.

An ancient Irish guild, the Goldsmith's corporation, gave a dinner recently for the first time since before the war, at the Gresham hotel, Dublin. The charter was granted by Charles I in 1637, was originally established for the purpose of hallmarking all articles of gold and silver wares that were brought to their offices for marking. It has zealously discharged its duties for over 280 years and is still vigilant as ever in detecting and punishing fraudulent hall-markers. The original charter and seal, a copy of its roll of members, with the wardens' and members' oath, were exhibited, and on the table were specimens of antique silver bowls, potato rings and other articles.

He Comes No More.

My friend came to see me on Saturday evening as usual, in a beautiful new suit. We went to the theater and when we arrived at my home decided to spend the remainder of the evening on the front porch. The porch had just been painted a few days before, but, supposing it to be dry, I thought nothing of it until he, thinking it time to leave, exclaimed, "O, I'm stuck!" He just happened to sit on a part of the porch that had not completely dried. To my embarrassment, he ruined his new suit, and what was worse, never paid me another visit.—Chicago Tribune.

ORDERING SEED OF THE BEST VEGETABLES.

(Experimental Farms Note).

In order to obtain the best results from the garden, it is a well known fact that good seed of the best varieties is one of the important features which will insure certain success. In this regard many of the old standard varieties are still giving satisfactory results, but it is a good policy at this season of the year to study the records of past years, to ascertain if the crops obtained then, compare favourably with the requirements of to-day.

Procrastination on the part of those intending to order seed may end in disappointment, because the bulk of seed orders received by seed houses are received late in the season. Those orders that are sent in early, are liable to receive exactly what is asked for, whereas, orders sent in later may receive many substitutions.

The requirements, whether general or specific, as the case may be, will have some influence on the choice to be made. However, it is a well known fact, and most people are well agreed upon it, that earliness, yielding ability, uniformity and quality are the chief deciding factors when making a choice of varieties for a garden, whether commercial or for home use. It is here, that discrimination has to be applied, because, there are many novelties being offered which may prove satisfactory and may be not. Where it is desired to introduce new early varieties, it is a good policy to refer to definite data dealing with this particular question, and in this way, find out from the reports of experiments the performance of such sorts. For instance, in the case of early corn, there is Early Malcolm and Sweet Seuawn, both of which are fully ten days earlier than our best early variety. Both of these are white, but possess such quality, earliness and yielding ability that they can be recommended to the public with certainty. The same performance holds in the case of tomatoes, of which there is the Alacrity. It has become quite well known as a variety for earliness, quality and yielding ability. If such varieties are added to the garden tests, or other varieties that have become known, there is little doubt, but that the results will be very satisfactory.

Buy only good seed, sow plenty of it to insure having plenty of plants, from which the most vigorous ones can be selected.

T. FRED. RITCHIE,
Assistant in Vegetable Gardening.

The Canadian National Railways recently issued a chart of earnings and expenses in which it was shown that earnings were increasing and expenses going down. Starting with August, which showed net profits of some $47,000, a steady improvement has taken place, October earnings being half million dollars greater than expenses. The greatest reduction in operating expenses occurred prior to the recent reduction in wages put into effect on July 16th. This is conclusive proof that greater tonnage and greater efficiency in management are primarily responsible for this very encouraging state of affairs.

TO MORVEN CEMETERY

With grief I gaze upon the place
Where those once loved now sleep,
And with my hands I hide my face,
I can't forbear to weep.

For rushes tall and green have grown
O'er many a lowly bed,
And many a moss on many a stone
The names can scarce be read.

The work of man cannot be found,
No sexton here is seen;
And weeds and dead grass hide the ground,
Where once the grass was green.

And woodchucks burrough in the graves,
And fill the ground with holes;
It almost makes me curse and rave
To see their sandy knolls.

O'er those who, to keep up their graves,
Their money did bequeath,
Tall grass and weeds forever wave
While they sleep underneath.

And friends of those who lie asleep,
Their time in pleasure spend;
They haven't time e'er graves to weep
Or even to them tend.

And ye must still sleep on, ye dead,
In this neglected place;
While we who live, should hide our heads
Forever in disgrace.

"For holding."

"Oh, isn't that just like Bob?"

Doc.—You cough easier this morning.

Very Patient—I ought to. I've been practising all night.

A Household Medicine.—They that are acquainted with the sterling properties of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the treatment of many ailments would not be without it in the house. It is truly a household medicine and is an inexpensive medicine. So, keep it at hand, as the call for it may come most unexpectedly.

Dobbs—So your finances are at a low ebb again, are they?

DeBroke—Ebb? No; that would imply that they are sometimes at the flow, which they never are. My finances are at their normal and unvarying level.

Externally or Internally, it is Good—When applied externally by brisk rubbing, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil opens the pores and penetrates the tissues, touching the seat of the trouble and immediately affording relief. Administered internally, it will still the irritation in the throat which induces coughing and will relieve affections of the bronchial tubes and respiratory organs. Try it and be convinced.

W. S. Gilbert met Burnand, Editor of Punch.

"I suppose," said Gilbert, affably, "a great number of funny stories are sent to you at your office?"

"Thousands. Hundreds of thousands," said Burnand.

"Then," said Gilbert, "why don't you publish them?"

Miller's Worm Powders not only make the infantile system untenable for worms, but by their action on the stomach, liver and bowels, they correct such troubles as lack of appetite, biliousness and other internal disorders that the worms create. Children thrive upon them and no matter what condition their worm-infested stomachs may be in, they will show improvement as soon as the treatment begins.

"Well, dad," Gladys replied, as she turned to go upstairs, "she says that men haven't changed a bit."

The new guard was not familiar with a certain railway run in Wales. On a station which rejoiced in the name Llanfairfeshanpwligorgeryon. For a few minutes he stood looking at the signboard in utter helplessness. Then pointing to the board, and waving his other arm toward the carriages, he called, "If there's anybody there for here, this is it!"

Mr. Budger and his wife were continually at variance regarding their individual capabilities of making and keeping a good fire. One night there was an alarm of fire in the village, and Budger flew for his hat and coat. "Where are you going?" asked the wife.

"Why, there's a fire, and I'm going to help put it out."

"Well, my love," responded Mrs. Budger, "I think the best thing you can do is to take the poker with you."

BLAME ON PAPER

Atrocious Wall Coverings Cause of Bad Temper.

In Article on the Subject, English Journal Makes Serious Charges Against Designers Who Give Fancy the Rein.

"It isn't your liver which is wrong, it is your wall paper!" may possible be the exclamation of the doctor in the near future. Instead of sending round to the chemist for salts and senna, the man who feels his nerves to be jangled, his digestion to be rotten and a taste in his mouth like sucked pennies, will call in the men with the ladders, the paste bucket and the algebash brushes.

Many a man thinks he is bad tempered and takes himself seriously to task, as he reads his paper in the train, for having left behind him a family in tears, when really, he is perfectly innocent.

If he did break out and say things and slam doors and throw things about and ask who had been chopping the wood with his best razor and call the breakfast bacon "putrid"—it probably was—he was not that he was "ratty," but that the wallpaper all over his house was enough to give a rhinoceros a thin skin, a writer in London Answers asserts.

In the days before wallpapers were invented the world bred quite a large and regular crop of saints. The reason no new saint ever appears on the horizon is due to wallpapers. Who could be a saint and live with the atrocious convolutions, evolutions and pyrotechnics of the modern wallpaper?

The thing is impossible. A wall covered with a fruit salad of cherries, with leaves to match, may be borne with for a day, or even a week, but when it comes to living with it a whole year, and often much more. It gets on the nerves and frays the edges of the nervous system.

Then there is the flower paper, a few degrees worse than the fruit salad contraption. A little red rose or two scattered broadcast on a nice, creamy background may be all right, but when it comes to what the Covent garden porter calls "A market bunch" repeated all over the wall 320 times it is calculated to send a Galapagos tortoise into hopping madness.

Then it is a funny thing how wallpaper designers love big flowers. They wouldn't be seen looking at a daisy or a primrose, but put a sunflower or a dahlia or a rhododendron or a prize chrysanthemum or some mixture of all these when makes a flower no one ever saw outside an opium dream and they go for it with avidity and reprehase it by the hundred pieces!

Paperhangers would be well advised to change their method of advertising their craft. It is no use to put up a sign simply saying that you are a house decorator, "estimates free," and the rest of rot. Say, rather:

"N. O. Arsnik, Professor of Rest Cure. Are you Jumpy? Do you trouble when you see a job of work? Are you given to language? Do you assault the gas meter man and set the dog on the tax gatherer? What you want is a new wallpaper or two—something in low tones, restful and soothing."

"Giddap!"

The Stars and Stripes prophesies that long after the last of the American forces have left France echoes of Yankee vernacular will linger among the French peasantry, and to bear out its prophecy it tells the following story of a good woman at Vobvray, a suburb of Tours, who bought at a sale, conducted by our remount service, a horse with which on the whole she was well pleased. When, however, she had it only a short time a private from the Tours barracks came upon the worried old lady, circling horse and cart in a vain effort to get the beast to start.

"How goes it, madame?" he inquired, how he understands not the French. How is it you say 'allez!' monsieur?"

"Voila, madame," he replied, and took the reins and with a single "giddap!" urged the horse into action.

"Ah, merci, monsieur, merci!" exclaimed the amazed and delighted woman.

If ten years from now she remembers no more than "giddap!"—well, that's something.

Secretary Baker a "Bartender."

"I might have a chance to get a job after March 4, 1921," said Secretary of War Baker the other day, "if it had not been for the prohibition business.

"Once when I was mayor of Cleveland I had a hand in settling a labor row. When it was all over one of the men asked me if I carried a union card. I replied that I did not, but would be very glad to have the chance to do so. In the next day's mail I got a card entitling me to life membership in the bartenders' union.

"I carry the card to this day, but now I am afraid it will not do me much good."—New York Sun.

Unnecessary Work.

The other day when the second grade teacher announced the singing lesson she noticed that Russell was reading a story book.

"Put away your book, dear, while we are learning to sing," she said.

"But I don't really need to learn how to sing," he calmly answered. "You see, we have a phonograph at our house."

BEYOND CHINA'S GREAT WALL

Mongolia, Desolate and Terrible Land, Has a Fascination for Traveller From the West.

There is a magic about the Great Wall of China and the frontier towns in its fields facing out upon Mongolia, that land of sandstorms and blizzards, desolate and terrible to the Chinese, and filled with their most inveterate enemies of old times, writes Elizabeth Coatsworth in Asia Magazine. Now the Mongolians have retreated further into the interior—always three days' journey from civilization—and Kalgan no longer braces itself against the waiting hordes beyond its walls.

We passed through the streets between low square buildings with paper windows often painted with gods and goddesses. Now and then we were amused to see how a pirate tobacco advertisement showing a cut throat with long black mustaches, had usurped the god shelf of some shop and had become turned before its unholy nose. Everywhere were gray dust and bleakness, but at each door was a cage with a bird in it, and at one dilapidated inn at least a hundred young birds were gathered about an old one to learn to sing.

Around us, above the roofs, were the high, copper-colored mountains without a tree upon them, but with the great wall looping and coiling across the highest points and lonely watch towers outlined on every peak against a brilliant blue sky. The effect of the color combined with the long bare lines of the mountains was gorgeous beyond words.

We passed beyond the Traitors' gate and into old Mongolia! The way opened out immediately into the pass, and near us a crowd had gathered about the body of a brigand executed the morning before. There was a remnant of a stream, sharp hills on either side, and caravans of camels loaded with sheepskins were coming in from the desert. The beasts had been losing their hair in patches and many of them were wrapped in sacking to prevent their catching cold, adding to the somewhat ludicrous effect natural to a camel despite its stateliness. The Mongolians who led them on their quick scraggy ponies seemed little different in their appearance from the northern Chinese except for their heavy padded red coats and high, yellow peaked hats.

And beyond lay the Great Wall like a living thing with the shining light on its side, seeking the most insurmountable heights, again and again disappearing from sight only to reappear farther and farther off along the horizon. There lay its all but sentient length with only here and there a break in the shell of smooth-cut slabs of stone, each of which weighed at least half a ton. Rooms, too, were built in wall. But only archeologists can find traces of that younger imperial frontier today.

Three Cents a Drink in 1837.

Long after the last cellar has gone dry and the last drop of whiskey has been confiscated there will remain a bottle of liquor that, by common definition, is entombed in the cornerstone of the Universalist church at Montgomery, O. William Swaim, seventy-two, village historian and former schoolmaster of Montgomery, is authority for the tradition that a quart of liquor is concealed within the cornerstone of the church, which was built in 1837. "In those days liquor was a respectable water," says Swaim. Preachers drank it just as other folk did. It was customary to place liquor in a corserstone for the same reason that folks drank each other's health in liquor." Across the road from the church is a tavern that was a stopping place for the farmers hauling their produce to the city. Whiskey sold there for 3 cents a drink, Swaim recalls.—Detroit Journal.

New Insurance Idea.

The British workers are worried industries are proposing a scheme whereby the employees in those industries shall contract out of the national unemployment insurance bill, at present under consideration in the house of commons, by taking a scheme of their own. There are in the northern countries area of the wool textile trade, it is suggested, a scheme of ten days' unemployment insurance, to be paid at sixteen years (those under sixteen do not come under the unemployment insurance scheme), and allowing for contributions by employers similar to those under the national unemployment insurance bill, plus one-tenth contribution by the state. It is estimated that there will be available for extra benefits over and above what are provided for under the state scheme the sum of £201,000.

Real Automatic Phonograph.

The much abused term "automatic" can be applied with full justice to a new and highly ingenious phonograph. The novelty instrument plays as many as 40 records, one after another in order, selects any record indicated, pauses in intervals between selections of ten seconds to half an hour, repeats if desired, and stops at any predetermined point, according to Popular Mechanics. When the machine is started, an arm sets the first record out of the rack and in front of the turntable, where a plunger centers it.

European Complexities.

"Can you take me to the station in an hour?"

"If my horse doesn't die of hunger, if we don't get tangled up in barbed wire, and if evil was doesn't break out, I might be able to make it."—Stuttgarter Illustrier Blatter (Munich).

Motor Cars for Branch Line Passenger Traffic.

The demand for more frequent service on branch lines where passenger traffic is not heavy is something the railways have long had to contend with. The heavy expense of running frequent trains to accommodate a limited number of passengers on branch lines has given railway men much food for thought. The Canadian National Railways, on its Brockville and Westport Division has for some time been experimenting with motor driven railway cars. Instead of the regular engine and heavy train of passenger coaches, the Canadian National Railway has adopted equipment much like a motor bus which runs on the regular railway tracks. It is operated by one man, gives a frequent service and so far appears to be extremely successful. If continued use proves satisfactory, the plan will be adopted on other Branch lines of the Government Roads.

Suffering Gone She Is Enthusiastic

Dame Edmond Roy Singing the Praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills

For Six Years She Was Troubled With Pains and Aches But Found the Relief She Looked For In Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Petits Mechins, Matane Co., Que., Jan. 16th (Special.)—Rejoicing that she is again in good health after six years of suffering, Dame Edmond Roy of this place is singing the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"You can tell everyone," says Dame Roy, "that the pain in my side has disappeared and that my strength has come back."

"I suffered for six years," she continues, "I was also troubled with rheumatism, cramps in the muscles, backache and headache. I took only eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills. 3a

FISHERMEN OF THE BREED THAT BUILDS EMPIRES

National Fish Day Commemorates Brave Men of the Calling—Look to Public to Help Them Build up the Industry.

While it is true that the vast marine fields automatically produce their harvests of fish, does it occur to the average man how the fisherman must toil to garner the crop? National Fish Day, February 1st, commemorates these brave citizens of the nation, these indomitable men of the deep, these reserved, staunch and brawny souls who consecrate their lives to the calling. It is appropriate, particularly at this season of the year to reflect upon the life of the fisher folk.

Those of us who live in maritime communities know of the hazards of the deep. The weekly list of disasters, of missing ships and missing men, is too familiar to this class to require iteration. But the great masses of people, scattered throughout the Dominion, what do they know of the fishermen? How are they able to estimate the value of their work?

The expression "lowly fisherman" has been bequeathed to us from antiquity. Whether it was truly applicable to the status of the calling in those days, it is difficult to say. Webster defines lowly as "low in rank; humble; modest". To employ the term to-day in a tone of sympathy or of derogation is a reflection upon one's intelligence. Neither does the fisherman need sympathy nor deserve approbrium. On the contrary it is difficult to find a calling which exacts such courage, strength of will, resourcefulness and stick-to-it-iveness. No body of men has a greater faculty for work and few execute it with more willingness and thoroughness. That they are humble and modest is, true in the sense that they are reserved and retiring. But lowly? Well we shall see.

Did you ever read a description of deep sea fishing on our North Atlantic banks? Any of you who happen to be depressed in the belief that you are overworked, ship on a banker, one of those Lunenburg schooners, just for one trip, if the skipper will be lenient enough to tolerate such a soft-fleshed, bloodless, nerveless and generally useless individual. Just one trip is guaranteed to cure. A winter trip is not advisable. An early death is too severe a price for experience.

In the first place bank fishermen must be sailors, and they are the orthodox sailors, from which class they exclude "seamen" and "steamboatmen". Their schooner is only a small one, possibly a hundred feet, and she needs handling in North Atlantic gales and seas. But that's only a diversion from the real business of the trip, but think you that it does not require brawn, courage, nerve and skill?

When the schooner gets to the banks the business is fishing, and fishing to the exclusion of virtually everything else, including sleep. Perhaps eight dories are carried, with two men to each. Every dory lays eight trawls, or long-lines as they should properly be called. One man takes charge of four. A trawl consists of two thousand feet of line to which are attached about eight hundred hooks. Can you imagine the work involved in rigging and baiting one of these? Baiting three thousand two hundred hooks, possibly three times a day! That is the work preparatory to fishing, but it requires skill and speed. Do you think what it means to lay and pull three trawls, and, when the fish are running, working for twenty or twenty-two hours at a stretch? And that is not all. Returning to the parent ship the fisherman must set about to split and salt the catch. Two hours sleep, then the same thing over again.

This is not illustrating extremes, but a usual thing. It is unnecessary to recall the many cold blustery nights fighting the elements aboard ship and in the dory, nor need one speak of the many who each year succumb to the hardships of the rigorous calling. Nor on the other hand need one touch upon the uncertainty of the livelihood from unstable demand. After struggling for his fare the fisherman must take his chance with the market.

Financial brokers in Wall Street turn prematurely grey, yet the uncertainty of their enterprises are rarely more precarious than those of the fisherman because his actual livelihood is at stake. He is not a speculator, but he gambles with nature; he is not a manipulator, he is a producer. His calling requires the finest physical attainments and high moral character.

In what respect then is he lowly?

He lives, perhaps, in inexpensive comfort according to his chosen standards. Fine feathers make fine birds in a material sense; but when you come to measure a man in the code by which men should be measured, what is the fisherman's stature?

These hardy folk are the men to whom we entrust the development of our great fishery resources. They bear the great burden. All they expect of the balance of the population is a reasonable use of the product of their work. It is up to the public to assist them to develop the industry.

The Canadian Merchant Marine is a Canadian institution, built with Canadian money, operated to further and facilitate the foreign commerce of this country. Somehow or other, a report was circulated to the effect that "outsiders" were employed by the Canadian Merchant Marine to the exclusion of Canadians and British subjects. In denial of this report, the management of the Canadian National Railways offer the statement that of the 1674 employees on the payroll at December 31st, 1920, exactly half were Canadians by birth or adoption and the balance were of British birth. It is the invariable practice of the management to employ only British Subjects in the management and operation of this Government-owned line of steamships.

A quiet wedding took place at St. Anne's Church, Toronto, on Tuesday, January 10th, when Anne, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McLaughlin, was united in marriage to E. P. O'Boyle, Toronto. The bride looked charming in a gown of pearl grey Chantilly lace over crepe charmeuse with black hat, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and baby's breath. She was assisted by the groom's sister, Genevieve, while Leo McLaughlin did the duties of groomsman. After a wedding breakfast at the groom's home, the happy couple left for Napanee, where they will visit the bride's parents, the bride travelling in a brown dress and hat and Hudson seal coat.

BILIOUSNESS AND LIVER DISEASES

May be the result of Constipation or may exist when the bowels are irregular. The liver is congested often giving rise to pain under the right shoulder, the complexion is yellow, headache, nausea, loss of appetite, slight fever, distress after eating, sometimes vomiting. Bile does not enter the bowels to digest the fats which decompose, forming gas, irritating the intestinal tract, often producing diarrhoea. A natural Liver Stimulant is required and DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS taken according to directions not only stimulates, but tones that organ.

COMFORT IN BABY'S SMILE

As Writer Says, Little Children Are the Stars That Illuminate the Pathway of Life.

The other afternoon I was going to the store in the village where I live and saw coming toward me a pleasant-faced lady leading by the hand the finest little chap you ever saw. He couldn't have been more than a year and a half old, had on a jaunty little cap and clothes to match, had a sweet, round, serious little face with great beautiful brown eyes. He was indeed a little fellow to admire and love. He was prettier than any picture and I looked him full in the face as he passed, my heart full of happy thought at the sight of such a charming little man. He looked straight back at me and, with the same serious look in his great eyes, gracefully saluted me with two or three gentle up-and-down motions of his little hand. I repaid him with a loving and appreciative smile, and was repaid with an answering smile from the proud and happy mother. Dear little fellow! I have thought of him a score of times since, and shall again and again recall his recognition of a gray-headed, old man whom he happened to meet as he was starting where I most earnestly hope a thousand beautiful things and splendid experiences await him.

Could anything after all be more touching than a wave of the hand from a baby just beginning the voyage across life's seas to an old voyager whose sea-worn shallop has almost reached its last anchorage? The little children! Unchanged by all the turmoil and pain and perplexity and catastrophes of the world, as innocent and hopeful and confident today as they were in the ancient days when the world was new with its record of sin and sorrow unwritten.

They are indeed the salt that preserves the race from becoming stale and hopeless. They are the stars that illumine the dark night of human life, the flowers that delight the eye, the treasures which enrich a hundred million homes and keep alive hope and sanity and courage in countless hearts. The little children are indeed the hope of the world. To them the old and weary world will pass the torch of endeavor and the problems of life and the burdens of labor and thought, and their brave young spirits will laugh at the responsibilities thus forced upon them and "carry on" till they in turn pass the burden to other fresh, young enthusiasts.—Roland Corthell, in Boston Transcript.

LENNOX AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of the Lennox Agricultural Society was held in the Council Chamber, in the Town Hall, on Wednesday afternoon, President T. B. Wallace presiding.

A motion was passed making the membership fee for next year $1.00 per person.

A motion was passed to apply to the Ontario Department of Agriculture for judges for the next fair.

The Treasurer, Mr. J. W. Robinson, presented the financial statement for 1921, which showed that the 1921 fall fair showed a small profit, the large prize list and expenses for help using up nearly all the receipts.

Delegates were appointed to the Central Ontario Fairs Association, which meets at Belleville to fix the dates of the fall fairs; and the Ontario Fairs Association at Toronto.

The fees for these Associations were also ordered paid.

The following officers and Directors were elected for the ensuing year :—

Hon. Presidents—Messrs. E. J. Sexsmith, M.P.; R. A. Fowler, M. L. A., and W. S. Herrington, K.C.

President—Fred Henderson.

1st Vice-President—Jess Johnston.

2nd Vice-President—Harry Shannon.

Directors—Messrs. W. H. Boyle, G. H. Williams, E. H. Sills, M. C. Bogart, W. H. Hunter, T. B. Wallace, C. A. Wales, Harry Pringle, and C. W. Gibbard.

At a Directors' meeting, held immediately following the annual meeting, Mr. J. L. Boyes was re-appointed Secretary, and Mr. J. W. Robinson Treasurer.

Address and Presentation

On Monday evening, January 16th, about eighty-seven friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mrs. Eddie Fraser, and presented Mr. and Mrs. Sperry Fraser with a silver tea service and tray.

The following address was read by Mrs. Arthur Carle :—

Mr. and Mrs. Sperry Fraser.

We have gathered here this evening to extend our cordial greetings and heartiest good wishes to both bride and groom. We do not look upon the bride as an entirely new member of our community, for as Rhea Perry she is well and favorably known to us all. But we are glad as Mrs. Sperry Fraser she now comes to reside in our midst. We predict for you a long and happy wife's journey, they will do nothing more than rock the boat.

We hope that these recent weddings will fire the ambition of all the widowers and bachelors in our neighborhood, so that speedily the ranks of the "noble army of martyrs" may be brought up to full strength.

As a mark of our affection and esteem, we desire you to accept the accompanying gift. May God bless you and make you a blessing.

Signed on behalf of our community.

MRS. ARTHUR CURLE.
MRS. HENRY E. PAGE.
MRS. A. S. MILLS.

Mr. Fraser, although taken by surprise, thanked their many friends and relatives, for the gift of himself and bride, after which a dainty luncheon was served, and all departed for their several homes in the wee small hours.

OBITUARY.

John Wesley Hough.

At Sillsville, on Sunday evening, Jan. 15th, 1922, John Wesley Hough passed peacefully away, in his seventy-fourth year. Mr. Hough was a bachelor and of U. E. L. descent. He is survived by one sister only, Mrs. David Young. His remains were placed in the Eastern vault, Napanee, awaiting interment at Sillsville cemetery. For a number of years deceased taught school, at Sillsville from 1868 to 1870, attending Normal in Toronto in 1871; the following year he taught in Millhaven, and the two years following at Hamburg, now Hawley. In 1875 he went to Cobourg where he attended Victoria University, taking the Degree of Bachelor of Arts, and afterwards teaching three years in the Collegiate Institute there. He then taught at Napanee High School, but owing to poor health was obliged to give up teaching. Later he took a position in Toronto, where he lived for twenty-two years. During the past fifteen years the late Mr. Hough has not been able, on account of health, to follow any lucrative business. His demise will be felt in many homes as his scholarly advice and charitable heart were ever ready to help his fellowmen.

Mr. Henry Keech.

On Thursday, December 29th, 1921, there passed away at the home of his son, Mr. Wesley Keech, Moscow, Ont., the highly respected person of Mr. Henry Keech, in his eighty-second year.

The late Mr. Keech resided at Fifth Lake until about six years ago, when he moved to near Moscow, where he resided until his death. Besides his sorrowing widow, who was before her marriage Miss Mary McMullin, he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Watson McAdam, Marlbank, and two sons, John Keech, Detroit, Mich., and Wesley Keech, Moscow, Ont., one daughter having predeceased him some years ago.

The funeral was conducted on Saturday afternoon, December 31st, at the Methodist Church, Enterprise, by the Rev. Mr. Leigh. The remains were placed in Enterprise vault to await interment later. The large number of friends and relatives who assembled to pay their last tribute of respect to the departed, testified to the high esteem in which he was held. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community.

His Worship Madden administered the oath of office, and Mr. Hannah took his chair.

Mr. Hannah made a short address to the Council, thanking the members for the honor conferred on him in electing him to the Warden's chair, also briefly outlining some of the business likely to come before the Council during the present year.

The County Auditors, Messrs. Baker and Wagar, presented the Auditor's Report for 1921, which was on motion adopted.

The new members of Council, Messrs. Rogers, Kellar, Fisher, Paul, Milling, Campbell, Smith and Mellow, and Reeve Warden Miller also addressed a few words to the Council.

On motion the Reeves of Ernestown and Fredericksburgh, Amherst Island, Newburgh and Adolphustown were appointed a committee to strike the Standing Committees for the year.

The Committee reported as follows :—

On motion the report was adopted.

On motion the matter of contracts for printing for 1922 was left to the Education and Printing Committee.

An communication from the Sanitarium Association was read by the Clerk.

Mr. J. W. Robinson introduced the deputation.

Col. Race addressed the Council, explaining the object and aims of the institution, and asked the County for the grant of $4000 toward rebuilding and supporting the institution.

Rev. Dr. Bigg, Rev. Levi Coleman, Rev. A. J. Wilson and Mr. J. W. Robinson addressed the Council.

The deputation were moved a hearty vote of thanks for the able exposition of their aims.

On motion the request of the deputation was referred to the Finance Committee.

The report of the Warden and Clerk on orders drawn by them on the Treasurer was received and referred to the Finance Committee.

The Clerk's report reported re claim of Town of Napanee for local improvement rates for walks, that the County had already paid for said walks and he had received from the town an acknowledgement of said payment.

A number of tenders for wood for the Court House were received, that of Wm. Frizzell was awarded the contract at $10.00 per cord.

A resolution asking an amendment to the Highways Act to allow township ships to raise grants for roads in the same manner in which counties are allowed to get it. The resolution was carried.

Council adjourned.

Wednesday Morning.

Minutes of Tuesday afternoon read and approved.

A communication from the Ontario Municipal Association, re membership, was ordered filed.

On motion the County membership fee to the Ontario Good Roads Association was ordered paid.

A request from the Ontario Department of Agriculture for the usual County grant, $500, was presented, and on motion the amount was ordered paid.

A communication from the Ontario Department of Agriculture, re advisory Agricultural Council, was read and ordered filed. Mr. Campbell, committee.

The annual report of the local office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture was received and referred to the Agricultural Committee.

A communication from the Ontario Department of Highways was received, and also ordered filed.

On motion the Department had filed plans for taking over a certain road in the Town of Napanee for highway purposes, referred to Roads and Bridges Committee.

A communication and resolution from the Town of Hespeler, re raising the examination standards for matriculation, disapproving of the move to raise the standard and asking the endorsation of the Council, was read, and on motion the resolution was ordered forwarded by the Clerk.

On motion the County Road Superintendent, the County Clerk and Treasurer be paid the usual fees for preparing County Road statement, same to be published as usual.

On motion the Warden and Clerk were authorized to issue usual orders on Treasurer for necessary payments for current expenses.

The usual statement of County Road expenditure, 1921, and application for Government grant on same, was ordered forwarded to the Department of Highways.

A motion was introduced by Messrs. Fisher and Rogers, that the County Council of Lennox and Addington Legislature to pass an act, making it obligatory for every motor car to have a bell, or else be obliged to carry a light. Referred to Roads and Bridges Committee.

On motion by Messrs. Smith and Mellow, a committee was appointed to locate stone quarries in the different municipalities and report at next session of the Council. On discussion the Reeves and the County Road Superintendent were authorized to locate the pits.

On motion of Messrs. Milling and Smith, the Township of South Fredericksburgh was permitted to repay

UPTONS AND BRYANT

WILL BE TRIED AT FEBRUARY ASSIZES

The motion of postponement of the trial of Rex vs. the Upton Brothers and Fred Bryant for the murder of Constable Beard, was heard before Justice Riddell in Toronto on Wednesday, and refused. If Crown Attorney Wilson consents the prisoners may be tried in Kingston. This judgment on this application disposes of the false and slanderous statements that have been circulated in reference to the Crown Attorney's action in allowing the press access to the confessions of the Uptons, filed at the preliminary hearing.

Justice Riddell, at Osgoode Hall yesterday, in answer to A. B. Cunningham, K.C., who moved for a postponement of the trial of Fred Bryant and Erwood and Sherwood Upton, three youths charged with the murder of Constable Beard at Napanee, on August 27th, stated he would not postpone the trial, which has been set for Feb. 21st, at Napanee, but that if all parties were agreed, he would change the venue to Kingston. Mr. Cunningham submitted that the alleged confession of the Upton brothers, put in at the preliminary hearing, was printed in full by the Napanee papers and that it would be impossible to secure a fair trial, as the jurors would be picked from Lennox and Addington.

Constable Beard was shot through the heart as he turned his flashlight on three men he found in a lane in the rear of a store in Napanee.—Mail and Empire, January 26th, 1922.

CENSUS RETURNS, 1921.

	1921.	1911.
Lennox and Addington
County	18987	20385
Napanee	2014	2907
Prince Edward County	16819	17150
Picton	3324	3544
Hastings East	21029	24976
Hastings West	34380	30825
Deseronto	4611	4913
Frontenac County	29416	27944
Kingston	21096	18874
Frontenac	5892	3986
Tweed	1339	1368
Belleville	12163	9676

From the above figures it will be noticed that Napanee has increased its population 7.25 per cent. Most of the small towns in Ontario have lost in population since 1911, and this does not include South Napanee, which is in North Fredericksburgh.

The Earnings that Earn The Interest --- and Dividends

THE thing that has impressed those who have investigated The Mount Royal Hotel Company's 8% Convertible Debentures is the statement of Mr. George H. O'Neil, General Manager for Canada of the United Hotels Company of America, as contained in a special circular issued by us.

This estimate goes fully into every detail of income expenses and estimated profits. The calculations are not visionary, but are based upon successful experience gained in operating profitable Canadian hotels, plus the advantage of having access (for comparative purposes) of the accumulated statistics of the United Hotels Company of America (and the chain of sixteen existing hotels).

The figures, which are understated, rather than overestimated, will help you to understand our confidence in associating ourselves with this enterprise and our responsibility in putting behind it the reputation and standing of W. A. Mackenzie & Company, Limited.

We repeat, that this investment carries our considered and unqualified recommendation. We unhesitatingly recommend the purchase of these 8% Convertible Debentures, carrying a bonus of 20% Common Stock, and give it as our belief that substantial profits should accrue from the Common Stock, which is now given away as a bonus.

To W. A. Mackenzie & Co., Ltd.

He Gained Twenty Pounds in a Year

That's Why This Man Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mr. Carl Boutelier of Masson's Point After Four Years' Suffering Took the Advice of a Friend and Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Masson's Point, Heart of St. Margaret's Bay, N.S., Jan. 23rd, (Special)—"When I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills I was forty-three years old and weighed 165 lbs. In one year I gained 20 lbs. This is the statement Mr. Carl Boutelier, a well known and highly respected resident of this place, makes. In addition to the great mass of evidence Dodd's Kidney Pills are the greatest of all kidney remedies. "I was laid up four years with kidney trouble," Mr. Boutelier states further. "One day a friend advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and I made up my mind to give them a trial. I used just six boxes in all."

The road to health lies through the kidneys. If they are kept strong and well all the impurities are strained out of the blood. But if they are weak and out of order the impurities stay in the blood and disease is sure to result.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make strong healthy kidneys.

"Tom, before we were married you begged me to go hand in hand with you down life's pathway."

"I believe I did."

"And now you get mad when I ask you where you go without me five nights in a week."

HOCKEY.

Napanee 7, Deserontо 5.

In an exhibition hockey match at the Napanee Arena on Friday evening, the local sextette won a hard fought game from the Deseronto boys by the score of 7-5. Until the latter part of the game a sterling brand of hockey was presented, and it was anybody's game, but in the last period the locals won out. We understand that the Deserontо team are not satisfied with the result and are desirous of playing in Napanee again. Should another game be arranged, it will pay our hockey enthusiasts to be at the rink early to secure admittance.

Gibbards 5, Canadiens 3.

Gibbards defeated the crippled Canadiens in a Town League game on Monday night, the score being 5-3. The attendance at the game was very small, showing a lack of interest in the town series. Both teams played good hockey, but the absence of McNeill from the Canadien's line-up probably cost the latter-enders the game.

Canadiens	0	2

Few Choice Kinds Compelled to Bear Burden of Man's Toll on Resource. —Utilization of Greater Variety is Consistent Economy.

The supply of seafoods which may be obtained from our fishing areas is literally inexhaustible. When it is known that scientists estimate the quantity caught for human consumption is but five per cent. of the total annual destruction by natural agencies, the truth of this will be more readily appreciated. It is calculated that about 7,000,000,000 herrings are captured for food each year throughout the world. Cod is caught also in great abundance. The aggregate of all species taken by fishermen in all parts of the world would be inconceivable. These tremendous numbers tend to agitate a fear for the future of the fisheries, but it is dissipated upon closer investigation. Marine species propagate in vast numbers, some depositing millions of eggs each season, comparatively few failing below 25,000 potential descendents. Nature makes provision for wastage and destruction by natural enemies, so that man's utilization of the vast food resource inappreciably affects nature's balance.

Some might be tempted to ask why it is necessary for the government to maintain artificial fish hatcheries to conserve certain valuable species. This is readily explained. The statement of inexhaustibility refers to the species of the sea collectively. Such fish as salmon, though they spend most of their life and reach maturity in the sea, must get back to the upper stretches of the rivers to spawn. Indeed they can only be caught when they are on their way to these waters to reproduce. Also the fish in all our extensive interior fresh waters are of limited reproductive powers, and so can easily be over-fished. The government in such instances employs close seasons when the fish are spawning and supplements this by artificial methods of developing eggs. To appreciate the efficacy of the latter a few additional facts must be known. In nature it is estimated that from five to eight per cent. of the eggs laid by the female fish are fertilized and matured. By the artificial system the percentage is increased to as high as ninety-eight per cent. With the same number of parent fish the hatcheries can produce an infinitely greater number of offspring that could be relied upon in nature.

The Department at Ottawa operates thirty-six hatcheries across Canada, and eleven subsidiary stations. Each year more than a billion eggs are hatched. This may seem small in comparison with nature's propagation in general, but when it is considered that the million is confined to commercially valuable species, the work is better appreciated.

The point to which all this leads is that the restrictive regulations of the government, and a costly system of supervision, are due entirely to the human element. Limitation of species for the table. The sturgeon has suffered seriously from this cause. There is danger of the Pacific salmon disappearing in the course of a few years. The halibut is being pursued further afield. In street parlance, the "hog" and some other species are being "plugged to death."

A National Fish Day Tuesday, Feb. 1st, approaches it is timely to reflect upon this situation. Why will our people not take advantage of the vast variety of fishes? Hundreds of delicious edible fishes caught by our fishermen never reach land. These men must make a living and it is useless to fringe the food question.

VISCOUNT BRYCE DIES SUDDENLY.

London, January 22nd.—Viscount Bryce died at Sidmouth to-day. The end came peacefully and somewhat suddenly. Viscount Bryce had been staying in Sidmouth for the past three weeks and was extremely energetic to the last.

Viscount Bryce was sent to Washington in 1907 as Ambassador from Great Britain. His success in negotiating the fisheries treaty was a diplomatic triumph. Two years grew out of the constant conflict between the Canadian and American fishermen in the Cane Cod region, which caused considerable friction and annoyance to both Governments. The treaty not only served to end these disturbances, but it also operated to enhance friendly feeling between the Canadian and United States authorities.

Born in 1853 in Glasgow, the late James Bryce practised as a barrister for some years at Lincoln's Inn. He was elected M.P. in 1880 and entered the Cabinet later. He was the author of many historical and political works including "Modern Democracy," "The American Commonwealth" and "Studies in History and Jurisprudence."

UNITED EMPIRE LOYALIST

Only Hereditary Title Created By Canadian Government.

The Annual Meeting of the United Empire Loyalist Association was held at Toronto on the 19th January, when an address was given by W. G. Mikel, K.C. He pointed out that the Title or Mark of Honor "United Empire Loyalist" is the only Title of Honor ever created and conferred by the Canadian Government, except the title of King's Counsel. The United Empire Loyalist title was created by Order-in-Council, November 9th, 1789, passed at Quebec when Lord Dorchester was Governor General. The members of the Council at the time were Le Compt Dupre, Hon. Chas. LaNaudiere, Hon. Francis Baby, Hon. J. G. C. DeLeray, Hon. Adam Mabane, Hon. John Collins, Hon. Thos. Dunn, Hon. Wm. Grant, Hon. Edward Harrison, Hon. George Powell, Hon. Henry Caldwell, Hon. Hugh Finday and Chief Justice William Smith. It was conferred on those regardless of nationality or religion who resided in the United States at the time of the American Revolutionary War but joined the Royal Standard in America before the Treaty of Peace, and after the close of the war came to Canada, leaving home comforts and breaking up families, when Canada was yet a wilderness without churches, schools, physicians, or even a sheltering roof. The title was made hereditary and descends to the children of these people. Titles of honor are often conferred on persons who have acquired wealth or political distinction. The United Empire Loyalists, however, had lost all their worldly possessions and had become outcasts in their country, but they were enrolled on the list of true heroine of the sacrifices made, the sufferings endured and the services rendered the Empire.

The late Ex-President Roosevelt of the United States referring to their hardships, has said, "The mob broke into and plundered the homes of wealthy loyalists, rode them on rails, tarred and feathered or otherwise brutally maltreated them, or utterly refused to others the liberty of speech they so vociferously demanded for themselves."

New Aluminium Discovery.

An important discovery, a new method of extracting aluminium from a mineral, which affects the future development of Japanese industry and the formulation of an established air policy of the Japanese Government, is the result of the investigations, which have been carried out by the experiment station on the production of aluminium and its compounds. A great refinery plant driven by electric power will be established at Yeroui. A project is under contemplation to establish a semi-governmental company for the manufacture of aluminium by the new method, which consists in the electrical treatment of ore and enables the production of aluminium to be increased.

BILIOUSNESS AND LIVER DISEASES

May be the result of Constipation or may exist when the bowels are irregular. The liver is composed often giving rise to pain under the right shoulder, the complexion is yellow, headache, nausea, loss of appetite, slight fever, distress after eating, sometimes vomiting. Bile does not enter the bowels to digest the fats which decompose forming gas, irritating the intestinal tract, often producing diarrhoea. A natural Liver Stimulant is required and DR. HENDERSON'S LIVER TABLETS taken according to directions not only stimulates, but tones that organ.

Early Surgery In America.

From various strata of old rubbish heaps and other remains that archaeologists find in the half-buried prehistoric pueblos in the southwest they can determine fairly well what the inhabitants were doing perhaps at the time when David was hiding from Saul in the caves of Judea. It is stated that one of the pueblos most recently laid bare disclosed in one of the ancient burial chambers evidences of a remarkably advanced knowledge of surgery—for a people who had not yet learned the art of metal working. In this chamber was a body in an unusually contorted position. Carefully working away the earth Mr. Morris of the American Museum of Natural History came upon some wooden splints resting round the bones of the left forearm, encircled by cords. Examination revealed a fracture just above the wrist, both bones being broken. As the uncovering of the skeleton continued, other injuries came to light. One side of the pelvis had been crushed and two of the lower vertebrae fractured, the work apparently of a prehistoric automobile. Evidently the accident was a fatal one because there are no signs of knitting of the bones. But the point of greatest interest was the splinted arm. The splints were carefully made with nicely rounded edges, indicating that they were in the kit of the surgeon, ready for such an emergency.

It is very fine weather at time of writing.—Owing to the snow storms and wind the men are out at daylight to get the roads open for the van. It was impossible to get through in time for the children to get to school.—G. McKnight spent Monday afternoon plowing out the roads. All report a good job.—We are in hope that the new van will be large enough so that all the children will get seats. The driver does all he can to get them seated.—The men are taking advantage of the nice weather.—F. Donelly was very late in coming out with his load of wood. He got his sleigh fast and it slew and caught a stump. It took some time to get it loose.—Mr. Oscar Thompson called on J. McKnight one day this week.—Mr. A. Kellar and family are on the sick list.

Mediaeval Church.

Richard Wagner memorialized the Church of St. Catherine in his "Meistersinger von Nurnberg." It was in this church that the master singers delighted their congregations from 1620 until 1742, when it was decided that their art was hardly in keeping with the spirit of a house dedicated to divine worship. A few years later the constabory of Nuremberg was then one of the wealthiest cities in Germany, so that the erection of a more modern building was pretty largely a matter of time only. St. Catharine's was consequently deserted, until the tourist wave set in, when it was opened to the curious for thirty pfennings. During the war it was used as a storage room for grain. Having come to a full appreciation of its historical value and seeing that it shows no signs of falling down—it was built at the beginning of the fourteenth century—the city of Nuremberg has appropriated 645,949 marks to have it renovated and converted into an auditorium for concerts and a city museum, for which purposes it will be in operation this fall. The Nuremberg gave a trial concert in it recently and found that its acoustic properties are unrivalled by any building in Germany.

President Obregon Has Tried to Rehabilitate His Faction-torn Country

The first year of Gen. Alvaro Obregon's administration as President of Mexico, which ended November 30, has been one essentially of reconstruction and reorganization. He became the head of a republic torn and worn by revolution, split by factional strife, its finances a wreck and its rehabilitation an almost superhuman task.

A new cabinet post, Secretary of Education, has been added during the year and its head, Jose Vasconcelos, has been promised adequate financial means to carry out an ambitious program of education which President Obregon says is the nation's greatest problem.

The Federal-owned railroads have been completely reorganized in the managerial departments and some progress is being made toward their rehabilitation. Rolling stock has been acquired and an alarming port congestion, which threatened bankruptcy to many interior merchants who were unable to obtain shipments of goods, has been appreciably relieved.

The agrarian question still vexes, although the administration claims that its program in regard to land is on the road to completion. Under the direction of the National Agrarian Commission, several hundred thousand acres of land have been expropriated from the large haciendas and delivered to the peasants. Protests have flowed into government office and charge of bold confiscation have been made.

The Obregon Government has been charged with a tendency toward radicalism. Various state governments, notably those of Vera Cruz and Puebla, have enacted laws that are regarded as radical and pleas for Federal intervention to prevent their enforcement have been met with the official statement that the chief executive will not encroach upon the sovereignty of the states. There are frequent sanguinary clashes in the states of Yucantan and Michoacan between Radicals and Conservatives with the former still retaining their power.

The War Department announces that progress is being made in the reduction of the Federal army to 50,000 men, entailing the dismissal of many score generals and other high officers. The dismissed soldiers are being given an opportunity to colonize.

President Obregon has been unable to secure recognition of his Government by the United States, Great Britain and France. To many observers, this failure is the greatest deterrent to stability and prosperity now confronting the chief executive. The United States has said that the Mexican President must sign a treaty of amity and commerce as a prior act to recognition and this President Obregon has steadfastly declined to do, asserting that such action would be neither legal nor within the dignity or pride of the nation. A deadlock on recognition now exists.

Last May President Obregon placed an export tax on oil shipments from Mexico and a loud protest went up from American producers. Production and development shut down and shipments ceased. They were resumed early in December after an agreement as to taxes between the oil men and Secretary de la Huerta.

The financial rehabilitation of Mexico is still a subject for study and the only definite information on that subject is the official assurance that the Government wishes to arrange its debts.

A year, then, of Obregon finds a nation more united and outwardly peaceful than in years; still struggling to arrange its finances but handicapped by lack of recognition by three great powers; a nation making some progress along the lines of reconstruction and reorganization.

President Obregon, enjoying better health to-day than he did a year ago, is optimistic and says that the sun is slowly but surely breaking through the clouds.

Claims against the Government for damages suffered by foreigners during revolutionary periods are to be treated by a mixed claims commission, according to President Obregon's suggestion, but thus far there is no intimation that such a commission has been established.

Not a Good Subject.

"This isn't a very good picture of your baby brother, is it?" said the visitor.

"No," replied five-year-old Alice. "But, then, he ain't a very good baby."

MOON NO ROAD HOG.

Earth May Continue to Go Round Without Any Fears.

All's well with the moon.

The world can continue without qualms to revolve on its axis as before.

The suggestion that the Queen of the Heavens is a kind of celestial road hog is gently but firmly denied by the superintendent of the Kew Observatory.

"I am not aware," said Dr. C. Chree, "of any abnormal happenings in connection with the moon during recent times. The fact that the moon is off its course and ahead of time can hardly be attributed to extra speed. It merely shows that modern observations are more accurate than those of our predecessors. Any suggestion of unknown forces tugging the moon is just a confession that even now astronomers are not world-perfect in the causes of things. This is a scare and no more.

"It is true that the Nautical Almanac, on whose figures all other almanacs rely, will have to be revised in view of the observations made during the recent eclipse.

"That is because those figures, worked out years in advance, when our knowledge of the heavens was smaller, are now found in the light of later knowledge to be based originally on inaccurate and insufficient knowledge. It is not the moon which has changed; it is our knowledge of the moon which has altered.

"It is and how prejudicial to science such playing to the gallery can be."

New Mark Twain Story.

What is believed to be a hitherto unpublished Mark Twain story was brought to light for the first time in public. The humorist sent the manuscript to Frank Bliss, a friend of his, who was on a visit to a small town in the West. Twain and Bliss were asked to speak at the funeral of a certain well-known lady, who, for some reason or other, was not popular with the townspeople. Twain and Bliss and brought together many more or less distinguished local facts to meet him. Lunch was fixed for one. Half an hour later Mark Twain arrived, but did not appear at the meeting. Instead, his valet asked if there was a room where his master could rest a little because he was very tired. A sitting-room upstairs was at once placed at his disposal, and thither he retired, lay down, upon the couch, and slept until three o'clock. Meanwhile the party had lunch and discoursed of the amiable eccentricities of elderly literary lions. At five minutes past three Mark Twain came down, greeted his hostess, said how pleased he was to meet her and so many distinguished people, and—inquired about the next train for London! He was told there was one at 3.45 p.m. "I guess," said he, in his strong nasal accents, "I'll catch that train." And he did, but not before he had inscribed his name in the household visitors' book, which already contained the signatures of many famous men and women.

First Phonographic Disk.

The first phonographic disk is still in use in the Smithsonian Institution. It was made in 1887, by Emil Berliner, and the first song sung on a phonographic disk was "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." The original disk that Berliner experimented with is of glass. A coat of soot was rubbed over the surface. The revolutions of the needle emitted the needle to scratch the sound into the burnt surface of the glass. Thus the voice of a person singing into the horn was recorded. From it a zinc disk was made, and from the copper matrix was the next step. Then the matrix still remained of rubber. To-day the finished record is made of various ingredients mixed with a good proportion of rubber. There are five steps in casting the disk. First, a thin, waxy disk is coated with lamp black, whereupon to-day's Orro sings are impressed. First Orro sings into the "horn" and then into the voice. Then the matrix is cast and finally the wax disk removed.

—An alarm of fire was sounded on Tuesday morning about 9.45, when it was discovered that the frame building just east of The Gibbard Furniture Company's finishing room was on fire. The building, which was used as a garage, was heated by a stove, and it is thought that the fire originated from that source. The cars stored therein were removed safely, as well as some tires and other accessories. The firemen responded promptly and the fire was soon under control.

Some Anecdotes by a Bohemian

A certain legal man with social aspirations seized the slightest opportunity to refer to "My friend Lord ——" or "Lady ——."

It was said that, when staying at a fashionable Homburg hotel, he put a ten-franc note in the hand of the head waiter, requesting him to place him at the table d'hote (then a prevailing institution) opposite a certain duke.

"I am sorry, sare," said the waiter, pocketing the note, "but ces grace gave me twenty-five francs to put you at de oder end of de table."

This is one of the good stories told by Major Fitzroy Gardner in "Days and Ways of an Old Bohemian." During his career as Exchequer Court clerk, journalist, theatrical manager, and Assistant Provost Marshal, he met some funny people, notably the Baron of the Exchequer (now merged into the King's Bench Division), whose daily lunch consisted of "an orange with a blue pill thrust into it."

As A.P.M. with the Rhine army, Major Gardner speaks of the exemplary good conduct of the men of the London Division in the conquered territory.

"I had occasion to visit a German working-man's house in the course of duty, and found the family all out, except a baby, which was being bathed by a Tommy of the London Division, who was billeted in the house."

Here is an instance of the late Charles Brookfield's caustic humor:

"My dear Brookfield, I want your advice," said an acquaintance one day. "——has called me a many ass. Ought I to consult a solicitor?"

"I should consult a 'vet,' if I were you," was Brookfield's advice.

Major Fitzroy Gardner was intimately associated with Sir Herbert Tree.

Realising, on one occasion, that something must be done to cut down expenses, Tree went through the account carefully, and finally decided that a penny, instead of a threepenny, paper should be supplied to the Green Room.

On another occasion, when he was temporarily pressed for money and was refused a second overdraft, Tree was very indignant with the bankers. "Tell them," he said, "that we will transfer the account to another bank!"

An amusing illustration is given of the great actor-manager's absent-mindedness:

"When calling at a house or visiting the theatre in the daytime, he was apt to tell a cabman to wait for him, and, to the eventual advantage of the cabman, to forget that he had done so.

"On one occasion on leaving a house, not noting that there was a cab waiting, he hailed another and drove off elsewhere, the first driver, who knew his fare, following behind. After the next call he hailed a third cab, and so the actor arrived at his theatre leading a little procession of cabs, and all three had to be paid."

A ticket collector at Slough, a well-known character, was in the habit of shouting when each train came in: "Slough, Slough. Change for Windsor."

After doing this for some twenty years, he was promoted to the post of station-master at a small station down the line, but he continued to call out, "Slough, Slough. Change for Windsor," to the surprise and sometimes inconvenience, of passengers. So he had to be moved back to Slough.

"There was a tale to the effect that, when his twin grandchildren were being christened, and the clergyman said, "Name these children," the old man absent-mindedly muttered, 'Slough, Slough. Change for Windsor.'"

Charitable Dogs.

One reason men like dogs is because dogs are about the only animals that have charity. Dogs know the human race pretty well; they have lived with human beings for countless centuries; they have learned all about the failings and foibles of men. And yet they are so good-natured and forgiving that they are willing to continue to associate with men on something like terms of equality. Your dog may give you a reproachful look now and then, when you are particularly asinine or unjust; but for the most part he sympathizes with you, no matter how much of a fool you have made of yourself. And he does it all so cheerfully, too! He does it in such a way that you may continue to believe that he looks up to you. Charity could go no farther than this. If a dog kept a diary, and was candid as well as kind, his master would get many salutary lessons from its perusal.—Don Marquis in the New York Sun.

Ancient Capitals.

If Caracas claim the title of "the Paris of the New World" — and so they called the Venezuelan capital in the century past—we ought to remember that Bogota, Colombia's capital, was early in the sixteenth century famed as "the Athens of South America." This city, founded in 1538, was a centre of culture before the first university had been thought of. Cartagena, Colombia, is fondly known as "The Heroic City," or "The Cradle of South American Liberty."

Curious Chinese Custom.

In some parts of China jars are placed on the roof of houses as matrimonial advertisements. A tar turned upside down means that the daughter is too young to marry. A jar laid with its mouth to the street indicates that the maiden is of age. When the girl is married the jar is removed.

"Why should you be so stupid. You are always getting into scrapes." "Yes, but I'm always getting out of them, which is more than other fellow's."

RUBIES IN BURMA MINES.

Pigeon Blood Jewels Are Among Finest In the World.

The finest rubies in the world, of that brilliant carmine color called "pigeon-blood," come from Burma. They are found only in one district north of Mandalay, high up in the mountains, and 60 miles east of the Irrawaddy.

Here in a vast and fertile plain lies Mogok, a native town, built upon and surrounded by ruby-bearing earth.

The whole valley was once the bed of a great lake, and this wide extent of precious alluvial deposit is being systematically dug up and searched for rubies.

The first view of the mine is disappointing. It resembles the excavation made for the foundations of a house, except that it extends over many acres. Along the level bottom of the mine, some 20 or 40 feet below you, run trolley lines in all directions.

Diggers with pick and shovel attack the sides of the mine and fill the trolleys with the fallen earth. This is then hauled up to the top and cast into reverberating flood with water. By this means the earth is washed away, leaving only rocks and shingle, and, perhaps, rubies.

This is next passed through a wire mesh to separate rock and rubble from the small single, among which the precious stones will be found.

So far not a single ruby has been seen. The uncut ruby is not easily distinguishable among the mass of shingle, which has to be carefully sorted.

The sorters who carry out this responsible duty are all Englishmen. Each sits at a table on which is a small locked box with a hole in the top. Coolies carrying boxes of the shingle pass down the line and pour some on to each table. The sorter, armed with a piece of tin with a straight edge, begins at once to scrape it off the table to the floor. This is done little by little, quickly yet carefully. Every now and again his trained eye discerns a glint of color in the mass of rubbish, and a stone is picked up and dropped into the locked box.

Every evening the contents of the boxes are locked up in a great safe, and on Saturday the week's haul is examined by the manager.

Seated before a big tray of polished brass, the stones, which already have been roughly sorted, are poured out for inspection.

First come rubies and spinels, so alike in color (though not in value) that only a practiced eye can distinguish them. The box is turned upside down and a brilliant cascade of carmine gems, glinting and glittering in the sunshine, scatter over the polished brass. It is a sight to make a millionaire's mouth water.

When these have been counted and put back in the safe it is the turn of the sapphires to fall on the tray in a shower of blue—every shade of blue from pale ultramarine to dark indigo, shimmering in the sunlight.

Last of all come the odds and ends and freak stones, often beautiful in coloring, but of little value.

All the week's haul is then sent to England to be sold; 60 miles through mountain and jungle before they reach the Irrawaddy.

Marquesan's Idea of Beauty.

A year spent among the simple, friendly cannibals of Atuona Valley, on the island of Hiva-oa, in the Marquesas, has provided Mr. Frederick O'Brien with material for a fascinating book of travel and adventure. To a Marquesan woman tattooed legs are the highest reach of art, and an Amazon named Titihuti, Mr. O'Brien writes: "She said that people came from far valleys to see her legs, and I can readily believe it. It was so with the leg of the late Queen Vackehu, a leg so perfect in mould and so elaborately and artistically inked that it distinguished her even more than her rank. Casual whites, especially, considered it a curiosity, and offended her Majesty by laying demoratic eyes upon the masterpiece." Theft is unknown in this wonderful land. The doors are never fastened, and the people, forgetting the brief encounter with the European idea of money and of the accumulation of property, have reverted to the ways of their forefathers, who are said to have been communists to a large degree.

Prophecy Came True.

An extraordinary story of how a century-old prophecy has been fulfilled comes from Montgomery, in Wales.

Exactly a hundred years ago, John Davies, a farmer, was hanged for highway robbery. On the scaffold he declared his innocence, and prophesied that no grass would grow on his grave for a hundred years. He was buried in the parish churchyard. On his grave to-day there is a barren strip in the form of a cross.

There is a tradition that those who tried to prevent the fulfilment of the prophecy died suddenly and tragically. About fifteen years ago a commercial traveller resolved to defy the legend; he planted grass seed on the grave. No grass grew, but a fortnight later the man died suddenly.

Another man planted a rose tree at the head of the grave. The tree grew but the man was seized with paralysis and never recovered.

Telling Time Aboard Ship.

"Two bells," "four bells," "four bells," etc., originated as the method of telling time aboard ship, on account of the half-past eleven, divided into six watches of four hours each, thus having some one awake all the time. The passage of time was of no importance except to the watch on deck, so the bell was struck to show how many half-hours had passed. Thus "seven bells" would mean that seven half-hours had elapsed; this might mean half-past three, half-past eleven, or half-past seven.

"Use the Bell to Sell"

While others wait—you sell!

by Long Distance

ALADDIN rubbed his lamp and summoned anyone to his presence. This same thing is being done to-day—only Aladdin's lamp has changed to a telephone.

Call the man you long to do business with, by Long Distance, and he is virtually in your presence when he lifts the receiver to listen. Practically, you are face to face. Long Distance makes him more accessible than if he lived next door. The man you might hesitate to borrow a monkey-wrench from greets you cordially when you call him. While others cool their heels in outer offices, waiting, you sell him.

He is in a receptive frame of mind. His curiosity is appealed to. He realizes the conversation will be brief, and lets down the bars. And where a salesman knows his goods there is something in the tones of his voice that carries conviction—puts over the deal. Your goods go through doors that were formerly closed to them.

We were satisfied with the pony post, until the railroad came. The mail and telegraph answered every need until the telephone came. All means of communication have their special uses, but for speed the telephone is best of all. Long Distance reaches more places than there are Post Offices.

Because of the very low rates on Station-to-Station calls after 8.30 P.M. Evening and Night calls by Long Distance are being used more and more for business purposes. It only requires a little planning.

The Oil for the Farmer.—A bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the farm house will save many a journey for the doctor. It is not only good for the children when taken with colds and croup, and for the mature who suffer from pains and aches, but there are directions for its use on sick cattle. There should always be a bottle of it in the house.

Will Crooks used to tell a story of an old man who was breaking stones by the roadside when a very smart young fellow stopped and inquired flippantly:
"Hullo, old bean, whatever are you up to?"
The stone-breaker lifted a pair of calm eyes to the youth, and said:
"I am building the King's highway."

The Poor Man's Friend.—Put up in small bottles that are easily portable and sold for a very small sum, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil possesses power in concentrated form. Its cheapness and the varied uses to which it can be put make it the poor man's friend. No dealer's stock is complete without it.

A colored preacher in Alabama had at one time served a short jail sentence and was fearful lest his congregation discover the fact, as in his later years he had been a model of rectitude.
One Sunday, rising to begin his sermon, his heart sank to see a former cellmate sitting in the front row.
Quick thinking was necessary. Fixing his eye on the unwelcome guest, the preacher announced solemnly:
"Ah takes mah text dis mo'nin' from de sixty-fo'th chaptah and fo' hundredth verse of the book of Job which saye: 'Dem as sees and knows me, and says nothin', dem will Ah see later."

Miller's Worm Powders are the medicine for children who are found suffering from the ravages of worms. They immediately alter the stomachic conditions under which the worms subsist and drive them from the system, and, at the same time, they are tonical in their effect upon the digestive organs, restoring them to healthful operation and ensuring immunity from further disorders from such a cause.

SLAVES GOT FREEDOM.

Romantic Story of the Negroes In the Amistad.

A large boat load of Africans, stolen into slavery, was brought to Havana in 1839. A lot of them had been purchased by a Cuban and a little vessel named the Amistad had been chartered to carry them to the port of Guanaraja. He had paid $450 for each of the forty-nine negroes in the party. The marks of the chains were still on them from the long trip across the Atlantic, but it was not thought necessary to keep them in chains on this short journey.

On the way, they asked the cook where they were going and what was to become of them. The cook in jest said they were to be killed and eaten. In terror, they killed the captain and the cook and took charge of the ship, turning its prows, as they thought, toward their homeland. Instead of landing on the shore of Africa, they brought up at Montauk Point, Long Island, and the inhabitants were amazed to see on their shore a small band of black men with just canvas or handkerchiefs around their loins.

They were taken in charge by the Government and lodged in jail. Forty-four were crowded into four cells, as if it were the Black Hole of Calcutta.

What shall be done with them? That became a question which no local court could decide, for it suddenly assumed the proportions of an international question. Spain claimed them as the property of her citizens. The slave power discerned that a test question was before the Government as to the right of the slave and the rights of the traffic. The case was carried to the Supreme Court and under the legal counsel of John Quincy Adams and Roger S. Baldwin the decision of the lower court to free them was affirmed. Funds were now raised and these poor unfortunates found themselves in their home land in 1842, three years after the beginning of their strange and involuntary journey.

In 1846, a meeting of those interested in human freedom and a more aggressive and liberal missionary movement was called in Albany, N.Y., and at the heart of it were these men who had accompanied the Amistad victims to their home in Mendi, Africa, with a Christian Mission. There the American Missionary Association was organized which was to be the centre of the anti-slavery agitation until the war, and to be the geratest champion of the negro after the war.

Winston Churchill Will Have Plenty of Money to Pursue Political Career

Among the principal features of the estate of the American born Lady Randolph Churchill, who died so suddenly last summer as the result of blood poisoning after the amputation of her leg, badly fractured through a fall down stairs, was a mortgage of $310,000 on the Manhattan Club on Madison square, New York, and which she had inherited from her father, the late Leonard Jerome.

When she died her third and surviving husband, Montagu Porch, withdrew all his rights to her estate in favor of her two sons, Winston Spencer Churchill, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and his younger brother, Jack, a stock broker. The testamentary directions of Leonard Jerome, in his day one of the foremost of American sportsmen, provided that the income was to be paid by the trustees to Lady Randolph Churchill for life and that at her death is was to be divided between her issue.

The mortgage has now been called in and Winston Spencer Churchill has therefore received as his share $155,000, which, when added to the income of $20,000 which came to him last spring through the death in a railroad accident of Lord Herbert

WINSTON CHURCHILL.

Vane Tempest (who had a life interest therein), has the effect of rendering him financially independent of his official emoluments.

This is to him a great relief, for in the past he has not been free from monetary worries. His wife was not rich, and most of his literary activities, both in the production of books, in writing articles for magazines and newspapers, were due to the absolute necessity under which he labored of earning his living.

Private means are well nigh indispensable to public life in Great Britain, even though members of Parliament now receive a pittance of $2,000 a year toward their expenses, which was not the case until ten years or so ago. Many are the great statesmen of England, who, while carrying on their shoulders the burden of responsibilities and anxieties in connection with the government of the Empire, have been harassed by pecuniary difficulties, among them the famous "Billy Pitt" of the Georgian era, who died heavily in debt; Lord Beaconsfield, who was repeatedly on the very verge of bankruptcy until rescued therefrom, first of all by the mysterious and handsome bequest of a lady whom he scarcely knew but who admired his courage and wished to relieve him of the handicap of impecuniosity under which he staggered, and then by his marriage; the late William E. Gladstone, who found himself obliged at various times of his career to sell by auction first of all his highly prized collection of rare porcelains—his favorite hobby—and then the equally cherished contents of his library.

It is doubtful whether Mrs. Asquith would ever have had recourse to literature and embark upon the publication of her reminiscences had it not been for the cruel disappointment in connection with the testamentary dispositions of her multi-millionaire father, the late Sir Charles Tennant, and no one is ignorant of the monetary troubles by which Lloyd George was harassed in all the earlier stages of his public life.

How Long Do You Sleep?

Many notable instances are on record of early rising among great men, although, strangely enough, this excellent habit seems to be going out of favor.

M. Clemenceau is at his desk every morning while most of his fellow-countrymen are still in the land of Nod, and the same may be said of Edison, who, when in the throes of a mechanical problem, finds two to three hours' sleep sufficient for his needs.

Napoleon could stay up late and get up early, a gift possessed by Mr. Lloyd George, who is said to be able to go to sleep almost at once.

Lord Reading, when at the Bar, was never in bed after 4 a.m., while at one time Lord Haldane allowed himself only four hours' sleep.

The Rainbow.

Why is the rainbow so frequently seen during summer and so seldom during winter? Its formation, we are told by Prof. W. J. Humphreys, the eminent meteorological physicist, requires the coexistence of rain and sunshine, a condition that often occurs during local convectional showers but rarely during a general cyclonic storm, and as the former are characteristic of summer and the latter of winter, it follows that the occurrence of the rainbow correspondingly varies with the seasons.

cases ended in death! So a recent Canadian investigation showed. These were not cases of infectious diseases—of consumption—of typhoid. They were cases where a person had sustained some slight injury—a cut, a burn, a wire-prick—and where the wound, being thought not serious enough for careful treatment, had been neglected. Blood-poisoning and death resulted.

When you or your children sustain any injury, ensure against infection by applying Zam-Buk. This balm soothes the pain, stops bleeding, and by destroying all germs prevents blood-poisoning, etc. Hence no time need be lost from work or pleasure by those who use Zam-Buk. All dealers, 50c. box.

DRAIN THE HILLSIDES

Erosions Mean Considerable Loss to Many Farms.

Tiling, Open Ditching and Terracing Recommended—How to Plan and Do the Work—Why an Orchard Will Pay.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The erosion of hillsides and the flooding of the land below by the eroded material has long been a worry and an economical loss to many farmers in hilly and mountainous sections. This can frequently be prevented, and the method employed depends on the conditions existing, such as the nature of the soil; light or heavy, the steepness of the slope, and the type of agriculture practiced; pasture or tilled crops.

The Value of "Sheep-Drains."

Wet hillsides used as sheep pastures may be much improved by what are sometimes called "sheep-drains." These are merely shallow open ditches about 30 inches wide on top, 9 inches wide on the bottom, and 15 inches deep for removing the surface water. They are dug slantingly around the slope to intercept the flowing water and carry it in a definite channel to a suitable outlet at the base of the hill. The removed earth should be thrown out on the lower side to form a sort of embankment to the drain. The grade of the ditch should not be so steep as to give the water sufficient force to destroy the drain by either washing away the banks or digging the drain itself deeper, and thus making it dangerous for the sheep and lambs. Sub-drains are sometimes necessary.

Terracing and Draining.

A system of terracing is quite universally used to prevent destructive washouts on hillsides. The terraces are made perfectly level, and of any width, and then carefully seeded to grass. At the time of rain the water spreads out evenly over the surface of these and then flows gently over the slope below without sufficient force to wash away any portion of the hill and thus prevents "gullying."

For the drainage of tilled hillsides a system of under-drainage is sometimes used successfully. The amount of erosion of the land largely depends on its condition. If the surface soil can be kept firm the erosion will be lessened. Soft spots on the hillside, though, frequently occur as a result of seepage water from above which has penetrated the surface soil and reached an impervious layer and thus deflected to the surface on the side of the hill. Water flowing over this with considerable force will naturally wash it away more easily than the firmer soil free from this seepage water.

Advantage of Tile Draining.

If tile drains are so laid to intercept this seepage water, considerable erosion can be prevented. If the hillside is comparatively steep, drains laid at an angle to the incline will be more satisfactory. They will naturally intercept all of the water flowing through the soil above them. Also the grade will be less and the drains are not so liable to be affected by the water moving slowly through them. If the slope is not very steep the drains may be laid down the incline with satisfactory results. Here the tile drains the land on both sides and no double draining results.

In this underdrainage the general benefits are again obtained. The water level is lowered, thus giving more root capacity to plants and the prevention of surface washing by allowing the water to penetrate through the soil to the drains, thus carrying much plant food to the roots of the plants.—R. C. Moffatt, O. A. College, Guelph.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

By the Canadian Forestry Association.

Q. As a resident of the Prairie Provinces, I would like to know something about the Forest Reserves, their purpose, extent, etc.

A. The Forest Reserves of the prairie provinces are 39 in number and nearly 35,000 square miles in extent. They are owned by the Dominion Government and while called "reserves" are actually put to many and varied uses. They are of supreme value as storage capacity for the flood waters of the great prairie rivers. Practically the whole of the Eastern slope of the Rockies is now in reserve, and upon this slope being kept under forest depends much of the fertility of the prairie country. The timber on the reserves is viewed as a growing crop held in trust for the people of the West. It provides timber for settlers and for use on the grazing lands within the reserve boundaries more than 100,000 head of stock obtain sustenance. Game hunting and recreation are other excellent uses of forest reserves in the prairie provinces.

Q. I am told that in the aeroplane forest surveys last year there was not a single fatal accident. Is it true?

A. Almost. In 181,000 miles of flying by the Dominion Air Board last summer only one man was killed and that was distinctly his own fault.

Q. Is it a fact that Canadians sell more forest products to Uncle Sam than farm products?

A. In 1920, Canada's sales of forest products to the United States represented $8 per head of Canadian population. Our agricultural sales to Uncle Sam were only $5.90 per head. Our mineral were $4.50 per head and fisheries $2.10 per head. The forests of Canada have undoubtedly been the greatest power in stabilizing the exchange rate.

Q. Has anyone managed to get Henry Ford interested in the practice of forestry?

A. Some one evidently has. Mr. Ford is now a Forester, along with his other duties. He has bought a forest and is starting a system of scientific management that should keep the timber crop reproducing for all time to come. It is in Michigan near his iron mines. Mr. Ford recently stated that he is "convinced that the public interest demands a fundamental change in the management of our forest wealth."

Wood for Fuel in Terms of Coal.

In heating value one standard cord of well seasoned hickory, oak, beech, birch, hard maple, ash, elm, locust or cherry wood is approximately equal to one ton (2,000 pounds) of anthracite coal, according to estimates by the forest service. United States Department of Agriculture. However, a cord and a half of soft maple and two cords of cedar, poplar or basswood are required to give the same amount of heat.

One cord of mixed wood, well seasoned, equals in heating value at least one ton of average grade bituminous coal.

Timely Hints.

Store all harvesting tools and machinery.

Repair binder canvases and store in a dry place.

Make note of broken parts and order them.

Attend to the safety levers on cutting box and sito fillers. Sharpen the knives and oil working parts.

"GOOD FAIRY" STILL ALIVE

SPLENDOR OF THE ARABIAN NIGHTS ENTERTAINMENT FOR PRINCESS MARY.

London, Jan. 17th.—Day by day, as the details of the wedding presents for the Princess Mary are made public, it becomes apparent that the lavish splendor of the Arabian Nights is not yet over and the Good Fairy of Hans Andersen's tales is still alive.

Jewels, furs, automobiles, precious antiques and money in thousands from rich corporations and in sixpenny pieces from working men and women—all are to be poured into the lap of the royal bride.

All the big cities of Great Britain are offering gifts of money, which the Princess, in most cases, has requested should be devoted to various charities. Manchester is raising a 1,000,000 shilling fund, 50,000 of which have already been subscribed. The final collection will be taken the night of the Princess' wedding, when the city corporation is planning a huge dance. The money will be used to develop the district nursing service.

The Lord Mayor of Birmingham has also started a shilling fund. A small part of it will be used to purchase a gift typical of Birmingham workmanship; the remainder, in accordance with Mary's wishes, will be used to endow Princess Mary Cots in the Birmingham Children's Hospital.

A portion of the sum being raised by the city of Reading will be used to enlarge and equip the Royal Hospital there, which will bear the Princess' name.

Replying to a letter from the Lord Mayor of Liverpool, the Princess said she would like the city to give her "A plain narrow diamond bracelet". It is seems certain such pieces of jewelry will now become fashionable among rich society this winter, as has the wearing of diamond rings since Viscount Lascelles gave one to the Princess.

The Lord Mayor of London has opened a fund, subscription limited to a maximum of one pound. A portion of this at least will be devoted to charity. It is expected many of the rich old London guilds, such as Gold and Silversmiths', Fishmongers', Haberdashers', Tailors', etc., will come forward with handsome presents.

The Carlton Club, a Conservative political institution, is raising a fund of one pound subscriptions so as "to make the contribution personal and not merely a formal offering."

Demobilized men of the Grenadier Guards, Lord Lascelles' old regiment, are making small contributions for a present to him.

Fifty breeders of dual purpose rabbits, rabbits raised for both food and fur, are presenting the Princess with a magnificent fur coat. Designs will be submitted to the Princess and the coat will be made from her selection.

Gift From Actresses.

A number of leading actresses are combining to offer a personal wedding gift—a birthday book signed by the donors. Lady Tree, Lady Wyndham and Miss Irene Vanburgh are taking a leading part in this scheme.

Many of the Scottish clans, which are always in the forefront in matters of Royal homage, are offering personal gifts. Women of the Clan Macrae are giving a shawl of the Macrae tartan. The Clan MacDougall has decided to present the Princess with a replica of the famous brooch of Lorne, which is said to have been used by Robert the Bruce to fasten the folds of his plaid. The original is carefully preserved at Dunolly Castle, Oban. It consists of a circular plate of beautifully carved silver set with river pearls and Scottish gems. George IV. once offered $2,500 for it, unsuccessfully.

The eight bridesmaids are awaiting the Princess' return to London at the end of the month to discuss what their gifts will be. She is understood to have said she wanted something simple and personal which would always remind her of the occasion. There is a likihood this gift will be a bracelet with miniatures of the donors on it.

From Marys of the Empire.

One of the gifts in which the Princess is most interested is that which will come from "the Marys of the British Empire."

Practically all the women and girls in the Empire named Mary, May, Marian, Marie, Miriam, etc., are expected to contribute.

Elaborate committees for fostering the scheme have been formed by leading women in all the British Shires and the Dominion and Colonial Provinces. The donors will be asked to give from six pence to ten shillings allowing every one, regardless of means, to contribute. The Princess herself will decide what the gift shall be, but many hope she will take it for herself and not devote it to charity.

Auto From Brother.

The Royal household gifts have not yet been announced, except that the Prince of Wales has established his store that he will give her an automobile. The rest of the family gifts are expected to be personal ones for wear or for the home.

Finally there will be the usual state presents from the Royal Families of Europe—the Scandinavian countries, Serbia, Roumania, Italy and Spain—as well as personal gifts from relatives and friends among them. There is a possibility that the most interesting of the gifts will be exhibited at one of the London museums during the honeymoon.

The Princess' wedding ring will be a unique token. The gold for it is now in the hands of the royal jewellers after having been washed from the Welsh river north of Dolgelley, worked years ago by the natives, but which now does not yield enough to make it profitable. It is the gift of Pritchard Morgan, who first discovered gold there and who gave a similar ring to Queen Mary when she was married.

The process of arranging the Princess' wedding dress and trousseau is most elaborate. Silk for the gown is being woven on a handloom by a former soldier from cocoons brought from Italy for the occasion. It will be partly empire brocade, with a design of the rose, shamrock, thistle and other emblems of other parts of the Empire. A good deal of gold and silver will be interwoven to give the texture of those figures. The gown will be covered with the wonderful old English point lace worn by Queen Mary at her wedding.

Waves on Hand France.

The Princess is receiving numerous presents from the lace and hosiery trades of Nottingham, which are showing her a wide range of samples from which to make her selections. She is choosing her stockings in white, black and "nigger" brown. Her underwear will be of pure silk and a mixture of silk and the finest wool. All those articles are being woven on old-fashioned hand frames still used for the finest of such goods here.

The Princess has also accepted a hand-plaited straw hat from a famous Luton firm, which gave a similar one to Queen Mary for her wedding. It will be of the finest Dunstable straw. The women, who plaited the Queen's hat, are dead, but a survivor of the old hand-plaiters has been found and she is now at work.

ODESSA.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Caton, Toronto, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Caton last week.—B. G. Hamm has purchased the stone terrace on Main street from Sidney Silver.—The first of a series of social dances to be given every two weeks was held last Friday night in the Town Hall. The music was furnished by the Enterprise Orchestra, and dainty refreshments were served at the midnight lunch.—After putting a great deal of work and a great many barrels of water on the rink started on Centre street, the boys decided to make one on the dam across the road from the former one, where the ice is ready.—Mrs. Elgin Parrott, who has been in the Kingston General Hospital for a short time, has returned to her home.—Miss Stella Graham has resigned her position at W. R. Lake's, and expects to leave for Toronto in the near future.—Mrs. William Calder and Mrs. Fred Caton, who have been quite ill for the past two weeks, are improving.—Quite a number of relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foster met at their home for a surprise party last Friday night, and a very enjoyable evening was spent with music and cards. Mr. and Mrs. Foster put forth every effort to have their friends have a pleasant time.—The many friends of Karl L. Dunyes congratulate him on his success in being one of the winners in the proficiency competition in the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Guelph, which entitles him to obtain agricultural tuition there.

YOUR TEETH.

DEAD NERVES.

By Rea Proctor McGee, D.D.S., M.D., Editor "Oral Hygiene"

We don't really mean dead nerves when we say it—what we do mean is a tooth pulp that has had its circulation stopped. A pulp is a little soft connective tissue with blood vessels and nerve fibres that is found inside the tooth and is necessary to the life of the tooth.

The pulps are very sensitive and delicate. If they are exposed they die; in fact they die sometimes when they are not exposed. But they die without actual exposure have been irritated by tooth decay or improper use or injury, so that the pulp swells inside its bony case and chokes itself. The tooth pulp could not get much more irritation if it had room to swell, but in its little cavity in the tooth there is no room. As soon as the pulp is irritated enough to swell ever so little, the pressure injures the incoming of the arterial blood and the escape of the venous blood and then the circulation stops and decomposition begins.

It is very unfortunate to have the pulp in a tooth die.

It is true that many times the dead pulp is successfully removed and the canal artificially filled so that the tooth remains useful for a long period, but many pulpless teeth abscess. The cleansing and filling of a tooth canal is a very difficult and skillful operation. Why not take such good care of the teeth and mouth that you will not take chances on having infection from abscessed teeth?

By keeping the teeth clean and having small cavities filled at once the long, tedious and sometimes painful operation can be avoided. Sound teeth in good position and with live healthy nerves do not give trouble; they do their work willingly.

A man rushed into a tobacconist's shop in a great hurry. "This cigar you sold me," he said, "it's simply frightful." "Well, you needn't complain," said the tobacconist. "You've only got one. I've got thousands of the beastly things."

Listen!

Have you heard about Peps? Peps is a scientific preparation put up in pastille form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds, chest and throat troubles.

Peps contain certain medicinal ingredients, which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapor, and are breathed deep into the passages to the lungs. On their journey they soothe the irritated and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate walls of the air passages, and finally give relief and healing to the lungs.

In a word while Peps quiet an old cold get to the lungs and air passages, these Peps bring relief there direct, and at once commence healing.

HOCKEY.

Last Wednesday the N. C. I. hockey team lost the Eastern Sub-Group Championship to the Belleville High School team by a total score of 7 to 6. The school team certainly deserves the support of the town in their future games, as they have a team that will show up well in the future. This game was fast from the very start, and the B. H. S. team scored four goals in a very short time. Not to be daunted the local school team made things so fast the rest of the game that B. H. S. were held scoreless to the end. Through the star work of Douglas, and his great spirit of "come on, boys, we will get them," which put backbone into our forwards, they were able to score enough to win the game, and as well to give the B. H. S. team a scare.

OUR NEW WARDEN.

Major Johnston Hannah, Reeve of Camden, was elected Warden of the County of Lennox and Addington at the first meeting held at the Council Chambers on Tuesday. Warden Hannah has always taken a very prominent part in municipal matters in Camden, having served at the Council Board since 1915, and for the past four years has been Reeve. He has farmed all his life and is now in command of C. Company, 47th Battalion, Frontenac Regiment.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Oray Lee.

Death occurred on Sunday morning, Jan. 22nd, 1922, and claimed one of the oldest pioneers of Yarker, in the person of Mr. Oray Lee, at the good old age of 88 years, 5 months and 20 days. In religion he was a Methodist, and belonged to that church for sixty years. For a good many years he was class leader. He was always a faithful attendant at church and prayer meeting as long as he was able to go, and at a prayer meeting held at his home a few weeks ago, he was not able to stand and testify, but sat in his chair and testified and prayed. A few days before he passed away he got wonderfully blest and was happy, said he was leaning on Jesus. He leaves to mourn his loss a loving wife and six children, all of whom were at his bedside during his sickness and did all that loving hands could do. He has twelve grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. In politics he was a Conservative and voted at the election held in December. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him. The funeral service was held on Tuesday in the Methodist Church by Rev. Mr. Down and Rev. Mr. Thomas.

A BROKEN ARM

If you break your arm you do not throw it away; you get it set, of course. Why not have broken castings welded. It is money well saved as new ones cost much more. Bring them in to us and we will weld them for you and save time waiting for new repairs.

We have a fully equipped machine shop and prepared to do all repairing on farm machinery and automobiles. Agents for Deering and McCormick machinery, cutters, bogsleds, steel roofing, Fairbanks Morse lighting plants.

Kindly take notice that we have a special sale on the forty light plant job at present. Price $250.00. Now is your time to buy.

Give us a call.

CUSTOM HATCHING.

The poultry business leads all other branches on the farm as a profit maker. Just think of over 90 tons of dressed poultry being sold in our town on only 2 days last fall at very high prices. This amount represents less than two-thirds of the poultry sold in this county last year. Then when you take into account the eggs, which amounted to over $100,000.00, grand total of $225,000. Are you getting your share of this great money making industry. If not, start in now.

In order to help You get started right, Tue M. B. Mills Co. will do custom hatching at reasonable rates. We will also take orders for Day-old chicks of the popular breeds.

We are agents for the best Incubators made, the celebrated Buckeye Hot Water machine; also best Brooders. Can give clear instructions with the machines running before your eyes, so anyone can easily learn to handle them. Remember the most important thing is to have your chicks hatched early when you can get them in good numbers, not waiting in disappointment for the chickens to hatch. Get your orders in now and be ready. We buy and sell poultry any day the year round.

Dust-Heap Discovery.

Until recently the dust discharged from blast factories was looked upon as useless refuse, and was discarded as such. To-day it is one of the most productive sources of a much-needed chemical.

During the war Mr. Kenneth M. Chapere, a distinguished chemist, sought a new means of securing potash, the supply of which had been cut off from Germany. He began to experiment with the dust from blast-furnaces, and discovered a process by which potash could be manufactured from it.

Later he discovered a chlorine process which increased the output of permanganate of potash by fifty per cent.

Before the war we relied upon persons abroad, who made potash and exported it to us.

Beds Made From Fruit.

The coco-nut is more useful than any other fruit in the world, for every part of it can be utilized; nothing need be wasted.

The actual nut, in addition to being good to eat, is invaluable for flavoring purposes. Also, it contains a large amount of oil which is used extensively in making soap. The milk is a favorite drink in the tropics, for it quenches the thirst better than any other liquid.

The inside of the husk is made into fibre and yarn, which is used for stuffing mattresses and making brushes.

The coco-nut palm tree rises to a height of about 80 feet, and grows chiefly in Ceylon. From that country 14,000,000 nuts are exported every year.

Corns disappear when treated with Holloway's Corn Remover without leaving a scar.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT. AIR

BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

A new oil lamp that gives an absolutely brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been perfected by the Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, F. N. Johnson, 246 Craig St., W., Montreal, is offering to introduce a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also, ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month. 2c

YARKER.

The young people of this village have a good skating rink, and have organized a hockey team, which have played several games and came off victorious.—The C. N. R. ice house is being filled with ice from Trenton. It takes about 30 carloads to fill it.—Many are filling their ice houses from the river ice, which is very good this year.—Cora Lee is moving in the house lately vacated by W. Silver.—There is no scarcity of wood in this town this winter; nearly everybody has a good supply in.—A. D. Leonard and R. Dolby took in the winter carnival at Ottawa this week.—George Jaynes has returned from Kingston General Hospital, after having one of his fingers amputated.—D. Moore has left for the west, to visit his parents for a month. He is being relieved at the station by H. Galbraith.—Mr. Jamieson is on the sick list.—A. Holland is visiting relatives in Ottawa for a few days.—Harold Freeman has a new boarder.

On January 27th a very enjoyable evening was spent at the I.O.O.F. Lodge rooms, when the members of Rapid Lodge, No. 467, Yarker, invited their wives, sweethearts and friends to celebrate their first anniversary and to witness the installation in open lodge of the officers for the ensuing year by the D.D.G.M., Bro. A. Peters, and suite, of Napanee District:—

Bro. W. M. Wilson, I.P.G.
Bro. G. H. Deare, N.G.
Bro. A. J. Warner, V.G.
Bro. E. Boulton, Rec. Sec.
Bro. E. K. Walker, Fin. Sec.
Bro. N. Boyce, Treas.
Bro. A. Riddle, Warden.
Bro. R. Hamilton, Conductor.
Bro. Ray Cowdy, Chaplain.
Bro. Roy Freeman, R.S.N.G.
Bro. Ira Salisbury, L.S.N.G.
Bro. E. D. Shangraw, R.S.V.G.
Bro. O. C. Shangraw, L.S.V.G.
Bro. W. D. Wilson, R.S.S.
Bro. W. C. Richardson, L.S.S.
Bro. E. Alton, I.G.
Bro. G. Woodhouse, O.G.

D.D.G.M. Bro. A. Peters then presented P.G. Bro. A. E. Holland with a Veteran's Jewel, and P.G. Bro. E. K. Walker read a short address, to which Bro. Holland replied in a few well chosen words, thanking the officers and brethern for their kindness, and assured them that the 25 years spent in Oddfellowship had been a pleasure and benefit to him, and closed his remarks by wishing Rapid Lodge in particular and Oddfellowship in general every success.

Short speeches were then made by Bros. M. Bradford, D.D.G.M. Kingston District, and Clark Walker, P.D.D.G.M.; both of Athena Lodge, Harrowsmith; Hugh W. Wagar, P.D.D.G.M., and E. Smith both of Red Rose Lodge, Enterprise; Blake Switzer, D.D.G.M., of Odessa Lodge, and many others.

After the good things provided by the ladies, to whom much credit for the evening's success must be given, had been done ample justice to, the installation ceremonies were brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

The remainder of the evening, until midnight, was spent in dancing in the assembly hall.

PLEASANT VALLEY.

Mrs. Galt spent a couple of weeks at Mr. E. P. Smith's.—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Robertson and Bobbie called Tuesday evening at Mr. W. R. Pringle's. — Mr. and Mrs. E. CURLING.

Napanee-Detroit.

The Napanee curlers were the winners of the games played with the Detroit curlers at the local rink on Tuesday afternoon and evening by a small score. The visiting curlers arrived in town on Tuesday morning, and after a drive around town, they were taken to the home of Mr. W. A. Daly for luncheon. After the afternoon games the visitors were entertained at dinner by Mr. J. W. Robinson. In the evening after the games the curlers were entertained at the home of Mr. W. C. Smith and left for home at midnight. Among the players on the visiting teams was Mr. R. G. H. Travers, who was Manager of the Royal Bank in Napanee for a number of years before being moved to Walkerville.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Edward Symonds.

Daughter of the late Reuben Babcock, passed away in Toronto, on Friday, January 27th, having contracted sleeping sickness. The remains were brought to Napanee Saturday noon, accompanied by her two sons and daughter, and their families. The funeral service was held at the home of the deceased on Sunday, at 2.30 p.m., conducted by Ensign Rix, of the Salvation Army. Mrs. Symonds was well known among the residents of Napanee, living with her aged father until a few weeks ago, when owing to failing health, she went to stay with her daughter at Orangeville, returning to Napanee at the illness and death of her father. It was on her return to Orangeville that she was stricken with sickness and died at the home of her son in Toronto. A memorial service was held in the Salvation Army Hall on Sunday evening. Mrs. Symonds was a member of the local corps, and will be sadly missed.

Mrs. Elizabeth Smith.

Death visited the home of Mrs. Alice Gray, Ardoch, at an early hour Friday morning, January 20th, 1922, and claimed her aged mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, who was in her 76th year. The deceased had been in failing health for the past few months, due to old age infirmities, but the immediate cause of her demise was a paralytic stroke.

The late Mrs. Smith, whose maiden name was Elizabeth Tyner, was born in Tamworth and wed to Charles Smith. Fifty-four years ago they moved to this place, braving the numerous hardships of a pioneer's life. Kind deeds and actions won for them many friends, who now sadly miss the faces of this venerable couple, Mr. Smith having passed to his eternal reward eight years ago.

Six children were born of this union, all of whom survive. They are Mrs. George Hamilton, Mrs. Alice Gray, John and Charles, all of Ardoch, and Mrs. George Young and Mrs. John Gray, of Merrickville and Harlowe, respectively. Besides, the late Mrs. Smith leaves two brothers, Thomas, of Beaver Falls, N.Y., and John, of Tamworth.

In Anglican Church circles the deceased will be greatly missed, as she was a diligent and faithful worker.

The funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at St. John's Church, Ardoch, the Rev. J. Cantrell, Sharbot Lake, officiating. The remains, borne by her two sons, John and Charles, two sons-in-law, George Hamilton and John Gray, and two grandsons, Roy Hamilton and Samuel Gray, were then placed in their last resting place in the family plot in the Anglican cemetery.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the sorrowing relatives.

Mrs. Robert Colville.

Annie McNeill, beloved wife of Robert Colville, of Bath, passed away to her eternal reward, after an illness of nearly two years, on January 28th, 1922. She was born in Ireland fifty-eight years ago, and she leaves behind to mourn her loss, her husband and two sons, Samuel and Fred; also two brothers, W. J. McNeill, of Cohoes, N.Y., and Samuel, of Toronto; and three sisters, Mrs. Alex. Slater, Erie, Pa., and Mrs. Joseph Fuller, Kingston, Ont., and Mrs. James McTaggart, Napanee, Ont.

THE REAL CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT.

The maid had been using surreptitiously the bath tub of her employer, an elderly bishop. He was a bachelor, very fastidious about his toilet, and desired the exclusive use of his tub.

He reprimanded the maid with much indignation:

"What distresses me most, Mary, is that you have done this behind my back."

SWITZERVILLE.

Who could remain in seclusion during such beautiful weather, when the sun smiles down so broadly upon the snow-clad earth and embraces it with its warm rays? Switzerville inhabitants have been confined behind closed doors, and showing their love for the home fireside, during blustery January, but that is impossible these fine days, and they are again coming out to view the outside world.—Many in this vicinity are busy hauling logs, drawing ice, and drawing sand.—We are pleased to see Mrs. M. N. Empey sufficiently recovered to take her place in our midst again, after a lengthy illness.—The Mission Band did not meet last month, owing to the absence of Mrs. C. B. Brethen, who is making an extended visit in Toronto. —Mr. Huff and family have moved from this neighborhood to continue farming near Sillsville.—The church service on Sunday was well attended. On account of the stormy weather there have only been two services held since the beginning of the new year.—The monthly meeting of the W. M. NAPANEE WILL GET THE BEARD MURDER TRIAL

ERWOOD UPTON IN MACHINE SHOP AT "PEN" AND HIS BROTHER IN KITCHEN.

The Beaver has been informed on reliable authority that the Beard murder trial would be heard at Napanee. Justice Riddell stated that he would consent to have the trial held in Kingston if all parties were agreed, but it is understood that Napanee will get the trial. Application was made for a postponement in view of the publication of the confessions of the Upton brothers, but Justice Riddell would not agree to the postponement.

The Upton boys are in good health and have been placed at work at the Portsmouth penitentiary. Erwood, who is an expert machinist, is employed in the machine shop, and Sherwood has been given work in the kitchen.

ARSON CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Michael Maker, an Assyrian, and Roy Wagar, were committed for trial, last Friday, charged with conspiring to commit an indictable offence, that of arson. The men will likely come up for trial at the sessions of the Supreme Court, to be held on February 21st, at the same time as the Beard murder case. Magistrate Rankin presided at the preliminary hearing, and the accused were not asked to plead.

It is alleged that Maker, who is proprietor of the Strand Theatre in Napanee, offered Wagar and another man named Thomas W. Walker, a sum of money to burn down the Wonderland Theatre, which is Maker's opposition theatre in the town. While the plans were laid, it is alleged, for the burning of the theatre, the burning did not take place. A can of gasoline and a bundle of old films were produced at the hearing and identified by witnesses as material given by Maker to the men to start the fire. Wagar originally belonged to Napanee, but for some time past has been living in Detroit, and just recently came back to Napanee.

I'LL SAVE YOU MONEY ON AN ENGINE

No need to run to town every time you need "chores" Gilson Grinder soon pays for itself. Handles all kinds of feed.

The Gilson "Wizard" is the biggest selling line of farm engines in Canada. That's because they give service and VALUE.

The Gilson burns kerosene (coal oil), and mighty little of that! Throttle-governed. Built-in magneto. Easy to start—winter or summer.

There's a 1¾, 3½, 6 and 10 h.p., and I'll challenge anyone to show an engine with a more generous surplus of power over rating.

Gilson took the lead in forcing down prices—at a big reduction as a result—and now offer more engine for the money than anybody I know of.

Don't use your hook for work an engine can do better. Get my low prices at once. If you like I'll demonstrate on your farm free. Give you 30 days' free trial. And I can make terms to suit.

Gilson's riveted saw frame is a winner. Saw up your own firewood—odd jobs, etc.—or make money sawing for your neighbors. Your boy can run the outfit—it will soon pay for itself. Get my proposition.

CUSTOM HATCHING.
The poultry business leads all other branches on the farm as a profit maker. Just think of over 90 tons of dressed poultry being sold in our county in only 5 days last fall at very high prices. This amount represents less than two-thirds of the poultry sold in this county last year. Then when you take into account the eggs, which amounted to over $100,000, a grand total of $225,000. Are you getting your share of this great money making industry. If not, start in now.
In order to help you get started right, The M. B. Mills Co. will do custom hatching at reduced rates. We will also take orders for Day-old chicks of the popular breeds.
We are agents for the best Incubators made, the celebrated Buckeye Red Wing machines; also best Hovers. Can give clear instructions with the machines running before your eyes, so anybody can easily learn to handle them. Remember the most important thing is to have your chicks hatched early, when you want them in good numbers, not waiting in disappointment for the clucking hens. Get your orders in now and be ready. We buy and sell poultry any day the year round.

HOCKEY.

Napanee 8, Belleville 3.

One of the best hockey matches played at the Napanee Arena this year was that of the Napanee-C. T. R. Belleville game on Friday evening last. A fairly large crowd was in attendance, and all present were greatly pleased with the brand of hockey played by both teams. It is not our intention to single out any particular player, but it is due Huffman to say that he played a brilliant game at centre, and was ably supported by Caldwell, Vanalstine and the Johnston boys on the wings; the defence, Ivan Spencer, and Huffman in goal were also at their best and deserved the well-earned victory. The locals played the game from the minute the gong sounded, back-checked closely and showed clever stick-handling. The Belleville team were pretty fast, but were too closely watched to be effective. The first period ended 4-0 in favor of Napanee, the second period 6-2, and the third period 8-3.

The brand of hockey being played by the locals is certainly deserving of better attendance, and as the Arena is very comfortably appointed for spectators, hockey lovers have no excuse. Hockey is a great game and the local team should certainly be given better support.

Gibbards 8, Canadiens 7.

Gibbards and Canadiens came together at the Arena again on Monday evening in a scheduled game of hockey in the Town League, and it surely was a great game in the last period. The first period ended 4-0 in favor of Gibbards, and the second period 5-1. Canadiens came on the ice in the last period and simply skated away from Gibbard, netting four goals and tieing the score in a few minutes. Excitement ran high among the handful of spectators. Gibbards scored again and Canadiens evened up, 6 all. The factory boys came right back with another and Canadiens did likewise, 7 all. With a little over a minute to play Gibbards put in the goal that won the game. The last period was a hair-raiser, and alone was well worth the price of admission. Both teams played good hockey, but the Canadiens did not seem to waken up until the last period and perhaps Gibbards went a little stale owing to their 5-1 lead. However, the Canadiens scored 6 goals to their opponents 3 in the final period but could not pull over a win.

THE DOMINION BANK HAS SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

STRONG IN ASSETS.

A striking feature of the Annual Statement of the Dominion Bank just issued is the strength indicated in respect to the Institution's assets.

In immediately available assets the Bank has strengthened its holdings of Dominion and Provincial Government Bonds during the year from $5,106,158, to $13,971,201, an increase of $8,865,043. Total immediately available assets stand at $60,190,667, which bears the substantial proportion of more than 51 per cent to its liabilities to the public. Cash assets alone at $30,421,750, are equal to about 26 per cent. of the liabilities to the public. The Bank's total assets have a value of $131,335,942.

Substantial Profits.

Net profits amounted to $1,016,262. In view of prevailing conditions this is a decidedly favourable showing, for although the net profits were less by $172,000 than those of 1920, it is remembered that those for that year were the largest in the Bank's history.

Shareholders received their usual dividend of 12 per cent and bonus of 1 per cent. for which distribution $760,000 was required. The amount carried forward to Profit and Loss Account was $715,480. The Reserve Fund stands at $7,000,000, or $1,000,000 in excess of Paid Up Capital.

Deposits.

Although interest bearing deposits at $80,786,284 are less by $4,103,155 than they were at the end of 1920, they are, on the other hand, in excess of those of two years ago by $6,500,000. Deposits not bearing interest stand at $18,018,016, a decrease of $2,033,800. Total Deposits are $98,804,309.

Loans.

In common with other Banks, the Dominion Bank has experienced some decrease in business as a result of the country's general contraction in trade. The decrease, however, is slight. Current loans, for example declined by only $2,506,043, while the aggregate decrease for all the Canadian Banks, according to the figures for the twelve months ended November was $148,000,000.

The total assets stand at $131,335,942.

The Bank's affairs have been thoroughly audited as usual on behalf of the Shareholders by Messrs. G. T. Clarkson, and R. J. Dilworth of the firm of Clarkson, Gordon & Dilworth, Chartered Accountants, Toronto.

Spare the children from suffering from worms by using Miller's Worm Powders, a most effective vermifuge with which to combat these insidious foes of the young and helpless. It is an excellent worm destroyer, and when its qualities become known in a household no other will be used. The medicine acts by itself, requiring no purgative to assist it, and so thoroughly that nothing more is desired.

DENBIGH.

The Municipal Council for Denbigh, Abinger and Ashby for 1922 met on the 9th inst., and organized for business. A by-law was passed to appoint Municipal officers required. P. Stein was re-appointed Clerk, and entered on the 36th year of his office as such. Dr. J. Adams was re-appointed Medical Health Officer, and H. Glaeser a member of the local Board of Health. Dr. Adams and Ed. W. Petsold were appointed Auditors of the Treasurer's books. The appointment of an Assessor and other officers was left until the next meeting. A grant of $15.00 was made to the Kingston General Hospital, and a grant of $5.00 to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.—Mr. George Fritsch, of Renfrew, who enjoyed a few weeks visiting his parents and other relatives here at his old home, has returned to town.—Mr. Joseph Adams, of Kingston, who was also for a few weeks a welcome guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Jos. Adams, also left again for the city.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marquardt, of Hazlewood Lake, last week paid a visit to a few of their many relatives and friends here.—Mr. Fred Chatsen, of Sudbury, also a former citizen of Denbigh, is paying an extended visit to his mother, Mrs. F. Chatson, and other relatives here.—Mrs. Chas. Both is away on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. R. Jackson, at Hinchinbrook. — Mr. F. Rodgers, Kreve, is away in Napanee this week attending the County Council meeting.—Most of the farmers are busy drawing feed or fire wood, and some laying in a supply of ice.

RHEUMATISM

LUMBAGO NEURITIS SCIATICA vs. T.R.C.'s

Have you given up? Have you resigned yourself to that cold, gnawing pain that nothing seems to cure? Do you think because you can't get to Hot Springs or take some expensive treatment that you have no other alternative? We have had cases considered hopeless, tried everything, health resorts, etc., strictly, with found recovery in using T. R. C.'s. Templeton's Rheumatic Compound. We have thousands of letters that prove beyond doubt T.R.C.'s to be the most practical and successful Rheumatic remedy on the market to-day. 50 doses, $1.00 per box. SHANNON—DWYER.

St. James' Chapel, Kingston, was the scene of a very quiet but pretty wedding at 7 a.m., Monday, January 30th, 1922, when Miss Mary Dwyer, graduate nurse of St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, became the bride of Frank J. Shannon, of Read, Ont.

The bride looked charming in a navy tricotine suit with white crepe-de-chene blouse with Irish crochet collars, and smart pearl grey satin hat.

The young couple were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Frances Dwyer, of Napanee, who wore a blue suit with sable fur and rose dawntyna hat, and Jack Farrell, a friend of the groom.

The wedding party breakfasted at the Frontenac hotel and left on the 8.45 train en route for Rochester, where they will visit the bride's brother.

The many friends of both the bride and groom wish them bon voyage through life.

CONCERTINA BANDS.

They Are Popular In Part of England.

Sometimes little known even among the bulk of their own townsfolk, the concertina bands of the North of England are one of the less popular outlets for that genuine love of music which is so real a part of so many Lancashiremen and Yorkshiremen.

Heckmondwike, Halifax, Ashton, Mexborough, Oldham, Bury, Luddenfort, Manchester are some of the towns where the concertina outrivals 'cello, euphonium, flute, or any other instrument in many a miner's or cotton-spinner's or woollen-worker's regard, and whose bands have won admiration.

Playing precisely the same music as brass bands—operatic selections, overtures, dance music—with players referred to as solo "cornet," "horn," "euphonium," and "trombone," a band commonly consists of 24 players under a professional conductor who often coaches brass bands also.

The concertinas are in four pitches —treble, tenor, baritone and bass—the smaller ones about nine inches and the largest two feet to three feet in diameter.

Beautifully made with ebony woodwork, silver-plated keys and fittings, the price to-day of the best instruments used by the bands is from $100 to $150 each.

Capable of delicate gradations of tone, a high treble phrase reminiful of the oboe and next a sonorous baritone chord swelling like a grand organ, the playing by a full band of "Il Trovatore," "William Tell," or "Martana" (very popular these) is a great delight to the enthusiasts.

Occasionally the bands play for dancing, both in the parks and at "socials." Many a house-party and picnic is incomplete without Tom's concertina or Will's quartette party.

Band practice brings together boys of 11 or 12 or old men of 60—players for 20 or 30 years. Twelve months under a good tutor will qualify an intelligent youth for the band. Nimble fingers with tips not too broad and nails fairly short are advantages for playing treble.

Some bands play seated, the instruments on the knee; others stand with the heavier concertinas supported with straps round the neck.

A championship contest—another contest is, at the moment, the ambition of northern bandsmen—finds the players without coats, perspiring joyfully.

A Curious Mountain.

One of the most remarkable geological freaks in Mexico is a mountain situated near Pachuca, which presents the appearance at a distance of being covered with spikes. The sides of the mountain are closely studded with stone columns or palisades. These columns are five to twelve feet long and as large around as an average man's body. It is a remarkable uplift of nature which has the appearance, however, of being the handiwork of human beings. One side of the mountain is almost perpendicular, and the stone columns protrude from the surface at right angles, forming an impressive picture. Pachuca is one of the most noted mining districts in Mexico, and it is said by geologists that this remarkable spiked mountain is out of keeping with the remainder of the formation of the mineralized region. The stone is as hard as flint, and has withstood the elements for ages. The spikes form a natural battlement that makes the mountain appear from a distance like some ancient fort. The mines of the Pachuca district, are situated not far from this wonderful freak of nature, but the formation encountered in their respective underground workings is said to be of an entirely different kind from that of the palisade.

Marine Life.

A couple of years ago a volcano in Mount Mauna Loa, Hawaii, was in violent eruption, and the molten lava poured down the mountain side into the water. It proved fatal to many species of sea dwellers and they floated to the surface. People of the neighborhood detected several strangely-shaped species among the fishes, and rewarded them to Dr. David Starr Jordan, chancellor emeritus of Leland Stanford Junior University, California, who is an expert on things piscatorial, with the result that six new species were discovered—an important contribution to the branch of natural science. The failure of the natives to make a report of their find, or their absolute ignorance, would have meant the sacrificing of this valuable knowledge.

There is no portion of the globe about which we know so little as that beneath the water's surface. Marine life offers a practically virgin territory for scientific exploration. It is entirely too vast to be left to the handful of scientists in the world specially equipped for this study. But efforts to enlist the co-operation of the public in marine life investigations have not produced very satisfactory results—not least in so far as experiments in Canada go.

Bear Island's History.

Midway between Norway and Spitsbergen, Bear Island thrusts its head, known as Mount Misery, above the cold waters. The whole island, save for moss and lichens is almost destitute of vegetation. Long ago it was joined with the Spitsbergen archipelago; the continental shelf upon which the island rests shows a reversal valley descending to the north. Bear Island is the southernmost point of the Polar basin. Its position is 74 degrees 30 minutes north latitude and 19 degrees east longitude. It is 15 miles long and 7 miles wide. Its highest point is 1,535 feet above the sea. Bear Island is the most remote basin of the Polar basin.

ITALY'S VOLCANOES.

They Might Be Made a National Asset.

Italy and its geographic neighborhood comprise a volcanic area within which plutonic manifestations are by no means restricted to Vesuvius, Stromboli and Etna—the three "burning mountains" so conspicuously associated with the history of the Mediterranean.

Thus in Tuscany (north of Rome) there is a valley, south of the ancient Etruscan city of Volterra, where for a distance of thirty miles the landscape derives picturesqueness from many boiling springs and "puffing holes" that emit steam.

Geologists say that these puffing holes go down to great depths in granite strata where exceedingly high volcanic temperatures prevail. The springs of boiling water, from the same source, contain much boric acid, and for a century past they have yielded commercial supplies of that product in such quantity that a great deal has been available for export. An Italian engineer named Giachi conceived the idea of drilling deep holes in the vicinity of the springs, and thereby developing new ones. It was carried out very successfully; but it cost the unfortunate man his life. He fell into one of his artificial springs and was parboiled before he could be dragged out.

The scheme was developed by his successors, and very profitably, great quantities of the boric acid being sold to the French glass factories. It was then a much scarcer and more costly product than it is today. The simple means adopted for obtaining it was to evaporate the water in huge cauldrons, wood providing the requisite fuel.

Increasing scarcity of wood made the process too expensive, and in 1827 a Frenchman, Comte Francois de Larderel, hit upon the clever notion of using the steam from the puffing holes to furnish the heat, dispensing with fuel altogether. The water required for evaporation was drawn from the springs into immense pans of lead, beneath which the steam was conducted through pipes. Production thereupon jumped to more than 2,000 tons of boric acid a year. The industry brought into being a number of towns and villages in a region which a few years earlier had been uninhabited. Among the most important centers of it at the present time are the towns of Larderello, Serrazano and Lustignano.

A few years ago it occurred to the engineers in charge of this picturesque enterprise that steam from the puffing holes might be turned to profitable account for power purposes. Engines were installed, and there was much disappointment when it was found that the mineral salts contained in the vapor attacked the metal of the machinery so injuriously that it soon refused to operate.

This difficulty, however, was eventually overcome by the adoption of means whereby the vapor was first through a preliminary process of purification, the salts being removed from it. Turbine engines were installed, and now a first-class electrical plant is supplying factories and other towns with current, the power being derived wholly from steam of subterranean origin.

The steam being supplied to the turbines free of cost, the electric power, used for lighting and other purposes, is very cheap. In a country where coal is so scarce and dear as it is in Italy, such a source of inexpensive energy is highly appreciated.

To augment the supply of available steam, many deep borings have been made, thus creating artificial puffing holes. Eleven average borings yield power equal to that derivable from the burning of ten tons of coal per hour. Apparently the borings do not affect the degree at which the steam is delivered from the depths of the earth; and the quantity of steam, at an unvarying pressure, is not diminished as time goes, on.

Ancient Egyptians' Year.

The ancient Egyptians' year, from which ours is derived, had a perfectly natural beginning. It always commenced on the day when Sirius and the sun rose together. The temples of Egypt were really observatories, built to face this or that star as it rose. They were more or less elaborate, but all had as their fundamental plan a long, narrow passage down which the star's rays came, and a dark chamber at the far end, where the priest made the observation and where the image was kept. The Egyptians discovered that the star had an extra quarter of a day in it. They did it by noting that on some years Sirius and the sun rose almost together, while on others there was an appreciable difference in time, and that these changes repeated themselves every five years. They found the length of the year to be within eleven minutes of its true value, which was a remarkable thing to do with the primitive appliances they had at hand.

WIN This Real-Gasoline Auto for Boys and Girls $150.00 other Prizes SOLVE THIS PUZZLE

Each figure represents a letter. The number in each square indicates what letter of the alphabet it is. Thus for instance "A" would be represented by the figure 1, because it is the first letter of the alphabet. "B" would be indicated by the figure 2, because it is the second letter of the alphabet, "C" would be indicated by the figure 3, because it is the third letter in the alphabet, and so on to represent "Z" because "Z" is the twenty-sixth letter of the alphabet. Now get a pencil and paper, figure out what letter the number in each square stands for and when you have them so arranged then in their proper location, so as to spell out your answer to the puzzle, write it down in plain, but neat hand-writing and clearly, so that there can be no guess work as to what you mean. Be sure and do this and if you can solve it correctly, you may win this real Gasoline Driven Motor Car, or one of the other fine prizes.

Copy your answer upon a plain sheet of paper as neatly as you can, be sure and write your name and address very plainly, so that we can send the announcement of your answer count in the final awarding of prizes, if more than one is correct. Put your name and address in the upper right hand corner of the paper. If you prefer a letter or wish to send any information besides the answer to the puzzle you will be at liberty to do so, and we will write to you as soon as your answer is received and tell you if your solution is correct and also send you a complete illustrated prize list of the grand prizes that you can win.

Do you realize the risk you run riding in a crowded train or street-car without a Peps tablet in your mouth?

Every sneeze, every cough, fills the air you breathe with countless disease-germs that immediately make for any weak spot in your throat and chest. Be wise, always carry Peps, and occasionally let one of these germ-killing tablets dissolve in your mouth to ward off the infection. Then you will not be "full of cold" on the morrow, with the possibility of influenza, pleurisy or pneumonia advancing.

Just as you breathe in the germs that cause infectious throat and lung ailments, etc., so you must breathe in the soothing, germicidal Peps medicine to rout out the germs before they can cause serious trouble. Free from harmful drugs, Peps are the safest and best remedy for sudden colds and chills, grippe, sore throat, laryngitis, night-cough, hoarseness, wheeziness, bronchitis and chest weakness in old and young.

AUDITORS' REPORT TO SHAREHOLDERS

We have compared the above Balance Sheet with the books and accounts at the Chief Office of the Bank, and with the certified returns received from the Branches, and after checking the cash and verifying the securities at the Chief Office and certain of the principal Branches on December 31st, 1921, we certify that, in our opinion, the Balance Sheet exhibits a true and correct view of the state of the Bank's affairs, according to the best of our information, the explanations given to us and as shown by the books of the Bank.

In addition to the examinations mentioned, the cash and securities at the Chief Office and certain of the principal Branches were checked and verified by us at another time during the year and found to be in accord with the books of the Bank.

All information and explanations required have been given to us and all transactions of the Bank, which have come under our notice have, in our opinion, been within the powers of the Bank.

45th ANNUAL MEETING.

L. AND A. MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

The 45th annual meeting of the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company was held in the Council Chambers, at the Town Hall, Napanee, on Saturday afternoon last, a representative gathering being in attendance.

Mr. A. C. Parks, President, occupied the chair.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read, and on motion were approved.

Mr. W. Merle Sills presented the Auditors' Report, which showed that the Lennox and Addington Mutual is in a strong financial condition. There were 1000 policies in force on December 31st, 1921, covering an insurance of $2,196,385.00, and the total assets on the above date were $66,522.76. There was also an increase of cash on hand and in the bank during the year of $1,884.09, which is certainly a creditable showing. The genial secretary, Mr. W. R. Lett, was given words of praise by the speaker, for the very neat and correct manner in which the books are kept.

On motion the report of the Auditors was adopted.

Considerable discussion took place as to the insurance of automobiles, and cases were cited showing that, as a rule, the automobile is an undesirable risk.

On motion the retiring Directors, Messrs. M. N. Empey and A. Hartman, were unanimously re-elected.

On motion, the retiring Auditors, Messrs. Sid C. S. McKim and W. Merle Sills, were re-elected.

The matter of reducing the premium note was discussed pro and con, and it was decided to be much safer for the policyholders to let the premium note remain as it is. The argument that some agents use in regards to this premium note being larger than in their company is not a good one, as the larger premium note is much safer for the policyholder.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, held immediately after the annual meeting, Mr. A. C. Parks was re-elected President, and Mr. H. A. Baker as Vice-President.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. John Dawson.

There passed peacefully away at Kingston General Hospital, on January 19th, 1922, Mrs. John Dawson, after an illness of five weeks. Her maiden name was Delia Silver, youngest daughter of Edward Silver, and was born at Wilton thirty-two years ago. On January 22nd, 1907 she married John Dawson, and came to live at Fellows, where she lived until her death. Mrs. Dawson was loved by everyone, she had a kind disposition and a smile for everyone. Her funeral was on Sunday, January 22nd, in the 4th Concession Church. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband and three small children, Bruce, Violet and Helen; a father and mother, one sister, Mrs. John Shea, and one brother, Robert Silver. The sympathy of the whole community goes out to the sorrowing friends.

A Grateful Mother Speaks in Favor of Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets

Mrs. C. E. Earl, Toronto, says: I am pleased to inform you that our boy, Eddie, has been completely cured of bladder trouble through using Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets. He is now 14 years old and has not been able to retain his urine which caused us a great deal of worry and trouble. We tried different doctors and medicines but never received any help until your agent called and advised us to try Herb Tablets. After treating with them for a few weeks they have completely cured him. I would advise others who have children afflicted in a way to give them a trial. I will be glad to answer to explain his case more fully on request.

Should you or any of your children be afflicted in a similar way we are confident they would produce similar results. Don't fail to give them a trial.

THE COLUMBIAN PLYMOUTH ROCK.

You may have your sprightly Leghorns,
And your graceful Wyandottes,
Or any other breed I know
From feather-head to topknots;
Of all the birds to lay and pay,
They are "Johnnie on the spot"
The hen that lays is the hen that pays
'Tis the Columbian Plymouth Rocks.

There plumage so very beautiful,
Snow white, some striped with black,
If you should chance to own a pen,
We'll pat you on the back.
Exhibition and utility
Is just what you have got.
If you want the two combined in one,
You'll keep Columbian Plymouth Rocks.

Now I'm not writing these few lines
Any other breed to knock,
We each have our favorites,
I'll boost Columbian Rocks
Till I come to the old St. Peter,
Who wept at the crow of the cock;
I'll ask him then if the bird that crowed
Was a Columbian Plymouth Rock?

S. S. SMITH,
Yarker.

One In Every Twenty Is Dependent on Fisheries.

Vast Resources Potentially Able To Maintain Much Larger Portion of the Population.—Heavy Investment of Capital and Control is in Canadian Hands.

Approximately one hundred thousand people are engaged in the catching and processing of fish in Canada, and at least fifty thousand more are occupied in fish merchandizing. It is difficult to say how many would receive their means of livelihood indirectly from the industry, but it would not be an exaggeration to place the total, wholly or partly dependent on the fisheries for a living, at 400,000. On the basis of an eight million population this would mean that one in every twenty receives his or her maintenance from the industry—that is, five per cent of our total population.

This fact is quite astonishing in itself, but when it is considered that our fishery resources have only been lightly scratched, the tremendous possibilities of the situation are obvious. Could we but find an outlet for all the fish we may produce, there would be room for the employment at many times that number and millions might trace their livelihood to the humble fish.

The vital part the industry plays in our national economy cannot be ignored, and it is the object of National Fish Day—February 1st, to focus attention on it.

Of the one hundred thousand engaged in primary and secondary fishery operations, fully forty-five thousand are in Nova Scotia, and close to thirty thousand in British Columbia. While the Pacific province leads in the value of production, the industry is more vital to the province of Nova Scotia and seems to present greater possibilities. The salmon has been the mainstay of the western province, because of its wonderful food qualities and the high price it commands in the markets of the world. In the matter of quantity caught the humble cod of the Atlantic outstrips the British Columbia salmon which last year was also exceeded by the modest herring. Nova Scotia and British Columbia are the rivals for supremacy, but each of the other provinces contributes to the output of commercial fishes. Generally speaking, our interior waters contribute about one-tenth of the total output. In this connection it is of interest to point out that within our Dominion we have one-half the fresh water of the globe, so the possibilities of fresh-water fishing have not been reached by any means. The progress of man in extending northward and to-day we are securing supplies of whitefish, trout, etc., from the basin of the Mackenzie River. As transportation develops copious supplies farther northward will be accessible.

Another way of fixing the value of the industry is the capital invested. It is estimated between fifty and sixty millions, of which one half is in primary operations—that is vessels, boats, nets and fishing gear—and the balance is invested in canning and curing establishments ashore. There is an erroneous impression in certain sections that our fishing industry is controlled by foreign capital. Statistics furnish no justification for this view, although it would not be a bad thing if we could induce some millions of outside capital to contribute to the boosting of the industry. In 1920 there were eighty-six fish canning and curing concerns in Canada organized as joint stock companies. Bonds, stocks and other securities of these aggregated $25,951,881, of which $15,169,203 was held in Canada; $7,641,641 in the United States, and $3,139,613 in Great Britain.

To secure some idea of the various methods employed in fishing and the comparative importance of the different branches, the following is of interest: in 1919, 35,965 sail, row and gasolene boats were enraged, valued at $7,011,120. Sailing and gasolene vessels numbering 1,091 were valued at $5,243,785, and steam vessels, numbering 172 were valued at $1,449,565. Ten steam trawlers were in the service, valued at $1,075,000. The first item—sail, row and gasolene boats—represents the equipment of the inshore fisheries, while the others are equipment for offshore. The former employed 55,410 men, while only 8,708 fished offshore. So it will be seen that our fishing inshore is the most valuable in fact nearly three-quarters of our fish taken in Atlantic waters is secured within twelve miles of shore.

His Rheumatism Gone He Rejoices

Mr. Mike Karaim Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

Saskatchewan Man Who Suffered For Two Years Gives the Reason Why He Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Stoney Lake, Sask., January 30th (Special.)—"I suffered for two years from rheumatism but I am glad to tell you I am well again." In these words Mr. Mike Karaim, a respected resident of this place gives the reason why he recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to all his friends.

"I spent a lot of money on other medicines before I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills," Mr. Karaim continued. "I only used two boxes of them and now I feel fine."

Rheumatism is caused by Uric Acid in the blood. The natural way to treat it is to strengthen the kidneys so they will do their full work and strain all the Uric Acid out of the blood.

Dodd's Kidney Pills make strong healthy kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills have been in use in Canada for more than a quarter of a century. They have grown in popularity year by year because of the work they have done.

Ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

WINTER ECZEMA
'CHAPS' & COLD-SORES

KEEN wintry weather brings a host of skin troubles. Cold-sores, chapped hands, unsightly face-sores and blotches, become a source of discomfort and annoyance. To end the trouble and make your skin clear, healthy and flexible, give the face, arms and hands, a nightly dressing with pure herbal Zam-Buk.

Zam-Buk instantly soothes the smarting irritation, it kills disease germs, and quickly heals all soreness, roughness and chafing which, neglected, often develops into eczema or other chronic skin disease. Use also Zam-Buk Medicinal Soap and enjoy real skin health.

This was an obstinate case.

Mrs. Henry Amey, 42 Argyll Avenue, Toronto, says:—"My daughter's face and neck were a mass of eczema. Her doctor prescribed treatment for over two months, but to little avail. I was about to call in a skin specialist when I heard of Zam-Buk treatment. Rescuing other sufferers from this dread disease. So I got a box of Zam-Buk and a cake of Zam-Buk Medicinal Soap. In a few days these wrought a decided improvement. Day by day the sores gradually healed, and within a month my daughter's skin was thoroughly cleared of the terrible disease."

FREE SAMPLE BOXES of this great skin remedy! Send 1c. stamp (for return postage). Give name and date of paper, and address: Zam-Buk Co., Dupont St., Toronto. 50c. box, all dealers.

"Say Mother, this is Great!"

"I wonder if Frank is ill? I can't understand why we haven't heard from him."

"Don't worry, Mother, he's all right. He has just forgotten to write."

But Mother couldn't help worrying. No letter for ten days from her "boy" at College!

"Call him up right now," said Father—"just ask for the number. The landlady will get him to the 'phone. It's half-past eight and you'll get the evening rate on a Station-to-Station call."

In just six minutes Mother and son were having a heart-to-heart talk. Frank had written a week ago—but—had forgotten to post the letter!

"Well, what a relief," said Mother, as she turned from the telephone, "and to think how simple it was to set our minds at rest. I think I'll call him every week."

She does. Don't look forward to those happy few minutes, from week to week. The reduced evening rates on her Station-to-Station calls are so very low that, as Mother says, "it would be foolish to deny myself the pleasure."

Every evening Long Distance wires hum with voices bridging the gulf between home and the absent ones.

INTER-COUNTY LIVE STOCK JUDGING COMPETITION

OTTAWA WINTER FAIR, JANUARY 18th-19th, 1922.

This competition is conducted in order to encourage a deeper interest in live stock on the part of the young men in the Province. The young men must be under 26 years of age and three men constitute a team. The teams must be selected by the Agricultural Representatives from those who have attended a four to six weeks course in Agriculture, and who have never taken a regular course in an Agricultural College. Twelve teams took part in the Judging Competition at Ottawa Winter Fair this year. The members of the team which represented Lennox and Addington County were: Rockwell Parks, Napanee; Arthur Moore, Napanee R.R. 3, and Fred Jackson, Selby R.R. 1. The County standing of the team was third in the competition. The team standing in Heavy Horses was second; Beef Cattle, second; Sheep, second; Swine, first; Dairy Cattle, ninth. The individual prizes won were as follows:—Rockwell Parks, 1st in Beef Cattle, 3rd Dairy Cattle, 5th Swine; Arthur Moore, 4th in Swine, Fred Jackson, 5th in Heavy Horses, 5th Sheep. In individual standing, Rockwell Parks scored 845 points out of a possible score of 1000; Arthur Moore 667; Fred Jackson 640. Rockwell Parks stood second highest man in the entire competition of thirty-six contestants, and was only fourteen points behind the leading man. These young men made a creditable showing in the competition and the team average score was about 72 per cent. Rockwell Parks is especially to be congratulated on scoring 84½ per cent., and standing second high man in the competition.

In the Seed Judging Competition arranged for farmers' sons 20 years of age and under, Fred Jackson won second prize and Arthur Moore 10th prize.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT. AIR

BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, A. N. Johnson, 246 Craig St., West, Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

VALEDICTORY.

Mr. Chairman, members of the staff, pupils and friends of Deseronto Into the making of valedictories there still lives a blessed formula which unimpaired has been sacredly handed down from one student body to the succeeding one. Its product comes to us most, precise, so intellectual, so chill, I shall venture to depart from the typical valedictory and give you a brief account of the doings of the Deseronto High School while I attended it.

First I shall deal with its scholastic position in relation to the other high schools of the province. The Deseronto High School not only stands on equal basis with the other high schools, but it has gained a position of pre-eminence. To prove this, let us look at the results of the Departmental examinations. Last year all those who tried the Normal Entrance obtained it with honorary standing, while I am sure that no other high school had such brilliant success. Thus we see how Deseronto High School has entered into a field of scholastic distinction; but now comes the question, what has made the school thus? The answer is, the active co-operation of both teachers and students.

Now let us look at the teachers, each strong in his or her department and endowed with personalities particularly adapted to their work. In them we found not only able instructors and inspirational leaders, but kindly friends always willing to assist us in the difficulties presented by our course. Memories of their cheerfulness and ready humour on all occasions are woven into the warp and woof of my school recollections; while their true character exercised a great influence. Mention has already been made of the students in the results of the Departmental examinations. I shall now deal with the work taken up in the school.

It is unnecessary for me to dwell on the value of our studies. From Literature we learned to appreciate the beauty of nature and to grasp and weigh the thoughts of others; above all it developed our imaginative powers. Our Mathematics developed in us a fair degree of accuracy, while our Science imparted the habit of forming independent conclusions. In the same manner I might summarize the value of the rest of the studies, but it is rather of the other influences which were brought to bear upon us during those years that I wish to speak of this evening. These influences were the Literary Society, and the inter-school athletics. It is an established fact that mere mental development even when coupled with proper physical improvements falls far short of the ideal in the results of a high school course. The function of these activities is therefore to complete the ideal high school course. It is by these means that the proper outlook on life is created and the deep and lasting principles of conduct are formed. Of these activities we had plenty in our high school. The Literary Society every other Friday, the baseball and basketball games between Napanee and Deseronto were sources of real inspiration. Thus, in my opinion, the pupil who has taken an active interest in these, together with the necessary application to his work, is the one who has benefitted to the fullest extent from his course.

As a conclusion let me say a word to the students. We all realize that the course is hard and every student experiences joys and sorrows, trials and achievements, failures and successes. But in all these "ups and downs" keen in mind the words of the poet and seek comfort from them.

"The heights of great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight;
But they while their companions slept
Were toiling upward in the night".

The maintenance of the good name of your school depends upon you who are now passing through it. You owe it to those who have gone before you to uphold it and to hand it on to the succeeding student body, that we may apply to Deseronto the immortal words of Henry Newbolt:—

This is the word that year by year,
While in her place the school is set,
Every one of her sons must hear
And none that hears it dare forget.
And they all with a joyful mind,
Bear through life like a torching flame,
And falling, fling to the host behind,
"Play up, play up, and play the game."

But now the time to say "Farewell" has come. Let me express in a few measure words my heartfelt thanks for the training I have received. I wish the staff and students the joys of happiness and success. I shall conclude with the words of the poet:

"Farewell", a word that must be and has been,
A sound which makes us linger yet—
"farewell".

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that they better them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a blood purifier, and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the body, thus assisting Nature in building and restoring normal conditions.

Deseronto Ice Races.

At the ice races at Deseronto on Wednesday afternoon last, no less than eighteen horses started and a large number of spectators followed the three events closely. The time made was slow on account of the "half mile" track being, it was said, a long one. The heats were mile heats. Indian Maid, owned by H. Caus, of Shannonville, won the green race in three straight heats with W. Dowling's Lady Spring, second. In the 2.25 class, Maud Murphy, owned by Yorke, of Marlbank, won in three straights, with Toddle On (Keller, Napanee), second, and Mildred Harvester, De Benson, of Belleville, third. Geo. Plattford, of Prince Edward, drove the winning mare in the 2.40 class with Bobby Patch, owned by Wesley Reid, second. Each animal won two heats and in the fifth heat, the Plattford mare won. Mr. J. Johnson, Adolphustown, was the starter, and Mr. Geo. Powell, of Belleville, was one of the judges.

Important Decision by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board at Napanee.

On Friday afternoon, at the Campbell House, Napanee, there was a meeting of the Ontario Railway Board, composed of the chairman, Mr. Intyre, K.C., and Mr. Francis Dagger, telephone expert, to hear and determine the application of Fred A. Perry asking permission to parallel the lines of the Ernestown Rural Telephone Company in certain districts.

After hearing the directors, officers and about thirty shareholders, and their solicitor, Mr. J. E. Madden, and Mr. Perry on his own behalf, it was decided that Mr. Perry should and must be allowed to give service to his subscribers in this territory even if it does affect the Rural Company's business. This is a very important decision as we understand Mr. Perry has been petitioned by a great number of parties scattered all through the territory partly covered by the Ernestown Rural Company, and as Mr. Perry is very progressive it is quite hard to say what steps may be taken by him later.

RIFLE SHOOTING N. C. I. CADET CORPS.

Newspaper Advertising.

Newspaper advertising is the cheapest channel of communication ever established by man. A thousand letters with one-cent stamps will easily cost $15 to circulate and not one envelope in 10 will be opened, because the very postage is an invitation to the waste basket. If there was anything cheaper, rest assured that the greatest merchants in America would not spend individually sums ranging up to half a million dollars and more a year in newspaper advertising. Test it for yourself.—Oshawa Telegram.

YOUR TEETH.

IRREGULAR TEETH.

By Rea Proctor McGee, D.D.S., M.D., Editor "Oral Hygiene"

When the teeth come into their natural position in the mouth there is seldom any disturbance during the process of eruption.

Teeth that are irregular require much more effort on the part of nature than those that are normal.

It is like the ninety and nine that went not astray. The good sheep caused no trouble and walked right into the fold, but the one irregular one kept the shepherd out all night in the wet when he should have been asleep.

One of the causes of irregularity in the teeth is the uneven development of the jaw bones themselves due to the effect of childhood's fevers and to abscesses or too early loss or too long retention of temporary teeth.

The density or hardness of the jaw bones is produced by the orderly laying down of lime salts any inflammation may cause this.

More than usual resistance to the movement of an erupting tooth through the bone will cause the tooth either to choose the route of least resistance or to give up hope and become impacted, that is, not to erupt at all.

Whenever the teeth of a child are irregular that child suffers not only from lack of proper mastication and appearance and form of the mouth and face, but actually from a very considerable, backward pressure of blood from the region of the jaws.

This causes adenoids and congestion of the membranes of the nose and in a great many instances nervous conditions that interfere with the disposition and development of the child. Irregular teeth should be straightened at the first opportunity.

MARTINO'S SINGING LIKE THRUSH OR NIGHTINGALE, SAYS OREGONIAN CRITIC

One of the finest tributes to the vocal prowess of Miss Josephine Martino, appeared in the Portland Oregonian some time ago from the pen of Joseph MacQuentin, one of the best known critics of the west.

Here is what he said: "It seemed as if a real live thrush or nightingale visited the auditorium last night when Josephine Martino, soprano, lifted her fresh, delicious, young voice in song. Miss Martino is just a little beyond high school age and is already a highly gifted concert star. By nature she was intended to be a singer, and wise vocal training has polished and made finer a voice that is naturally sweet and of bird-like purity. If Miss Martino sings a year or two more and gets a little more concert experience, she will be of the Tetrazzini order of song queens."

The foregoing is a sample of the lavish press commendation which has been accorded Miss Martino in her public work during the past few years. Her voice has attracted the attention of no less a personage than Rudyard Kipling, who has predicted a great musical future for her. Former President Wilson heard her sing two years ago and complimented her personally. She is a distinguished artist rapidly forging to the front.

A NEW POPE IS CHOSEN.

CARDINAL RATTI, ARCHBISHOP OF MILAN, ELECTED ON MONDAY.

Rome, Feb. 8th—Cardinal Achille Ratti, Archbishop of Milan, was proclaimed elected Pope, in succession to the late Pope Benedict XV, this morning. He will take the name of Pius XI.

Thousands waiting in front of St. Peter's for wisp of smoke, which would tell of the election of a new pontiff, gave a mighty shout at 11.33 a.m., when a thin wisp came from the chimney leading from the Sistine chapel. It was then known that the Roman Catholic Church had once more a head.

As soon as the two-thirds vote for Cardinal Ratti had been verified Cardinal Vannutelli, Dean of the Sacred College, arose and proceeded to the throne of chosen one, accompanied by Cardinals Logue and Bisleti, and asked Cardinal Ratti if he accepted the election to be supreme pontiff, and the new Pope answered with the formal, "since it is the will of God, I must obey."

Cardinal Vannutelli later asked the new pope what name he chose to take, and upon his reply, "Pius XI," Monsignor Sincero, secretary of the conclave, verified his election to the papal throne.

After formalities, the cardinals of the Sacred College paid homage to the new pontiff, kissing his feet and hands, and received the apostolic benediction. As Pius XI proceeded to St. Peter's, he halted at the great balcony and bestowed his benediction upon the multitude. The crowd acclaimed him with wild cheers, and troops assembled there presented arms.

London, Feb. 6th—Cardinal Ratti was elected Pope by thirty-eight votes in conclave, says a Central News Rome despatch.

HOCKEY.

Kingston 8, Napanee 0.

Local hockey fans were given a good idea of just how fast Intermediate O. H. A. is when the Royal Military Cadets, of Kingston, visited Napanee on Wednesday evening and defeated the locals by a score of 8-0. While the visitors were faster and more experienced stick-handlers, to do justice to the local team it is only fair to say that the score does not indicate the play. The only one-sided part of the game was the score. The locals rained shot after shot in on the Kingston goal, not even one got by the guardian of the net and he was some artist at his job. The visitors were a great bunch, when their forward line got away there was no stopping them, and it was a nice sight to watch their combination work. The game was extremely clean, only two minor penalties being handed out by the referee, one to each team. The score at the end of the first period was 2-0, second period 4-0 and third period 8-0.

Deseronto 5, Napanee 2.

The Deseronto boys secured revenge at the Arena on Thursday evening of last week, when they defeated Napanee in the second game of the series by a score of 5-2. The rink was packed to the doors long before the game started, a goodly number of followers of the game from Deseronto being in attendance to cheer their home team. The game was very fast from start to finish, and kept the spectators on edge all the time. Deseronto scored two goals in the first period, in the second period each team scored one goal, and in the last period Deseronto scored two and Napanee one. The star of the game was the Deseronto goalkeeper, who stopped shot after shot and saved the game for his team. The third and deciding game will be played in a few days and hockey lovers should watch for the date and be on hand to see these teams decide the championship.

Boy Scouts.

No. 5 Patrol still leads in the Scout series. They won from No. 2 Patrol on Saturday last. Nos. 1 and 4 Patrols played their first game, resulting in a tie.

The deciding game between the Arena Blues and Gibsonville Juniors was played on Friday night, the former winning 9-4.

BASKETBALL.

The teachers and pupils of the N. C. I. turned out in force last Saturday to see the wearers of the blue, yellow and blue compete against the wearers of the black and yellow, Trenton High School.

Not only the present students turned out, but a great many old timers were there to cheer the old colors on to victory, if possible. And talk about cheering, they were there with the old school yells again as if it was yesterday since they left.

The seniors played a good game all the way through. Both sides scored in such a way that the game was first Trenton's, then Napanee's, and just before the last period was Napanee scored two field baskets which resulted in a total score of 21 to 17 in favor of the N. C. I.

The junior game was somewhat one-sided with Trenton victorious by a score of 22 to 9.

It is hard to pick out any one player as the star. The Perry girls showed great skill in centre by their combination. Miss Heines played a wonderful game in the forward area scoring a large number of the total baskets.

In the junior game we must certainly praise Trenton's two forwards. Their shooting was the best part of both games. Miss Heines and Miss McCauley were almost sure of every shot, even shooting with one hand at times. Both played well and a spellbound by their wonderful shooting.

After the game the N. C. I. girls served a light lunch, and a little dance was held for the T. H. S. girls, after which cars took the girls to the 5.30 train.

Trenton Juniors—Jumping centre, Miss A. Milligan; side centre, Miss F. Blair; defence, Miss Bowerman; Miss Johnston; forwards, Miss Haines and Miss McCauley.

Trenton Seniors—Jumping centre, Miss Perry; side centre, Miss A. Keith; defence, Miss Gregory and Miss Graham; forward, Miss Brett and Miss Hardison.

Napanee Juniors—Jumping centre, Mjss A. Wales; side centre, Miss Dessell; defence, Miss Roblin and Miss Sheridan; forwards, Miss Derry and Miss M. Perry.

Napanee Seniors—Jumping centre, Miss W. Perry; side centre, Miss B. Perry; defence, Miss McGuire and Miss Allison; forwards, Miss M. Wales and Miss Youres.

LITTLE GIRL IS DROWNED.

The only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Thompson, Northbrook, was drowned February 3rd, when she fell into water from a well that had but a low curb and was slippery. The child was eight years of age and a great favorite with the school children who are in great grief over their comrade.

Immediate assistance was given by the teacher, the school being but a short distance. But Miss DeMille found life extinct. The distracted mother had bravely taken the child from the well and comforted her to the house alone.

The remains were interred in the family plot in the Methodist cemetery Sunday afternoon, after a very impressive service had been conducted by Rev. Mr. Offord, Madoc. elder of the Standard Church, in C. C. Thompson's home. It is but three years ago since the same parents were grief stricken when a small son was accidentally scalded to death, and sympathy is expressed in every side.

NEWBURGH.

A most interesting hockey match was played at the rink last Wednesday, when Newburgh Ice Rats defeated Yarker, the score being 2 to 1.

In the evening of that day a grand carnival was held. Prizes were awarded and a very enjoyable time was spent.

Mrs. E. Gandier has been spending a few days with Mrs. J. Thomson, Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kellar, Enterprise, visited Mrs. Jas. Kellar, on Sunday.

Mr. Will Jones was called to Oshawa to accept a lucrative position with McLaughlin Motor Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Yeomans and family visited on Saturday at Will Mr's, Wesley.

Mr. George Stone has closed his grocery business here, and is now located on a farm near Empey Hill.

The Loyal Orange Lodge are having their annual At Home on February 14th, in their hall, Newburgh.

Mr. T. Dunwoody had the misfortune to fall, which necessitates his remaining quiet for a few days.

Mr. James Wesley, of Centreville, has returned from a delightful trip to Vancouver, Seattle, and other Western points.

A very pleasant event took place at the home of Mrs. Jane Yeomans, on Wednesday, Feb. 1st, when the children, grandchildren and three great-grandchildren met in honor of the fact that Mrs. Yeomans had reached another milestone on life's pathway, and is now 92 years of age. The guests numbered thirty-six. Those from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Loveless, Yarker; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Yeomans and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Yeomans, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Vanloon, Mr. and Mrs. J. Eadie and son, Bobbie, all of Napanee; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Yeomans, Mr. and Mrs. John Yeomans, Mr. and Mrs. H. Embury, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Embury, Misses Stanley, Willard and Wilmot Embury, Mr. and Mrs. Will Wood, all of Wesley. An enjoyable day was spent by all present.

On Monday evening an address was given on "Citizenship" by Mrs. Courtice, Organizer of School and Home Clubs, in the Methodist Church, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. In her opening remarks she spoke of the splendid work done by the women of the W. C. T. U. in temperance work before the popular vote favoured it. Much had been done, but there was much yet to be done. Conditions had changed since women had been given the franchise. Women were now considered capable of expressing themselves on all questions besides the liquor question and the attitude was for more co-operation with men in other departments. Women were not members of school boards shows now the progress had been and proves that men and women can work side by side. Sometimes, too, women were defeated, but this was the way in which development and progress were attained. Change of points of view is necessary to changed conditions. In the near future community singing men conferred with women in church, school and social life.

The future of our country depends on the life of the child. The education of the child had been neglected in the past. The war revealed that 50 per cent. were physically fit. Better health, physical, mental and moral, is needed, not for war but for peace. In the past the reason given for not expending money on education were that we couldn't afford it and that taxes were too high. Women knew instinctively how to be economical in this way. Where the money had both working together lay. Men were accustomed to doing things on a large scale.

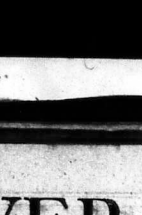

Much could be said about the pocketbook and women. Many times then was a great force. It was then that the W. C. T. U. came in. Women interested in education were trying to break down prejudices between parents and boards. There was a great need for teachers and parents to get together. Some of the work the church could do now could be to guide the young in their recreation and entertainment and educate parents in their work. In almost every community there were a number who were not in the church. Perhaps we ought to work harder for those not in the church. The mass of the people were being neglected. The boys and girls of to-day had opportunities to have a place where everyone can meet. The school is a place where this might be if the building were available. If we want higher standards of living for the boys and girls then if we believe in them. The education of the non-church child is very important. Are we parents giving our children the best we can?

Mrs. Shorey's vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Courtice at the close of her address.

At a meeting of the Loyal Temperance Legion in the Newburgh Public School on Friday afternoon, Mrs. Courtice also spoke. At the close a committee was appointed to take the necessary steps to organize a Home and School Club. The committee appointed was as follows:—Mrs. Winter, Chairman of the Board of Trustees; Mrs. Kingsley Lewis, Toronto, spent a couple of days at the home of W. Jackson.—John Gay has a birth his rented one of his farms to Mr. Joyce, Napanetonea.—Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Jeffrey entertained a few friends to tea on Tuesday evening.—Mr. Elgin McWilliams took in the races at Deseronto last week.

READY FOR THEIR TRIAL

COUNSEL FOR UPTON BROTHERS AND FRED BRYANT VISIT THEM.

When the Board murder case is taken up on February 21st before Justice Logie in the Supreme Court Sessions at Napanee, two of the young men charged with the murder of Night Constable Richard A. Beard, Erwood and Sherwood Upton, will be taken from the penitentiary, Kingston, while the third, Fred Bryant, will go from the Kingston County jail. Bryant was committed to stand for trial for receiving stolen goods, and his trial on this charge is booked to come before Justice Riddell, at the Supreme Court Sessions in Kingston, and they will be held at the same time as the Supreme Court Sessions in Napanee.

The Upton brothers are serving their four-year sentence for burglary. All three of the young prisoners are in good health, so it is stated, and are bearing up remarkably well under the terrible ordeal. They have been visited by their counsel, from time to time and are all ready to face their trial.

It is stated that the alleged confessions of the Upton brothers presented by Magistrate Rankin at the preliminary hearing will play the big part in the case for the prosecution, although it is understood that the crown also has some new evidence to offer.

The case has caused widespread interest all over the district, and it can be taken for a certainty that the court room will be crowded during the progress of the case.

Another sensational case is booked for hearing at this court, when Michael Maker and Ray Wagar will be charged with conspiring to commit an indictable offence, that of arson. It is alleged that Maker, who conducts the Strand theatre in Napanee, offered Wagar and a man named Thomas W. Walker a sum of money to burn down the Wonderland theatre in Napanee, which is Mr. Maker's opposition theatre.

CENTREVILLE

Mr. Stanley Doupe has been kept busy with his sawing machine this week and doing splendid work. A large number of Orangemen attended the County meeting held in Napanee, Tuesday, Feb. 7th.—Mr. and Mrs. Percy Thompson were the guests of Mrs. Grace Fairbairn, Bicknell's corners, on Sunday.—The Centre meeting at Mr. Gerow's, on Wednesday evening, was well attended.—Mr. Ed. Wagar has returned home after an extended tour in the West, much improved in health.—The correspondent for Church Street in last week's Beaver, made a false statement when they said Mrs. T. E. McGill and Mrs. Geo. McGill were patronesses for the Club dance Friday evening, as it was not a Club dance but a public hall given by two of our Centreville young men and there were no patronesses.—A number of young people attended the euchre party and dance in Camden East on Friday evening, and report a splendid time.—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. McGill at Mr. Wesley Wagar's for tea on Sunday evening.

BETHEL

We are having nice mild weather at present.—A number of farmers are busy getting in their ice for the summer, which they report is good.—Others are drawing sand for building purposes.—Mr. and Mrs. C. Allen entertained a number of their friends to tea on Tuesday evening.—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Freeman and baby, of Yarker, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hinch.—Mrs. Kingsley Lewis spent last Wednesday with her friend, Miss Harriet Allenhurst.—Miss Gertrude Hill took in the carnival at Newburgh on Wednesday evening.—Mrs. Percy Allenhurst and baby, Lloyd Laurs, spent the week end at Archie Laurs', Camden East.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Jackson entertained a large number of young people on Friday evening last.—Mr. John Gay has sold his rented one of his farms to Mr. Joyce, Napanetonea.—Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Jeffrey entertained a few friends to tea on Tuesday evening.—Mr. Elgin McWilliams took in the races at Deseronto last week.

TOWN COUNCIL

Council Chambers,
Napanee, Feb. 7th, 1922.

Members present—Reeve Paul and Councillors Wilson, Stacey, Ming, Tustin and Perry.

The minutes of the last regular and special meetings were read, and on motion were approved.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Belleville Chamber of Commerce, saying they had reason to believe that if sufficient pressure was brought to bear by towns on the Bay of Quinte that the Canada Steamship Lines would put a boat on the route between the Bay of Quinte and Rochester, and that they hoped to have a conference in Belleville in a few days with some of the officials of that line. Moved by Councillor Wilson, seconded by Councillor Steacy, that the Mayor be empowered to send a telegram of approval to the Belleville Chamber of Commerce. Carried.

Moved by Councillor Ming, seconded by Councillor Perry, that Mayor Graham, Reeve Paul and the Clerk be a delegation to attend the above conference proposed to be held at Belleville re interesting the Canada Steamship Lines in putting a boat on the Bay of Quinte and Rochester route. Carried.

From Chas. Stevens, re letter from Clerk in complaint of fires put out by him on his own property. Laid on table.

From Grand Trunk Railway System, submitting plans for site, etc., of the proposed new union station at Napanee.

On motion the Clerk was authorized to acknowledge receipt of above plans and signify the town's approval of same, providing the railway company establish and maintain a proper warning signal at the Centre street crossing.

From Harold V. Brown, applying for position of Assessor at a salary of $250.00.

From Norwich Union Assurance Company, re insurance of members of the local Fire Brigade. Ordered filed.

REPORTS

Reeve Paul, Chairman of Street, informed the Council that a firm offers to install a flushing apparatus on one of the sprinkling carts for the purpose of flushing and cleaning the Dundas Street pavement, at a cost of $300.00, and if not satisfactory the town need not keep the same. The committee had given the representative of the firm authority to erect same on the above understanding.

Councillor Ming, Chairman of Fire, Water and Light, asked if it was the pleasure of the Council to instal an electric alarm gong in connection with the condensory.

It was the opinion of the Council that an electric alarm, as above, would be the proper thing, but that would like to know the cost.

Councillor Stacey, Chairman of Town Property, informed the Council that a new furnace had been installed in the Town Hall, and would be completed in a couple of days.

BY-LAWS

A By-law authorizing further additional improvements and extensions in the waterworks system in the Town of Napanee, at an estimated cost of $8000.00, was given its several readings, signed, sealed, numbered and finally passed.

A By-law authorizing the Mayor and Treasurer to borrow from the Merchants Bank the sum of $30,000.00 to meet the current expenditures of the town until the taxes are payable was given its several readings, passed, sealed, numbered and finally passed.

Moved by Councillor Wilson, seconded by Councillor Ming, that this Council appoints a committee, consisting of Mayor Graham and Councillors Perry, Ming and Wilson, to cooperate with the Board of Commerce in circulating a petition asking the Provincial Government to inaugurate and maintain a free ferry across the Bay. Carried.

Moved by Councillor Ming, seconded by Councillor Perry, that the Ladies' Musical Club be given the free use of the Town Hall for their next two meetings. Carried.

NEW UNION STATION AT NAPANEE.

The Grand Trunk Railway System has furnished the Town Council with plans of the proposed site of the new union station to be erected in Napanee in the near future. Little details are yet to hand any more than that the station will be located on the south side of the tracks immediately north of the Napanee Iron Works. A thirty-foot road from Centre street westerly to the station will be the main driveway. A road from West street will also be available to the station, as it will be located just easterly from the head of West street. The Town Council has sanctioned the new location, with the proviso that the railway company instal and maintain a proper warning signal at the Centre street crossing.

CURLING.

Belleville Won on Extra Ends.

Four Belleville rinks played at Napanee last Friday evening in the senior C.O.C. League and won by 2 shots on the round.

At the end of the game (16 ends) the game was a tie. This necessitated an extra end being played by all four rinks. Excitement was high, but Belleville succeeded in winning by three points. The Belleville curlers enjoyed the hospitality of the Napanee Club after the game. Scores:

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

By the Canadian Forestry Association.

Q. As a school teacher I have been recently asked the question why a tree should ever die. Can you answer this for me?

A. Theoretically a tree should never die for while the old central part of the trunk may decay, this is of little moment so long as new layers are regularly put on at the circumference. The growth of a tree is entirely in the cambium layer at the outer edge and not at the heart. The fact is, of course, that trees succumb always to external causes. Insect, fungus diseases, fires, excessive cold or drought, are factors that limit the actual life of trees. The Redwood trees on the California Coast, some of them thirty feet in diameter, have attained an age of from three thousand to four thousand years. There are also trees on the island of Teneriffe, off the African coast, which are believed to be equally as old.

Q. Some people claim that forest fires have actually increased the fur bearing animals in the far north. Is this true?

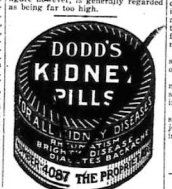

A. The Hudsonn Bay Company declares such a theory emphatically untrue. They state that repeated forest fires have gone far to extinguish for commercial purposes the fur bearing animals such as fox, ermine, fisher, and others in Northern Ontario which unlike the beaver and muskrat are unable to take refuge from forest fires by entering the water. It is a curious fact that the marten in face of a forest fire will climb a tree for safety and usually of course falls victim. Canada's fur trade is decidedly menaced by the present plague of forest fires.

Q. Is there any way of finding the forest fire loss of Quebec province in 1921?

A. According to the Provincial Forester, Quebec lost twelve hundred square miles by fire last year. This of course represents an enormous loss and it is the duty of every citizen who enters the forests of Quebec to join hands with the fire rangers in making a repetition of such loss impossible in 1922. The great majority of fires doing such damage to one of Quebec's great resources were due to human carelessness and the attitude of "don't care".

Q. Is there any way of estimating financially what a shade tree in good condition in front of my residence is worth? Has there been any court decision establishing such a point?

A. In New York State the court established a record by handing down a verdict of $500 each for destruction of a tree by a construction company. In this case an arbitrary value was placed on the tree by means of its diameter, as for instance. $2.00 per inch. That is, a tree eighteen inches in diameter would be worth $36.00. There is a second method which takes in an arbitrary value per square inch of basal area taken at breast height or four and a half feet from the ground. In Massachusettes the usual figure used in this case is one dollar in which case a tree having a basal area of 254 square inches would be considered worth $254.00. The latter figure however, is generally regarded as being far too high.

HOCKEY.

Bath boys, Bath boys,
Hip, hip, horray,
They can waltop anything
That comes their way.

First they went to Westbrooke,
To show 'em they were there,
And won by 'eten to nothing,
Now "aint it awful, Mable".

Next Stella boys came over,
The hockey wasn't to their taste,
Now they've a bunch of sore heads
On the outside looking in.

For eyes, ears, nose, and throat,
Our Hank has got the "Isiah-fa" goat.

And then comes Cataraqui lads
To wave our flags the trick;
And the way they had to work for it
Would make a Dutchman sick.

Now "Ernie" he's our "sassy man",
And "Matt's" our jolly tar;
While "Boozer" is some pumpkins,
And Putnam is the star.

Then, too, there is old "Derrick"
Don't forget he's full of vim;
And Wilmot, tho' he's little,
He's right there in the swim.

And Faber as our referee,
Well old "Binge" he is no slouch;
And when you see Sebastian's smile
You sure will lose your grouch.

A pleasant looking little bunch,
When they "get" their pictures taken;
And when they're playing hockey,
They can sure "bring home the bacon".

For they're Bath hockey boys,
Full of hockey fuise,
And they don't care what they do,
As long as they play true,
And that they'll prove to you.

They are here to stay till they end the fray,
They like the hustle and the noise;
They would rather play than eat,
We know they can't be beat
They are our hockey boys.

CUSTOM HATCHING.

The poultry business lends all other branches on the farm as a profit maker. Just think of over 90 tons of dressed poultry being sold in our town on only 2 days last fall at very high prices. This amount represents less than two-thirds of the poultry sold in this county last year. Then when you take into account the eggs which amounted to over $100,000, a grand total of $225,000. Are you getting your share of this great money making industry. If not, start in now.

In order to help you get started right, The M. B. Mills Co. will do custom hatching at reduced rates. We will also take orders for Day-old chicks of the popular breeds.

We are agents for the best Incubators made, the celebrated Buckeye Hot Water machines; also best Hovers. Can give clear instructions with the machines running before your eyes, so anybody can easily learn to handle them. Remember the most important thing is to have your chicks hatched early when you want them in good numbers, not waiting in disappointment for the clucking hens. Get your orders now and be ready.

We buy and sell poultry any day the year round.

YOUR TEETH.

THE HUMAN JAWS.

By Rea Proctor McGee, D.D.S., M.D., Editor "Oral Hygiene"

Every bone in the body is fashioned to stand the particular strain that comes to its own zone.

The shape and strength and blood supply of each bone is just right for that bone, just as a well balanced piece of machinery must have every part fitted to do its work and must have every part strong enough to last without too much weight or bulk.

The bones of the jaw have as a protection from the pressure of chewing only a very thin membrane composed of periosteum and mucosa which we call the muco-periosteum.

The teeth are set in sockets, properly called alveoli, which are simply holes in the bone that fit the roots of the teeth.

There is a membrane that lines the socket and at the same time covers the tooth root. This is a double faced membrane which protects and nourishes both the bony surface and the surface of the tooth root. The jaws have transmitted to them the pressure that is made upon the teeth in chewing and the only thing that acts as a shock absorber is this one little thin membrane that lines the socket. As much as two hundred and fifty pounds pressure to the square inch is frequently exerted upon the teeth. When over a tooth is lost the work that the other teeth do is increased so that the pressure of chewing is no longer distributed over the whole jaw, but is confined to those spots where the teeth remain.

Is it any wonder that the bones of the jaw sometimes become so irritated from over-work and so inflamed from abscessed teeth that considerable portions of the bone itself may be lost?

If the teeth are kept in a state of health the bones of the jaw will usually remain strong and vigorous as nature intended they should be.

WOMAN TOO WEAK TO WALK

Now Works Nine Hours a Day.—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Strength

Union Village, Vt.—"I was weak and nervous and all run-down. I could not walk across the floor without resting and I had been that way for over two years. I saw an advertisement in the paper and sent for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and felt the good it was doing me and took seven more in all. Before I finished I was able to work at the steam laundry. I nine hours a day and walk as much as I cannot say too much in favor of your medicine. I have all sick and suffering women will take it. It has been six years since I took it and I am strong and well."—Mrs. L. GUIMANS, Union Village, Vermont.

This is only one of such letters we are continually publishing showing what Lydia E. Pinkham has done for women, and whether you work or not Mrs. Guimans's letter should interest you.

Many women get into a weak, nervous run down condition because of ailments they often have. Such women should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the first sign of trouble. Good health is necessary and this splendid medicine will help you to keep it.

IN this painful malady nothing soothes and heals like herbal Zam-Buk. It speedily relieves the distressing pain and intense irritation; reduces swelling and inflammation and stops the bleeding.

Read the following proof!

"Eight years I was a victim to blind itching piles," says Mr. G. Lee, 35, Sienna St., Toronto. "I had tried almost everything in the way of ordinary ointments before I got Zam-Buk. This super-herbal special relieved the terrible itching, and caused the protrusions to completely disappear. Piles have not troubled me for six months now."

Mrs. H. Bell, 26, Scott Street, St. Thomas, Ont., writes:—"I am glad to endorse the remarkable pain-soothing and healing qualities of Zam-Buk. Being for months a constant sufferer from bleeding Piles, I derived no permanent relief until I got Zam-Buk. All other piles sufferers should try this wonderful herbal balm." Use Zam-Buk also for abscesses, chaps, reid-sores, eczema, cuts, burns, scalds, ringworm, ulcers, poisoned wounds, and all sores and injuries. 50c box, 3 for $1.25.

Gap —Mr. and Mrs. J. Bailey Hamm

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Manson York, who left us February 8th, 1918.

For many years the family chain
Here on earth linked together;
But oh, the chain is broken now,
One link has gone forever.

No one knows how much we miss her
No one knows what bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost her,
Home has never been the same.

Days of sadness oft come o'er us,
Tears of sorrow often flow;
When we think of our loved one
Whom we lost four years ago.

Gap —Husband, Evelyn and Laura.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, John F. Fields, who passed away February 8th, 1919.

Cherished memories of those so dear
Often recalled by a silent tear;
'Tis only those who have loved and lost,
Can realize the bitter cost.

Gap —Mother and Sisters.

W. C. T. U.

The February meeting of the Selby W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Bernell Denison, nineteen members being present.

After the opening hymn, the minutes of last meeting were read and adopted.

Mrs. Bernell Denison regretted not being able to act as Superintendent of the Loyal Temperance Legion of her school section, and Mrs. Charlie Vanadstine was appointed in her place.

The treasurer's report was read, also extracts from Mrs. (Rev.) Farnsworth's letter. Mrs. Pringle read Mrs. Rockwell's letter re the advisability of having Dr. Detwiler speak at an open meeting.

A motion was passed that we have Dr. Detwiler, and that the date of her visit be left with the County Secretary.

A letter was read from Margaret Pease, thanking the Union for the bale of clothing received some time ago.

Another letter was read, urging that the reports from Superintendents of the local Unions be handed in promptly, so the annual reports issued by the County Superintendents will not be delayed.

After the singing of a hymn, the devotional exercise was conducted by Mrs. Bernell Denison. She read the 25th chapter of I. Samuel, and explained it in her usual interesting manner.

The collection, amounting to one dollar, was taken up.

Mrs. H. F. Denison read a paper on "Heads I have grounded re organizations of W. C. T. U. and the different departments attached thereto. This was followed by a solo by Mrs. F. L. Amey, and discussion of Mrs. Denison's paper.

After the meeting closed with prayer by the President, Mrs. Pringle, we were cordially entertained by our hostess, to whom we gave a hearty vote of thanks for her hospitality.

CAMDEN EAST.

The past week has been very fine.

Miss Allen, Moscow, spent a couple of days in the village recently renewing old acquaintances.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henderson visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Henderson, one day last week.—Mr. Jas. Davey, Wilton, spent Thursday of last week with his brother-in-law, Mr. Jas. Skinner, and family.—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Loucks and little child, of Bicknell's Corners, West, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Loucks, and brother, Earl, on Friday evening last.—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cunningham were the guests of Mr. Jos. Baines and his mother, Mrs. Baines, on Sunday evening last.—Mr. and Mrs. Josh Switzer, of Yarker, South, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Loucks, on Sunday afternoon last.—Mrs. John Skinner left on Tuesday last for Brownville, N.Y., to visit her children, Mr. George Skinner and Mrs. Chas. Davidson and family and other relatives for a couple of weeks. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lee, is staying with Mr. Skinner during her absence.—Mrs. Sidney Williams visited her sisters, Mrs. Orser, Harrowmith, and Mrs. Sigsworth, Hartington, for a few days last week.—Miss Ida Lapum has resigned her position in the Standard Bank to accept a similar one in the office of the paper mill. C. T. U. speaker, had a good crowd out to hear her speak in the Methodist Church Tuesday evening last.

ENTERPRISE.

We are having the finest weather this winter we have had for years, with splendid sleighing and the best of roads.—We came very near having a bad fire in our village last Saturday evening at Mr. E. Fenwick's store. Mr. Clarence Bell, one of the clerks, was lifting a gasoline lamp and it exploded, setting his clothes on fire. He rushed out doors and with the help of some parties in the store rolled him in the snow and put the fire out on his clothes. He rushed back into the store and caught up the lamp, still burning, and carried it out of doors and put some blankets and smothered the fire out. This fire did quite a lot of damage to one counter, burning a quantity of clothing, boots and shoes. Mr. Bell is under the Doctor's care, being badly burned on the lower part of the face and hands, and it will be some time before he can use his hands even to feed himself. Had it not been for Mr. Bell's courage and presence of mind the store would certainly have been burned with all its contents. Mr. Fenwick was away and did not know anything of the fire until it was all over.—Quite a number from here attended the races at Fish Lake and had a good time.—Mr. and Mrs. McQuinn are spending a few days in Bath this week.—Dr. Horton is very busy, as there is a lot of sickness in this vicinity and Tamworth, but under his able management all his patients are doing fine.—The first course of instructions in Keech's Hall, to the farmers' sons is being well attended, and under the able instructions of the teachers will be of great value to the young men attending.

—A very quiet wedding was solemnized on Thursday, February 9th, at high noon, by the Rev. Mr. Cleaver, of Belleville, when Helen A., only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Desmere Davis, was united in marriage to Mr. C. Edwin Baltzer, B.Sc., Queen's University, Kingston, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Baltzer, Preston, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Baltzer left for Toronto.

On the evening of the 1st of February, 1922, there were about twenty of the Adult Organized Bible Class, Morven, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glass for their monthly prayer meeting. They spent fifteen or twenty minutes discussing which was their favorite Disciple and why he was their favorite. The evening was a profitable one and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

—The Dramatic Club of Trinity Church presented the popular drama "The Deacon", in the A. O. U. W. Hall, Shannonville, on Wednesday evening, the 8th inst., to a large and appreciative audience. Every part was taken well by the characters representing it, but "Pete" the colored servant, captivated the audience by "keeping up the 'spectability of the family". An orchestra of violin, mandolin, guitar and piano furnished delightful music between acts, so that there was not a moment's dullness during the evening. The proceeds amounted to $106.15.

—A committee from the Board of Commerce and the Town Council will shortly circulate a petition asking the Provincial Government to establish and maintain a free ferry across Hay Bay. We understand that Hon. Nelson Parliament, of Prince Edward County, Speaker of the House, has promised his constituents a free ferry between Adolphustown and Prince Edward, providing a largely signed petition was presented, and as a free ferry across Hay Bay would serve many more farmers and allow them to visit their own County town, it is quite likely that the Government will operate one across Hay Bay.

—About thirty of the friends and neighbours of Mr. and Mrs. Darius Smith gathered at their home on the evening of their twenty-fifth anniversary, January 27th, and spent a social evening of music and games. At the stroke of twelve all sat down to a sumptuous repast of oysters, sandwiches, cake and coffee. After supper Mr. and Mrs. Smith were called to the living room and presented with a purse of money as a token in remembrance of the day. The party broke up at two a.m., after singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again", everyone wishing Mr. and Mrs. Smith and family many more years of happiness.

THE NAPANEE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE.

The short course in Home Nursing and First Aid given by the Department of Agriculture to the Napanee Women's Institute closes to-day, Friday, February 10th.

The object of this Course is to enable women to easily obtain the knowledge of how to care for the sick in the home; what to do in an emergency and how to do it; how to render at all times the best possible assistance to the doctor or to the nurse, where her services are necessary, although very often that expense can be saved because of the ability of the women of the home to handle the situation.

1. The human body and its structure, bones, joints and muscles, formation and function, position and function of organs. What we mean by sickness and accident.

2. Sick room—sanitation, choice and preparation, lighting, heating, ventilation, care, etc. Necessary articles for intelligent nursing. How to take temperature, pulse and respiration. Record keeping for the doctor.

3. Bed-making for various forms of sickness, improvised bed-rests and bedding supports; how to air and warm beds, move helpless patients, change sheets with patient in bed.

4. The bath, kinds and effect. How to bathe patients in bed. Hot and cold packs. How to change the night dress of a helpless patient.

5. Emergencies — hemorrhage, drowning, suffocation, strangulation, artificial respiration, clothing catching fire, fainting, etc. Treatment of bruises, wounds, burns, blisters, scalds, etc. Removal of foreign bodies from eye, ear, nose and throat.

6. Hot and cold applications.

7. Bandaging—Use and preparation of bandages, roller and triangular, practice in arm and sling, shoulder, head and foot, leg bandages.

8. Contagious and infectious diseases—Stages, eruption and quarantine. Special care in nursing. How to prevent the spread of disease. Disinfectants and fumigation.

9. The administration of food and medicine.

10. Baby Hygiene — Immediate care of baby, eyes, mouth, breathing, bathing, dressing, feeding, preparation of artificial foods.

Questions were invited at all lessons in order that the greatest possible individual help would be given.

The members of the Institute have been delighted throughout with the charming personality of the instructor and lecturer, Miss B. Bryson, a graduate of Toronto General Hospital, who has had a number of years' experience in practical nursing. Miss Bryson is very energetic, enthusiastic and untiring in her demonstrations, which have been delivered each day to a well-filled class room.

This closing week Miss Bryson, in her philanthropic zeal, offered to lecture from 4 p.m. until 5 p.m. to the lady teachers and school girls of the town, and they have responded in overwhelming numbers.

The President and officers of the Institute feel very much gratified by the good attendance, and the substantial increase in membership attained throughout the course.

NAPANEE POULTRY ASSOCIATION BANQUET.

The second Annual Banquet of the Napanee Poultry Association was held in the Canadian Order of Foresters' Hall, on January 27th. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Guests and members to the number of one hundred and twenty-five, did justice to the well laden tables, while the "Blacks" Orchestra rendered delightful music. After supper, Mayor Graham as chairman, made some well chosen remarks, after which he introduced the speaker of the evening, Professor Elford, of Ottawa, who dealt with many interesting lines of poultry raising.

Mrs. Powell gave two well chosen readings, which were much enjoyed, and Mr. Bert Weese rendered two solos in his pleasing manner, followed by a selection by the Orchestra and "God Save Our King".

Policyholders of the Mutual Life of Canada Enjoy a Record Year

Unprecedented Profit Earnings

A REMARKABLE increase in the surplus earnings of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada was shown by the Fifty-Second Annual Statement, as presented at the Annual Meeting of the policyholders held in the Head Office of the Company at Waterloo, Ontario, on Thursday, February 2nd.

The entire net profits, or Surplus Earnings of the year's operations will be, as usual, ultimately distributed to the policyholders of the Mutual in cash or applied to the reduction of their premiums or added to the face values of the policies, as per policyholders' individual option. Three factors have combined to bring about this red-letter year in the annals of the Company.

1. Decrease in Expense Ratio
The percentage of the Total Income required for operating expenses was reduced from 20.45% in 1920 to 18.60% in 1921.

2. Increase in Interest Earnings
The average rate of interest earned by the investments of the Company shows an increase from 6.41% in 1920 to 6.60% in 1921.

3. Highly Favorable Mortality
The mortality rate of 1921 was the lightest experienced by the Company in recent years, being relatively 20% less than in 1920.

Surplus Earnings of $2,243,038, being $46.47 per $1,000 of Total Assets

The combined effect of these three different factors in the Company's experience for 1921 was to increase the surplus earnings from $38.67 per $1,000 of assets to $46.47 per $1,000

Salient Points from the 1921 Report

Income,	$11,059,484	Assets,	$ 48,211,204
Paid to Policyholders,	$ 2,672,874	Business in Force,	$228,697,353
General Surplus Funds,	$5,790,520.70

A Los Angeles resident has had to pay five thousand dollars for calling a neighbor an "old hen". Allowing for the state of exchange, we think he could have got better value for his money in this country.

Many people are almost crippled with corns. But it is needless suffering which can be speedily ended with Holloway's Corn Remover.

One of the fifth division (speeding homeward on the "Limited")—"What if this bridge should break and the train be dashed into the river?"
Conductor—Don't worry, lad, the railroad company has a lot more trains.

An Oil of Merit.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is not a jumble of medicinal substances thrown together and pushed by advertising, but the result of the careful investigation of the curative qualities of certain oils as applied to the human body. It is a rare combination and it won and kept public favor from the first. A trial of it will carry conviction to any who doubt its power to repair and heal.

"Shay, did you see me come in?"
The other chap replied, "Yes, I saw you come in."
"Well—hic!—ever see me before?"
"No, I never saw you before."
"Then—hic—how did you know it was me?"

Miller's Worm Powders are complete in themselves. They not only drive worms from the system, but repair the damage that worms cause and so invigorate the constitution that it speedily recovers from the disorders of the digestion that are the result of the work of these parasitic intruders. They do their work thoroughly and strength and soundness follow their use.

Next day he came back.
"Didn't you care for your new job?" asked his boss.
"I quit befo' I got dat far," said the negro. "Yistiddy morning I goes over to dem munitions works and I tells de man in de little office at de gate dat I'se come for to git one of dem fo'-dollah-a-day jobs. He said, 'All right,' and then he gits out a book and he axes me—what is my name? I tells him what is my name; and den he say, 'What do you want de remains sent?' And I look him in de eye an' I say, 'Boss, don't you pester yo'self 'bout de remains. 'Fore I'se gwine take 'em with me right now."

Ready-made Medicine.—You need no physician for ordinary ills when you have at hand a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. For coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchial troubles, it is invaluable, for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains it is unsurpassed, while for cuts, sores and the like it is an unquestionable healer. It needs no testimonial other than the use, and that will satisfy anyone as to its effectiveness.

He was cycling through a quaint, old-fashioned village, when he was thrilled by the sound of a woman's cry for help, followed by the muffled tones of a man's voice. He quickened his pace, to find a woman holding on to the handle of a cottage door, while from within it was evident that somebody was endeavoring to force it open.
"Give me a hand, mister," she cried "I daren't let him come out!"
The cyclist dismounted, and by adding his strength to that of the woman the door was kept close.
"Your husband, I suppose?" he said.
"Yes," was the breathless reply. "He's got one of his crazy fits on today."
"Well, I should think you would be pleased to let him out."
"Not till this policeman's passed," panted the woman. "You see, Bill's very nasty with policemen when he's like this, and this one's too valuable to lose. I do his washing."

Mrs. Funk Tells Other Women About Dodd's Kidney Pills

She Suffered Terribly and Was so Bad She Could Not Do Her House Work—What Dodd's Kidney Pills Did For Her.

Winkler, Man., Feb. 6th. (Special.)—That how Dodd's Kidney Pills have made a reputation as suffering women's best friend is again shown in the case of Mrs. J. J. Funk, a well known and highly respected resident of this place. Let her tell her story in her own words:

"I suffered for years from kidney trouble, female weakness and nervousness," Mrs. Funk says. "I was so bad I could not do my housework. I suffered terribly but after using Dodd's Kidney Pills I feel quite better.

"I can do my housework again and I will keep on using Dodd's Kidney Pills until I am entirely well.

"I am very much satisfied with what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done so far. Everybody who suffers should try them. I would not be without Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the greatest of all Kidney remedies.

A Rhinoceros Horse.

The beast referred to in the Bible as a "unicorn" is almost undoubtedly the single-horned rhinoceros of Southern Asia, which, needless to say, is a very formidable beast.

At Calcutta there is a famous Zoo, which, specializing in Asiatic animals, keeps on exhibition a number of rhinos of this species.

The other day a native, who had never before seen a rhinoceros, visited the Zoo and, overcome with amazement, was suddenly inspired with an ambition to ride the biggest one, which at the moment lay peacefully dozing in his pen. He proceeded thereupon to climb the iron fence, despite the protests of other persons who sought to restrain him and who looked in vain for a guard or keeper to prevent the crazy action.

Once over the fence, he boldly straddled the huge animal, and looked around him for admiration. But the rhinoceros, aroused and indignant, leaped up with surprising agility, threw the man off, impaled him with his horn, cast him thirty feet into the air and then lay down upon him. Guards, summoned to the scene, killed the beast with explosive bullets. The man was dragged out of the pen, still breathing; but he died a few hours later.

An Educational Problem.

"Word blindness" has been discovered by school clinics. Two cases have lately been noted in one district. A boy of nearly thirteen years of age, healthy of body and normal of mind in all ordinary respects, can only now, after nine years' regular attendance, just read words of two letters. "Of" he comprehends instantly; "offer" floors him. Oddly enough, he is normal arithmetic and equal to any boy of his age, this "word blindness" extends to the reading of numbers. He will, for instance, read "2" on a blackboard, will hesitate at "12," and be dumbfounded at "122." The difficulty appears to be wholly in a failure to recognize written or printed words or numbers.

Mrs. C. E. Earl, Toronto, says: I am pleased to inform you that our boy, Eddie, has been completely cured of bladder trouble through using Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets. He is now 14 years old and has not been able to retain his urine which caused us a great deal of worry and trouble. We tried different doctors and medicines but never received any help until your agent called and advised us to try your Tablets. After treating with them for a few weeks they have completely cured him. I would advise mothers who have children afflicted in this way to give them a trial. I will consider it a pleasure to explain his case more fully on request.

Should you or any of your children be afflicted in a similar way we are confident they would produce similar results. Don't fail to give them a trial.

Convertible Debentures Are a First-Class Investment

We—W. A. Mackenzie & Company, Limited —make this statement in the full consciousness that our reputation will, and should, suffer if it were found to be untrue.

Nevertheless, we have never offered or seen Corporation Securities offered, the earning powers of which have been so well founded.

The Mount Royal Hotel is do experiment for the men undertaking its operation. They are not a group of "hopefuls" and "enthusiasts," but a company of far-seeing successful hotel men—with a reputation of 16 financially successful hotel enterprises at the back of them.

There is not a single phase of the commercial or legal aspect of this investment that we have not thoroughly investigated.

We know the hotel will be ready for occupancy on time.

We know The United Hotels Company of America have purchased $1,000,000 of these 8% Convertible Debentures for cash.

We know the hotel will have the greatest possible support from the great transportation companies and from the people of Montreal and elsewhere.

We know that the estimated income is understated.

We know that the estimated expenditures are overstated.

We know the earnings should be ample to meet interest and dividend requirements.

And we know that the Common Stock now given as a bonus to investors should prove one of the most profitable in Canada.

And so—knowing all these things—we unhesitatingly recommend you to invest in these 8% Convertible Debentures at par, carrying a 20% Bonus of Common Stock.

To W. A. Mackenzie & Co., Ltd.

MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA ANNUAL STATEMENT.

The 52nd Annual Statement of the business of the Mutual Life of Canada has just been published, and the policyholders of the company may well congratulate themselves on the results of the last year's operations.

The statement shows that the surplus earnings have been the largest in the history of the company, and when we remember what a record the Mutual Life has already achieved this statement cannot fail to be impressive.

The business of the company is now more than $228,000,000, having increased by $22,000,000 during the year that has past. Another such year will place the company among those having a quarter of a billion dollars of business in force.

But the amount of business written, although satisfactory, is less important than the financial results attained.

Surplus is mainly acquired through the operation of three factors, namely:—a low expense ratio, high interest earnings and low mortality. Now it happened that in the year 1921 all these factors operated so as to produce maximum results. The expense ratio, that is the ratio of expense to income, fell from 20.45 per cent. to 18.60 per cent. This means that the company's affairs have been economically handled.

The investments were so carefully placed that the interest earnings have risen from 6.41 per cent. to 6.60 per cent., that is to say the interest earned on invested assets was on the average 6.60 per cent. during the year. Considering the variety of securities the company handles, this average interest rate is exceptionally good. The third feature is notable, because intelligent observers had predicted a heavy mortality in the years immediately following the war. That forecast has proven to be incorrect, and the disbursements for death claims during 1921 were only 41 per cent. of the amount that the standard tables of mortality might have led them to expect.

Thus we have in the experience of the Mutual Life during the past year three potent factors at work to increase the profits of the company by the largest amount that has ever been earned in the company's fifty-two years of beneficent work. The company being established on a purely mutual basis, makes this result all the more interesting, because the whole of the surplus is used either to reduce premiums, to increase the amount of the insurance or is paid in cash.

The statement shows that for every $1,000 of invested assets, the company this year has earned $46.87, as against 38.67, in the preceding year, a truly astonishing result. The assets amount to $48,211,203.98, having increased over the preceding year by $5,562,276.53.

By every test the Mutual Life of Canada is in a stronger position today than it has ever been before, and this is saying a good deal, for every one of its fifty-two years has witnessed steady progress, not only in financial standing, but also in the extent of the company's operations. It has been a wonderful year for the policyholders of this popular Canadian Company.

The real test of a life insurance company operating on the participating plan, is its surplus earnings from year to year, and the Mutual has achieved a remarkable record in this respect.

Listen!

Have you heard about Peps? Peps is a scientific preparation put up in pastille form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds, chest and throat troubles.

Peps contain certain medicinal ingredients, which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapor, and are breathed down the air passages to the lungs. On their journey, they soothe the inflamed and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate cells of the air passages, and finally enter and carry relief and healing to the lungs.

In a word, while no liquid or solid can get to the lungs and air passages, these Peps further get there direct, and at once commence healing.

FREE TRIAL. Cut out this article, write across it the name and date of this paper, and mail it (with 1c. stamp to pay return postage) to Peps Co., Toronto. A free trial packet will then be sent you. All druggists and stores sell Peps, 50c. box.

Wealth of Fishery Resources Based Upon Fish Consumption.

If We Eat No Fish Our Immense Natural Property Returns No Dividend—The Industry in the hands of the Consumer.

Many, many people do not realize what tremendous possibilities there are in our prolific fisheries. They are limitless sources of riches. Each crop of fish is newly-created wealth, just as substantial as that represented in grain and wheat, in cattle and similar food products. But unlike the commodities with which it has been compared, fish does not require any guiding care on the part of man. The perennial crops develop naturally, leaving to us the mere labor of reaping. The natural potential resources of our young country in this regard outstrip those of any other nation. Still we are not at the top as a fish-producing nation. We do not even take advantage of seafood here at home for our annual consumption is but twenty-one pounds per head.

When the statement is made that each crop of fish is new-found wealth, there are well-defined limitations. The value of a fish cargo is measured by the amount of money it will bring—not by the amount of nourishment it affords. The law of supply and demand fixes the gold value, which increases as the supply diminishes and falls to zero as the supply increases. Not infrequently boats laden with fresh fish come into eastern ports from the North Atlantic Banks and fail to find a market for their catch. Not a great many months ago a steam trawler failed to dispose of a cargo of 250,000 pounds at any price. So fish is new wealth only when it may be marketed.

The extent of the wealth we may acquire from the sea rests then entirely upon the demand, so the development of the industry does not rest with the fishermen. The efficiency and vigor with which he prosecutes his calling. It lies entirely with the consuming public in this country and elsewhere. It is economic folly for the fisherman to take a single fish above the amount for which he can find a market. Any additional labor is wasted.

It is estimated that our waters are sufficiently fertile to supply the markets of the world with fish. Last year we caught close to a billion pounds, while the neighboring republic doubled that amount. From the great banks of the North Atlantic —literally at our door—our American cousins take from two to three times the quantity of fish we do. Is that not surprising?

Fish is undoubtedly becoming more popular. Statistics prove it. But it is necessary for the speedy advancement of the industry that it be used in a still greater extent. Canada consumes about fifty per cent. (in value) of the fish she produces. It is the fishermen's most important market and their supply is controlled largely by the extent of this market's demand.

It is not necessary to dilate upon the individual economic and other advantages of a diet liberally provided with fish. This fact is pretty generally appreciated. One item of the greatest importance, however, is to make use of our unusual variety of seafoods. Our waters yield no less than six hundred edible species, but not more than twenty are popular on the Canadian market. This means a national economic loss, because the fisherman's catch is rendered only sixty to seventy per cent. marketable. The balance must be thrown back into the sea.

Try any fish once! It would not be placed on the market if it were not a good, substantial and wholesome fare.

National Fish Day, which falls this year on February 1st, is endorsed by the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa, to focus attention upon the great wasted wealth in the industry—wealth that may be utilized by a more consistent use of the food which yields the wealth.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them considerably. Before adding the usual medicine, just stop and think that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a Tonic and Blood Purifier, and acts through the blood upon the mucous surfaces of the body, thus reducing inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

BATH.

Last Saturday Cataraqui Hockey team visited Bath and played a game with the team representing that place. A good crowd turned out for the exhibition and the Bath players surprised all by beating the Cataraqui veterans to a 3-2 score. The ice was in good condition and the game remained fast throughout, the Bath stars working even better in the last period than they had in the opening few minutes and putting the Cataraqui men to a more defensive style of play.

Shewell, for Cataraqui, banged in two counters in the first period by speedy hockey and in the last frame Gordon Mellow and Young evened it up for Bath. Then another Cataraqui man got by the goals past Bath's out-guardian for the winning goal.

F. Covert, of Bath, handled the game well. The return will be played this coming Saturday.

The players were:—

Cataraqui—Goal, Simpson; defence Shewell and Eccles; centre, Polk; wings, Barry and Sproule; subs., Jackson and Purdy.

Bath—Goal, Calver; defence, Putnam and Maurice Mellow; centre, Young; wings, Northmore and Gordon Mellow; spares, Hoselton and Mott.

Old Trapper Says Bears Are Awake.

Cochrane, Ont., Feb. 8th.—Some strange unrest seems to have taken hold of the bears of the country around here. They appear to have forgotten their winter sleep this year, for the first time in the memory of the oldest trappers. A. Lajoie, a trapper for forty-five years, reports that he found tracks of bears running across his line of traps which would indicate that they are running in groups. Similar reports come from other places throughout the north country. What this portends nobody will venture to surmise.

MUSICAL CLUB.

The Napanee Ladies' Musical Club were given the treat of the season on Wednesday evening, when they attended the fourth concert of the Chautauqua series, which had been arranged for this year. Miss Josephine Martino was the soprano soloist for the evening, and it is many a day since a voice of such beauty and finish has been heard in Napanee. Her charming personality, youthful dignity and the sweet simplicity with which she used her really wonderful voice, were rather a novelty in so great an artist. The programme had been selected with great care, for although each number was a classic, there was none that could not be thoroughly understood and appreciated by the youngest student. Two groups of English songs, the "Elegie" by Massinet given in rippling French, an Aria of Puccini's sung in Italian, and others were all heard with rapt attention.

The accompanist and piano soloist was Miss Florence Jane Stage, and it was with the keenest appreciation of music, its technique and expression, that the audience heard this gifted artist on Wednesday evening. Her accompaniments were par excellence. The young Italian violinist, Armando Leuci, played with such skill that he was greeted on each appearance with the greatest enthusiasm. He gave a varied programme, choosing the rarest gems from the great composers of all countries. The final number, in which Mr. Leuci played the obligato to Miss Martino's rendition of Gounod's "Ave Maria", was one of the most enjoyable of the evening's performance, and it was with regret that the audience rose to sing "God Save the King".

On Thursday evening of next week the final concert for the year will be given in the Town Hall.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Thos. Symington.

By the death of Thomas Symington, which occurred at his home in Napanee, on Friday last, Napanee loses one of its most highly respected citizens, and former business men. For a long number of years Mr. Symington carried on business as a grocer and later as a seed merchant. For years also he carried on the apple evaporator. Several months ago he retired from all business and was planning a trip to England, but his failing health prevented carrying out his plans. Deceased was a life long staunch Liberal, and some years ago was candidate in the Liberal interests for the Provincial House. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon from his late residence. Services were held in Grace church, and interment at Riverview vault.

Mrs. Mary Pruyn.

Mrs. Pruyn, widow of the late Thomas Dorland Pruyn, former Deputy Sheriff of the County of Lennox and Addington, passed away at Buffalo on Saturday afternoon. The remains were taken to the home of Mrs. Gibson, Hillcrest Avenue, Belleville, where the funeral took place Tuesday. The Rev. A. M. Hubly, of Toronto, conducted the services, as during her residence in Belleville, Mrs. Pruyn attended the Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church, of which Rev. Mr. Hubly was then rector.

Florence Reed in Remarkable Quadruple Role in Ziegfeld's Magnificent Photodrama, "The Black Panther's Cub"

Florence Reed, Broadway favorite and star of "The Mirage" which held New York enthralled during the entire past season, returns to the screen after a long absence, in a remarkable quadruple role in W. K. Ziegfeld's premiere screen production, "The Black Panther's Cub", which comes to Wenderiard Theatre on Thursday night direct from its engagement at Loew's Winter Garden, Toronto. In this magnificent photo-drama, based on Swinburne's immortal poem, "Faustine", Miss Reed is seen in four separate and entirely distinct characterizations.

Critics who have seen "The Black Panther's Cub" credit Miss Reed with the best acting of her career. The Morning Telegraph of New York says: "We doubt if any actress could touch her as Faustine, the mysterious whose charm and radiance holds all Paris at her feet. Miss Reed is subtle, alluring and singularly beautiful."

Along with this special 8-reel super feature, the official picture of the Oddfellows' Convention held in Toronto last September, and other selected reels will be shown, balancing out one of the best programs ever offered in Napanee, and one that should satisfy the most critical of movie fans. Two shows will be given, starting at 7 and 9 p.m. Don't miss the treat of the year. 6a

OBITUARY.

Mr. Thos. Symington.

By the death of Thomas Symington, which occurred at his home in Napanee, on Friday last, Napanee loses one of its most highly respected citizens, and former business men. For a long number of years Mr. Symington carried on business as a grocer and later as a seed merchant. For years also he carried on the apple evaporator. Several months ago he retired from all business and was planning a trip to England, but his failing health prevented carrying out his plans. Deceased was a life long staunch Liberal, and some years ago was candidate in the Liberal interests for the Provincial House. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon from his late residence. Services were held in Grace church, and interment at Riverview vault.

Mrs. Mary Pruyn.

Mrs. Pruyn, widow of the late Thomas Dorland Pruyn, former Deputy Sheriff of the County of Lennox and Addington, passed away at Buffalo on Saturday afternoon. The remains were taken to the home of Mrs. Gibson, Hillcrest Avenue, Belleville, where the funeral took place Tuesday. The Rev. A. M. Hubly, of Toronto, conducted the services, as during her residence in Belleville, Mrs. Pruyn attended the Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church, of which Rev. Mr. Hubly was then rector.

U. E. L. Play Given at Deseronto.

The U. E. L. Dramatic Club, of Adolphustown, played "Home Came Ted" to an appreciative audience in Naylor's Theatre, Deseronto, on Friday evening last. The play and plot were good, and all parts were well acted. Thus the production was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, amongst whom were a number of home supporters of the club and many from Northport, Demorestville and the High Shore. The following are the names of the club as registered at the Stewart House: Cast of Characters, Frank Gallagher, Ila Allison, Gertrude Magee, Dr. Duffett, Lillian Carr, Erwall Foster, Arthur Bogart, Mrs. R. M. Roblin, Hattie Magee, Hugh Allison, Kathleen Roblin, Clarence Davis, Clarence Price. Visitors: Margaret Magee, Mary McCrudden, Mrs. W. J. McCrudden, W. J. McCrudden, Fred Gallagher, Arthur Bird, Frank Loyst, Mrs. Frank Loyst, Mrs. Fred Gallagher, Mrs. James Bird, Harold Magee, Mrs. Frank Gallagher, James Bird, Pat. Laveck, Ross Allison, Mrs. Fred Allison, Mrs. Will Roblin, Fred Allison, Reid Roblin.

Upon Friday night's performance the club is well deserving of the local praise which was heard on the streets the next day, and is to be congratulated upon its successful appearance in Deseronto.

GRANT CHALLENGED TO DEBATE GRANTS.

LARGE INCREASES IN APPROPRIATIONS FOR SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

Mr. George Spotton, ex-Mayor of Windsor, who last week made public striking figures, tending to show that Hon. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education, is favoring separate schools, as against the public schools, is out with a challenge to Hon. Mr. Grant to thresh out the question in joint debate on the public platform. Mr. Spotton's investigations to date cover grants made by the Minister to schools in the counties of Huron, Middlesex, Perth, Prontenac and Grey, and he thinks it fair to assume that they reflect the general situation in Ontario. The general effect of his charges is that Hon. Mr. Grant last year increased the grants to separate schools three and fourfold in comparison with those of 1920.

Mr. Spotton said to The Mail and Empire yesterday :

"Hon. Mr. Grant has replied, 'There is nothing in it; my former statement stands.' However, in each case my figures were got from the county treasurers and school inspectors. The grants to separate schools as given have been taken from the county treasurers' books, and from over the separate school inspectors' signatures in their letters of warrant to the county treasurers for payment of same, and when Mr. Grant says they are not correct, he is for that moment a stranger to the truth,' and he knows it. The fact is, he cannot defend it. If the Education Department in Queen's Park doesn't keep accounts, a three-cent stamp on a letter to the county treasurer in each case will verify or discredit my figures. I again charge him with paying out of the Provincial Treasury $34 for every Roman Catholic pupil in the Township of Ashfield, in the County of Huron, and $8.44 for every public school pupil. In townships in Middlesex County the difference is still more scandalous.

Scandal Will Not Down.

"This Separate School Scandal will not down. At first I thought that the Minister being 'pitch-forked' was too big a position that someone in the department was putting one over, but a man who boldly and brazenly denies what he knows to be true, deserves no sympathy.

"During the present week I find that three Separate Schools in the Township of Glenelg, Grey County, receive more in grants than the nine Public Schools. It figures out that this Minister of Education believes in paying for the education of the Roman Catholic children in Glenelg $2,009.30, and for 143 Public School pupils $1,558.88, or, for a Roman Catholic child, he raids the Treasury to the tune of $51.52, and doles out with loving hands to some benighted, sleep-loving Protestant public $12.99 per child. Why? These figures were obtained from the Township Treasurer.

"To-day I visited the County Treasurer of Perth County and find a still more alarming raid on the Treasury for Grant's political friends. If he has the hardihood to state that Perth Treasurer has falsified his books, let him have the Hon. Peter Smith when he is home for a week-end drop in and corroborate these figures. Why these increases to Separate Schools in Perth?

A Striking Example.

"In the Township of Downie, where the Premier's home is, there is a Public Separate School of 29 pupils gets a Grant grant of $736.70, and 8 Public Schools of 220 pupils get a total of $1,187.05. In other words, in Hon. Peter Smith's township, a child born of a Roman Catholic mother, gets $25.40, while a child born of a Protestant mother gets $5.32. That should enrich that child for life. The sums obtaining throughout Perth County. Why?

"The Minister says the School Act has not changed. Who has changed? The Separate School inspector might advise the Minister on these matters.

"In Ellice we have there is $30.11 for a Roman Catholic child and $6.65 for a Protestant child.

"If the Minister again says the Roman Catholic schools are not getting many times more than Public Schools as based on the present School Act, or denies the charges I will challenge him to debate this question in the City Hall, Stratford, where we are to have the County Treasurer present. We will have a few questions for Separate School inspectors later."

Mr. Spotton remarked that in the interview published in the Toronto paper, that in the case where he mentioned Lanark County, the alleged I will challenge him to debate this question in the City Hall, Stratford, where we are to have the County Treasurer present. We will have a few questions for Separate School inspectors later.

HOCKEY.

All Stars 10, Gibbards 9.

Gibbards suffered their first defeat of the season at the Arena on Monday evening, when the All Stars won by the smallest possible margin after a thrilling, whirlwind finish by the factory boys. In justice to Gibbards it is only fair to say that one of their best forwards, Huffman, was not in the line-up. The first period ended in a tie—4 all. During the second period the All Stars had matters very much their own way, and ran the score up to 9-4. The first ten minutes of the last period was a battle royal, neither side scoring. About the middle of this period, Mr. Roe, the referee, received a nasty clip on the head from being hit by the puck, and the game was delayed for a few minutes. The rest did not seem to agree with the All Stars, for Gibbards came on the ice and nearly tied the score, making five goals in the last ten minutes while the All Stars were scoring one.

Deseronto vs. Napanee.

The third and last game of the series between Deseronto and Napanee will be played at the Arena this (Friday) evening. Undoubtedly this will be the most exciting game of the season. Napanee won the first game 5-2, thus the boys from Deseronto have a one-goal margin so far on the series. If the locals can put up as good a game with Deseronto as they did with R. M. C.'s, they are due to win. The puck will be faced at 7.45 p.m. Be on hand early and see one of the best games of the season.

HOCKEY AT BATH.

On Tuesday, Feb. 14th, an interesting game was played with a picked team from Portsmouth and Amherst Island. The visitors went down to defeat before the fast little home team without a goal to their credit, much to their surprise for certainly they came loaded to the gills. The game progressed the pace grew faster and the visitors were unable to stand the strain. At the end of the first period the puck did not reach the net. The second period was much the same team playing superior stick handling and speed, registering three goals, G. Hollow scoring one. Bath's strong defence, while the Bath boys got away for six goals, Mr. McFarland being three, Northmore two and G. Mellow one. Mott and Hoselton also played a rapid game. Bath finished with the score 9-4 for Bath.

The Portsmouth children in Glenelg $2,009.30, and for 143 Public School pupils $1,558.88, or, for a Roman Catholic child, he raids the Treasury to the tune of $51.52, and doles out with loving hands to some benighted, sleep-loving Protestant public $12.99 per child. STILL TRYING TO CHANGE PLACE OF UPTON TRIAL.

Cunningham and Smith, counsel for Moody and the brothers, who with Fred Bryant, are charged with the murder of Night Constable Richard A. Beard, at Napanee, are moving for a change of venue for the hearing of the trial, and are asking that the case be tried in Kingston instead of Napanee.

E. M. Smith went to Toronto on Monday, and on Tuesday moved before judge in chambers, that the motion would be taken up at Kingston.

Decision was reserved and up to going to press it had not yet been given.

Justice Logie is presiding at the Napanee assizes, and the sessions of the supreme court in Kingston, which open at the same time, will be presided over by Justice Riddell.

In addition to the charge of murder, the Upton brothers and Fred Bryant will have to answer a charge of attempting to break into Smith's Jewelry store at Napanee.

Witnesses in the case were served with their subpoenas on Tuesday, to appear in Napanee on February 21st to give evidence. This looks as if the crown authorities at Napanee are not willing to have the murder trial heard in Kingston. The three young men are also charged with stealing an automobile, the property of J. W. Robinson, Napanee.

WILL PETITION THE ONTARIO GOVERNMENT.

TO ALLOW NAPANEE PEOPLE TO CATCH FISH AT FALLS AS USUAL.

Last spring it will be remembered a considerable number of the citizens of Napanee were called into court and fined for fishing at the Napanee falls without a license. This court was composed of two fish inspectors, Messrs. Coffee and Carson, who, after imposing a fine on some thirty of our townspeople, made the statement that licenses would be granted to any making application for them. For a domestic license the fee would be $2, and for a license which would permit the sale of the fish caught, the fee would be $5.00.

Several made applications, and after considerable time they were given a license, but said license did not permit them to catch the only kind of fish which is worth while catching, namely, the pickerel.

The facts of the case are simply these. For a period of about ten days or two weeks in the early spring pike, pickerel, and suckers come up the Napanee river to the falls. Few, if any, pike are taken from the river, but a considerable number of our citizens frequent the rapids, and with scoop nets manage to secure a few fish for their own use, while others make it a business proposition and catch the pickerel and sell them to the people of Napanee. And it might be said right here that the people of Napanee would never enjoy a good feed of this wholesome fish if these men were prohibited from catching them as all pickerel otherwise caught are shipped to the United States or outside markets.

The people of Napanee have enjoyed the privilege of fishing at the falls for the past sixty or seventy years, and have never been molested, and it certainly does look as if the prohibiting of this practice is decidedly unjust.

A petition has been circulated, and signed by some four or five hundred of Napanee citizens, and in a few days will be forwarded to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries praying that licenses be granted allowing the catching of fish at the falls as heretofore.

Before buying Wall Paper don't fail to see our new Spring designs and get our prices. They are better than ever. At Hooper's Drug Store.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

By the Canadian Forestry Association.

Q. I am told that artificial silk is made out of Canadian spruce wood. What is the difference between artificial and real silk?

A. Artificial silk is practically the same substance chemically as natural silk, the resort and test tube of the chemist having been called upon to convert woodpulp into cellulose and then into silk by mechanical processes, just as the silk worm within its body converts the mulberry leaf into cellulose and then spins its cocoon. The artificial silk goods are sometimes harsher in feeling than the natural, but advanced manufacture is rapidly eliminating this defect.

Q. How many men are employed in Canada's lumber industry and what are they paid in wages?

A. There are about sixty thousand men and their wages run to sixty million dollars a year. There are approximately four thousand wood manufacturing establishments in Canada outside of the pulp and paper industry.

Q. Is it possible for this Ontario municipality to obtain free trees from the Ontario Government Nurseries and to get free supervision of the planting work?

A. At the last session of the Ontario Legislature, provision was made for supplying to any municipality which previously has come into possession of an area of waste land free tree stock from the Government Nursery and supervision of the planting work at the government expense. It is also provided that the timber from such land at maturity shall be the property of the municipality. The government gets nothing out of it except the performance of a highly important public duty.

Q. Is there much likelihood of lumber and wood products in general becoming cheaper in the next five years?

A. There probably will be variations in the present market but the prospects for what our grandfathers would call cheap lumber and cheap paper are rather dim. We are using up our forest wealth in Canada far faster than nature is growing it and forest fires are destroying many times what we annually cut. To keep our forests in productive condition more money must be spent upon forest protection, upon the burning of debris, the combatting of forest insect diseases and other conservative measures. The product of the forest must stand this increased cost so that it is very doubtful if we will ever see again Canadian lumber and pulp and paper products at old-fashioned prices. The trouble is that we Canadians have been living not on the annual increment of interest of the forest, but taking a large slice of capital as well. This of course must stop or the nation will face actual timber bankruptcy.

YOUR TEETH.

THE FIFTY-TWO TEETH.

By Rea Proctor McGee, D.D.S., M.D., Editor "Oral Hygiene"

Every normal person will have in his lifetime fifty-two teeth, as many teeth as there are weeks in the year.

There are twenty teeth in the temporary set and thirty-two in the permanent set. In each jaw the temporary teeth will consist of two central incisors, two lateral incisors, two cuspids, two first molars and two second molars.

There are no bicuspid teeth and no third molars in the temporary set; these are found only in the permanent teeth.

Nature's method of erupting or cutting the teeth is peculiar.

The temporary teeth in baby's jaws are developed in a little groove just like planting corn in a furrow in the field.

These little teeth have the enamel formed first and then the roots. The teeth do not begin to erupt until a bony covering is grown from the edges of the developmental groove completely over the tops of the baby teeth.

Then as soon as this job is complete, nature at once begins to absorb the layer of bone so recently grown over the tops of these teeth and presently the teeth, with the aid of blood pressure, push their way through bone and gum into the mouth.

The permanent teeth form more deeply in the jaw and of course as they are more perfect, they form more slowly.

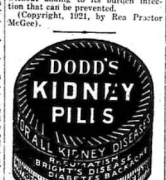

When all of the baby teeth are in place the little jaws are literally crowded with teeth; twenty in place in the mouth, and thirty-two more or less developed teeth yet concealed beneath the bone.

Does it not seem good judgment to take care of the permanent teeth so that abscesses will not form about their roots? Just think of the damage that infection from baby teeth can do to these crowded little jaws.

There are no other bones in the body that have other organs developing within them.

Only the jaw bones have, in a lifetime, fifty-two holes punched in them by Nature to accommodate fifty-two additional organs. A healthy jaw has as much work to do as it can handle without adding to its burden infection that can be prevented.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

The many friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. James Dowling, Enterprise, gathered at their home on Tuesday evening, February 7th, the fifth anniversary of their marriage, and presented them with two rocking chairs and a parlor table.

The following address was read by Miss Goodfriend:—

It is with great pleasure that we are assembled here this evening to celebrate the fifth anniversary of your marriage. Our good wishes go with you to your new home, which we are happy to know is not far away. We trust that our good will will compensate for this small token of remembrance.

It is our wish that prosperity, health and happiness will be yours for many years.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors,

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Kenny.
Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Dowling.
Mr. and Mrs. John Scanlin.

Constipation

It is a disease-producing malady, and if not corrected may result in serious complications. In good health the bowels should move daily at least once every day, carrying away the waste products from the Blood and Liver. If this function fails or is irregular, the work of removing the poisons falls on the skin and Kidneys, with the result of the latter organs becoming congested and overtaxed. The Blood becomes poisoned. Indigestion sets in, the Kidneys become deranged, and a severe if not fatal illness is brought on. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS correct this trouble by its action on the Liver, causing a healthy flow of Bile, and exerting a soothing and tonic influence on the whole Intestinal Track. 50c. and $1.00 a box at Hooper's Drug Store, Napanee. CUSTOM HATCHING.

The poultry business leads all other branches on the farm as a profit maker. Just think of over 90 tons of dressed poultry being sold in our town on only 2 days last fall at very high prices. This amount represents less than two-thirds of the poultry sold in this county last year. Then when you take into account the eggs which amounted to over $100,000, a grand total of $225,000. Are you getting your share of this great money making industry. If not, start in now.

In order to help you get started right, The M. B. Mills Co. will do custom hatching at reduced rates. We will also take orders for Day-old chicks of the popular breeds.

We are agents for the best Incubators made, the celebrated Buckeye Hot Water machines; also best Hovers. Can give clear instructions with the machines running before your eyes, so anybody can easily learn to handle them. Remember the most important thing is to have your chicks hatched early when you want them in good numbers, not waiting in disappointment for the clucking hens. Get your orders in now and be ready.

We buy and sell poultry any day the year round.

Mongolian Warfare.

A curious form of warfare is carried on in the mountains of Northern China which are inhabited by bands of wild sheep and brigands. Usually the brigands are well-behaved, but occasionally, when scouts bring word that valuable cargo is about to pass, they forget their manners and swoop down upon the caravan. Each time the brigands make a foray the Chinese soldiers return the raid. Occasionally there are real fights, and blood may flow on both sides, but sometimes the battle takes a different form. With horrible howls the soldiers may march out to the hills. Through "middlemen" both sides have agreed upon the battle ground; from the soldiers a "David" is chosen to meet the "Goliath" of the brigands. But, though David's sling is well stuffed with rifle shells, he is particularly careful to leave his rifle behind. Goliath advances to the combat armed only with a bag of silver dollars. Then an even trade ensues—a dollar for each cartridge! The bugles sound merrily as the soldiers return to the city. Then the commander sends a report to Peking of a desperate battle with the brigands. He says that the bandits have been dispersed, and that hundreds of cartridges were exposed in the fight; therefor, kindly send more as soon as possible. All that, we are told, because the Government has an unfortunate way of forgetting to pay its soldiers in the outlying provinces.

One-Book Authors.

How many writers share the distinction of the late Olive Schreiner in being known as the author of one book? "The Story of an African Farm" caused an immense sensation when it appeared, and nothing else that Mrs. Schreiner wrote afterwards came anywhere near it in popularity. One might almost call Defoe a one-book author, for what of all the amount he wrote do we recall beyond "Robinson Crusoe"? Cervantes' "Don Quixote" also stands alone. Mrs. Beecher Stowe wrote many books, but nothing equal to "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Thomas Day was certainly a one-book man with "Sandford and Merton." And what else did Henry Cockton write beside "Valentine Vox"?

RECOLLECTIONS OF MY CHILDHOOD.

When I am sitting all alone,
And I have nought to do,
I often think of the distant past,
And old visions come anew.

I think of dear old Morven,
Where I spent my childhood days;
And old memories come back to me,
In many different ways.

But I've quite forgotten the nightly prayer
I said at mother's knee,
It's the only thing to my great regret
Which has left my memory.

I remember mother's kisses well,
As she tucked me in my bed;
How I wish those days would come again,
But they are past and fled.

I remember well the old school-house,
And my first days at school,
Where I received my first instructions,
Mostly from a wooden rule.

Miss Harris was the mistress then,
But her teaching now is done;
For she soon gave up her office;
And she married Teddy Lund.

Miss Annie Brown then took the seat,
For years she held the macy;
And well she used her wooden rule,
When we failed to keep our place.

Then she resigned and for awhile
She lived retired life,
Then Carr Parrott fell in love with her
And she became his wife.

Miss Edna File next taught the school
She was a gracious dame,
But she also soon resigned,
And Laura Rockwell came.

She too, was good, but did not stay,
She very soon resigned;
Then Olive Salisbury stepped in,
And she was very kind.

And that same year that Olive came,
Thank God, (although I was a fool),
I succeeded in passing the Entrance,
And left the public school.

I remember well the little church,
And the folks who gathered there,
To worship God each Sunday morn,
The priest was A. L. McTear.

And now I see Old Grandma Lloyd,
I remember her right well,
She died about twelve years ago,
Bob Jackson tolled the bell.

I remember Seymour Kellar well,
Eight years ago he died;
Mrs. Kellar, too, has passed away,
And now lies by his side.

And I think of my dear old Grandsire
Who died at eighty-one,
I hoped to see him once again,
But God, "Thy will be done".

My dear old grandmother still survives
And lives in Morven town;
I hope she still will be alive,
The next time I go down.

And I remember everything,
And never can forget,
The days I spent in old Morven,
For I have those memories yet.

And though I may be far away,
My mind at times I swear,
Will wander back to old Morven,
And linger for hours there.

G. H. Ruttan,
Toronto.

Teacher Says She Found Them Good

Miss Thereault Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

Popular New Brunswick Lady Furnishes Some of the Reasons Why Dodd's Kidney Pills are Suffering Women's Best Friend.

Upper Pokemouche, N.B., Feb. 13th (Special.)—"I can conscientiously recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all persons afflicted with any form of kidney trouble."

So says Miss Celine Thereault, the popular school teacher here. And Miss Thereault adds that she knows out of her own experience that Dodd's Kidney Pills are good. "I have experienced great benefit from this medicine since I have been troubled with kidney trouble. I always find results from using them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are known from one end of Canada to the other as suffering women's best friend. They are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They strengthen the kidneys to do their full work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. Sound kidneys mean good health. Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make sound kidneys.

The Boy Was Right.

One of our great public schools had a headmaster whose name was Bird. So tempting a target was hard for the boys to resist. Once on sending into the classroom the master found his class gazing with such profound gravity either at their desk lid or at the ceiling that he looked round for symptoms of trouble. Sure enough, on the blackboard was written the quotation—

"Hail to thee, blithe spirit—
Bird thou never wert."

"Who wrote that?" the master demanded angrily. There was dead silence for a moment, and then a small, thin, studious-looking boy in the back row and replied, "Please, sir, I think it was Shelley."

Raft for Japan.

A Japanese firm will make an attempt to raft timber from British Columbia to Japan. The raft will be of the Hawaiian type, with a superstructure of piled logs strongly lined. Twenty years ago a raft made the journey from San Francisco to China, favored by exceptional weather.

"Willie!"
"Yes, mamma."
"What in the world are you pinching the baby for?" "Let him alone!" "Aw, I ain't doin' nuthin'! We're only playin' automobile, an' he's th' horn."

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

North—Has Alice any of the old-fashioned virtues?

West—I suppose so—most of them are.

One of the commonest complaints of infants is worms, and the most effective application for them is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.

"Don't kick about our coffee. You may be old and weak yourself, some day."—Sign in a restaurant in Marion, Ohio.

Corns are caused by the pressure of tight boots, but no one need be troubled with them long when so simple a remedy as Holloway's Corn Remover is available.

He (lingering in the hall)—And, dearest, we shall grow old together, you and I.

Her father's voice—Well, you need not start doing it down there, need you?

The use of Miller's Worm Powders insures healthy children so far as the ailments attributable to worms are concerned. A high mortality among children is traceable to worms. These sap the strength of infants so that they are unable to maintain the battle for life and succumb to weakness. This preparation gives promise of health and keeps it.

Willie (to his father who had recently married the second time)—There's a shop in the High Street just like you, daddie.

Father—Shop like me? What' do you mean?

Willie (getting near to the door)—Why, it's under entirely new management.

Ar Oil That is Prized Everywhere.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was put upon the market without any flourish over fifty years ago. It was put up to meet the wants of a small section, but as soon as its merits became known it had a whole continent for a field, and it is now known and prized throughout this continent. There is nothing equal to it.

Speaking of white mule, two rustic sports were uncertainly fivvering their way home from the county seat.

"Bill," said Henry, "I wancha to very careful. Firs' thing y' know you'll have us in a ditch."

"Me?" said Bill in astonishment. "Why I thought you was drivin'."

Mr. McDougal (to the minister, his guest during the festive season)—Are ye a teetotaler?

Minister—Weel, no—not strict.

Mr. McDougal—Ah, then, ye'll no be wantin' lemonade or ginger-beer or suchlike rubbish; but ye'll just tak' what we tak'—plain wa'er.

An Oil for All Men.—The sailor, the soldier, the fisherman, the lumberman, the out-door laborer and all who are exposed to injury and the elements will find in Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil a true and faithful friend. To ease pain, relieve colds, dress wounds, subdue lumbago and sweeny, and ameliorate, it is excellent. Therefore, it should have a place in all household medicines and those taken on a journey.

Out in Wyoming a train ran over the cow of a Swede farmer named Ole Olesson. The claim adjuster went out to the home of Ole to adjust the claim likely to be made by Ole for the loss of his cow.

"Well, Mr. Olesson," said the claim adjuster, "I came out to see you about your cow being killed on our track. What are you expecting to do about it?"

"Vell," said Ole stolidly. "I ban a poor man, an' I cannot do much be-cause I ban so poor, but vill try to pay you five dollars."

SCIENCE AND LIFE.

Things Accomplished by the Modern Man.

"Can any one doubt human progress on a long view?" asks Prof. J. Arthur Thomson in his new book, "The Control of Life."

"Modern man," he says, "has made the ether carry his messages; he can hear from afar the cry of the ship in distress upon the sea; he can make X-rays drive out and illuminate rifles hundreds of miles from the marksman; he has harnessed electricity to Man's chariot and added the depths of the sea and the heights of the air to his navigable kingdom. Already science is making bread out of the thin air, working miracles in the conquest of plague and pestilence, and controlling the inheritance of generations unborn. Can any one doubt human progress on a long view?

"The facts of organic evolution compel us to believe in progress, and the same is probably true in regard to human history. But reasoned scepticism as to the entity of progress (as in the recent Studies of Prof. Bury and Dean Inge) is very useful. For have no right to assume that mere carrying on, or even struggling on, is progress, i.e., movement in the direction of realizing what the racial consciousness holds to be of most value.

"Man's ideals are the reaching forward of his desires when he is at his best, and progress is an integrated movement towards their further embodiment. So in our definition of progress we must give first place to those values that we are surest about—the truth and the beauty of it, the beautiful and the making of it, the good and the doing of it. These values we call absolute, because they are desirable as ends in themselves, because we cannot have too much of them, because they never bring satiety, because they are their own reward, and because as civilization deepens they have an increasing survival value.

"Times and ideas are changing, and there is a broadening conception that Science is for Life, not Life for Science. Even the philosophers have begun to tell with their wonted clarity that the systematization of knowledge for the evolution of a more perfect society is Man's supreme duty.

"The true, the beautiful and the good are supreme values — intellectual, emotional, spiritual—the ideals of head, heart, and hand."

Keeping Celery.

At a constant temperature of 32 degrees Fahr., celery can be kept for several months, and placed on the market as fresh looking as the day it was cut. Recent experiments at the Ontario Government. Cold Storage Station at Brighton, bear out this statement, which knowledge will prove of immense value to growers.

To obtain the best results from cold storage, celery should be well grown, partially bleached, cut with part root on, with a little rough age left for protection; and finally cut, hauled and placed in cold storage the same day.

If home-made lime-sulphur solution is to be used, make it now-and store till needed.

Insects that eat the foliage must be kept in check by spraying, with a poison they will eat, like paris green or arsenate of lead.

NEARLY CRAZY WITH PAINS IN BACK

Read How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Mrs. Beecroft

Hamilton, Ontario.—"I have suffered for three years from female trouble and consequent weakness, pain and irregularity which kept me in bed four or five days each month. I nearly went crazy with pains in my back, and for about a week at a time I could not do my work. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Hamilton Spectator' and I sent for it. Now I have no pain and am quite regular unless I overwork or bruise my feet from early morning until late at night. I keep house and do all my own work without any trouble. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to several friends."—Mrs. Emily Moncrief, 16 Douglas St., Hamilton, Ontario.

For nearly fifty years women have been telling how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This shows what a tremendous demand for it from coast to coast.

If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It has helped others, let it help you.

CANADA FOLLOWING GREAT BRITAIN.

The London Grocers' Gazette for January 8th, states that the consumption of Tea in Great Britain and Ireland has increased 34 per cent. since 1913. They now use about nine pounds per head per annum in the United Kingdom, and the increase in 1921 over the previous year amounted to 17 million pounds. This enormous consumption accounts for the great rise in the price of tea.

The consumption of Tea in Canada only amounts to 4½ pounds per head per annum, but it is increasing.

The new candy, "Golden Meltaways", is most delicious. Sold in bulk or in boxes, at Wallace's Drug Store.

VALENTINE PARTY.

Mrs. J. Goale Daly entertained at a delightful Supper Party on Wednesday evening last.

The hostess wore a pretty Irish costume, while her mother, Mrs. Richards, was just her own sweet self in black silk with old lace. The charming personality of this dear lady, who is almost ninety, added greatly to the pleasure of the guests.

Bright red tulips enlivened the living-room and library, giving one the first breath of spring. A buffet supper was served at seven, the dining table, with its handsome Valentine centre, huge basket of daffodils, red hearts and streamers, being most attractive. Little Celestine, as Cupid, was a dainty little fairy, as she helped serve the guests, and even the menu, carried out the idea of the day, with its heart-shaped delicacies.

The costumes also did honor to the good old Saint. Mrs. W. P. Deroche represented Martha Washington; Mrs. C. Shorey, Queen of Hearts; Mrs. W. Snell, Knight of Hearts; Mrs. W. S. Herrington, Spanish Dancer; Mrs. C. I. Mayhew, Italian Princess; Mrs. White, Dolly Varden; Mrs. E. Boyle, Cavalier; Mrs. W. Pruyn, Antique Lady; Mrs. A. Dafoe, 18th Century Lass; Mrs. W. Milsap, Girl of Victorian Order; Miss Anselstine, 1922; Miss Grange, 1922; Mrs. J. Soby, Dutch Lady; Mrs. W. Smith, Bride; Mrs. Coleman, Jenny Wren, and Mrs. Geo. Thompson, the busy housewife.

Bridge was played during the evening, the prizes being won by Mrs. Pruyn, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Coleman.

After the game, a vote by ballot, was taken, as to the best costume, Mrs. W. P. Deroche receiving the special prize.

OBITUARY.

The many friends of Thomas Edward Furrs, Colebrook, Ont., will be sorry to learn of his death at Kingston General Hospital last Monday, February 13th. He was sick only a short time and passed away very peacefully. He was a member of Colebrook Methodist Church, a member of the Chosen Friends, and also of the Orange Lodge. He had been a resident of Colebrook for a number of years, having taught school there, and was highly esteemed by all his pupils. He was very well known throughout the entire community, and will be missed in many neighborhoods. During the war he was very patriotic, and gladly sent his two sons, Luther H. and Shibley John A., across to do their duty, and was more than thankful when both returned. The funeral was held in Colebrook Methodist Church on Tuesday afternoon, under the auspices of the Orange Lodge. Rev. Mr. Down conducted the services. The floral offering was a beautiful pillow from the children. He was born on March 3rd, 1865, near Lapum. His wife, Mary Agnes Cambridge, of Yarker, predeceased him twenty years ago. He leaves to mourn his loss, three daughters, Mrs. Evelyn E. Gordon, of New York City; Mrs. Beatrice Turner, of Pennsylvania, U.S., and Miss Deborah Thompson, of Sydenham; three sons, Thomas Percival, of Napanee; Luther H., of Colebrook, and Shibley John A., of the Dominion Bank, Napanee; two brothers, Luther, of Longmont, Colo., and Arthur, of Chicago. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

ENTERPRISE EAST.

The light fall of snow on Sunday has greatly improved the sleighing, which had become very scanty owing to the mild weather over the week-end. We trust the weather man will not treat us much longer to the exceedingly cold weather we are receiving at present. —The farmers of this vicinity are busy getting their wood cut, as there is no scarcity of machines this year.—Quite a number from here attended the ball in Verona on Friday evening. — The entertainment in the young women's hall on Monday evening was not as largely attended as usual, owing to the cold weather, but all who were present report a good time. The last one of the season will be held on Monday, February 27th.—Quite a number of our local sports are looking forward to the horse races to be held on Beaver Lake on Friday, March 3rd, and if the weather is favorable this vicinity will be well represented.—Mr. Daniel Kidd left on Tuesday to spend a few days in Toronto.—Mr. John Spratt, of Toledo, is spending a short vacation with friends in this vicinity. — Mr. John Spratt spent a couple of days last week in Toronto and Peterboro'. — Mr. and Mrs. Michael Canagy were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Clair on Sunday.—Mr. Edward Foster left on Saturday to spend a few days with his parents in Treston.—Mr. and Mrs. William Owens returned to Toronto on Sunday, after spending the past few months with relatives here.

Address and Presentation.

About seventy of the neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Asselstine, Hawley, met at their home on Tuesday evening, Feb. 7th, and took them by surprise, and presented them with the following :—

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Asselstine and Eyelyn.

Dear Friends,—We, your friends and neighbors, have assembled here to-night for the purpose of spending a social evening, and to extend our gratitude to you, having learned that you are about to move from our midst in the near future and that the chain which binds our community circle has once more become impaired. Mrs. Asselstine was a member of the Ladies' Aid and W. M. S., of which she has always been an active worker, and Evelyn also, who is a member of our Mission Band. Notwithstanding the fact that we are very sorry to learn of your departure, but when we consider the cause for which you are leaving, we are proud to know that it is not more pleasant ideals which you are seeking. But we feel that knowing your circumstances, that it is somewhat of a sacrifice which you are making, absolutely through love and devotion to those whom many years of life's responsibility have rendered them somewhat incapacitated.

And upon your removal to your new home you carry with you the good wishes of health and prosperity from your many friends; and when you have completed your duties here on earth you will receive your reward from Him only who has greater blessings to bestow.

We now ask you, on behalf of your neighbors and wide circle of friends to accept this dinner wagon and tray as a slight remembrance of esteem in which you are held.

Signed on behalf of your friends,
Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hawley.
Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Smith.

Mr. Asselstine, on behalf of Mrs. Asselstine and family, responded in a very able and touching manner, assuring his friends that there would always be a welcome at their new home near Napanee.

H. W. Gallagher will sell by public auction for James E. King, north of Shannonville, some time in February, all his high grade stock and implements, consisting of 20 head of cattle and horses, hay and grain. See bills later on. Wait for this high class sale. H. W. Gallagher, Auctioneer. Dorland. 1tf

MARLBANK ANNIVERSARY

The Jubilee anniversary of the Marlbank Methodist Church on February 12th and 13th marked in a fitting way an interesting milestone in the history of church life in Marlbank.

On Sunday morning and evening Rev. E. B. Cooke, of Newburgh, Chairman of the Napanee District, preached appropriate and inspiring sermons to audiences that filled the church. The music at the morning service was rendered by the choir of the church, and in the evening was given by the choir of Tamworth Union Church.

On Monday evening a bountiful tea was served by the ladies of the church in the Orange Hall, after which a programme of music and recitations and addresses was given to an audience that filled the hall.

The pastor, Rev. W. H. Clarke, introduced as chairman of the evening, Mr. G. H. Richardson, of Tamworth, who presided in his usual happy way, and recalled having been present at the opening of the church fifty years ago, and gave interesting reminiscences of the church life of that day as he had known it as a boy.

Mr. A. D. Allan, of Marlbank, representing those who had been connected with the building of the church, in a brief address spoke of some memories of the circumstances that led up to the building and dedication half a century ago. There are still active in the membership of the church several who were connected with it in that early period.

Rev. J. A. Poston, Rector of the Anglican Church, and Rev. C. J. Wilson, of the Roblin Methodist Circuit, brought the kindly greetings of their congregations in messages that were much appreciated.

With a feeling of deep gratitude for God's blessing in the past and with a hopeful outlook, the congregation expect to renovate their present building and to continue with interest and success the work of the church.

Currants and Gooseberries.

If a currant or gooseberry plantation is properly cared for, at least equal to ten crops may be expected before it becomes unprofitable because of its age. Productive fields over twenty years old are not uncommon in many sections. Although the number of years a plantation will continue in good bearing condition depends to some extent on the location and soil, the most important factor is the care which it receives. The period of productiveness of both currant and gooseberry plants is longer in northern regions than toward the southern limits of their culture and longer on heavy soil than on sandy soil.

In gardens where the available land is limited in extent, currants and gooseberries may well be planted among the tree fruits and left there permanently. The shade of the trees protects the fruits from sunscald, and the foliage is usually healthier in such locations than when grown where it is freely exposed to the sun.

A place with good air drainage is preferred for gooseberries. In low, damp places mildew attacks both fruit and foliage more severely than on higher sites where the air circulation is better. Currants, however, are seldom severely attacked by mildew. Therefore, when the site is a sloping one, currants may be planted on the lower parts and gooseberries above. As both fruits blossom very early in the spring, neither should be planted in low pockets where late spring frosts may kill the flowers.

Gooseberries ordinarily are propagated by mound layers. The part from which layers are to be procured should be cut back heavily before it begins to grow in the spring. By July it will have sent out numerous vigorous shoots. These may be pinched with earth half way to the tips of the shoots. By autumn the shoots will have rooted. Those with strong roots may then be cut off and set in the nursery, to be grown for one or two years before planting in the field. If tip roots are not well developed, it will be better to leave the shoots attached to the parent plant for a second year.

Wall Papers For 1922

Of late years many housekeepers have done most of their Painting and Paper Hanging in the months of February and March, for the reason, principally, that the man then secure the services of the paper hanger more easily than later in the season. We have in stock as good a selection of Canadian made Paper as can be had in the Dominion, which we are offering at the very lowest prices—quite a reduction from last year. We also have also sample books of American, English, and French goods, the very highest class, and at prices from 25 to 50 per cent. lower than is charged by the dealer in the Town. We are positively no delay in the delivery of these papers. They will be here the second day after the selection is made. We invite intending purchasers to look through our samples and get our prices.

We have a new stock of Window Shades of the different grades, which we are offering at prices we know to be the very lowest.

We will have a full line of Window Poles, and the various fittings connected therewith.

We are busy every day with the Pictures for Framing, but contrive to manage it so there will be no disappointment. A new stock comprises some very taking lines.

Come in and see the stocks. We will be pleased to show them.

THE HORSE AS A MOTOR

Old Dobbin Something More Than a Mere Machine.

He Is Largely a Self-feeder — Does Not Rust When Resting — Has Horse Sense — Keep an Annual Inventory — How to Select the Breeding Ram.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The horse is, and will continue to be, the principal farm motor for an indefinite period. There are approximately 1,500,000 horses in Canada, all of which are used as a source of motor power. One and a half million may not seem to be a large number, but if we were to place the horses in the Dominion head and tail in one long parade line, they would reach from Halifax to Vancouver. So there is some horse flesh left in Canada, notwithstanding statements to the contrary by people interested in the manufacture of mechanical motors.

About the Farm Horse.

The farm horse as a farm motor differs from the mechanical farm motor in that it is self-feeding, self maintaining, self reproducing, and self controlling. These qualities give the horse a tremendous advantage over the mechanical devices used for field work on the farms and for haulage on the roads.

The Horse Largely a Self Feeder.

Self feeding means a lot. There is no carburator on the horse; nor are spark plug required. Green grass, good clean hay and oats, the products of the fields in which the horse labors, produce the energy that keeps up the horse's body, and keeps him going as a motor while labor is being performed.

The Animal Motor a Reliable One.

Within the horse's body cavity there is a wonderful self maintaining motor. The heart, the lungs, and the digestive organs make an engine combination of great efficiency. This hidden motor made of flesh, blood and tissue keeps tight, and makes its own repairs. Furthermore, the horse motor develops pep, or places in reserve energizing substances that may be used on demand. The mechanical motor when at rest does not improve nor grow stronger as does the horse, but frequently wastes or rusts. The high cost of gasoline, oil and motor mechanic service, together with the too frequent neglect that is accorded tractors on many farms, has resulted to the advantage of the faithful horse.

Old Dobbin Has Horse Sense.

Old Dobbin is also possessed of horse sense. No mechanical motor yet devised has possessed this function. Fuel for the horse motor is grown on the farm, and all profits remain on the farm. There is no tax on it either.—Lionel Stevenson, Secretary Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

ANNUAL INVENTORY.

Keep a Record of What You Own and What It Is Worth.

The man on the land can learn much about his own farming operations by taking an inventory each year. No form of record will give so much information about the year's work as will an inventory properly taken at a definitely fixed date each year. The usual time for taking an inventory of the farm business is in March, when there is least crop to unsold produce on hand. The inventory of any ordinary farm can be taken in a half day, so there is no excuse on account of shortage of time. The information gained about the farm business through the study made possible by inventory taking is worth many times the expenditure of time and effort.

For convenience in keeping the farm inventory any blank record book with pages wide enough to permit spacing for a number of columns can be used, and it need not accommodate the entries for a number of years so much the better.—L. Stevenson, Secretary, Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

How to Select the Breeding Ram.

Select a ram that possesses scale, but not to the extent that he is lacking in quality. A well developed ram as a rule transmits these characteristics to his offspring. He should be masculine in appearance, which is indicated by the carriage and boldness of head, short face, good width between the eyes, large open nostrils and an absence of feminine characters in general.

A ram should show good strength of back and depth of body especially through the chest, with good width between fore legs and well sprung ribs. He should be closely made, that is, good depth, width of body, and short on legs.

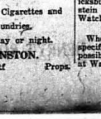

The fleece should also be considered as to density, fineness and freedom from black fibres, with a skin that is pink in color, indicating that he is in good condition.

Purchase a pure-bred ram if possible, as blood will count largely and results will be seen in the quality of lambs. Breed character should be considered as it is very important, more especially in pure-bred flocks. Price is relatively low and it pays to buy the best.

Head lettuce requires cool moist weather to head well. The loose leaf sorts are best for warm weather.

Prepare orchards for spraying for San Jose Scale and other pests by pruning and scraping off loose bark.

Remember that all seed corn and root seeds are secured from the best sources available, and are in ample quantities for spring seeding.

"They like to do business with people they know."

Makes Neighbors of his Customers!

"YES, people wonder at my success in being able to increase sales, but there is really no secret to it. One night when my business was at its worst, in a heart-to-heart talk with myself I worked out these facts:—

"It has always been easy to do business with my neighbors, because I could meet them and talk to them. They like to do business with people they know. The only trouble is, the world has grown so large it's hard to meet and be friendly with a lot of people.

"Well, is it?" I asked myself. "If I can make good friends and good customers by meeting them, why can't I meet them and talk to them over the telephone?

"The next day was Wednesday. Wednesday afternoon is a good time to telephone—the wires are not so busy, and after lunch most folks feel friendly. I called up by Long Distance three men I've long wanted to sell—men who have never been in my store, introduced myself in an easy friendly fashion, and offered them some real bargains. Say, do you know, two of these men came in to see me the next day and bought a good bill? They're good friends of mine now. I've got over 50 new customers like that in a short time.

"Just being neighborly is the secret of building up business. At some time or other I manage to telephone nearly every customer we've got. Does them good. Does me good. Personal solicitation is still the one best way of making a sale."

Accidents!

Be prepared! Get Zam-Buk to-day! Prove for yourself how, directly this magical herbal balm, is applied to a cut, burn, scald or wound, all soreness and inflammation disappear and healing starts.

Zam-Buk's pain-soothing, disease-dispelling and skin growing powers create amazement everywhere. It stands supreme whether regarded as a first-aid for simple injuries or remedy for obstinate skin diseases.

Mr. B. Hager, of Edmonton, says: "Zam-Buk is speedy healing beats 'em, but recommend everywhere.

"One day I was opening pineapple when the can-opener slipped and the rough edged tin edge ripped open a two-inch wound in the palm of my hand. The pain was fearful and the blood simply spouted out.

Having a bottle of Zam-Buk handy I immediately applied some, and to my great relief the pain was quickly ended and bleeding stopped. For sores and wounds Zam-Buk leaves everything else far behind." Also for eczema, cold-sores, bad legs, ulcers, abscesses, piles, ring worm, poisoned wounds, etc. 50c. box.

CANADA'S LEADING ASSURANCE COMPANY CELEBRATES JUBILEE.

BUSINESS IN FORCE OF SUN LIFE NOW OVER FIVE HUNDRED MILLIONS.

The figure which have this week been submitted to the public by the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada bear eloquent testimony to the fact that the Canadian public have adhered closely to their traditions of thrift, through a period of trade depression and widespread readjustment. The fact that, in the face of decreased income and dull business, our people have continued to make large-scale provision for the protection of their families, indicates the stability of the national character, the possession of a deep sense of domestic responsibility and a firm reliance upon the strength and soundness of Canadian financial institutions.

The volume of assurance borne upon the books of the Company has reached the enormous figure of over $536,000,000.00. The total income from premiums, interest and other sources is far in excess of anything hitherto earned. At the present moment it is considerably more than $100,000 a day for every working day of the year. No less a sum than $11,967,669.00 was paid to policy-holders or their beneficiaries during the year, which brings the amount paid out since the Company's foundation in 1865, up to $114,155,033.00. A striking expansion of the Company's assets is another significant fact. A surplus is disclosed of $16,183,899.00 over all liabilities and capital stock. This surplus, both in fact and proportionately, marks the year that has just closed as being phenomenal, even in the history of a company which has been busily engaged in breaking records for over half a century.

Judging by the exceptionally low mortality figures which the Sun Life can show, the people of Canada never before experienced such good health as during 1921. The figures, as regards the number of deaths among insured lives, are far below all previous records. That, side by side with this good physical health, the nation is sound morally and mentally, is evidenced by the fact that the new protection applied for during the year totalled over $107,000,000.

The results anticipated for 1921, fraught as the year was with industrial and financial worries, both international and domestic, might well have been regarded with apprehension. The Sun Life has, within the last thirty years, carried the good name of the Dominion into many lands, and all of them quite as fortunately situated as Canada. The fact that the Company has emerged from what must be regarded as a period of deep depression with such encouraging results, and with all its previous achievements beaten, speaks volumes of the care, forethought and energy with which it has studied and conformed to world conditions.

By more than maintaining its old standard of advancement, the Sun Life has established the fact that Canada is capable of producing business concerns which are entitled to hold the highest place, not only here in the Empire, but among the great financial institutions of the whole world.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a tonic which has been used for many years in thousands of cases, to build up the health of the body, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

RHEUMATISM
LUMBAGO NEURITIS vs. T.R.C.'s SCIATICA

Have you given up? Have you resigned yourself to that old, gnawing pain that nothing seems to relieve? Do you think because you can't go to Hot Springs or take some expensive treatment that you must suffer? Is there no alternative? We have many cases considered hopeless, tried everything, baths, serums, electricity, with no recovery in using T. R. C.'s (Templeton's Rheumatic Compound). We have thousands of letters that prove beyond doubt that T.R.C.'s to be the most successful scientific rheumatic remedy sold. At druggists, $1.00 per box. See Free Trial notice Templeton, Toronto.

Laundry Destroyed by Fire.

Tuesday morning about 1.30 o'clock fire broke out in the frame building used as a laundry by a Chinaman, on the Market Square, in the rear of the Dominion Bank. An overheated stove is supposed to be the cause of the blaze. The building was owned by Miss Blewett and was valued at $500.00. The Chinaman who conducts the laundry was away when the fire broke out and lost all his equipment and personal belongings.

Special Notice.

In St. Andrew's Church, Napanee, on Wednesday, Feb. 22nd, there will be two sessions of the Lennox and Addington Sunday School Council. We are fortunate in securing as speakers two of the leading Sunday School specialists in the Dominion, viz., Rev. Dr. Robertson, General Secretary of the Sunday Schools and Young People's Societies of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and Rev. T. A. Halpenny, B.A., B.D., General Superintendent of the Ontario Religious Education Council. Afternoon session begins at 2 o'clock; evening session at 7.30 o'clock. It is hoped that a large representative crowd of Church and Sunday School workers from all over our County will be present on this occasion to greet these big men, who are doing such valuable service in this very important branch of the church's work. 7a

Valentine's Tea.

The I. O. E. Tea given on the afternoon of St. Valentine's Day, in the Lounge at Mr. Neely's very popular store, was a decided success in every way. The tea-room made a charming picture with its Valentine decorations in pretty bright red. The table, with its handsome, lacy cloth, basket of red carnations, red candles and hearts, was lighted by the chandelier from which were hung pendants of cupids and hearts suspended by red ribbons. The windows and walls were draped with flags, and attractive valentines were distributed about in all the nooks and corners. Mrs. J. E. Robinson, Mrs. Morley Wilson, Mrs. Corkill and Mrs. Creighton poured tea between the hours of four and six and delicious sandwiches and cakes were served by Mrs. Harry Stacey, Mrs. Percy Ladley, Mrs. Webb and Miss Trumpour. Mrs. W. J. Shannon, Mrs. T. V. Anderson and Mrs. Marshall Bogart were the hostesses for the afternoon. A great deal of fun was created by the voting contest which was held during the tea hour, and Mrs. Marshall Bogart was declared the most popular hostess. Miss Gladys Trumpour was voted the most charming young lady, and both deserve congratulations as a large number of votes were cast. Mrs. Reddick and Miss Casey were in charge of the ballot box.

FORESTERS' "AT HOME".

On Wednesday evening, Feb. 1st, in the Town Hall, Napanee, the officers and members of Court Lennox No. 78 Canadian Order of Foresters, gave a very delightful "At Home" at eight o'clock. The members, their wives and friends, numbering three hundred sat down to the banquet tables which were neatly arranged and prettily decorated, and partook of the many good eatables that had been cooked and supplied by the wives of the members, while Black's 5-piece Orchestra entertained them with excellent and most pleasing music.

Great credit is due Bro. Roy Howie for having the hall so nicely decorated with flags and many colored electric lights.

At nine o'clock the following programme was started:

Toast—"The King"—God Save the King.

Chairman's Address—Bro. Geo. T. Walters.

Community Singing, assisted by Walters' Orchestra.

Toast—"The Canadian Order of Foresters"—They Are Jolly Good Fellows. Responded to by Bro. U. M. Wilson.

Community Singing, assisted by Walters' Orchestra.

Solo—Miss Olive McMillan.

Recitation—Miss W. Smith.

Solo—Bro. F. W. Barrett.

Toast—"Canada"—The Maple Leaf Responded to by Bro. J. G. Loucks.

Community Singing, assisted by Walters' Orchestra.

Solo—Mr. W. V. Lewis.

Toast—"The Ladies"—Here's a Toast to the Ladies. Responded to by Bro. A. B. Paul.

Community Singing, assisted by Walters' Orchestra.

Instrumental Selection—Mr. W. V. Lewis.

Character Song—Bro. F. W. Barrett.

Community Singing, assisted by Walters' Orchestra.

Auld Lang Syne.

The chairman, Bro. Geo. T. Walters, in his address, welcomed all present, on behalf of the members of Court Lennox No. 78 C. O. F., expressing the wish that all would thoroughly enjoy themselves. He also stated that the Court had been instituted in 1888, thirty-four years ago, and was now in a flourishing condition with a membership of over two hundred.

Bro. U. M. Wilson responded most fittingly to the toast, "The Canadian Order of Foresters," especially referring to the splendid class of men who were the High Court officers, and also to the high position that the Canadian Order of Foresters held in Canada as a Fraternal Assessment Insurance Society.

Bro. J. G. Loucks excelled himself in his most splendid response to the toast "Canada", showing that he had made a thorough study of the subject and by his excellent delivery conveyed the idea that the Canadian Order of Foresters was a society purely Canadian, having Canadian ideals for their furtherance.

Bro. A. B. Paul responded to the toast, "The Ladies" in his usual pleasing manner, and his very pretty and appropriate remarks clearly proved that he was a real "ladies' man", and was entitled to respond to such an important toast.

The recitations, solos and instrumental selections were well given and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Everyone heartily joined in the community singing conducted by Bro. C. A. Walters and his Orchestra, which helped to make the night a very successful and enjoyable one.

After the programme was finished they stayed for an hour's pleasant enjoyment of dancing. Walters' Orchestra furnished the music in their usual good style.

As this "At Home" was such a success the members expect to make it an annual event, and all now are looking forward to the next one.

HAY BAY FERRY.

A meeting was held at the Council Chamber on Tuesday evening, of a Committee of the Town Council, the Executive of the Board of Commerce, and Reeve B. Elliott, of South Fredericksburgh, and Reeve J. S. Johnston of Adolphustown.

After considable discussion it was decided that an effort should be made to secure better ferry accommodation across Hay Bay. The present ferry operated by Mr. Ferguson has been well conducted, but it was considered that this ferry was too small to give the proper and desired service.

An effort will be made to interest the Provincial Government in this matter and to this end it was decided to circulate petitions throughout Adolphustown, North and South Fredericksburgh, and Napanee, requesting the Government to establish and maintain a proper ferry service across Hay Bay.

This petition when completed will be presented to the proper department by a joint delegation from the above mentioned municipalities.

Petition forms have been placed in all the Banks in Napanee, also in the following places of business: The Robinson Co., Ltd., F. L. Hooper, J. L. Boyes Son, Wallace Drug Co., F. A. Perry, and The Graham Co.

The petition will also be circulated through the townships mentioned, but any residents of these townships desiring to sign in Napanee, to call at one of the above mentioned places and sign the petition.

MASQUERADE CARNIVAL

AT THE NAPANEE RINK WAS A MOST SUCCESSFUL AND ENJOYABLE AFFAIR.

At the spacious and commodious covered rink on Tuesday evening, there was a very large attendance of skaters in fancy costumes, besides many more who simply went there as their own sweet selves. The grand stand and every available space was filled to capacity with interested onlookers who seemed to enjoy the brilliant scene and the graceful gyrations of the skaters as much as the participants themselves.

The costumes of the masqueraders were quaint, wonderful, strange, weird and beautiful. All the colors of the rainbow were represented and the whole made up a scene of dazzling beauty.

Excellent music was provided by the Napanee Citizens' Band through out the evening and added much to the enjoyment.

There were many performers and others from far and near who were well repaid for their journey to Napanee to take part in the carnival of 1922.

Many of the merchants, business men and the four banks in town generously donated a fine, varied and valuable selection of prizes, which were much valued by the winners.

The Prize-Winners.

Boys' Race, (under 12 years)—Dave Stinson, Ralph Wilson.

Girls' Race, (under 12 years) — Dorothy Lucas, Marion Thompson.

Hurdle Race, (open)—Ray Walker, Clif. Cowel.

Ladies' Race, (over 12 years) — Yvonne Morgraw, Irene Garrison.

Fancy Costume, (girl 12 to 16 years)—Hilda Daly (costume of the early Victorian Period), Marjorie Hill.

Fancy Costume, (lady)—Joy Patterson.

Fancy Costume, (gentleman) — Herb. Holder, Limbert Graham.

Best Gentleman Skater, (alone)—W. Ballance.

Best Lady Skater, (alone)—Mrs. Plumer.

Best Mixed Couple, (costume)—D. W. Killorin, John Pybus.

Best Skaters, (married couple) — No entries.

Possibly the reason for there being no entries for the last event was that the programme stated "costumes necessary".

At the close of the various contests the ice was open to all skaters, and a lively evening was spent.

The management and all concerned deserve the success which they attained.

WILTON.

The death of Mr. Levi Brown, an aged resident of Lapum, near Wilton, occurred on February 17th, following a few weeks' illness of pneumonia. The funeral services were held at the home on Sunday morning. The services were conducted by the Rev. J. H. Latimer. The remains were placed in the Wilton vault. The late Mr. Brown is survived by his widow and one son, Fred, on the homestead; also Miss Marjory Storms has so far recovered from her recent operation to return to her home on Wednesday of last week.—Miss Annie Walker, of Switzerville, spent a few days at the home of Mr. Eldridge Babcock.—Mrs. Robert Miller, Sydenham, spent a few days at the home of Mr. E. J. Miller.—Mr. and Mrs. C. Freeman and two sons, Verona, spent a day recently at the home of Mr. Freeman; Mills.—The Rev. Dr. Baker, of Belleville, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist Church on Sunday evening last.

SANDHURST.

The Girls' Altar Guild, of S. Paul's Church, scored a great success on Thursday evening, when they gave a box social and dance in the Parish Hall. The proceeds were $67.45.—Miss Sarah Carroll, R.N., is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carroll.—Sadly missed from this vicinity are attending the Mission in St. Alban's Church this week. — The Women's Institute met at the home of Miss Bertha Sills, on Tuesday afternoon.—Mrs. Hill, who has been seriously ill for the past two weeks, is now recovering.—Mr. Fred Chapman, Napanee, will take the service in S. Paul's Church on Sunday afternoon.—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hoselton recently entertained a large number of their friends at an oyster supper and dance.

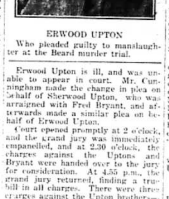

KINGSFORD STATION.

The O'Connor Bros., of Lonsdale, have finished loading for the Cooperage Company, Trenton.—Mrs. R. N. Sampson had the misfortune visiting in Toronto and Belleville.—Mrs. J. Dowdell and Miss Evelyn are back from a week's visit in Montreal. —Mr. and Mrs. Windover spent Sunday at A. Hewitt's.—Mr. G. Gray is visiting friends in Belleville.—Mrs. J. Lockridge's baby is on the sick list. —Mr. P. Mullin visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Marshall. Mr. Mullin is going to reside at the mills in the near future.—A very pleasant evening was spent at Mr. Mac Wilson's, when a number of the young people met on Monday evening, dancing and playing games till the wee hours of the morning.

Uptons Guilty of Manslaughter

Bryant to be Tried for Murder of Late Constable Beard at Fall Assizes

The Beard murder trial which opened Tuesday afternoon, in the Supreme Court, Kingston, before Justice Riddell, took a sensational turn when A. B. Cunningham, acting for Erwood and Sherwood Upton, entered along with Fred. Bryant, with the murder of Night Constable Richard A. Beard, at Napanee, early on the morning of August 28th last, withdrew their plea of "not guilty" to a charge of murder and entered a plea of "guilty" to a charge of manslaughter, and were remanded for sentence. They are at present serving a term of four years in the Portsmouth penitentiary, on a charge of burglary.

ERWOOD UPTON

Erwood Upton is ill, and was unable to appear in court. Mr. Cunningham made the change in plea on behalf of Sherwood Upton, who was arraigned with Fred Bryant, and afterwards made a similar plea on behalf of Erwood Upton.

Court opened promptly at 2 o'clock, and the Grand Jury were again empanelled, and at 2.30 o'clock, the charges against the Uptons and Bryant were handed over to the jury for consideration. At 4.55 p.m., the grand jury returned, finding a true bill in all charges. There were three charges against the Upton brothers, that of murdering Constable Richard A. Beard at Napanee on the morning of August 28th last; attempting to break into Smith's jewelry store, and with breaking into the garage of J. W. Robinson and stealing an auto on the same date and the grand jury brought in a "true bill" in each case.

There were four charges against Bryant, that of murder, receiving stolen goods, attempting to break into Lee Smith's jewelry store, and with breaking into the garage of J. W. Robinson and stealing a car, and in each case the grand jury brought in a "true bill".

The Prisoners Arraigned.

After the grand jury had reported to the court on its findings, Fred. Bryant and Sherwood Upton were brought into the court, and Bryant's counsel fell over the court room as the two were ushered into the dock. They were handcuffed to each other, and were escorted by Governor Joseph Hawkey, of the county jail, and Constable Gerity. Although Sherwood Upton was brought from the "pen", where he and his brother Erwood Upton, are serving a term of four years for burglary, he appeared in civilian clothes. Bryant was also in civilian clothes, as he has been confined in the county jail waiting his trial. Both were well groomed, and looked well in spite of their stay in custody. Sherwood Upton wore an overcoat, as he had to be brought from the "pen", but Bryant had such a short trip from the jail, he did not require one.

FRED. BRYANT

As the prisoners were about to be arraigned, Justice Riddell noticed that they were handcuffed, and gave orders to have their bracelets taken off, stating that they could not be arraigned while handcuffed, and Governor Hawkey slipped the irons off. Bryant appeared to be quite nervous over the ordeal, but Sherwood Upton was very cool and collected, and did not show the least bit of emotion, and all this in spite of the fact that every eye in the court room was focused on him and his companion.

Sherwood Upton was the first to be arraigned, and as the murder charge was read to him, he said "Not guilty" in a very faint voice, and in about the same tone of voice he said "guilty" to the two other charges of attempting to break into Smith's jewelry store and entering the garage of J. W. Robinson and stealing a car.

Although showing signs of nervousness, Fred Bryant said "Not guilty, sir," in a clear voice, when charged with murder, and on three other charges, that of attempting to break into Smith's Jewelry store, breaking into the garage of J. W. Robinson and stealing a car, and with having received stolen goods, he pleased also replied in a clear voice, "Not guilty".

Bryant's wife and also an mother were in court, and the father of the Upton boys was also present.

Erwood Upton Ill.

W. S. Herrington, K.C., Crown Prosecutor, announced that he had received a communication from Warden Ponsford, of the Portsmouth penitentiary, and also a note from the penitentiary surgeon, Dr. W. G. Anglin, to the effect that Erwood Upton was ill, and that he would not be able to appear in court for several days.

Mr. Herrington added that he had sent a surgeon to the "pen" to make an independent examination of the prisoner in question, to see if he could attend the court.

Justice Riddell remarked that under a certain section of an act respecting such a case, he could allow the prisoner to be absent.

Mr. Cunningham informed the court that he had sent his representative to the penitentiary for instructions in the case of Erwood Upton.

At this stage, Crown Prosecutor Herrington announced that Mr. Cunningham wished to speak on behalf of the Upton brothers.

Mr. Cunningham stated that he wished to withdraw the plea of Sherwood Upton of "Not guilty" to the charge of murder and enter a plea of "guilty" to that of "manslaughter."

Mr. Herrington said that he had considered very carefully all the circumstances in connection with the case, and that he believed the ends of justice would be fulfilled in allowing the charge to be reduced to one of "manslaughter".

Justice Riddell remarked that he had not heard any of the evidence, but if the Crown war ready to accept this charge, he too would agree to it.

Mr. Cunningham then made a similar plea for Erwood Upton as the one he made for Sherwood Upton and Justice Riddell remanded both the Uptons for sentence. It is quite probable that the sentence will be announced from Toronto shortly by Justice Riddell.

Bryant's Case Remanded.

Mr. Herrington stated that owing to the illness of Erwood Upton, it would likely be impossible for him to be brought to Napanee, as the Crown has intended, and on this account he would not like at the moment to say whether he could proceed with his evidence, but if it was the intention of the court to sit in the morning to make a final presentation to the Grand Jury, he would like some time to confer with the Crown Attorney and report.

Justice Riddell threw out the suggestion that the case might be put off to a court to be held in April, but after further consideration, Mr. Herrington stated that he did not feel at liberty to proceed with the charges against Bryant, and asked that his case be laid over until the fall assizes.

Justice Riddell stated that in view of the illness of Erwood Upton, who would be regarded as a material witness, there was no reason why the case of Bryant could not be adjourned, and consented to have it go to trial at the fall assizes.

SHERWOOD UPTON

SPRING ASSIZES.

The Spring Assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario opened at the Court House on Tuesday at 11 o'clock a.m., before His Lordship Mr. Justice Logie.

The court room was filled to capacity long before the opening hour arrived, many not having heard that the murder trial had been transferred to Kingston.

The proceedings at this court were extremely short, most of the time being taken up in calling the roll for the Grand Jury and the Petit Jury.

The case against M. Maker occupied about five minutes, and that of Mrs. McQuaig against Perry and Wallace a similar amount of time.

The case against Maker was that Isle and Roy Wazar conspired to commit an indictable offence, that is, same the allegation being that Maker offered Wazar and Thos. M. Walker a sum of money to burn down Wanderland Theatre.

The case of McQuaig vs. Perry and Wallace, was one seeking damages for the death of plaintiff's husband, supposed to be due to defective electrical wiring.

After the Grand Jury had been called and sworn in, W. A. Grange, Crown Prosecutor in the case of Rex vs. Maker, asked that His Lordship charge the Grand Jury to bring in no bill, as the Crown did not consider they were warranted in going on with the case.

In addressing the Grand Jury, His Lordship asked them to bring in a bill against Maker, exclaiming that, while this was an unusual procedure, there was no reason why the parties could not be brought before the court again should anything transpire that would warrant it in this case. W. A. Grange, Crown Counsel; J. F. Madden and E. Gus. Porter for Maker; J. M. Simpson for Plaintiff.

There being no other business of a criminal nature to come before the court, the Petit Jury was called in and immediately dismissed.

Before calling the McQuaig case, His Lordship requested Counsel for the plaintiff and defendant to meet him in his chambers, which was done.

Upon court resuming, His Lordship announced that the above case had been settled, and adjourned court.

The settlement in the McQuaig case, we understand, was to be made about by His Lordship suggesting to the defendants that, while they were not legally liable, it was a matter of charity for them to give the plaintiff, who is now in receipt of money and settle the case. This, while, which was done, the case was solved being $500.00.

Mr. Corner, of Belleville, is for plaintiff; J. F. Madden, K.C., Napanee, and E. Gus Porter, for defendant.

Grand Jury.

W. C. Lloyd, Foreman; J. D. A. Bloom, Samuel Brown, Edwin Bush, Patrick Gleeson, George Hawley, Wm. J. McConnell, Chester Nicholson, Bruce Richardson, George Rikerton Sills, Victor Wagar, Richard Wartman.

Petit Jury.

Arthur Allchorbarck, Alvh. Allen, A. W. Allison, Harvey Avery, C. H. Baker, George Bird, Arthur Bogart, C. B. Brown, Samuel Brown, E. J. Bush, W. H. Campbell, A. A. Connolly, A. L. Dafoe, J. H. S. TOWN COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday night.

Reeve Paul, Councillors Boyes, Ming, Steacy, Tustin and Wilson were present.

His Worship Mayor Graham presided.

A communication was read from the Brantford Chamber of Commerce enclosing copy of resolution for the Council to sanction to be forwarded to the Government, requesting the enactment of legislature that will exclude travelling carnival shows of the questionable sort from entering the Dominion. The country was flooded with this class of shows last year, giving weekly exhibitions in towns and cities. Council approved of the foregoing.

Jas. Poulos applied for a renewal of his pool room license. The same was granted.

A petition was read from John Wilson and others, asking the Council to erect a street light at the corner of Thomas and Richard Streets, which is a particularly dark spot and the sidewalks in a poor state of repair. Referred to the Street Committee to report.

On motion the Street Committee was instructed to look after the drawing of ballast for the streets.

Chairman Tustin, of the Poor and Sanitary Committee, reported work increasing in his department, with frequent demands for coal and wood.

Charles Cornwall appeared before the Council in reference to injuries his wife received by falling on the sidewalk on John St., adjoining Trinity Church. He wanted to know the attitude of the Council regarding the accident, claiming the spot where she fell was covered with ice, slippery and unsafe to walk on. Reeve Paul said he examined the walk the next morning and found no ice whatever in that particular place. Other members had made an examination, with the same result. The Mayor replied that the sidewalk on John St. had been sanded twice that week previous to the woman falling. The town had taken the precaution to prevent accidents of that nature and therefore were not liable.

Mr. Geo. Cliff was appointed Assessor at a salary of $250.00 per year.

On motion Reeve Paul and Coun. Wilson were appointed a committee to interview the merchants in regard to a system of envelope advertising for the Town of Napanee. Reeve Paul submitted a sample copy of this advertising, which looked good to the members of the Council.

The following accounts were ordered paid :—

Geo. Greer, attending Division Court, 1921, $40.00; Alfred Knight, attending Division Court, 1921, $44.00; F. J. Vanalstine, $2.00; The Fair Grocery, $5.00; Gutta Percha Rubber Co., $6.79; Chief Barrett, for sundries, $13.80; Dr. Willoughby, services Poor and Sanitary, $25.00; J. L. Boyes, Poor and Sanitary, $4.00; Southam Press, Toronto, printing debentures, $150.00.

Account, Middle Hardware Co., $54.37, was referred to Streets Committee.

The Hydro account was referred to the Finance Committee.

Council adjourned.

Reasons Why Wm. Rimus Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

His Backache is Gone and His Rest is Unbroken So He Will Turn Again to Dodd's Kidney Pills if His Trouble Returns.

Quadville, Ont., Feb. 25th (Special.)—"I can truly say that I got great relief from Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Such is the verdict of Mr. William Rimus, a well-known and highly respected resident here. And here is the reason why Mr. Rimus is so positive.

"Before I used Dodd's Kidney Pills I had backache till at times," he states, "and I had to get up once or twice every night and now I have no trouble at all.

"I only used two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. But if ever I am troubled with my kidneys again I certainly will use Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are known all over Canada as a standard kidney remedy. They have made their reputation by doing good to people who suffered from any form of kidney disease.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the best remedy for sick kidneys.

YOUR TEETH.

THE HUMAN MACHINE.

By Rea Proctor McGee, D.D.S., M.D., Editor "Oral Hygiene"

Have you ever considered what a remarkable machine you are?

Think of the wonderful mechanism of your hand, your wrist, your arm! Think of the powerful muscles, the slender tendons, the rigid bones, delicate nerves, the efficiently distributed arteries and veins. All of these and the rest of your marvelous body do their work at your slightest thought.

In addition to all of this, your bodily machine repairs nearly all of its own injuries, takes care of its own growth and renews its worn-out cells. Nature makes a complete effort to provide you with a perfect means to carry on your business and to enjoy the pleasures of life.

In order for your body to do these things it must have food in the shape of food and it is up to your mouth to receive and prepare this fuel. If your food is of the very purest and most appetizing variety, carefully prepared and tastefully served, it would seem that that would be all that is necessary.

But if that same food is placed in an infected mouth and is then thoroughly masticated, by having mixed with it many types of bacteria and of the poisons resulting from bacterial infection in the great majority of cases comes from abscesses about the teeth.

This is only one of the many painful and serious derangements of your body machine that can come from diseases in the mouth.

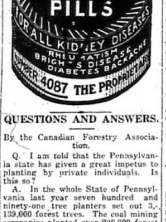

If you owned a fine piece of machinery that got out of order, you would call in, first a good general machinist, and then men especially skilled in the various parts of the machine that require special training to understand properly.

Why not be as careful of your own body? The mechanical principles upon which you are built and by which you live are just as true as those upon which you run your automobile.

But as your body is the most complicated machine with which you will ever come in contact, it requires a very high order of intelligence in the "garage man" to diagnose your troubles.

But no diagnosis is considered complete these days without the advice of that specialist upon the mouth—the dentist.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

By the Canadian Forestry Association.

Q. I am told that the Pennsylvania state has given a great impetus to planting by private individuals. Is this so?

A. In the whole State of Pennsylvania last year seven hundred and ninety-one tree planters set out 3,139,000 forest trees. Two coal mining companies planted over 2,000,000 forest trees in a single year. This makes a very good record indeed.

Q. I own considerable land in Ontario of no agricultural value. What trees would you advise me to plant?

A. Where your object is the production of fuel, farm timber, or in the greatest quantities in the shortest possible time, such species as birch, and Carolina Poplar form a rapid wood crop which while of somewhat inferior quality provides good supply for your wood and brings a fair price on the market. Black Locust in Southern Ontario is without an equal for posts and poles making an exceptionally rapid growth and possessing excellent durability. If you are looking for a timber crop of high grade commercial wood, White, Scotch and Red Pine excell.

Q. What trees are advised for planting in order to prevent land slip and erosion? Several hillsides on my property are rapidly disintegrating.

A. The deeper rooted hickories and oaks excell in preventing erosion. You must however take into account the nature of the soil where the planting is to be done. All trees grow best on deep, porous, moist soil with rich humus and mineral nutriments. Hemlock, pine and spruces are the best wind breaks for Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick conditions.

Q. Is there anything in the story that the "Naval Stores" industry, the extraction of oils, pitch and other resinous products promises to become one of the great branches of British Columbia production?

A. As yet the Naval Stores industry of British Columbia is in its infancy, but promises assured of a great future. The samples of Burgundy pitch from British Columbia submitted to British manufacturers accustomed to use the German articles have brought most favorable comment which places the British Columbia article on a par with the finest European pitch. Other B. C. oils secured by tapping Douglas fir, larch and other trees have been declared by British manufacturers of artists materials to be the best they have ever seen. This may mean great things for the coast province.

Q. Why don't the Canadian railway companies do more to prevent forest fires being set by the locomotives and their right-of-way employees ?

A. As a matter of fact the railways of Canada are now a very minor factor in the annual forest fire loss. This is due to a growing appreciation by railway executives that their interests are identical with forest protection. The final statistics for last year prove conclusively that both the government and private owned railway lines accounted, for a very small fraction of the actual timber loss. Last year was unfortunately distinguished by the large number of fires caused by hunters and campers. Most of the large fires in Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick were due to settlers, fishermen and hunters.

CUSTOM HATCHING.

The poultry business leads all other branches on the farm as a profit maker. Just think of over 90 tons of dressed poultry being sold in our county last year for 28c. and over high prices. This amount represents less than two-thirds of the poultry sold in this county last year. Then when you take into account the eggs, which amounted to over $100,000, a grand total of $225,000. Are you getting your share of this great money making industry. If not, start in now.

In order to help you get started right, The M. B. Mills Co. will do custom hatching at reduced rates. We will also take orders for Day-old chicks of the popular breeds.

We are agents for the best Incubators made, the celebrated Buckeye Hot Water machines; also best Hovers. Can give clear instructions with the machines running before your eyes, so anybody can easily learn to handle them. Remember the most important thing is to have your chicks hatched early when you want them in good numbers, not waiting in disappointment for the clucking hens. Get your orders in now and be ready.

We buy and sell poultry any day the year round.

Wall Papers For 1922

Of late years many housekeepers have done most of their Painting and Paper Hanging in the months of February and March, for the reason principally, that they can then secure the services of the paper hanger more easily than later in the season. We have in stock as good a selection of Canadian made Paper as can be had in the Dominion, which we are offering at the very lowest prices—quite a reduction from last year. We have also sample books of American, English, and French papers of the very highest class, and at prices from 25 to 50 per cent. lower than is charged by the city dealers. There will be positively no delay in the delivery of these papers. They will be here the second day after the selection is made. We invite intending purchasers to look through our samples and get our prices.

We have a new stock of Window Shades of the different grades, which we are offering at prices we know to be the very lowest.

We will have a full line of Window Poles, and the various fittings connected therewith.

We are busy every day with the Picture Framing, but contrive to manage it so there will be no disappointment. A new stock of mouldings to some very taking lines.

Come in and see the goods. We will show them with pleasure.

THE CUCKOO SAVED HIM

"How did ye get by at home, Casey?" inquired Mr. Duffy, as he met his companion of the night before.

"Fine, Jawn. I done a good job. I got the front door open without a sound, an' I was in the front hall takin' off my shoes when I chanced to look up, an' there was Mary Ann at the head of the stairs!"

"Is that you?" says she.

"The same," says I.

"What hour of the mornin' is this to be gettin' home?" says she.

"'Tis just eleven o'clock, darlin'" says I, hopin' to get away with it.

"Just thin the cuckoo come out of the clock, an' he cuckooed four times. An' if ye'll believe me, Jawn, I nearly busted mesilf in two, but I made the other sivin cuckoos!"

FEEDING THE MARKET HOG

(Experimental Farms Note.)

Brood sows and boars of correct bacon type and with size and quality are necessary to produce bacon pigs. The condition of the sow and boar at breeding has much to do with the quality, strength and size of the coming litter. Proper feed and exercise outdoors is absolutely necessary for success with the pregnant sow. The correct feeding and exercising of the milking sow is one of the most important steps in making market hogs of her litter. These are steps in the making of a bacon hog aside from the actual market feeding of the season's pig crop, but the proper appreciation of their importance is absolutely essential.

Feeding the Weaning Pig.

There are thousands of little pigs from the best of breeding stock ruined annually through improper or overfeeding from weaning time to three months of age. Overfeeding at this stage makes a short, fat, dumpy, poor quality hog finished before he is heavy enough and liable to crippling.

Start the little pig at 4 to 5 weeks of age with a creep or separate pen to feed in. Feed middlings, mixing small quantities at a time with sweet skim milk. This gets the little pig gradually prepared for weaning. Scattering a few handfuls of good plump whole oats in the litter is good practice. After weaning is the critical time. The following is a good ration for the weaned pig,—Oats, (either finely ground well filled oats, feeding oatmeal or, better still, ground hulless oats), 50 lbs.; middlings, 25 lbs.; shorts, 25 lbs.; ground flax or linseed meal, 5 lbs.; tankage, 3 lbs. This may be varied provided that the crude fibre in the mixture is kept low, and the fat content fairly high. For the two to three months pig of 50 lbs. feed a pound or so of the mixture daily. Soak for 12 to 24 hours beforehand. Feed with 5 lbs. of skim milk daily. After the pig is well over weaning the milk may be fed better soured (not demomposed).

Feed it soured all the time thereafter. Do not occasionally change back to sweet milk. Buttermilk is excellent, probably the best milk byproduct for the pig over 3 months.

Here are the three fundamentals in successfully feeding the weaning pig, —1. Keep him hungry. Have him squealing for his rations an hour before they are due. 2. Keep his pen clean, but see that the bottom of his trough is the cleanest part of his pen. 3. See that he gets exercise, outdoors in the summer, or in a well bedded pen or shed in the winter or early spring.

From three to four months use a mixture of oats 50 lbs., shorts 50 lbs., middlings 25 lbs., corn or barley 25 lbs., linseed meal 5 per cent.; or equal parts of oats, shorts and barley with milk or tankage. From four to five months a mixture of oats, shorts and barley or corn, equal parts with 5 per cent. oil meal. For the finish the corn or barley may be increased either by feeding whole or adding to the ground meal mixture.

General Rules.

1. Do not overfeed in an effort to finish a pig in record time.

2. Where milk is not available tankage may be fed 3 per cent. to 10 per cent. depending on the pig's age. Best results are obtained by feeding it in a self-feeder.

3. Green feed, either cut or pasture, is a meal saver in summer. A few roots (mangels) are a wonderful help to the winter fattened pig.

4. If a prime bacon hog is desired, stick to a ration that will grow bone and frame for the greater part of the pig's life. Don't use much corn until the last two months.

BEFORE BABY COMES

Watchful Care Necessary

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine and should be taken by the expectant mother. It will assist her in keeping well and strong. This is very necessary, not only for her own comfort but for the future as well.

Read the experience of Mrs. Barton of New Brunswick and please bear in mind that every letter published recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is genuine and unsolicited. It is the expression of gratitude from women who have been helped.

Cumberland Bay, N. B.—"I was troubled with weak feelings, headache, all the time, a cough, fainting spells and pains in my back and side. I could not do a single bit of work and had to be helped out to the hammock where I lay in the fresh air from morning until night and I had to be carried up and down stairs. After other medicines had failed a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she said it was excellent for anyone in the family way. Before the first bottle was taken I could walk alone and, as I kept on with it I got stronger, until I was able to do all my work. My baby is now six weeks old and is a big fat healthy fellow. I am sure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done wonders for me and I recommend it."—Mrs. Murray J. Barton, R. R. No. 1, Cumberland Bay, N. B.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a Tonic and Blood Purifier, and acts through the blood upon the mucous surfaces of the body, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

"Well, you ought to give it up because I want you to. I would do as much for you."

"Are you sure of that?" he asked eagerly.

"Why, of course I am. Just tell me something I do that you want me to stop."

"Well," he said, with firmness, "you might stop objecting to my smoking."

WIN This Real—Gasoline Auto for Boys and Girls
$150.00 in other Prizes
SOLVE THIS PUZZLE

Teacher put 50 squares on the blackboard and in 15 of the squares she put figures. Then she said to the class "These figures can be made to spell out three words. The three words will tell you who is going to be first this month. It's a hard puzzle but it can be done and there are wonderful prizes for the boys and girls who can solve it. Now what is the answer?

HOW TO SOLVE IT

Each figure represents a letter. The number in each square indicates the position of that letter in the alphabet. For instance "A" would be represented by the figure 1, because it is the first letter of the alphabet. "B" would be indicated by the figure 2, because it is the second letter of the alphabet. "C" would be indicated by the figure 3, and so on. Look at the figure 20 in the first square. It represents "T" because "T" is the twentieth letter of the alphabet. Now get a pencil and paper, figure out what letter the number in each square stands for and when you have them all, arrange them in their proper rotation, so as to spell out the three words called for. It is not an easy puzzle, but with patience and diligence it can be done and if you can solve it correctly, you may win this real Gasoline Driven Motor Car, or one of the other fine prizes.

Copy your answer upon a plain sheet of paper as neatly as you can because neatness, spelling, your writing, punctuations and general appearance of your answer count in the final awarding of prizes, if more than one correct. Put your name and address in the upper right hand corner of the paper. If you write a letter or wish to send anything else besides the answer to the puzzle put it upon a separate sheet of paper. We will write to you as soon as your answer is received and tell you if your solution is correct and also send you a complete illustrated prize list of the grand prizes that you can win.

As Man to Man

If you were sitting in our office and asking most searching questions about The Mount Royal Hotel 8% Convertible Debentures we would tell you this:

That we, of W. A. Mackenzie & Co., Limited, spent several months investigating every legal and commercial phase of this security before we underwrote it.

That we sold the first $[illegible]000,000 of these Debentures for cash to The United Hotels Company of America, who will operate the hotel, and who will necessarily be most interested in its financial success.

That we secured a bond from the Building Contractors to complete the hotel.

That we have the financial and moral support of the large Montreal transportation and other interests.

We examined every estimate of earnings and expenditures before we printed them in our circular.

Everything that we possess of brain and money and reputation is intertwined with it.

We consider it the finest investment of its class that has ever been put before the Canadian public.

Is it any wonder, therefore, that we have so overwhelming a confidence in recommending it to you?

Write now for a circular describing this issue in detail.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. John H. Jones, who departed this life on February 20th, 1921.

One year has passed since that sad day,
When God in mercy called,
And took the one we all loved so well,
The one loved by us all.

We loved dear Mother, yes, we loved her,
But God who loved her best,
Needed one more angel in heaven,
So He called mother to rest.

Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnston and family. 8ap

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. E. Mills, who departed this life on February 22nd, 1921.

One year has passed since that sad day,
When Mother dear was called away;
God took her home, it was His will,
But in our hearts she lives still.
She was the best that God could send
Now mourned by many a faithful friend;
We miss and mourn her silent sleep,
And on her grave sweet flowers keep.

MUSICAL AND LITERARY CLUB.

On Thursday evening of last week the final concert of the Chautauqua Series arranged for this season by the Musical and Literary Society, was held in the Town Hall. The "petit" orchestra gave a very enjoyable entertainment, and the variety that these four talented artists were able to give to their programme of music was alone wonderful. Mr. Herbert Small gave a very interesting demonstration of what can be done with a flute and was assisted by Miss Morley in his duets, and accompanied by Mrs. Small.

Mrs. Small sang two groups of well chosen songs and was heartily encored. In one or two the flute obligato added greatly to the effect. Miss Grace Callahan was a decidedly talented young lady, and besides being considered the finest player of the bassoon in America, she also thoroughly understands the cornet and saxophone. The sweet tone of all her instruments was most appealing, and the audience were charmed with her selections. One of the most pleasing numbers of the programme was the piano solo given by Miss Morley, who interpreted an Indian Rhapsodie by Lawrence with perfect technique and expression. Her encore was unable, and she responded most gracefully.

The Musical Club, having been under heavy expense this year, will produce a play after Easter to help defray the deficit which still exists.

RIFLE SHOOTING, N. C. I. CADET CORPS.

"Style" How Much Do You Depend on Your Merchant for Correctly Styled Wearing Apparel?

"Style" is that elusive something pertaining to a garment which exemplifies and expresses the vogue of the season as conceived by Master Creators at the Court of Fashion—Paris.

"Your Style" must be that garment which is most in harmony with Fashion's decree, and which at the same time best reflects your own charm and individuality.

Our wide assemblage of Spring garments, selected from the most famous of Canadian manufacturers as presented for your approval will unravel your personal problem of Fashions and Materials so forcibly that the choosing of your new Easter and Summer apparel will be a pleasure. THE ROBINSON CO., LIMITED.

Napanee's Greatest Store.

"COATS"

The Coat-Wrap or Cape for this season is as necessary for the smartly gowned women as feathers are to the bird. For the street, for sports wear, for the motor, for general utility wear, are styles so clever and most captivating. From England, from United States of America, from Canada, comes a most wonderful array of beautiful materials.

Fashion has prepared as exemplified in our Spring range a unique setting of becoming styles. Your every desire can be easily attained. The styles have been adapted from New York and Paris, yet every garment is distinctly Canadian, and we guarantee the style, fit and value. Colorings are immensely Spring-like, and as varied as the rainbow. Priced from $12.50 to $75.00.

ROBINSON'S READY-TO-WEAR FOR WOMEN AND CHILDREN"

"DRESSES"

"Sleeves" take orchestra seats when it comes to dress modes. All sizes are good and the largest the best. Not content with radical style changes, Fashion has introduced color combinations whereby the sleeve is quite frequently fashioned from a bright startling color.

Fitted Basques are also popular, while the straight-line shoulder to hem style is as much in vogue as ever.

Picture the becoming effect of this vogue with an elastic waist-line which just allows enough fullness to suggest the Russian blouse.

Crepes of numerous weaves share honors with Taffeta by way of materials Rust is one of the newer shades in Moon-Glo Crepe.

ROBINSON'S READY-TO-WEAR FOR WOMEN AND MISSES

"WAISTS"

"Tailored" and "Peasant styles" will be among the best selling modes for Spring and Summer.

The "Tailored" idea runs through all the Crepe weaves and even dominates the warm weather waist of Dimity and Voile. "Peter-Pan" and "Brownie" are also new effect treatments that must be recognized.

The "Peasant" introduces the long loose or leg-of-mutton sleeve style. Invariably this fashion is gathered on a band snugly at the wrist. Frequently all or part of these sleeves are made of Paisley pattern materials.

For those who prefer more staple models the "Tuxedo" Collar will answer fashionably.

Crepe-de-Chenes and Georgettes are the waist materials for Easter wear. Laces, and Bead Embroideries are employed for trimmings. All sizes.

"SUITS"

The costume most beloved by well dressed women, because it answers the call for fashionable service as well as fulfilling its requirement for practical wear. This season the elevetee of the Suit garment will delight in the various modes of Sport Suits that are obtainable. The extraordinarily fine patterns of Tweeds and Homespuns from which these Suits are patterned add much to their popularity.

Navy Blue in the various weaves of Serge, Tricotine and Twill Cord is firmly entrenched in Fashion's calendar of style. The long slender styllines are exceedingly graceful. Many clever and charming innovations add to their effectiveness. Priced from $20.00 to $75.00.

"SKIRTS"

Separate Sport Skirts are so closely linked up with out-of-doors wear that no wardrobe will be complete without at the very least two.—fine in Sport Silk and one in Sport Wool. When styles are considered you will be interested in the new wrap around effects, while pleated skirts know no opposition. Colors in both materials are most wonderful. Stripe patterns predominate, while plaids will be the choice of many discriminating women.

As in other lines of wearing apparel, prices are much lower. All sizes.

"MILLINERY"

High Crowns and Narrow Brims for Spring, while Scarlet, Red, Violet and Burnt Straw are new in colors, thus Paris briefly introduces the vogue in Spring Millinery.

With regard to styles, all shapes thus far are in the running with medium sized hats with wide brims in the fore front. The heavy pencil-edge brim is making its appearance.

Brilliant and dull finished straws and fabrics are used in combination. Ribbons are employed in medium and narrow widths. Lace and Cire Satin are used in afternoon hats.

The one marked tendency in the way of trimming is height. Aside from this the greatest liberty is allowed both as to kinds and as to position.

Black Hats are shown trimmed with a brilliant color. Fancy Quills are also fashionable.

ROBINSON'S MILLINERY PARLORS FOR WOMEN AND MISSES.

A BIGGER ASSORTMENT, AND MUCH LOWER PRICES, — TWO IMPORTANT FEATURES OF THE NEW SPRING FABRICS AT ROBINSON'S.

We are starting the new Spring season with wonderful assortments in all the latest and stylish fabrics, and as for values, it has been years since you have been able to secure such advantageous prices. We welcome your consideration of these various lines of dress fabrics.

THE STYLISH WOOL FABRICS.

As usual Serge has many friends, but increased popularity will come to Tricotine, Poiret Twill, Velour, Broadcloth, Wool Velour, Homespuns, and Tweeds. The two mentioned last deserve special attention. A strong demand for these fabrics will be received. The color assortment will be large and varied, and a close inspection through the new goods will convince you that Robinson's for style, price and assortment, is among the leaders.

PRICES ARE ALL IMPORTANT THIS SEASON

And for this reason you will find it a saving proposition to do your Dress Goods shopping at Robinson's. In this brief store news, we cannot give all the outstanding values, but we guarantee you can save money, as per a few examples :—

Botany Suiting Serge, guaranteed Pure Wool, made from Botany yarns, popular colors, Navy and Black, special values at $1.75, $2.00, up to 18 oz. Serge at $6.00 yard.

Suiting Tricotine, in Black, Navy and Colors. Extra fine quality, the required weight for the spring suit. Special values $2.48 and $2.75 yard.

Other popular materials correspondingly low in price. Come and see us when wanting new Wool Fabrics. Samples mailed upon request.

THE NEW SILKS AND SILK FABRICS WILL CREATE UNUSUAL INTEREST THIS SEASON.

The range is very select both in assortment of weaves and charming colors. You can depend upon Robinson's values.

Crepe Fabrics are in the front rank of popular favor, special mention being made of Canton Crepe, Crepe Knit, Crepe Meteor, Crepe-de-chene, Crepe Back Satin, Crepe Reine, Crepe Romaine.

Taffeta Silks will be called for. This season we carry a guaranteed line in Black and Colors.

Duchess Satin, in Black and colors, representing good values, from $2.39 per yard up.

8-5tp THOMPSON BROS.

W. C. T. U.

On February 15th, in Trinity Church, Napanee, a meeting was held in memory of Miss Francis E. Willard and Miss Letitia Yeomans, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U.

Opening exercises were conducted by Mrs. Miller, who asked the Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Tomlinson, Mrs. Farks and Mrs. Thomson, to assist.

Mrs. R. Smith read an address given by Mr. C. G. Trumbull, Editor S. S. Times, at London Convention, subject "The Victorious Life", which was inspiring.

Miss McMullen read a great many interesting facts about Miss Yeomans. She was also able to tell a great many events which came under her own observation. She said temperance was taught first in public schools in 1837.

Mrs. (Rev.) Shorey was asked to sing "I live for those who love me", but instead repeated several verses very expressively. Mrs. (Rev.) Terrill read a paper prepared by Miss Jack, Belleville, from quotations from Frances E. Willard's book, a few of which are:—To women of the crusade of 1874, the word Temperance meant the moderate use of all things good and total abstinence from all things questionable or harmful. As their knowledge grew it came to mean the total prohibition of the liquor traffic, the opium trade, the gambling den, the haunts of infamy.

"Home protection is the keynote of woman's work." All pure habits, all health and sanity of brain make for the kingdom of heaven. The steady pulse, the calm quiet thought, the splendid poise of will, the patient industry, the helpful hand outstretched is a hand whose very motion is part of the dynamic force of the kingdom."

When we see our school boys stunting their growth and drying up their brains, with smoke, it seems to me that I cannot wait until the schools of Christendom focus their splendid light upon the problem of prevention.

Mrs. (Rev.) Shorey read many interesting eulogies of Frances Willard and also said her statue has a place of honour at Washington. She was a Christian philanthropist, a temperance reformer. The poet Whittier when asked to write a few lines to be placed beneath the bust of Miss Willard, executed by Anne Whitney, wrote these words:—

She knew the power of banded ill,
But felt that love was stronger still,
And organized for doing good
The world's united womanhood.

The program was enlivened by music by Miss Baughan, Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Paul.

CAMDEN EAST.

A heavy electric storm and rain passed over this vicinity on Sunday evening last.—Mr. and Mrs. R. Orser, of Gananoque, arrived last Friday to visit their daughter, Mrs. Harold Cunningham, for a week.—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Loucks spent a few days last week with their relatives, near Harrowsmith and Yarker South.—Mr. Chas. Histed and son, Percy, attended the funeral of his brother-in-law, Mr. Levi Brown, at Lapums East, on Sunday last.—Mrs. L. H. Stover attended the funeral of her cousin, Mrs. Abbott, in Napanee, on Thursday of last week. Mrs. Schermehorn, sister of Mrs. Abbott, accompanied Mrs. Stover home to spend the week end.—Miss Grace Gallagher is ill at time of writing.—Mrs. Eliza Skinner spent Sunday last with her sister, Mrs. Jas. Macdonald.—The Camden East cheese factory opens the last of March or the 1st of April, with a first class cheese and butter maker. The patrons should build up our own cheese factory instead of going to Napanee condensor, as it is one of the best equipped factories in Eastern Ontario. Mr. Lampson is here getting the factory ready.—Mrs. Harold Cunningham was At Home to a goodly number of her lady friends, in the form of a thimble party, in honor of her mother, Mrs. Orser, of Gananoque. A most delightful afternoon was enjoyed and an elaborate tea served.—Last Thursday evening in the Methodist Church, a meeting was held in the interest of missions. Rev. Latimer opened the meeting and then called on Mrs. Geo. I. Perry, who happened to be visiting her sister, Mrs. Robert Lewis, to take charge. Mrs. Perry introduced the speaker, Miss Turner, formerly a missionary in South America, but who is now the travelling secretary of the W. M. S., of the Bay of Quinte Conference. Miss Turner gave a very interesting account of South American Missions, and all who heard the splendid address could not help but realize the importance of foreign missions. After the meeting the young people remained for the purpose of organizing a Mission Circle. The Circle is already launched on an enthusiastic campaign for additional members. Every person welcome to come and join a good cause.

BETHEL.

The electric storm on Sunday was a surprise to all.—Mrs. W. Jackson is spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. N. Sutton, Toronto.—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Goudy and baby, of Colebrook, with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hamilton, on Sunday.—Mr. and Mrs. J. Manion, Miss Margaret, and Miss F. Harrigan, of Sydenham, at Fred McWilliams', one evening last week.—Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hamilton spent Sunday at Napanee.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Jeffrey and Miss G. Hill took tea at Mr. Perry Aikenbrack's, last Wednesday evening.—Mrs. Ada Galbraith has returned home, after the illness and death of her mother, Mrs. Rogers Tamworth.—Mr. Howard Galbraith left last week for Deer Lake to take charge of the station there.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred McWilliams took dinner on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. Connolly, at Yarker.—Miss Eva Stewart is spending a few days with Mrs. J. R. Aikenbrack.—Mr. W. McWilliams and daughter, Mrs. C. Allen, attended the funeral of Mr. Levi Brown, in Yarker.—Miss F. Harrigan has returned to Sydenham, after visiting Miss Margaret Manion.

PINE GROVE.

A good many from this vicinity took in the Anniversary services and teamevting at Marlbank on Feb. 12th and 13th.—Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Asselstine and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Asselstine and family and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Booth spent Friday evening at R. Perry's, Marlbank, in honor of Mr. Perry's birthday.—School was closed on Friday afternoon, as Miss Herrington was ill.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Armstrong and family spent Sunday at R. W. Asselstine's.—Mr. John Kimmett spent Saturday in Napanee.—Mr. and Mrs. Dan Richmond spent Sunday at Mr. Fred Booth's.—Mr. Frank McFarlane is spending some time at Mr. John Kimmett's.—Miss Ruth Yorke was confined to the house for a few days with toothache, but is able to be out again.—Mrs. John Kimmett has recovered from an attack of blood poisoning in her hand.—The sawing machine spent some days in this vicinity.—Mr. T. Falen took dinner at Mr. Fred Booth's, on Tuesday.

ENTERPRISE.

We had the first electric storm of the season last Sunday evening, a very heavy storm. Mr. A. Hagerman's barn, north east of the village, was struck by lightning and destroyed, with contents and three horses. Mr. Howling succeeded in saving his cattle.—The hockey match last week between Moscow and Enterprise was in favor of the visiting team, being 7 for Moscow and 4 for Enterprise.—Mr. Byron Sparks has purchased from Mr. W. Wager his frame store, and intends turning it into a public hall and ice cream parlor.—Quite a number from here attended the horse races at Beaver Lake, and report a fine day's sport.—Our new baker is getting down to business and you can now procure your bread at your door which makes it very convenient.—The ice carnival last Wednesday evening passed off fine, everyone had a lot of fun. The Boy Scouts talk of putting on another one before the season closes.

OBITUARY.

Perry W. Madden.

Mr. Perry W. Madden, Secretary of the Walter E. Heller & Company, of Chicago, Illinois, and son of Mr. J. P. Madden, Napanee, was taken suddenly ill with scarlet fever on Wednesday, February 15th, and passed away on Sunday, February 19th. Besides his wife there are left to mourn two daughters and one son, a brother, Almon Madden, Napanee, and a sister, Miss Mabel G. Madden, Chicago. The funeral took place from his late residence, at 712 Rumsey Street, Evanston, Illinois, and was attended by a number of friends in town who were shocked to learn of his sudden death.

For chapped hands or tender skin the most soothing and healing preparation is Wallace's Cocoa Cream balm). It is 100% sticky and drieright in. Sold in Napanee only at Wallace's.

A Lesson FROM Ancient Rome

Two thousand years ago the athletes and fighting gladiators of the Roman Empire, to ensure speedy healing of wounds, sores and bruises used magical herbal oils and balms.

Taking a lesson from the ancients, an eminent firm of manufacturing chemists undertook a search to recover these lost secrets. Certain rich herbal oils and essences were at last found and a scientific means of blending and refining them was devised.

After long study and costly experiment a super-balm was evolved which contains these potent herbal traps in the most perfect form. The supreme discovery was given the name Zam-buk, to indicate the highest achievement yet attained in the healing art.

Treatment of skin diseases and injuries has been revolutionized by zam-buk. Its healing and antiseptic power is enhanced by the complete absence of rancid animal fats that distinguish ordinary salves.

Eczema, ringworm, ulcers, piles, poisoned wounds, rashes, cold-sores, chaps, chilblains, children's scalp troubles, etc., yield rapidly to zam-buk.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

"Pa, I know why our dog turns round an' round before he lies down."

"Why is your wife so jealous of your typist?"
"Well, you see, my wife used to be my typist?"

If one be troubled with corns, he will find in Holloway's Corn Remover an application that will entirely relieve suffering.

"Pleasures," said Uncle Ezra, "am much like mushrooms. De right kind am fine, but you has to be on de lookout foh toadstools."

"Are you not in favor of peace?"
"I refuse to be quoted," replied Senator Sorghum. "It has gotten so that a man can't mention 'peace' without getting into some kind of an argument."

A Prime Dressing for Wounds.—In some factories and workshops carbolic acid is kept for use in cauterizing wounds and cuts sustained by the workmen. Far better to keep on hand a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It is just as quick in action and does not scar the skin or burn the flesh.

Mother (to Betty who has been sent home owing to indisposition of school-mistress)—But I hope you were sorry poor Miss Pringle was ill.

Dread of Asthma makes countless thousands miserable. Night after night the attacks return and even when brief respite is given the mind is still in torment from continual anticipation. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy changes all this. Relief comes, and at once, while the fierce attacks are warded off, leaving the afflicted one in a state of peace and happiness he once believed he could never enjoy. Inexpensive and sold almost everywhere.

"Honey," said the colored suitor, "when we gits married you ain't gwine to give up dat good job you has workin' for de white folks, is you?"
"But ain't we gwine to have no honeymoon an' take a trip on de train somewhere?"
"One of us might go, honey. Dey ain't a thing holdin' me, but you's got 'sponsibilities."

One of the most effective vermifuges on the market is Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only clear the stomach and bowels of worms, but will prove a very serviceable medicine for children in regulating the infantile system and maintaining it in a healthy condition. There is nothing in their composition that will injure the most delicate stomach when directions are followed, and they can be given to children in the full assurance that they will utterly destroy all worms.

The teacher was using the gramophone to make the children familiar with good music. Two famous opera singers had just finished a duet and the teacher said, "Now children, who can tell me the names of the singers we just heard?"
"Caruso," replied a small boy.
"Yes, and who was singing with Caruso?"
"Caruso's man Friday," was the disconcerting answer.

A Weekly Talk with Home

by Long Distance

"WHY don't you talk home by Long Distance telephone?" said Mr. Wyndham-King, Banker, to his secretary; "Have a good talk with your mother occasionally; it will do you good."

The young woman, an invaluable aid to the busy banker, had not been at her best for some time, and her work was suffering.

"I never thought of telephoning," she confessed when the suggestion was made, "I'll surely try it!"

She was simply homesick; her employer had guessed right!

Those weekly talks with her home have made a wonderful difference in the girl's life. Her health, her work, her general outlook on life have all reflected the change.

Long Distance did it! It is doing the same thing for hundreds by bridging the gulf between them and far-away home and friends. Station-to-Station service with low Evening and Night rates has brought Long Distance within the reach of everyone.

After 8.30 P.M. Station-to-Station rates are about half the day rate. At midnight they become about one quarter the day rate.

Constipation

It is a disease-producing malady, and if not corrected may result in serious complications. In good health the bowels should move freely at least once every day, carrying away the waste products from the Blood and Liver. If this function fails or is irregular, the work of removing the poisons falls on the Skin and Kidneys, with the result of the latter organs becoming congested and clogged. The Blood becomes poisoned. Indigestion sets in, the Kidneys become deranged, and a severe if not fatal illness is brought on. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS correct this trouble by its action on the Liver, causing a healthy flow of Bile, and exerting a soothing and toning influence on the whole Intestinal Track. 50c. and $1.00 a box at Hooper's Drug Store, Napanee. WHAT DID BETTY BUY?

COPY OF BETTY'S LETTER

Dear Mr. Simpson

You know Clara Green, don't you? WELL SHE WANTED TO BE A NURSE. What do you think of that? OF COURSE SHE WAS SIMPLY TRYING TO APE A SISTER OF MINE. However she left for Toronto taking her maid Topsy to carry her luggage. When they got to the station the train was pulling out. THEY RAN SO FAST TOPSY RUPTURED A BLOOD VESSEL IN HER LEG. However Clara got on the train alright. Then what do you think happened? SHE TUMBLED AND FELL PEL-MEL ON HER BAGGAGE. Isn't that funny? I BET SHE WANTED TO BAN A NASTY ENGINEER FOR JERKING THE TRAIN SO. She soon got herself in order and reached her seat safely. SHE TOOK OUT A BOOK BY CHARLES LAMB READ A PAGE AND FELL ASLEEP. On arriving in Toronto she woke with a start, and hurried off. Her baggage was heavy and looked a burden. A NICE CHAP PLEADED TO HELP HER. She refused to let him as he was a stranger. But after walking two blocks she was tired out. THEN SHE THOUGHT HERSELF A SIMPLE MONSTER FOR REFUSING HIS HELP. She finally reached the Training School and registered. But she didn't like it a bit. She felt very blue. IN FACT AT HER DINNER SHE ATE A VERY LITTLE. She fought with her room mate. IN A FIT OF JEALOUSY OR ANGER SHE LEFT. However before going home she bought a new dress at Smith's store. When she tried it on it didn't fit. SO SHE TOOK IT TO SMITH'S ALTERATION ROOM FOR CHANGES. Even then it didn't fit, and she wouldn't keep it. SO APPLYING FOR REFUND SHE GOT HER MONEY BACK. Then she took the next train for home. Isn't that an interesting story?

Betty Beatty.

FIND ABOVE THE NAMES OF 12 ARTICLES SOLD IN A GROCERY STORE

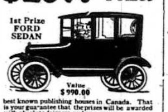

John Simpson was amazed when he read the above letter, which Betty Beatty had handed him. "Our order is in that letter" said Betty. "I've hidden the name of each article I've come to buy in each of the underlined sentences. Puzzle it out and I'll tell you the quantities." "Well" said Mr. Simpson "I can't find the name of a single article in my store, that is mentioned in your note." "Of course you can't" said Betty. But here's the clue. In each underlined sentence I've hidden one name. It is only the name of a grocery, fruit or vegetable and there is just one thing in each sentence. The letters aren't jumbled and all you have to do is to find the right letter to start on. For instance, if you start with the letter "B" in the fifth word of the first underlined sentence you will quickly see B-E-A-N. That's the name of one of the things I want. There are twelve items altogether, and the name of each one is hidden in one of the underlined sentences. So now what do I want? Find the names and you get the order."

John Simpson puzzled the letter out and got the order. Can you do as well? If you can mail your answers at once. Over $2500.00 in prizes and rewards is being given. Remember there are no trade mark names or products of any particular manufacturer. In many cases, as in the first underlined sentence, the single name as "Bean" and not the plural "Beans" is used. Be very careful, therefore, if you find the names to spell them exactly as they appear in the sentence.

THIS GREAT CONTEST IS ABSOLUTELY FREE OF EXPENSE

There is nothing to pay—nothing to buy!

This wonderful Contest is nothing more nor less than a great advertising and introduction campaign. It is absolutely free of expense. You may enter and win the best of the prizes without spending a single cent of your money. You do not have to buy anything, or subscribe to anything, in order to compete.

The Contest is conducted by the Continental Publishing Co. Limited, one of the strongest and best known publishing houses in Canada. That is your guarantee that the prizes will be awarded with absolute fairness and squareness.

Three independent judges, having no connection of any kind with this firm, will judge the answers at the close of the Contest, and award the prizes. Contestants must agree to abide by their decisions.

In sending your solution use one side of the paper only, and put your name and address (stating whether Miss, Mrs., Mr. or Master) in the upper left hand corner. If you wish to write anything but your answers use a seperate sheet of paper.

The answers gaining 240 points will win first prize. You get 110 points if you find all the words correctly (10 points for each correct answer, excepting 1 which is given) and 20 points will be given for general neatness, punctuation and spelling, 10 points for handwriting and 100 points for fulfilling a simple condition of the Contest. This condition is only that you assist in this big advertising campaign by showing a copy of Everywoman's World, Canada's greatest Magazine (which we will send you post paid) to just four friends or neighbors, who will appreciate this really worth while Canadian publication and want it to come to them every month. You will easily fulfill this simple condition in a few minutes of your spare time. The Contest will close at 6 p.m. June 30th, 1922, immediately after which the judges will start to judge the answers and award the prizes.

DON'T DELAY. Send your answer today. This announcement may not appear in this paper again. Address The Contest Manager, Department ... Continental Publishing Co. Limited, 128 Toronto, Ont.

A Weekly Talk with Home
by Long Distance

WHY don't you talk home by Long Distance telephone?" said Mr. Wyndham-King, Banker, to his secretary; "Have a good talk with your mother occasionally; it will do you good."

The young woman, an invaluable aid to the busy banker, had not been at her best for some time, and her work was suffering.

"I never thought of telephoning," she confessed when the suggestion was made, "I'll surely try it!"

She was simply homesick; her employer had guessed right!

Those weekly talks with her home have made a wonderful difference in the girl's life. Her health, her work, her general outlook on life have all reflected the change.

Long Distance did it! It is doing the same thing for hundreds by bridging the gulf between them and far-away home and friends. Station-to-Station service with low Evening and Night rates has brought Long Distance within the reach of everyone.

After 8.30 P.M. Station-to-Station rates are about half the day rate. At midnight they become about one quarter the day rate.

Constipation

It is a disease-producing malady, and if not corrected may result in serious complications. In good health the bowels should move freely at least once every day, carrying away the waste products from the Blood and Liver. If this function fails or is irregular, the work of removing the poisons falls on the skin and Kidneys, with the result of the latter organs becoming congested and clogged. The Blood becomes poisoned. Indigestion sets in, the Kidneys become deranged, and a severe if not fatal illness is brought on. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS correct this trouble by its action on the Liver, causing a healthy flow of Bile, and exerting a soothing and toning influence on the whole Intestinal Track. 50c. and $1.00 a box at Hooper's Drug Store, Napanee. WHAT DID BETTY BUY?

COPY OF BETTY'S LETTER

Dear Mr. Simpson

You know Clara Green, don't you? WELL SHE WANTED TO BE A NURSE. What do you think of that? OF COURSE SHE WAS SIMPLY TRYING TO APE A SISTER OF MINE. However she left for Toronto taking her maid Topsy to carry her luggage. When they got to the station the train was pulling out. THEY RAN SO FAST TOPSY RUPTURED A BLOOD VESSEL IN HER LEG. However Clara got on the train alright. Then what do you think happened? SHE TUMBLED AND FELL PEL-MEL ON HER BAGGAGE. Isn't that funny? I BET SHE WANTED TO BAN A NASTY ENGINEER FOR JERKING THE TRAIN SO. She soon got herself in order and reached her seat safely. SHE TOOK OUT A BOOK BY CHARLES LAMB READ A PAGE AND FELL ASLEEP. On arriving in Toronto she woke with a start, and hurried off. Her baggage was heavy and looked a burden. A NICE CHAP PLEADED TO HELP HER She refused to let him as he was a stranger. But after walking two blocks she was tired out THEN SHE THOUGHT HERSELF A SIMPLE MONSTER FOR REFUSING HIS HELP. She finally reached the Training School and registered. But she didn't like it a bit. She felt very blue. IN FACT AT HER DINNER SHE ATE A VERY LITTLE. She fought with her room mate. IN A FIT OF JEALOUSY OR ANGER SHE LEFT. However before going home she bought a new dress at Smith's store. When she tried it on it didn't fit. SO SHE TOOK IT TO SMITH'S ALTERATION ROOM FOR CHANGES. Even then it didn't fit, and she wouldn't keep it. SO APPLYING FOR REFUND SHE GOT HER MONEY BACK. Then she took the next train for home. Isn't that an interesting story?

Betty Beatty.

John Simpson was amazed when he read the above letter, which Betty Beatty had handed him. "Our order is in that letter" said Betty. "I've hidden the name of each article I've come to buy in each of the underlined sentences. Puzzle it out and I'll tell you the quantities." "Well" said Mr. Simpson "I can't find the name of a single article in my store, that is mentioned in your note." "Of course you can't" said Betty. But here's the clue. In each underlined sentence I've hidden one name. It is only the name of a grocery, fruit or vegetable and there is just one thing in each sentence. The letters aren't jumbled and all you have to do is to find the first letter to start on. For instance, if you start with the letter "B" in the fifth word of the first underlined sentence you will quickly see B-E-A-N. That's the name of one of the things I want. There are twelve items altogether, and the names of each one is hidden in one of the underlined sentences. So now what do I want? Find the names and you get the order."

John Simpson puzzled the letter out and got the order. Can you do as well? If you can mail your answers at once Over $2500.00 in prizes and rewards is being given. Remember there are no trade mark names or products of any particular manufacturer In many cases, as in the first underlined sentence, the single name as "Bean" and not the plural "Beans" is used. Be very careful, therefore, if you find the names to spell them exactly as they appear in the sentence.

Dear Mr. Simpson

You know Clara Green, don't you? WELL SHE WANTED TO BE A NURSE. What do you think of that? OF COURSE SHE WAS SIMPLY TRYING TO APE A SISTER OF MINE. However she left for Toronto taking her maid Topsy to carry her luggage. When they got to the station the train was pulling out. THEY RAN SO FAST TOPSY RUPTURED A BLOOD VESSEL IN HER LEG. However Clara got on the train alright. Then what do you think happened? SHE TUMBLED AND FELL PEL-MEL ON HER BAGGAGE. Isn't that funny? I BET SHE WANTED TO BAN A NASTY ENGINEER FOR JERKING THE TRAIN SO. She soon got herself in order and reached her seat safely. SHE TOOK OUT A BOOK BY CHARLES LAMB READ A PAGE AND FELL ASLEEP. On arriving in Toronto she woke with a start, and hurried off. Her baggage was heavy and looked a burden. A NICE CHAP PLEADED TO HELP HER. She refused to let him as he was a stranger. But after walking two blocks she was tired out. THEN SHE THOUGHT HERSELF A SIMPLE MONSTER FOR REFUSING HIS HELP. She finally reached the Training School and registered. But she didn't like it a bit. She felt very blue. IN FACT AT HER DINNER SHE ATE A VERY LITTLE. She fought with her room mate. IN A FIT OF JEALOUSY OR ANGER SHE LEFT. However before going home she bought a new dress at Smith's store. When she tried it on it didn't fit. SO SHE TOOK IT TO SMITH'S ALTERATION ROOM FOR CHANGES. Even then it didn't fit, and she wouldn't keep it. SO APPLYING FOR REFUND SHE GOT HER MONEY BACK. Then she took the next train for home. Isn't that an interesting story?

Betty Beatty.

PUZZLE FIND ABOVE THE NAMES OF 12 ARTICLES SOLD IN A GROCERY STORE

John Simpson was amazed when he read the above letter, which Betty Beatty had handed him. "Our order is in that letter" said Betty. "I've hidden the name of each article I've come to buy in each of the underlined sentences. Puzzle it out and I'll tell you the quantities." "Well" said Mr. Simpson "I can't find the name of a single article in my store, that is mentioned in your note." "Of course you can't" said Betty. But here's the clue. In each underlined sentence I've hidden one name. It is only the name of a grocery, fruit or vegetable and there is just one thing in each sentence. The letters aren't jumbled and all you have to do is to find the right letter to start on. For instance, if you start at the letter "B" in the fifth word of the first underlined sentence you will quickly see B-E-A-N. That's the name of one of the things I want. There are twelve items altogether, and the name of each one is hidden in one of the underlined sentences. So now what do I want? Find the names and you get the order."

John Simpson puzzled the letter out and got the order. Can you do as well? If you can mail your answers at once. Over $2500.00 in prizes and rewards is being given. Remember there are no trade mark names or products of any particular manufacturer. In many cases, as in the first underlined sentence, the single name as "Bean" and not the plural "Beans" is used. Be very careful, therefore, if you find the names to spell them exactly as they appear in the sentence.

There is nothing to pay—nothing to buy!

This wonderful Contest is nothing more nor less than a great advertising and introduction campaign. It is absolutely free of expense. You may enter and win the best of the prizes without spending a single cent of your money. You do not have to buy anything, or subscribe to anything, in order to compete.

The Contest is conducted by the Continental Publishing Co. Limited, one of the strongest and best known publishing houses in Canada. That is your guarantee that the prizes will be awarded with absolute fairness and squareness.

Three independent judges, having no connection of any kind with this firm, will judge the answers at the close of the Contest, and award the prizes. Contestants must agree to abide by their decisions.

In sending your solution use one side of the paper only, and put your name and address (stating whether Miss, Mrs., Mr. or Master) in the upper left hand corner. If you wish to write anything but your answers use a seperate sheet of paper.

The answers gaining 240 points will win first prize. You get 110 points if you find all the words correctly (10 points for each correct answer, excepting 1 which is given) and 20 points will be given for general neatness, punctuation and spelling, 10 points for handwriting and 100 points for fulfilling a simple condition of the Contest. This condition is only that you assist in this big advertising campaign by showing a copy of Everywoman's World, Canada's greatest Magazine (which we will send you post paid) to just four friends or neighbors, who will appreciate this really worth while Canadian publication and want it to come to them every month. You will easily fulfill this simple condition in a few minutes of your spare time. The Contest will close at 6 p.m. June 30th, 1922, immediately after which the judges will start to judge the answers and award the prizes.

DON'T DELAY. Send your answer today. This announcement may not appear in this paper again. Address [illegible] Continental Publishing Co. Limited, 130 Toronto Ont.

Constipation

It is a disease-producing malady, and if not corrected may result in serious complications. In good health the bowels should move freely at least once every day, carrying away the waste products from the Blood and Liver. If this function fails or is irregular, the work of removing the poisons falls on the skin and Kidneys, with the result of the latter organs becoming congested and clogged. The Blood becomes poisoned. Indigestion sets in, the Kidneys become deranged, and a severe if not fatal illness is brought on. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS correct this trouble by its action on the Liver, causing a healthy flow of Bile, and exerting a soothing and toning influence on the whole Intestinal Track. 50c. and $1.00 a box at Hooper's Drug Store, Napanee. THE GRAHAM CO.

MR. AND MRS. STEWART PAUL
Who celebrated their Golden Wedding on February 14th, 1923.

GOLDEN WEDDING

One of the most interesting events of the year took place at Nagagon on St. Valentine's Day, when Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Paul celebrated their Golden Wedding. Among the guests, numbering nearly sixty, the bridegroom at the original ceremony fifty years ago, was present.

After ample justice had been done to the delicious creative o'clock buffet luncheon, Mr. Stanley occupied the role of Master of Ceremonies and on Mr. D. R. Boyle to propose the toast to the bride and groom. Mr. A. E. Paul, Reeve of Mapleton, Mrs. D. Stanley, Miss (Rev.) Preston, and other old friends spoke in a feeling and appreciative manner of the subject and regard in which Mr. and Mrs. Paul are held, and all joined in hearty expressions of good wishes for the future.

An address of presentation was read by a brother of the groom.

To Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Paul.

Few indeed are the married couples who are privileged to enjoy each others company for fifty years. These occasions are the exception rather than the rule, and we are glad to offer you our sincere congratulations and heartiest good wishes on this the golden anniversary of your married life.

You no doubt have at times passed through trials and sorrows, but as every cloud has its silver lining, your character have been strengthened and developed thereby. Then when you think of the many happy joys of your married life, you forget entirely all your sorrows.

When you look back over the years of your married life you cannot help but be reminiscent. Many familiar faces have passed away, many events have taken place which if written up would make very interesting history.

You have also lived to have the honor of the title Great Grandparents, why should you not be happy?

Anniversaries may be called the milestones of life's journey and, as you have passed the fiftieth of your wedded life in health and happiness, may you travel the balance without care or sorrow.

We ask you to accept these presents as a slight token of the esteem in which we hold you, and as you survey or use them, may they awaken pleasant memories.

The hand and address to the bride and groom, who have long passed their three score and ten milestones and are still hale and hearty, were very feelingly and fittingly replied to by the groom, who in some optimistic try gazing into the future. He said that St. Valentine's Day fifty years ago was very stormy, presaging a stormy life, and that as this anniversary is very fine, he looks for smoother sailing for the next fifty years.

Further interest was added to the occasion when Dr. Shorey was called upon to baptize four babes, one of whom is the great grandson of the bride and groom.

After admiring the many beautiful presents and spending a couple of hours reminiscing, the guests departed, wishing the bride and groom many happy returns of the day.

In the evening a few neighborhood friends gathered informally, and a very enjoyable time was spent. Mr. Paul was in his best form and his remarks as the guests made ready to depart were pregnant with wisdom and humour, and thus ended a perfect day.

Purchased a Grocery.

F. C. Solmes, formerly of Dunnville, but latterly of Toronto, has purchased a grocery store in Port Hope and taken possession immediately. Mrs. Solmes is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Carruthers, Desoronto.

Committee.

The management of the Selby Theatre have decided to run a Loyal Temperance League in connection with the theatre. The first meeting will be held on Saturday afternoon, March 3rd, at 2.30 o'clock. All children under 16 years of age are welcome. Mr. Gallagher will be present to explain the rules and regulations governing the League.

A Social Evening.

On Monday evening, February 26th the members of the Shannonette Class paid a surprise visit to the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Herrington, where so many delightful and instructive hours have been spent, to bid farewell to Mr. Herrington and wish him a safe return from his proposed trip to the Old Country. After a joyous social hour, Mr. Herrington was presented with a sum of money from the class, while Mrs. Herrington was the recipient of a bouquet of daffodils. Delicious refreshments were served, after which the gathering dispersed, expressing a hope that the happy occasion, one upon Mr. Herrington's return.

Barn Struck by Lightning.

The large frame barn on the farm occupied by Stuart Hyde, about one and one-half miles from the Village of Selby, was struck by lightning during the thunderstorm on Sunday afternoon, and burned to the ground. Fortunately for the owner, Mr. Hyde, all the stock and implements and the season's crop of grain was also threatened. When the lightning struck the barn, the flames spread so rapidly that it was impossible to get the horses out, and they were burned to death. The cattle were also burned to death, it was only a few minutes before it was discovered by Mr. Hyde's son that the barn was on fire, and by that time the flames had gained such headway that it was impossible to get the animals out. The loss will be heavy, as the barn was filled with hay and grain, and the stock and implements were also destroyed. Mr. Hyde carried no insurance on the barn, but had a small amount on the contents. The barn was owned by Mr. Wilson, who resides in Kingston.

HOCKEY.

Belleville 3, Napanee 2.

The Belleville team defeated the Napanee team in the Intermediate O. H. A. series on Monday evening by the score of 3 goals to 2. The game was played in Belleville and was a fast and clean game throughout. Napanee had the best of the play in the first period, but Belleville scored two goals in the second period and one in the third period. Napanee scored one goal in the second period and one in the third period.

LEVESQUE—KENNY.

The marriage took place on Wednesday, February 28th, at the Church of the Precious Blood, Cheapside, of Mary B. Kenny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kenny, to Mr. Joseph Levesque, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Levesque. Rev. Father Power officiated.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very charming in her wedding gown of white satin with veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Agnes Kenny, who wore a dress of pink crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Peter Levesque was groomsman.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kenny, Cheapside, to which about 30 guests sat down. The bride's table was centred with a beautiful wedding cake, and was presided over by the bride's mother, assisted by Mrs. Peter Levesque, mother of the groom. The bride received many handsome and useful presents, including a cheque from the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Levesque left on the afternoon train for Montreal, where the honeymoon will be spent. On their return they will reside in Napanee.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Henry W. Kelly.

Mr. Henry W. Kelly, a well known and highly respected business man of Napanee, passed away very suddenly on Saturday last, February 25th, 1922. Mr. Kelly came down to business on Friday morning, feeling particularly well, but about noon he collapsed in his store. He was taken into the Campbell House and medical aid summoned. Towards evening he seemed much better and was taken home. He rested fairly comfortable for a number of hours and got some sleep, waking up about five o'clock and asking for a drink of water. After taking a swallow or two he laid back and expired in a few minutes. Mr. Kelly's health had not been good for some months, but there was no indication that his heart was seriously affected, and it came as a great shock to his many friends to hear of his sudden death. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon from his late residence. Services were held in St. Mary Magdalene's Church at 2.30 o'clock, and after a Masonic service was held in the Sunday School room, and the remains placed in Riverview vault to await removal to Mallorytown in the spring. The sympathy of the community goes out to his sorrowing widow.

T. Nelson Davis.

Nelson was one of seven sons of the late Archibald C. Davis, whose grandfather, Henry Davis, as one of the U. E. Loyalist settlers of Adolphustown, in the year 1784 chose lot 16, in the 2nd Concession, as his homestead. Here the successive generations of the family have always lived; and Nelson now passes the old homestead down to his only son, Clarence, and his widowed mother, a daughter of Joseph B. Allison, the latter being one of the two remaining members of the large, older Allison family. Nelson's brother, George, and sister, Amy, still live on the farm, while the remaining brothers, Wallace, Arch, Allan and Sidney reside in Napanee, Rochester, Toronto and Manitoba, respectively.

The funeral took place at the family residence on Wednesday, conducted by the former Pastor, Rev. Howard Seymour, of Rednersville, Ont., assisted by Rev. W. H. Webber, the present Pastor. There was a large attendance of neighbors, and the Township Council, of which Mr. Davis had been formerly Reeve and latterly Clerk, attended in a body, with a beautiful floral wreath, and acted as pall-bearers, along with Mr. John Humphrey. The Councillors are J. S. Johnston, Reeve; Fred Allison, ex-Reeve; M. F. Mallory, George Chalmers and James Robertson.

Mr. Seymour's address, based on "Cast thy burdens upon the Lord", was most impressive and comforting, and will long be remembered by all who were present. The burial took place in the Allison vault on the Bay of Quinte, conducted by Mr. Masters, of Napanee.

Mrs. Thos. Ruttan.

On February 11th, 1922, Mrs. Thos. Ruttan passed peacefully away, after a lingering illness of five years, which she bore with great patience, being always bright and cheerful.

The deceased was born in Sheffield sixty-four years ago, but lived the greater part of her life in the vicinity of Bath, where she was highly esteemed by all who knew her.

She left to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother, her husband, two daughters and two sons, Mrs. Rikley and Mrs. White, of Bath; Arthur and William, of South Fredericksburgh; also a niece, Anastasia Dwyer, who nursed her with tenderest devotion through her lingering illness. The funeral was held at Bath R. C. Church, mass being celebrated by Rev. Father Lacey. The remains were placed in the vault at Napanee, and in the spring will be interred in Napanee cemetery. May she rest in peace.

HOCKEY.

Belleville 7, Napanee 5.

Local fans were treated to a nice exhibition of hockey at the Arena on Friday evening last, when the fast G. W. V. A. team of Belleville visited Napanee and defeated the local team. During the first period Napanee had the better of the play, but as the game went on it could be seen that the visitors were good to go the limit and in the last period outscored Napanee, thereby winning the game.

The following Napanee Hockey Team played in Picton on Wednesday night, and were defeated by the Picton team, by the score of 11-9.

Napanee—Goal, Babcock; defence, Spencer and Loucks; centre, McNeill; wings, H. Johnston and Huffman; subs, G. Johnston and Blute.

Picton—Goal, Harry Campney; defence, Hudgins and R. Burns; centre, Whattam; wings, H. Campney and B. Burns; subs, Warde and Boyle.

At The Arena To-Night.

Picton will visit Napanee this (Friday) evening and play the Napanee boys a return game. Onr boys held them to a two-goal lead in Picton on Wednesday evening, and the game to-night should prove to be one of the best played here this season.

MASONIC BANQUET.

Friday night was a gala night among the Masonic Fraternity of the district, when Union Lodge No. 9 met in their rooms over the Royal Bank for the purpose of formally opening the new rooms, which have just been prepared at a cost of nearly two thousand dollars. About two hundred Masons were present to participate in the festivities, among whom were many notable guests. Colonel Ponton, the Grand Master of the Masonic Fraternity in Canada and the immediate Past Grand Z of the Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, and Mr. Richard Spencer, the Present Grand Z were the principal guests, and along with them there were many masters, past masters, and members of the surrounding lodges and chapters.

After the regular convocation had been held and the meeting closed, the party assembled in the new rooms where a bountiful meal had been prepared. During the meal an orchestra discoursed sweet music and led in the community singing.

O. S. Reddick, the Worshipful Master of the local lodge, acted as the chairman of the meeting, and when the supper was over, called for a toast to the King. This was responded to by the audience standing and singing the National Anthem.

A toast was then proposed to the Grand Lodge of Canada by Mr. W. S. Herrington, who said in part :—"It is always a pleasure to speak to the Grand Lodge, and especially when coupled with the toast is the name of Colonel Ponton. The Grand Lodge has had a long line of noted leaders, but none who ever held this the highest gift within the Masonic Order in Canada has done more for Masonry, both at home and abroad, as the Present Grand Master."

Colonel Ponton, in responding, thanked the speaker for his kind words on behalf of the Grand Chapter and as well for himself. He appreciated the spirit of the gathering, what seemed to him to be the characteristic note of the meeting was a total lack of doubt, and doubt is always disloyalty. And if the Masonic Lodges had fostered one spirit more than another it was the spirit of loyalty and unity. He looked forward to the day when the unity of Masonry might be manifested in a larger way by a Grand Lodge which would include the whole of British North America, including Newfoundland and the British West Indies. The Masonic Order had been a wonderful factor in the development of the best in the nation. They had fostered many of the present day reforms long before they were the popular things that they were to-day.

Colonel Ponton then described some of the places he had recently visited in his capacity as a representative of the Grand Lodge and the Grand Chapter, notably the opening of the new temple in Windsor, and his visit to certain of the American Lodges. He closed with a further word of congratulations to the local organization, and expressed the hope that it would continue to grow both in numbers and in influence.

A toast was then proposed by Mr. R. W. Longmore, of Camden East, to Canada and the Empire. It is the view of Mr. Longmore that we have here in Canada the best of all the parts of the Empire, where its men are strong, and where there are infinite possibilities in the country for the exercise of those qualities that have ever made a people great. In the future of the nation Masonry was bound to have a large place as a steadying influence on its institutions and life.

Mr. George Anson Aylesworth spoke of the various strands that had entered into the building of the life of the British subject. It was like the erection of a building into which entered all kinds of material contributing to the harmony of the completed whole. The original Celt, the Pict, the Roman, the Norman French and the hardy Scandinavian had each contributed to the temperment and character of the present day Briton. The same process was continuing here in Canada, where we are assimilating the diverse elements of many kinds, but which will in the days that are to come produce a nation of tremendous power and strength. It is the duty and the privilege of men who belong to this order to have a share in the work of cementing all these diverse elements.

A toast then to our guests was proposed by Rev. Mr. Kidd, and was responded to by Richard Spencer, Rev. Mr. Swain, of Belleville, and Mr. Gray, of Kingston. With the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" there was brought to a close one of the most successful and interesting Masonic gatherings ever held in the district.

SCHOOL GRANT INEQUALITIES. PROTESTANTS THE SUFFERERS.

ONE R. C. SCHOOL ON HOWE ISLAND RECEIVES MORE THAN SIX PROTESTANT SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

"Assuming, if you choose, that religious instruction is imparted in the Protestant Separate schools of Ontario does the Drury Government consider the task of teaching Roman Catholic doctrine so much more difficult than the teaching of Protestant principles as to justify an additional $52.78 for each pupil in the Roman Catholic schools?"

This question is propounded by Hon. Dr. J. W. Edwards, late M.P. for Frontenac, in an interview with The Telegram.

"In 1920, there were six Protestant Separate schools in Ontario employing twelve teachers and with an enrolment of 464 pupils and an average attendance of 314. The total Government grant to these six Protestant schools in 1920 was $782.14, or $184.86 less than was donated by the Drury Government to one Roman Catholic school on Howe Island with an average attendance of thirteen pupils.

A Vast Difference.

"The Government grant to each Protestant Separate school averaged the lordly sum of $130 per school, or $56 per school room, as compared with an average of $921.58 to each of the Howe Island Roman Catholic schools the same year, or, on the basis of, daily average attendance $2.50 per pupil in the Protestant schools and $55.28 per pupil in the Roman Catholic schools.

"In view of the contention of the Roman Catholic bishops that Separate schools are being discriminated against in the division of the taxes of incorporated companies," said Dr. Edwards, "I would like to present some facts regarding the distribution of the Legislative grants as having a very direct bearing on a full consideration of the general treatment of the Roman Catholic minority in this province. In doing so one must include and supplement some figures already given to the public by George Spotton, former Mayor of Wingham.

Evident Favoritism.

"An examination of the Government report on Public and Separate schools and of the report of the Minister of Education, shows that Government assistance in 1920, on the basis of daily average attendance was twice as great for each pupil of the R. C. Separate schools as for each Public School pupil. But the favoritism thus shown in 1920 was small when compared with that in 1921.

"In Middlesex County, the Legislative grants averaged $120.06 for each Public School and $454.80 for each Separate School. On the basis of daily average attendance this means Government assistance of $7.69 for each Public School pupil and $23.95 for each Separate School pupil. Why the extra $23.95 for each Separate School pupil? Apart from religious teaching, the subjects of study are the same in the Separate as in the Public Schools.

Grant in Frontenac.

"Now let us take a county in eastern Ontario. In the County of Frontenac, the average Legislative grants to P. S. last year was $314.48, and to S. S. was $755.66. On the basis of daily average attendance this amounted to $21.92 for each P. S. pupil and to $53.33 for each S. S. pupil. Is that bonus of $31.41 per S. S. pupil is not given by the Government in recognition of the special work of imparting religious instruction than what it is given for? Why the manifest discrimination?

"In the Township of Geneig, in the County of Grey, there are three R. C. Separate Schools with a total average daily attendance of 30 and in the same township, nine Public schools with an average daily attendance of 142. The Government grants to the three Separate Schools amounted to $2,000.20 last year or an average of $666.76 a school, while the Government grant to the nine Public Schools totalled $1,958.80 or $217.64 a school.

A Big Difference.

"In the township of the Government gives over $50 more to three R. C. Separate schools than to nine Public schools, or an average of $15.70 for each Public school pupil, and $74.06 for each Separate school pupil. In this case it is obvious that the Drury Government considers it worth an extra $40 per pupil to cultivate the doctrine of the Church of Rome.

"In order to show the general application of this scandalous favoritism, I would refer to the township of Ashfield in Huron County, where, in 1921, the Government grants averaged $5.44 per Public School pupil, and $34 per Separate School pupil; to the Township of Downie, in the County of Perth, where the grants were $5.53 per Public School pupil, and $36.83 per Separate school pupil; and to the Township of Ellice, where the Public schools received an average of $6.65 per pupil, and the Separate schools $50.11 per pupil.

Catholic Teachers in P. S.

"Bishop Fallon complains of unfair treatment, and characterizes our Public schools as sectarian, because in some cases advertisements for teachers stipulated that a Protestant was required. I would like to point out that for some years in Prescott the number of R. C. teachers employed in the Public school was greater than the Roman Catholic proportion of the population. How has this consideration been met by the church in that county? In Howe Island there are three schools built by all the people, Protestant and Roman Catholic, and conducted as Public schools for many years. The late Archbishop Cleary, of Kingston, asked that all these schools be converted into Separate schools and his request was acceded to, with the result that the few Protestant children on that island must either attend the Separate school, be tutored at home or be sent to schools away from home.

Alternative Is To Move.

"There is one other alternative—an alternative which has been forced on hundreds of Protestants in various parts of Ontario—the Protestant owners of farms may sell their properties invariably at a heavy loss and move to another place. That cruel injustice is accepted by Bishop Fallon apparently as quite proper and by his Grace Archbishop McNeil as conducive to the harmony which should prevail between individuals in the same community.

"Now see how the Government of Ontario has dealt with these R. C. Separate schools on Howe Island. The daily average attendance at these three schools is 50. In 1920 the salaries of the three teachers amounted to $1825, and the Government grants to $2,764.65 or $55.28 per pupil. In 1921 the salaries were $2,750 and the grants $3,062.55, or $61.25 per pupil.

Able To Pay Dividend.

"You will please note that in the last two years these three separate schools received in Government grants $1,251.70 more than was required to pay their teachers. I expect the Roman Catholic ratepayers of Howe Island will be paying themselves annual dividends out of the Legislative grants—shovered on them by the Drury Government. Meanwhile the Protestants on that island have no school.

"Peer School" Grants.

"I again call attention to the fact that in 1920 the Separate School on Howe Island drew $939 more from the Government than they paid their teachers. It is hard to believe, but nevertheless a fact that included in the Government Grants of 1920 was a special 'pour school' of $784 to each school. If it is urged that this special grant was warranted by the assessments of these Separate School sections, then why did 32 Public schools in the same county, each with a lower assessment than these Separate Schools receive no 'pour school' grants?" SHOOTING OF P. C. COTTER.

Will charges in connection with the shooting of Detective James Cotter be laid against the Bigton brothers and Fred Bryant? As yet no charges have been made against them for this affair, but it may be that action of this kind will be taken in the near future. This charge and a number of minor charges were dropped by the crown, pending the result of the more serious charge, that of murder.

Detective Cotter has not yet fully recovered from the injuries he received when he was shot in the arm. The board of police commissioners extended his leave of absence until March 10th.

MORE HOCKEY AT BATH.

Some folks say we have swelled heads,
But Bath can afford to smile;
We know we've put it over them
By just about a mile.

We arranged a game with Portsmouth,
And we'll say we were surprised,
If it wasn't for the "O" in "Pop"
We would still be paralyzed.

For Stella was "hit", they had sticks of their own,
The best from every team;
But Bath like hungry cannibals
Just "licked the platter clean".

Now the island's sports are suffering
From a bilious-ical disposition,
So we'll send our Doctor over
To put 'em in condition.

For he has a remedy for that,
We will guarantee it to cure;
He'll scrub 'em well and then apply
"Bath-hockey vaseline".

When Adolphustown came here to play,
Each man a husky chap;
We've tied the game quite evenly,
While we held 'em in our lap.

When Bath boys asked for "overtime"
To trim them nice and neat,
Adolphustown just shook its head,
The reason why, "cold feet".

Now, we are no Wait Mascn,
To rave, or rave, or cry;
But we'll chloroform the hockey stick,
Or we'll know the reason why.

For our boys play clean and honest,
They'll build a little still
On our own little hill,
And make the rest of you folks go dry.

LOUCKS—DOUGLAS.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening, February 15th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loucks, 1517 12th Ave. West, when their only daughter, Berneice Winnifred, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Donald P. Douglas. Rev. Robert Johnston, D.D. officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, entered the drawing room to the strains of the wedding march, charmingly attired in an elaborate gown of white satin with Georgette tunic, trimmed with fringe and silver, carrying a bouquet of ophelia roses. The bride was attended by Miss Winnie Feary, who looked pretty in a pink satin dress and a large picture hat, carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. The flower girl, little Maybell Burdick, looked sweet in a yellow silk dress, carrying a basket of daffodils. The groom was attended by Mr. Chas. Revell, of Drumheller. Miss Isabel Ramsay sang very sweetly "Bridal Dawn", accompanied by Mr. Shaw, during the signing of the register. The home was beautifully decorated with palms and smilax. Buffet luncheon was served to about fifty guests invited during the bride's visit. The gifts were beautiful and numerous. The happy couple left on Friday for Drumheller, Alta., where they will reside.

LEE—HOLLAND.

The Methodist Parsonage, Yarker, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Wednesday evening, February 22nd, 1922, when L. Helena, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Holland, became the bride of Earl Stanley Lee, of Hilton. The Rev. Mr. Down officiated. The young couple were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Vivian Holland, and Mr. Harold Steele, of the Bank of Montreal. A dainty luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents, during which the happy event was announced to a few immediate friends. After receiving congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Lee left en route for points East.

CUSTOM HATCHING.

The poultry business leads all other branches on the farm as a profit maker. Just think of a ton of dressed poultry being sold in our town on only 2 days last fall at very high prices. This amount represents less than two-thirds of the poultry sold in this county last year. Then when you take into account the eggs, which amounted to over $100,000, a grand total of $225,000. Are you getting your share of this great money making industry. If not, start in now.

In order to help you get started right, The M. B. Mills Co. will do custom hatching at reduced rates. We will also take orders for Day-old chicks of the popular breeds.

We are agents for the best Incubators made, the celebrated Buckeye Hot Water machines; also best Hovers. Can give clear instructions with the machines running before your eyes, so anybody can easily learn to handle them. Remember the most important thing is to have your chicks hatched early when you want them in good numbers, not waiting in disappointment for the clucking hens. Get your orders in now and be ready for the crown, pending the results of the more serious charge, that of murder.

Wall Papers For 1922

Of late years many housekeepers have done most of their Painting and Paper Hanging in the months of February and March, for the reason, principally, that they can then secure the services of the paper hanger more easily than later in the season. We have in stock a great variety, and Canadian made Paper as can be had in the Dominion, which for accuracy, fast, and French papers of the very highest quality, we can offer at 25 to 50 per cent. lower than is charged by the city dealers. There will be good reply to delay in the delivery of these papers. They will be here the second week in April, or earlier if made. We invite intending purchasers to look through our samples and get our prices.

We have a new stock of Window Shades of two different grades, which we are offering at prices we know to be the very lowest.

We will have a full line of Window Poles, and the various fittings connected therewith.

We are busy every day with the Picture Framing, and endeavor to manage it so there will be no disappointments. A new stock comprises some very taking lines.

Come in and see the goods. We will show them with pleasure.

NOW SINGS THE PRAISES OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Saskatchewan Man Who Has Found New Health and Gained Twenty Pounds in Weight Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Wakaw, Sask., Feb. 27th, (Special)—Simon Gawiuk, a well-known and respected resident here, is a sworn friend of Dodd's Kidney Pills. He has tried them and found them good.

"I am more than thankful that I was led to use Dodd's Kidney Pills" Mr. Gawiuk states. "I had backache and after using Dodd's Kidney Pills I grew much stronger and I gained twenty pounds in weight.

"Now I am very thankful to say I have no more backache and I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to everyone."

That Mr. Gawiuk's trouble came from the kidneys is evidenced by the relief he found from Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are purely and simply a Kidney remedy. They heal and strengthen the kidneys and put them in shape to strain all the impurities out of the blood. Sound kidneys mean pure blood. Pure blood means good health.

OBITUARY.

Dr. Truman A. Beeman.

Dr. Truman A. Beeman, the subject of this sketch, was born at Selby, Lennox County, Ont., where his father kept the village store, about sixty years ago. He was the youngest of a family of three brothers and one sister. The two elder brothers, D. M. I. Beeman, of Newburgh, and Dr. I. A. Beeman, of Perth, predeceased him; his sister, Mrs. Hinch, is still living in Toronto.

After attending the village school and going through the usual preparatory courses, he followed the family tradition by studying medicine at Queen's University, Kingston, where he graduated about thirty-five years ago.

Shortly after taking his degree he commenced the practice of medicine in Bancroft, and with the exception of a few years at Mallorytown, about six months which he spent at Newburgh attending his brother, Dr. Milton I. Beeman, in his last illness and keeping up his brother's practice there, and the time taken in postgraduate courses in Montreal and New York, he remained here until within two days of his death.

Although his health for the past eight years has not been good he continued his work until about three weeks ago when a severe attack came on, culminating on a midnight trip, brought on an attack of pneumonia from which he seemed to partially recover, but its effects on his heart, which had always been rather weak, led the local doctors to advise him to go to Toronto for hospital treatment. He went to Toronto, accompanied by Dr. Lumb, on Monday, February 6th, and seemed to stand the journey well, but on Tuesday night unfavourable symptoms set in and he passed away shortly after midnight.

So far our task in sketching the life of the Doctor has been comparatively easy, but when it comes to trying to explain the positions which he held in the community, it would be hard to find anyone competent for the work. Modest, retiring and quiet, and yet firm as a rock in determination to carry or do nothing of which his conscience did not approve, he went about the country for more than thirty years without making an enemy or losing a friend. It is perfectly safe to say that no man in this district was so universally loved and respected as was the subject of our sketch, and it is hard to say exactly why he stood so high in the estimation of the community, for he never sought popularity or took any apparent means to secure it. It is true that he often gave his professional services to poor people for little or nothing, but when he came home in his coffin last Friday the people who came to pay their last respects to him had also filled the church as it has seldom been filled before, and would have filled it had it been twice as large, were not nearly all composed of his former patients. Underlying the feeling of the community but perhaps never put into words, was the knowledge that he was a man who filled good, not for money, praise or popularity, but because it was his nature to do so.

It is said that some of his relatives were surprised, and not very well pleased at his expressed desire to be buried here in the back country far from the resting places of his family. If this were the case, the reason for his desire must have been plainly apparent to them at the sight of the crowds of people who gathered to pay their last respects to their old friend, and saw the tears filling the eyes of men whom he was not related by blood, but who felt his loss as though he had been a brother. The place where he had given the best of his life to a grateful and appreciating people was the only fitting resting place for the beloved physician.

Truman Beeman will be seen no more on earth, but for years to come the story of his good deeds will be told among our people.

The pleasing sight of an Anglican clergyman and a Methodist minister standing in the same pulpit at his funeral, was an example of the way in which the people in the north country dropped all minor differences to unite in doing honor to one of the noblest men who ever lived.

We will leave to quoting a few lines from the poet statesman, D'Arcy McGee.

His faith was as refined gold,
His hope assured, not overbold,
His charity past count, untold.

—The Bancroft Times, Bancroft, Ont., February 16th, 1922.

Mrs. Israel Stewart.

On October 12th, 1921, at the ripe old age of ninety-five years, Mary Molyneaux, relict of the late Israel Stewart, passed out of life's earthly shadows into that clearer light and heavenly joy which God has prepared for his saints.

Mary Stewart lived for those around her, unselfish, kind to all, as those who knew her best can testify. She was a true friend in the hour of trouble, always wise and capable; a consistent member of the Methodist Church. Her Godly life proved that her hope was anchored to that everlasting rock that stands firm even in the hour of death. Three children mourn the loss of a precious mother, J. W. Stewart, of Camden East; Mrs. Evans, Moscow; and Mrs. A. B. Frizzell, of Toronto.

Emma Stewart Evans.

On November 9th, 1921, four weeks from the day her mother, the late Mary A. Stewart, passed to her reward, Mrs. Evans, mother of Everett Evans, of Moscow, and widow of the late Lewis Evans, also crossed over the silent river to be forever with the Lord. She had been a great sufferer for over a year and the call came as a blessed release. She was a member of the Methodist church, a mother; a loving mother and a faithful worker in the Methodist church. She took an intense interest in all its activities. We can truly say she was a woman beloved by all who knew her. She has left behind her to greatly mourn her loss an only son, Everett Evans, and an only sister and brother, Mrs. A. B. Frizzell, of Toronto, and J. W. Stewart, of Camden East.

Mrs. Henry Abbott.

On Monday, February 13th, 1922, there passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Allen Jones, Tweed, Ont., Sarah Patience Hudgins, youngest daughter of Ezekiel Hudgins. She was seventy-two years old on February 3rd. On October 16th, 1883, she was united in marriage to Henry Abbott, of Tyendinaga, who predeceased her fifteen years. Their home ever a happy and hospitable home. She was a life long member of the Methodist Church, for several years president of the W. M. S. of Empey Hill. She lived an honored and useful life in church and community. She enjoyed good health, until two weeks before her death when she was taken with pneumonia. From the first of her illness she seemed to realize that she would soon know the reality of that for which she had lived. She leaves to miss her presence two daughters, Mrs. Herb. Kimmerly, Tyendinaga, and Mrs. Allen Jones, Tweed; also three brothers, Ira and Moses Hudgins, Richmond, and John Hudgins, of Phoenix, N.Y.; also her sister, Mrs. Lydia Schermerhorn, of Napanee. After a short service at the home of her daughter, in Tweed, her remains were brought to the residence on Dundas St., Napanee. The funeral service was held in Grace Church on Feb. 16th. The service was conducted by the Rev. T. H. P. Anderson, of Selby, interment at Riverview cemetery, Napanee.

TO IMPROVE LIGHT HORSES

Ten Stallions Will Be Distributed Throughout Ontario for Four Months Each Year

For the purpose of improving the breed of light horses in Ontario, seven high-class stallions have been imported from England and will be placed at different parts of the province for service about the first of May.

These stallions are now at Woodbine Park in Toronto, and before the 1st of May will be joined by three more—Rancher, Springrido and one other. They will be assembled and kept in Toronto, free of expense, for about the first of September to the first of April or May each year, when they will be handed over to a suitable man for service in the country during the summer months. The districts where the horses will be stationed will be suggested by the Dominion government, through the militia department. Service fees will be nominal. These horses were purchased in England by W. P. Fraser for the Canadian Racing Associations, will form a nucleus of a breeding stud which it is intended to develop from year to year.

The horses secured by Mr. Fraser are Casanova, winner of the Derby Gold Cup; Cattegat, a winner on the turf; General Prophyn, bred by the King and a winner of King's prizes in England; Red King, whose services always were in great demand in England; Spring Wheat, also bred by the King and a winner of King's premiums and special premiums; McNeill, a good turf winner; Quarts Rock, nationally bred and a winner on the turf.

Home Accidents

Seldom does a day pass without someone in your family happening an accident.

Household means the end of bruises and knocks. Coming time brings its burns, cooking stives results in cuts, burns and scalds, while the children are always in the wars. Consequently, every wise mother keeps a bottle of Zam-Buk handy.

For the sprained ankle or wrist, the cut finger, the bruised forehead, the burn or scald, antiseptic Zam-Buk is the most ideal first-aid. Zam-Buk ends smarting pain and suppresses almost instantly. It kills disease germs, cleanses the broken tissues, and then builds new skin.

Zam-Buk is a pure highly-refined blend of Nature's herbal oils and essences. Its timely use has averted many a festered hand, poisoned knee or crippled leg, common results of haphazard treatment with impure fatty ointments and salves.

A DAILY NEED

YOUR TEETH.

OCCLUSION.

By Res Proctor McGee, D.D.S., M.D., Editor "Oral Hygiene"

Occlusion means the fitting together of the upper and lower teeth when the mouth is closed.

In the normal mouth the upper teeth extend slightly over the lower teeth all around. Each upper tooth strikes two lower teeth and each lower tooth strikes two upper teeth.

This arrangement acts upon the principle of a shock-absorber. Every tooth has a slight motion independent of the other teeth. When the jaws come together the teeth move a little and escape the jar.

All bodily movements are due to the muscles pulling upon the bone according to the well known mechanical principles of the different forms of levers.

If the muscles of your arm worked upon the same lever plan that the muscles of your jaw work upon, you could throw a horse over a six-foot fence without much trouble.

This means that there is an immense pressure upon your teeth when you chew.

A soldier completely equipped for field service with knapsack and rifle weighs about 60 pounds to the square inch upon the ground when he walks.

The human jaws in a normal man can exert a pressure of ten hundred and fifty pounds to the square inch.

The lower jaw moves up and down, from side to side, back and forth, and it also has a rotary movement. If any tooth is out of its proper position in the arch, it is very liable to receive the whole pressure of the jaws in some of these movements and the constant jarring that it receives will start an inflammation in the pericementum—the membrane that covers the root of the tooth and attaches it to the bone.

The same thing happens when a filling is too high, and sometimes when a tooth has been extracted the teeth on either side will move a little into the vacant space and negate one or more to strike too hard.

This called traumatic occlusion and is the cause of many cases of death of the nerve, alveolar abscess, pulp stones, enlargement of the end of the root, called exostosis, and pyorrhea.

If a tooth is slightly tender or seems to be in the way, a visit to the dentist will save a great deal of trouble.

One thing is certain, a tooth never hurts or even feels uneasy unless there is something the matter. There may be sham pains in other parts of the body, but whenever anyone tells you that his teeth hurt, they do.

ROD AND GUN

If you have gone over your fishing tackle and have everything in readiness for the opening of the season, the March issue of Rod and Gun in Canada and bear fuel on the fire kindled by the Rod and Gun Editorial "Napicami Beauties" by L. P. Steenman; "A Speckled Trout Puzzle", by Bonnyeastle Dale and "Fishing the Credit River From a Canoe," by John P. Babcock. If you are not a fisherman, read any one of the hunting and trapping stories and articles contained in the March issue of Canada's natural sportsman's monthly. The rifleman interested in the Lee-Enfield will find some very helpful information, while the "Smatter gun" enthusiast will read with interest the Trap department. This number of Rod and Gun in Canada has several especially good nature photographs which will undoubtedly prove of interest to all worshippers at Nature's shrine. Rod and Gun in Canada is published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont.

Have a Big Store in a Small Town

Long Distance Will Help You

THERE are such stores, that hold the trade for miles around, some of them built up without largely increasing capital.

The merchant buys small standardized stocks of the very best sellers, the same styles that are being shown in the cities. He is particular to get the styles that are advertised, that his customers will look for. If it is wearing apparel, he profitably does not carry the very small or very large sizes, preferring in those for which there will be most demand.

When well displayed, an advertisement in the local paper starts them selling. The merchant looks upon the manufacturer or Jobber as his warehouse. Once a week, or oftener, he checks up what new stock or odd sizes he needs, and orders them by Long Distance.

Shipment is often made the same day by express, parcel post, or freight. Quick delivery becomes possible. Customers are enthusiastic to find they can buy what they want in their home town. Reputation grows rapidly, and the yearly turnover increases notably.

By designating an experienced employee to handle out-of-town messages, their customers' calls are made at the low Station-to-Station rates.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Wm. Whiteman, who departed this life March 8th, 1921.

She departed without bidding us a last farewell,
And silently went home to Heaven to dwell;
One of the best that God could lend,
A loving wife and faithful mother.
Silently around her bedside we stood,
With hearts all crushed and sore,
While softly the watchers said,
"Not lost, but gone before."

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. J. L. Richmond, who departed this life February 25th, 1920.

Not gone from memory, not gone from love,
But gone to our Father's home above;
We must not murmur, nor complain,
But trust in God to meet again.
Friends may think we oft forget her,
When at times they see us smile,
But they little know the sorrow,
Which that smile hides all the while.

How Dickens Escaped Those Who Proved Unwelcome.

Still very much alive, Charles Dickens' office boy and junior clerk, Caleb Jackson, who worked in the office of "All the Year Round" when the author of "The Christmas Carol" was one of the most-visited men in England, may be seen and interviewed at the quiet home in Breage, Cornwall, where Mr. Jackson, now 85 years old, lives and reads with unceasing admiration the works of the great author he knew personally.

He who once used to be "Caleb, the office boy," relates that Dickens had a regular day, once a week, when he came to the office in London of "All the Year Round." The forenoon on such occasions, was quiet; but from midday there was a continual stream of callers to see him. Mr. Jackson's method of receiving them was to take their cards and assure them, with as innocent an air as possible, "I'll see if Mr. Dickens is in."

"Then," says Mr. Jackson, "I ran up the lead-covered stairs, found if Mr. Dickens' decision was 'to see or not to see,' and then asked, or did not ask—as the case might be—the visitor to 'step this way'."

Mr. Jackson implies that some visitors were very persistent in their determination to see Boz, when he goes on to point out that the building had three exits, "which, on more than one occasion, Mr. Dickens found very useful."

It was at the end of March, 1850, that Dickens commenced the new twopenny weekly called "Household Words" (afterward "All the Year Round"), which he planned should be a direct means of communication between himself and his readers, and, in addition, a means of collecting around him and encouraging the talent of the younger generation.

"Bleak House" was Dickens' first story to appear in Household Words. Another famous novel to be printed in the new twopenny weekly was "Little Dorrit," and the "Tale of Two Cities" was published in it after its change of name to "All the Year Round."

The solemn season of Lent is "the seedtime of the year" for the soul, and if we neglect our Christian duties and privileges during this holy time stagnation and failure in spiritual growth must inevitably follow.

"Behold now is the accepted time; behold now is the Day of Salvation".

ARDEN

We had a very severe electric storm on the 19th, and a down pour of rain. We also had a big snow storm last week and cold weather.—Another show troope struck the town last week, with Muriel, the woman who knows.—Mr. E. Barker is doing a big business in the telephone line. —Mrs. H. Hannah spent a few days in Tweed recently. — Miss Helen Pringle has gone to Toronto to school. —Mr. and Mrs. C. Snider took tea and spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. E. Barker.—Miss Greta Hughes, teacher of the Young Men's Bible Class, entertained them Monday night.—Mr. and Mrs. C. Snider at Mr. W. McGregor's, on Sunday.—The Ladies' Aid At Home is to be at Mr. Samuel Barker's, this week.

Higgins' White Hellebore, as recommended by Farm Journals, for lice on cattle, for sale at Wallace's.

ERNESTTOWN STATION

The recent snow storm has greatly improved the sleighing, and at present we are having the best sleighing of the season.—The old town has taken on quite a business aspect in the past few days.—The Amherst Island U. F. O. Club unloaded a car of seed oats. The Odessa Farmers' Club unloaded a car of bran and shorts and a car of corn; also shipped a car of hogs and a car of fat cattle on Friday last, paying $13.40 per cwt. for hogs.—Mr. T. Revell is drawing in timber for shipment by rail. Mrs. E. B. Crowe has returned home, after visiting friends in Belleville.—Miss Laura Crowe spent a day recently in Napanee.—Quite a number from here attended the hockey match in Bath on Saturday last.—The game played between Bath and Adolphustown resulted in a draw, each side scoring two goals. No overtime period was played. —Rev. Mr. Latimer, of Wilton, assisted Rev. Mr. Nickle, at the Union, on Sunday last.—Miss Laura Crowe at Elmore Amey's, on Saturday last. —Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baker at his father's, on Sunday last.—Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Weese and Mr. Whittaker in their recent loss by fire.

An astronomer was entertaining a Scotch friend. He showed his visitor the moon through a telescope and asked him what he thought of the satellite.

"It's a' richt," replied the Scot, who was an enthusiastic golfer, "but it's awful fu' o' bunkers."

One-Book Authors.

How many were to share the distinction of the late Olive Schreiner in being known as the author of one book? "The Story of an African Farm" earned an immense reputation when it appeared, and nothing else that Mrs. Schreiner wrote afterwards came anywhere near it in popularity. One minor almost call before a one-book author, for what of all the among, he wrote do we recall beyond "Robinson Crusoe"? Cervantes' "Don Quixote" also stands alone. Mrs. Beecher Stowe wrote many books, but nothing equal to "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Thomas Day was certainly a one-book man with "Sandford and Merton." And what else did Henry Cockton write beside "Valentine Vox"?

"She is calling him down for staying out late last night," said the friend, returning.

ABOUT THE ATTIC TANK

Useful for Rural and Small Town Houses.

Not an Ideal System, However—Something Better Later On—The Making, Installing and Filling of the Tank Described.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

My last article described how the farm pump on shallow wells may be located inside the house or stable, thus doing away with the carrying of water. This arrangement, of course, will not provide for water under pressure, and, therefore, a complete plumbing system is not possible, nor is hot water made available. To secure these great advantages, it is necessary to either elevate the water to some form of tank at least a few feet higher than the highest fixture in the house, or pump the water into a strong metal high pressure tank against the enclosed air which, when compressed into about one-half to one-third the volume of the tank will create sufficient power to force the water out when the faucets are opened. The first arrangement or system is usually called the Attic Tank water system, the second, the Compressed Water System.

Why Called "Attic Tank System."

This system is popularly known as the Attic Tank System because the water supply tank which supplies water under pressure is usually located in the attic of the house. To get enough pressure to force the water through the hot water boiler and the coils in the furnace or kitchen range and supply any fixture as sink or bath tub with water at a reasonable rate of flow, it is necessary to get the water tank a considerable distance above the highest fixtures. To secure say 25 lbs. pressure at the kitchen faucets the tank would need to be at least 80 feet higher than the kitchen, so you see that in order to get any pressure worth while the tank must be located at the highest possible level inside the house, hence the attic location. More pressure and hence faster flow at fixtures may be had by locating the tank outside the house on the top of a high tower, for example, just above the wind mill, but outside tanks are not popular for evident reasons.

The System Is Not an Ideal One.

The Attic Tank System has even pretty fair satisfaction where properly put in and cared for, but the pressure can seldom really worth, while. It is doubtful, however, it many more of this type of water system will be installed, as the more modern ones, which I will describe in two other articles, are very much superior. The chief objections to this system are, first, the water tank is liable to freeze unless well protected, the tank may spring a leak and seriously damage the interior of the house and the plumbing supply is not high enough to exit good pressure, you have to wait a long time to get a pail of water, and as the tank must of necessity be pretty small, pumping must be resorted to very frequently in order to keep enough water on hand; and lastly, the water has to be pumped up to the tank by hand pump and few people enjoy pumping even if the pumping is done indoors.

How to Make the Tank.

The tank itself is usually constructed of pine or spruce plank, tongued and grooved, well held together by iron rods and the inside lined with A1 quality galvanized iron. A tight top should be used in order to keep dust and dirt out of it. On one side near the top there should be installed an overflow pipe leading to the outside, or to a sink or some fixture below, preferably in the kitchen, so that the one who is pumping may know by the flow from pipe when the tank is full. The tank should be large enough to hold at least three or four barrels of water. In some houses it is possible to arrange for running part of the rain water from the roof into this tank, in which case considerable pumping is eliminated. The tank should be located preferably over a partition so that the weight of water would not cause a sag in the floor of the attic. A round tank about three feet long and two feet in diameter strapped to the resting above the bottom and bolted to the wooden one in the attic.

The Filling of the Tank.

As noted, the tank is usually filled by a hand pump located in the kitchen or cellar. The pump used for this purpose must be a force-pump in order to lift the water to the required level. If electricity or natural gas engine were available either might be used to pump up the water. Sometimes the tank is filled by windmill and sometimes by an hydraulic ram operating at the spring at a considerable distance from the house. Write the Department of Agriculture, O. A. C., Guelph, for further particulars. Make modern conveniences for the farm home your special study this winter.—H. R. Graham, O. A. College, Guelph.

Some "Don'ts" for House-cleaning.

Don't use too much water on wood-work. Rub with a waxed cloth, then with a clean flannel cloth.

Don't wash silk or lace curtains at one time and don't stretch them. Use a little rice water or thin starch in the last rinse water. New curtains are not starched; why advertise that your curtains are old by starching them?

Don't beat rugs such as Brussels or Wilton on the right side. Lay them face down on the grass, beat and sweep on the wrong side. When replaced on the floors wipe the surface with a cloth wrung from hot salt water. This brightens and freshens the rugs.

"The man who hates to fight," said Bud Tunkins, "can usually be depended on when forced into a fight to work as hard as he knows how to get it over with."

Why suffer from corns when they can be painlessly rooted out by using Holloway's Corn Remover.

Col. Henry Watterson Was Called the Grand Old Man Of American Journalism

Henry Watterson, whose death occurred in his eightieth year, has been known for more than a generation as the Grand Old Man of American Journalism. He was the editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and the other Kentucky papers which it absorbed in the course of his career for more than fifty years, and in that time exercised more influence than any other editor in the South to bring the South to accept the situation that was produced by the Civil War. He was also a power in the Democratic party, and, with Col. Harvey, was chiefly responsible for the boom which resulted in the election of Woodrow Wilson as Governor of New Jersey, and later as President of the United States. He confessed subsequently that he had been deceived in Wilson, and that he had greatly exaggerated his mental stature.

But it was as an editorial writer that Henry Watterson was known from coast to coast in the United States, and, after the war broke out, in every belligerent country in the world. It was he who shortly after the great struggle had burst forth invented the fitting slogan: "To hell with the Hapsburg and the Hohenzollern." The editorial he wrote when the United States entered the war won for him the Pulitzer prize. It was a masterpiece of insulting invective and invocation. On another occasion, when his former friend, Senator Foraker, of Ohio, had been politically ruined as the result of the publication in the Hearst papers of letters stolen from the Standard Oil offices, Marse Henry wrote an article that well might have brought tears to the eyes of readers, to whom Foraker was a stranger. There was an emotional appeal in Watterson's writings that none of his confreres could parallel.

About three years ago he severed his active connection with the paper in order to prepare his memoirs. On that occasion there was hardly a newspaper in the United States that did not make some kindly, admiring reference to Marse Henry. A more formal and more reverberating salute was tendered him a short time afterward, when his old paper, unknown to Col. Watterson, who sojourning at Miami, Florida, prepared a special "Marse Henry" edition, which contained tributes from statesmen, authors, actors, clergymen of all denominations, and brother-workers in journalism. The edition was a very fine one, and in one respect, perhaps, the most remarkable one ever produced in that it was kept secret from the object of it. While the regular editions of the Courier-Journal for weeks before had been advertising the coming issue, every paper that went to Florida had this feature carefully cut out, and not a word or letter issues were asked not to let Marse Henry know what was going off. So far as anybody is aware, his first hint of it was when he received his first bundle of the papers.

When speaking of Watterson, it is natural to compare him with the giants of the past on the metropolitan press, men like Bona of the Sun, Greeley of the Tribune, Bennett, Pulitzer and a few others. But he was not exactly like any of them, and maybe no two men are exactly alike, anyway. He was more like them than any of his contemporaries is like them in that he stood out as a national figure. His name rarely appeared in his own paper, yet everybody knew him, everybody could pick out his article. He was a compelling personality. He was a Southern gentleman of the old school, to use a cant phrase, a man who said himself that he hoped never to be too old to make merry with his friends, a man who was a sound judge of good liquor, and was a deadly foe to prohibition legislation, a very flayord in dress, an authority on literature, an encyclopaedia on politics, a man who had read all that the master critics and the agnostics and the scientists have to say, and who knew from boyhood reverend for a moment in his faith in "Christ and Him crucified."

Though everybody thinks of Col. Watterson as a Kentuckian, his "Story of Kentucky" was published in London, and for two after it had come from Scotland and he was born in Washington. As a Southerner he fought for the South, but he never believed that the South was right, and his most important work was in the reconstruction period when he helped to induce the South to face the situation and accept the hand of brotherhood that the North held out.

Stable-wise negroes were discussing the pedigree of Man-of-War, "Say, Henery," asked one, dis horse Man-of-War—was he sho by?"

"Ah dunno. Ebery time Ah sees her she is by herself."

INGLE.

The heavy snow fall of last Wednesday has improved the sleighing very much, and everyone is busy hauling logs and drawing wood again. —Mr. Robt. McLauchlin had a bee on Saturday last, moving a building from a farm which he purchased a year ago from Vincent Byrnes. A number of the young folks from here attended the party at Amos Frizzell's on Monday evening.—Mrs. Herb Kennedy and little son, Alex. visited Mrs. Fred McKnight, on Saturday afternoon.—A number of our young men attended the Masonic banquet in Napanee on Friday evening.—Miss Lola Haggerty visited last week with Mrs. Frank McLaughlin.—The Misses Edyth and Birdie Lacey visited Mrs. Ambrose Way, on Friday.—Mrs. Fred McKnight called on Mrs. Fred Close on Wednesday.—Miss Beryl Milligan spent the week end in Tamworth.

YARKER.

Archie Card has sold his property to Mr. Hiram Walker, and bought the Byron Holden property, consisting of dwelling and garage. Mr. Holden has purchased Kora Lee's farm, and is moving there at once. —Wilbur Wilson intends moving as soon as possible in his house lately purchased from Mrs. Vanluven.—We are glad to know our hotel is opening up again under the able management of S. Burgess. This village has been without a hotel for about two years.—R. T. Hyland, Toronto, spent the week-end at his home. A. D. Leonard, Agent C. N. R., was called home this week on account of his daughter having to undergo an operation. —The Methodist Church has installed new lights, which are a decided improvement over the old ones. The concert held in the church in aid of the Sunday School was a great success, and a large sum of money was realized. The Ladies' Aid gave a supper in the League Hall on Thursday evening, which drew a large crowd. A very quiet wedding took place here when Miss Helena, youngest daughter of Mr. J. Holland, was married to Mr. Lee, youngest son of Bread Lee, of Vinton. The happy couple left by C. N. R. train for points east. While Gerald Hawley was getting a lantern from the house his horse disappeared, and before he was captured the critter had sadly broken and harness torn to pieces. There was no one in the after at the time or it might have been more serious.

HAY BAY AND GOSPORT.

Mrs. Rendell has returned home, after spending a few weeks visiting friends in Napanee. — Mrs. C. H. Parks and Miss Marion McLaughlin called on Mrs. Cameron Sexsmith, of Gosport, on Saturday.—Mrs. William McCabe has returned home, after visiting her daughter, Mrs. Perry, of Oshawa. — Thomas Fox and family have recently moved into one of A. C. Parks' tenant houses.—We are glad to see Mrs. Willie Bell back, after visiting her parents in Perth.—Miss Mary Weddell spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Marion McLaughlin.—We are hoping for an improvement in our roads, as the men are busy drawing gravel for that purpose.—The friends of Mrs. R. Chalk are pleased that she is improving, after her recent illness.—The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church gave a social evening at the home of Mr. Fred Moore on Tuesday. The evening was pleasantly spent in games, contests, etc.

EXECUTORS' NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the Estate of Thomas Edward Farrs, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 121 of the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1914, Section 56, and amending Acts, that all persons having any claims or demands against the estate of Thomas Edward Farrs, late of the Township of Camden, in the County of Lennox and Addington, farmer, deceased, who died on or about the 12th day of February, A.D. 1922, are required to deliver or send by post prepaid to Uriah Morley Wilson, Napanee, Ont., Solicitor for Maitland V. Lake and W. Clifton Farrs, Executors of the last will and testament of the said Thomas Edward Farrs, deceased, on or before the 27th day of March, A.D. 1922, their christian and surnames, addresses and descriptions, with full particulars of their claims or demands duly verified, and the nature of the security (if any) held by them.

And further take notice that after the said 27th day of March, A.D. 1922 the said Executors will proceed to distribute the assets of the said estate among the persons entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims or demands of which they shall then have received notice, and shall not be liable for the said assets, or any part thereof so distributed, to any person or persons of whose claims or demands they shall not have received notice at the time of the distribution thereof.

U. M. WILSON,
Solicitors for the said Executors.

Novelty In Babies' Names.

Nomenclature is taking a fresh turn in British homes, where there exists an inclination to discard the old and long-accepted names for babies, and to adopt titles of an unusual character. During the suffrage campaigns in England many parents sympathetic with the cause expressed their partisanship by naming their daughters "Faith" and "Hope," as expressive of their aspirations in respect to the female citizen's mandate.

Business women resented female names of the "fluffy" type, as probably indicative of the character of their possessors, and several women in the commercial world have selected such names for their sons as "Cecil," "Sydney," or "Pamela"; in the case of a girl "Frances."

One woman who had been highly successful in a deal over South African securities commemorated the event by bestowing the name of "Diamond" upon her daughter; and another, who had been associated with several surveys of mountainous regions, desired a title recalling her exploits to be given her baby. Peter and Venusina were too flat. Everest, on reminiscent of somnolence and Kilimanjaro too suggestive of slaughter; so she struck the happy medium, and "Andes," which, if possessing a cadence of Scotch lilt, will remind the fond parent of an early ascent to fortune.

Sir Francis Burnand.

Sir Henry Lucy tells a number of good stories about Sir Francis Burnand, who succeeded Tom Taylor as editor of Punch. Burnand gave the most anxious care to his editorial duties, although never to the extent of submerging his natural humor. Burnand's humor was as spontaneous as it was inexhaustible. "I remember talking with him amid the crush at the Foreign Office on a Birthday night," says Sir Henry Lucy. "A be-decked and be-ribboned guest came up and warmly greeted him. With a puzzled look he did not reciprocate the recognition. 'Ah,' said the stranger, 'I see you don't know me from Adam.' 'My dear fellow,' replied Frank, 'I didn't know Adam.'" One time Burnand appeared before the income tax commissioners to protest against what he resented as a too liberal estimate of his income. In reply to searching inquiries he was a little hazy about particulars. "Sure," said the presiding commissioner, born and bred a man of business, "you must keep books." "No, indeed," said Burnand. "I don't keep books. I write 'em." Burnand retired in his seventieth year. He had written over 120 plays and some of them were profitable, but he had spent as lavishly as he had earned, and so found himself in difficulties in his old age.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

"The man who hates to fight," said Jud Tunkins, "can usually be depended on when forced into a fight to work as hard as he knows how to get it over with."

Why suffer from corns when they can be painlessly rooted out by using Holloway's Corn Remover.

Nearly all children are subject to worms, and many are born with them. Spare them suffering by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, an excellent remedy.

Stable-wise negroes were discussing the pedigree of Man-o'-War. "Say, Henery," asked one, dis horse Man-o'-War—who is she by?"

"Ah dunno. Ebery time Ah sees her she is by herself."

A Power of its Own.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has a subtle power of its own. All who have used it know this and keep it by them as the most valuable liniment available. Its uses are innumerable and for many years it has been prized as the leading liniment for man and beast.

An astronomer was entertaining a Scotch friend. He showed his visitor the moon through a telescope and asked him what he thought of the satellite.

"It's a' richt," replied the Scot, who was an enthusiastic golfer, "but it's awful fu' o' bunkers."

When a mother detects from the writhings and tossing of a child that worms are troubling it, she can procure a reliable remedy in Miller's Worm Powders which will expel all worms from the system. They may cause vomiting, but this need cause no anxiety, because it is but a manifestation of their thorough work. No worms can long exist where these Powders are used.

Wife—But why don't you want me to buy your neckties any more?

Hub—Well-er-I'd rather buy them myself than have you go to all that trouble.

Wife—But I like to do things for you.

Hub—Oh, in that case, I'll let you look after the furnace this winter.

Internally and Externally It Is Good.—The crowning property of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is that it can be used internally for many complaints as well as externally. For sore throat, croup, whooping cough, pains in the chest, colic and many kindred ailments it has qualities that are unsurpassed. A bottle of it costs little and there is no loss in always having it at hand.

"Arthur", said a young artist to a friend, "do you see that lady and gentleman who are looking at my picture, and talking in such low, earnest tones?"

"Yes," replied the friend.

"I wish you would saunter by carelessly, and find out what they are saying. It looks like business."

"She is calling him down for staying out late last night," said the friend, returning.

Asthma Victims. The man or woman subject to asthma is indeed a victim. What can be more terrifying than to suddenly be seized with paroxysms of choking which seem to fairly threaten the existence of life itself. From such a condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has brought many to completely restored health and happiness. It is known and prized in every section of this broad land.

"You have ended your quest for an honest man?"

"Yes," said Diogenes, as he put his lantern away.

"Where did you find him?"

"Holding public office. Instead of saying he was serving the people at a great personal sacrifice he said if he hadn't landed the job he might have starved to death."

During the trial of a case in a Boston Court it became necessary to call to the witness stand a lady's maid.

"Where were you at 6.45 on the evening in question?" was the first query out to her by the examining counsel.

"Dressing the hair of madame," was the response.

"Now," said the Attorney, very solemnly, with unlifted finger, "think very carefully before you answer. Was or was not your mistress in the room at that time?"

Depth of the Seas.

The variations of the depths of the seas are remarkable. From recent soundings we learn from a Paris contemporary that in certain parts of the Pacific Ocean the depth is 8,640 metres. Other great depths recorded are the North Atlantic, 5,291 metres; South Pacific, 8,200; South Atlantic, 7,400; Indian Ocean, 6,300; Caribbean Sea, 6,272. The metre is 39 inches. On the other hand, the Baltic is comparatively shallow, not quite 400 metres. In clear water, when the sun is shining, a diver can easily work at a depth of 20 metres. At 60 metres very little can be distinguished. Beyond that depth it is as dark as night.

A Well-Filled Silo.

A well-filled silo, whether it contains corn, sunflowers, peas, oats, vetch, alfalfa or clover, is as good a stock as so many months of summer so long as the ensilage holds out."

Penguins.

The penguins of the Antarctic regions are the most human of all the bird family, walking upright and living in communities, quite unafraid of man.

The wood of which the Ark was built has been identified by many scientists as cypress.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. Catarrhal Deafness requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the tube, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

STELLA.

Stella is still alive!—The people are taking advantage of the good ice. Many have hauled logs to Odessa to get sawed.—Good prices were realized at B. Wemp's sale on Monday, the 20th.—Quite a number from the island attended Mr. A. Clement's sale, at Millhaven.—The dance on Friday evening last was a decided success. Walters' Orchestra, Napanee, was in attendance. A number from Bath, Kingston, Millhaven and Odessa took it in.—A delegation from the Odessa Farmers' Club visited the Farmers' Club here on Saturday evening, February 25th.—Mr. Fry, of Queen's, took the services of the united Presbyterian and Methodist congregations on Sunday last, during the absence of Mr. W. McCree, in Toronto. —The patrons of Stella cheese factory held their annual meeting on Friday last and re-hired their former cheesemaker, Mr. H. B. Sandwith. — Mrs. Finnigan and daughter, Jennie, are preparing to leave for their new home in Sunbury.—Mr. S. Reid has returned home from Peterboro' Hospital, where he was ill for some time. —Messrs. Geo. and W. Brown are under the doctor's care. — The ice races are to be held on Thursday, March 2nd.—The Jockey Club gave a delightful dance on Monday evening. Glenn-Macdonald Orchestra was in attendance. — The Young People's Club of the united congregations of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches intend presenting "The Home-made Choir" and "Mrs. Flynn's Lodgers" at Beulah soon.—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Filson have left for their home in Woodrow, Sask. — Miss M. Smith has returned from visiting friends in Kingston.—Among the visitors were Miss A. Neilson, Miss G. Wemp, Queen's; Misses N. and A. Macdonald, Misses H. and M. Caughey, Mr. and Miss H. Sandwith, Kingston; Mr. A. Finley and mother, Collins Bay; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller and family, Morven; Miss A. English and brother, Indian River; Miss E. Fleming, Belleville.

ODESSA.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Anderson, of Napanee, spent Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Holmes. — Mrs. George Ettinger, Kingston, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Watts.—Miss Agnes Webster, Kingston, spent Sunday with her sister, Miss Elizabeth Webster.—Mrs. Albert Storms has returned from spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Wemp, Bath.—Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Fraser returned Saturday, from visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ross Farrott, Toronto.—Miss Catherine Fraser spent Saturday with her sister, Mrs. James McClelland.—Miss Byers and Miss Ada Nickle have returned from spending Sunday with friends in Toronto. — Mrs. N. Mr. Bennett's many friends are very sorry that he has found it necessary to retire from business.—The skating rink Saturday afternoon was a great attraction, as two games were arranged with visiting hockey teams. Harrowsmith played the Odessa Seniors, and Murvale played the High School team.

BATH.

Mrs. Wm. McGuin is visiting with friends in Napanee.—Mr. and Mrs. John Forester spent a few days recently with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Allison, Adolphustown.—Miss Lucia McTear, of Moscow, spent the week end at the Rectory.—A number of our local hockey enthusiasts attended the game at the Jock Harty arena, Kingston, between the Kingston All Stars and the Toronto Granites. — Miss Pearl Young, of Adolphustown, is spending a few days with Miss Edith Hoselton.—Mr. E. J. Sexsmith, M.P., and Mrs. Sexsmith are spending a few days with friends at Newburgh. —Mrs. Edward Wemp, who has been seriously ill, continues to improve.—A game of hockey was played at the rink here on Saturday afternoon last between Bath and Adolphustown teams, ending in a tie, the score being 2-2. At the end of the first period the visiting team had scored one point. At the end of the second period the play was about even, each having scored a goal. At the end of the last period Bath team tied the score. If the visiting team had been agreeable to playing overtime the game would very likely have been in the Bath boys' favor. A large crowd from the surrounding country witnessed the game. Several more games are expected to be played before the season closes.

Address and Presentation.

The congregation of St. Jude's Church, Kingsford, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Provins, on Tuesday evening, February 7th, and presented their rector, Miss Mollie Doyle, with an address manutyped, and a four-piece French ivory set, tray, comb and brushes. During the reading of the address by Rev. Mr. Branch, Miss Helen Tucker presented the gift. Following is the address :—

To Miss Mollie Doyle,
Kingsford, Ont.

The congregation of St. Jude's Church, Kingsford, asks your acceptance of the accompanying gift as a small token of their gratitude for your faithfulness and devotion during three years as organist.

We assure you that we hope you may long continue to do this great work for the Church of God, and pray that God's choicest and abundant blessing may ever and always rest upon you and your work for His honour and glory.

On behalf of the Parishioners,
REV. MR. BRANCH,
Rector.

CO-OPERATIVE CHEESE SELLING

The shareholders in Lennox and Addington of United Dairymen Co-Operative, Limited, held the annual meeting of the Lennox and Addington Local of the Company on Tuesday, February 21st. The reports covering the business done by the central company last year, including the auditor's reports covering the year's transactions at both the Montreal and Peterboro' Offices were submitted by the secretary of the central company, Mr. H. B. Cowan, of Peterboro'. Mr. Cowan gave a very full report of the work being done by the central company and its plans for future extension. The reports were much appreciated by the local shareholders who expressed their satisfaction over the splendid progress being made, and extended a vote of thanks to the secretary of the central company.

The reports showed that the central company last year sold 102,000 boxes of cheese worth $1,540,340, and 1,103 boxes of butter worth $21,456. The total sales of the company amounted to $1,562,07. The volume of sales showed an increase during the year over 1920 of over 133 per cent. The auditors' report covering the operations of the company at both the Montreal and Peterboro' Offices showed their substantial profits had been made. Mr. Cowan stated that it was expected that at the annual meeting of the central company the directors would recommend the payment of a dividend of 8 per cent., and that a considerable part of the surplus profits would be used to write off part of the organization expenses of the company. If this were done it would leave the organization expenses as less than $7,000. In view of the fact that the company had done a business during the previous eighteen months of $2,500,000, and that it had sold cheese last year for 155 cheese factories, it was believed that the company had been organized on a very economical basis.

This year all cheese in Ontario that is sold for export will have to be graded by Dominion Government officials whether it is sold on the cheese boards or at the co-operative sales. In the past many buyers have attacked the grading sales on the ground that their grading was not as strict as the Government grading at Montreal. This year the factories will be on the same basis as regards grading.

Plans were laid towards the close of the session for speakers representing the central company to address the patrons of as many local factories as possible in the next few weeks.

The election of officers resulted as follows :—

President—A. W. Fraser, Odessa, Ont.

Vice-President—Guy Simmons, Wilton, Ont.

Secretary-Treasurer — James L. Clark, Odessa, Ont.

Directors—O. D. Fowley, W. C. Snider, Odessa, Ont.; Wm. B. Pringle, Jas. M. Rose, Napanee, Ont.; Harry W. Caton, Bath, Ont., and Frank Switzer, Moscow, Ont.

Shot Huge American Eagle.

An American eagle, having a spread of seven feet from tip to tip, was taken to Belleville recently by Jacob Hill, an Indian living on the Tyendinaga reserve. Hard for "Pen" Officials to Identify Upton Twins.

It is stated that officers at Portsmouth penitentiary have great difficulty at times, in identifying the Upton twins. Of course in the prison they are known by numbers, but it is stated that in their prison garb, the officials have some time in telling Erwood from Sherwood Upton. Owing to the fact that they were dressed differently, when in the hands of the local police, the latter did not have any trouble in this respect.

Boy Scouts' Memorial Parade.

The local troop of Scouts held a memorial parade to the Eastern cemetery in honor of Scout Ford, who so heroically tried to save the lives of two comrades three years ago Sunday. After placing a wreath of flowers on the grave, the boys stood at attention and sang "Rock of Ages", after which a few words were said to the boys.

"This boy in the glorious morning of his day
For a comrade's sake lost all but our praise."

He has addressed large men's meetings in some of the most important cities and towns in Canada and the United States. A cordial invitation is extended to every man who would like to take this opportunity of hearing so distinguished a speaker and preacher.

AN ODESSA LADY DIES FROM BURNS.

MRS. DENYES' NIGHT DRESS CATCHES FIRE WHILE SHE CARRIED LAMP.

Mrs. Denyes, widow of the late Sidney Denyes, living on a farm about a mile west of Odessa, was so badly burned on Monday morning at her home that she died at 5 o'clock the same evening.

Mrs. Denyes arose early and was carrying a lighted lamp and whether or not she suffered a fainting spell and fell, or whether the lamp exploded is not known, but the oil went all over her night dress and she was soon a mass of flames. Her son did everything possible to extinguish the flames, but she was terribly burned all over her body, head, arms and limbs.

Deceased was about sixty years of age, had lived in this district all her life and was very widely known and highly respected, and the unfortunate accident cast a gloom all over the neighborhood.

Deceased is survived by two sons, Dr. Gerald Denyes, Shannonville, one son at home, and one daughter, who is a nurse in New York.

The late Mrs. Denyes was a Methodist in religion. The funeral took place at Odessa on Wednesday afternoon.

HUDGINS—PRICE.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, at Selby, on February 15th, 1922, when Agnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Price, became the bride of Mr. Percy Hudgins, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Hudgins, of Selby. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. H. P. Anderson, in the presence of the immediate relatives. The young couple were unattended. After a sumptuous wedding dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Hudgins left amid showers of rice, confetti, and good wishes for a short honeymoon in Toronto. On their return they will take up their residence on the groom's farm at Selby West.

BENEFIT RECITAL.

Those readers of The Beaver who appreciate a good entertainment and at the same time like to help along a good cause, will have an opportunity on Friday evening, (to-night), by attending the recital in the Town Hall, in aid of the Children's Fund Russian Relief. This fund has its national headquarters in Ottawa, Col. Mackie, ex-M.P., of Pembroke, recently returned from Russia, being President; the Prime Minister, Hon. President, and Sir George Burns, Treasurer.

The programme will consist of a song recital by Miss M. E. Pearson, late of New York, who will appear in the costumes of the Russian and French Court. She will be assisted by Miss Mamie and Miss Ketchison, of Belleville, who will give a playette, entitled "The Crystal Gazer", and by Mr. W. J. Lewis, baritone.

This recital is given under the auspices of the Women's Societies of the different local churches and Mayor and Mrs. Graham, with many of our prominent citizens, who have kindly extended their patronage.

One dollar admitted to this fund will feed a starving child for a whole month. The admission has been placed at the moderate sum of fifty cents. Come and help this worthy cause.

HOCKEY.

Adolphustown and Bath.

On Saturday, February 25th, Bath was a-hum with people to witness the game between the veterans of Adolphustown and the local team. All thoroughly enjoyed a game fast from start to finish. The visitors had the advantage in experience and weight, Dr. Duffett, Parker Allen, Reid Roblin staring for Adolphustown. The local team played in their usual style setting the pace and carrying it through to the end.

Roblin found the net in the first period which ended score 1-0 Adolphustown. The second opened Northmore scoring for Bath, later Duffett got away for a goal making the score read 2-1, Adolphustown.

The third period with the home team still on the aggressive forcing the visitors to more defensive tactics. G. Mellow and Northmore carried the puck the full length of the rink, Mellow scoring the final goal, game ending 3-2.

Owing to Adolphustown refusing to play over time, the game was declared in favor of Bath. Exceptional fine work was done by both goal tenders. The game was one of the fastest played here this year.

Adolphustown—Goal, A. Kirk; defense, W. Pollard and Reid Roblin; centre, Dr. Duffett; wings, Parker Allen and Alex. Allen; subs, Ed. Gallagher, Wm. McCrudden and Howard Smith.

Bath—Goal, H. Calver; defense, A. Putnam and M. Mellow; centre, E. Young; wings, G. Mellow and H. Northmore; subs, W. Hoselten and C. Mott.

Referee—F. Neilson, Stella.

WEDDING BELLS.

RUTHERFORD—GEEN.

At eleven o'clock on Tuesday a large congregation assembled at Christ Church, Belleville, to witness the marriage of Belleville's popular nurse, Miss Evelyn Grace Geen, to Mr Robert Samuel Rutherford, of Napanee. Miss Geen, since graduating with honors, has been a great favorite in her profession. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. The Rev. Mr. Geen officiated and declared the bride and groom man and wife. The witnesses were Mr. Cecil Geen, brother of the bride, and Miss Grace Watts, of Peterboro'. Mrs. Col. Campbell had charge of the musical portion of the service, which she conducted with her usual ability. The large congregation and many gifts evidence the popularity of the bride. Immediately after the service the happy couple proceeded to the G. T. R. station where, amid showers of blessings accompanied by showers of confetti, they took the train for the east. Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford will reside in Napanee.

BICKNELL'S CORNERS.

Well, what have you to say about old March this time. It certainly came in like a lamb. We have been enjoying nice bright days since, excepting the rain storm, has taken away our nice roads for sleighing, but we can surely be looking forward now for spring, and will soon hear the clatter of sap buckets and pans, which will be rather pleasant, by noting a nice feed of hot sugar, occasionally.—Mrs. W. SWITZERVILLE.

The mild weather of the past week has caused us to believe that winter has surely passed its coldest stage, but we may yet get a surprise from fat "Miss March", who promises so alluring at the present time.—The majority of our people are busily occupied in attending the various sales in the neighbouring communities and it looks as though they would continue doing so for a while.—Miss Turner, Campbellford, who is speaking in the interests of the W. M. S., took part in the services here last Sunday, both morning and evening. A special meeting was also held on Saturday afternoon in the church with Miss Turner in charge. The congregation was well represented at all three meetings, and considered it a rare pleasure to have the privilege of listening to one who has had experience in the missionary field in South America. We regret that owing to illness in the family, our Pastor, Rev. Mr. Cook, was unable to be present.—Mrs. James Frink has returned home, after spending three weeks with relatives in Watertown, N.Y., and Kingston.—Mission Circle met at the home of Mr. A. Moore, on Thursday evening of last week, with a good attendance. It was decided that the Circle hold a "Pie Social" on Tuesday evening, March 14th, to raise the funds sent to the Missions. The meeting was followed by a social time which proved very enjoyable to the young people.—Mr. John Wilson and family attended the Anniversary services in Trinity Church, Napanee, last Sunday evening.—Mr. C. W. Vanderwater received a sudden call to Toronto on Sunday last, owing to the illness of his sister there.—Mr. C. B. Brechen, Toronto, spent the week end at his home here.—Mr. Russell Craig has purchased the farm recently vacated by Mr. Thomas Yorke, on the Palace Road, and intends moving there shortly.—Miss Hattie Miller has returned home, after a short vacation.—Miss Grace Winters, Selby, spent the week end with her friend, Miss Helen McCormick.—Mr. Funnell and family spent Sunday last at Mr. Robert Walsh's, Napanee.—Miss Hazel and Master Melville Lowry at Mr. Earl Craig's, last Sunday.

Kodak developing and printing done promptly by our Toronto expert. Best of films. Prices reasonable. Terms strictly cash with order. Wallace's Drug Store.

TAMWORTH

The remains of the late Richard Coulter were brought home last week and placed in the vault. Funeral service was preached by Rev. Mr. Smart, of Tweed. Mrs. Taylor and son, Jas., of Ottawa, and the Misses of Tweed, attended the funeral.—The Choir of the Methodist Church will give an At Home in the Town Hall, to-night.—Miss Turner, the missionary of South America, gave a very impressive sermon in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening last.—The rain of Monday and Tuesday last flooded our streets, Sterling Bank and cellars of several stores.—William Lacey, Jr., died on Sunday last. The funeral was held at the R. C. church on Tuesday last, which was very large.

Send your mail orders to Wallace's Drug Store, Napanee. They will receive attention immediately.

Address and Presentation.

To Mr. and Mrs. Arch Cook.

Sharps Corners.

Dear Friends,—We have gathered here to-night because we feel that we would like to spend one more social evening with you before you leave our neighborhood.

During the past year we have spent many pleasant hours with you, and your bright, cheerful disposition and by your willingness to help in every good cause you have both endeared yourselves to us all, and it is with real regret that we learn you are about to leave our neighborhood.

As a community we are grateful to you for the many services you have so freely and beautifully rendered, and for the inspiration you have been to us during the year you have spent in our midst.

And now we ask you to accept this purse as a slight token of our affection and esteem. May you have all good gifts continue to bless you, and may happiness and prosperity abound with you always.

Signed on behalf of your friends at Ebenezer.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Charles Darling.

On Monday, March 6th, 1922, the death occured of Amanda Simmons, beloved wife of Charles Darling, of Moscow. The deceased had been in failing health for some years, but it was not until Sunday evening that her illness became serious. She was surrounded by her family, and all was done that loving hands could do, but she passed away early Monday morning. The late Mrs. Darling was an adherent of the Methodist Church, having belonged for many years. Besides her husband there are to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother, one son, Fred. A., and one daughter, Mrs. A. Gorman, both of Moscow; seven grandchildren and two sisters. The funeral services were conducted from her late home, by Rev. Mr. Down, of Yarker, who visited the deceased regularly until her death.

MUST KEEP SPECIAL GUARD

At The County Jail to Watch Frederick Bryant

Acting under instructions received from the Attorney-General's department at Toronto, the authorities at the Kingston jail are taking no chances on the escape of Frederick Bryant, who is confined to the institution awaiting trial on the charge of murder. From the time that the Upton brothers and Bryant were taken to the jail, a special guard has been doing duty day and night and he will continue until the Bryant case is finally ended. When the three were taken to jail instructions were received from the department at Toronto to employ the special guard.

HOCKEY.

Picton 8, Napanee 6.

A goodly crowd assembled at the Arena on Friday evening to witness the final sextette do battle with the Picton Intermediate O. H. A. men, and they witnessed a good game. The Picton boys are a fairly fast output and play combination from start to finish, which is a telling factor in hockey. Napanee held the visitors pretty well in the first period, the score being 3-2 in Picton's favor. In the second period the Picton boys could not strike their stride and the Napanee forwards, particularly Sid Neill, skated all around them, scoring four goals, the period ending Napanee 6, Picton 3. This looked pretty good from the spectators' point of view, and a win for Napanee seemed evident. In the third period Napanee showed a decided reversal of form, and Picton scored five goals while the locals looked on, the final score being 8-6.

THE ODESSA CONTINUATION SCHOOL.

A very enjoyable time was spent at the Odessa Continuation School on Friday afternoon of last week, when the students of the Literary Society gave their third entertainment of the season. The programme consisted of music, readings, recitations, and a play by the Third Form. The topic for debate was, "Resolved, that the farmer is of more benefit to the welfare of the community than the manufacturer". One of the important numbers was the reading of the "Times", the school paper. It was an original number, and showed what the students were capable of when a little interest is aroused with the singing of the National Anthem.

The O. C. S. boys have taken an active part in hockey this year, and have played with Yarker, Odessa Seniors, and Murvale. Although their team is composed of light men, they play very well, and in the games played with the Junior team of this town, there was a tie of one to one and two to two.

The school work is progressing rapidly under the able management of Miss Milling and Miss Morrison, who have been on the staff since September. It is a general wish that all may be successful in their final examinations.

Although the school possesses a very good library, it was decided to buy the daily papers and all the magazines from the public library. This was done, and the trustees who heartily approved of the idea, purchased a dozen chairs and a new heating table to make the plan a complete success.

It was suggested by the teacher that the students should all wear school colours. Orange, black and white. Finally decided on these colours predominate wherever one sees the students. New school yells were also introduced, such as:

A., B., C., who are we ?
We are the students of the O. C. C.
Are we in it ?
Well, we should smile,
We've been in it,
For a long, long, while !

"THE SAVE THE CHILDREN FUND".

For the benefit of the above named charity, a concert was given in the Town Hall last Friday evening under the auspices of the Women's Societies of the town. Miss Maude Pearson, of Belleville, instituted the raising of funds in Napanee for this very worthy cause, and also assisted in giving the entertainment. Miss Pearson has taken a very active interest in this patriotic movement, and has done much in the service of the starving children of Russia.

The programme on Friday night was given by the three ladies from Belleville, with the assistance of Mrs. Lewis, of Napanee, who sang two numbers in a very pleasing baritone, and was heartily encored. Miss Pearson, who possessed a rich contralto voice, also gave two numbers, and was especially effective in her operatic selection from the "Bohemian girl". The rest of the entertainment was provided by Miss Marvin, elocutionist and dramatic coach at St. Agnes' School, Belleville, and her pupil, Miss Ketcheson. Miss Ketcheson's rendering of "The Crystal Gazer" was exceedingly well done, and afforded a great deal of amusement.

The people of Napanee are most grateful to these three talented ladies who gave their time and services to start the fund in this town, which we all hope will increase greatly before it is used. Mr. G. P. Carr is acting as treasurer and will receive any contributions which are left at the Dominion Bank, or sent to him by mail to help feed Russia's starving little ones.

NEWBURGH.

Mrs. McKeown, of Croydon, is visiting at the home of her son, Mr. Anson McKeown.

Mrs. E. Thomson has returned to her home, after spending some time in Napanee with her son, Mr. J. Thomson.

Judge Madden was at Mrs. A. Madden's on Friday.

Mrs. Reggie Files has her sister from Arden visiting for a short time.

Mr. Roy Pybus, of Montreal, called at Mr. John Madden's during the week, having been called to attend the funeral of his father, Mr. Robert Pybus, of Strathcona.

Mr. Allan King, of Moscow, was at Mr. J. S. Yeomans', one day recently.

The debate in the basement of the Methodist Church last Thursday night drew a large crowd, and was enjoyed by all. The young people who debated the subject deserve credit for the able manner in which they presented the subject. Everyone is welcome to attend each Thursday evening.

A weekly service is held each Friday evening in the Free Methodist Mission Church.

Send your mail orders to Wallace's Drug Store, Napanee. They will receive attention immediately.

WILTON.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Earl Perry, on Wednesday of last week. A business meeting was held, and the following elected for the present year. —Miss Turner, a missionary, will give an address in the Methodist Church on Tuesday evening.—Mr. J. E. Miller, Mr. Eldridge Babcock, Mr. Blake Switzer and Mr. Shelly Denyes, Odessa, attended the Masonic banquet held in Napanee on Friday evening of last week.—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baker, Moscow, were guests at the home of Mr. Guy Simmons, on Sunday last.—Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sanderson, Yarker, spent a day with Mrs. Frank Ward.—Mrs. R. N. Storms and Mrs. B. Caton spent last week in Kingston with Mr. Silvio Miller and Dorothy Neilson.—Mr. and Mrs. Simon Carr and Mr. Byron Caton spent Sunday with friends in Kingston.—Sherry Shibley and Mr. R. W. Storms spend Sunday at the home of Mr. Donald Thompson, Odessa.—The public school is closed for several days owing to the death of Miss Darlings' grandmother, Mrs. Charlie Darling, Moscow.

DESERONTO.

The Lenten Mission conducted by the Right Reverend the Lord Bishop of Ontario in St. Mark's church, Deseronto, was a blessing to all who attended it. The daily services and the Bishop's addresses on the "Beatitudes" in the afternoon and evening, were thoroughly appreciated. The four Sunday's services were most delightful, the organist and choir rendering a beautiful musical programme. The feature of the Mission, the Men's service Sunday afternoon, was well attended. Mr. Bert Bowen sang a good solo, and the Bishop preached a forceful sermon on the Parable of the Sapper. At the closing service Sunday evening the choirs were crowded to the doors, when the Bishop again preached a powerful and well thought out sermon. Before the Benediction the Rev. R. Radcliffe, B.C.L., Rector, on behalf of his parishioners, most cordially thanked his Lordship for his helpful and uplifting sermons and addresses. Missions of this character are of inestimable value and the results undoubtedly lasting.

Many women now use Day Dream Toilet Water, as a perfume exclusively. It has such a delicate, refreshing fragrance. An oyster supper at Mrs. Bell's, Deseronto, Monday evening, March 13th, for the benefit of the Girls' Class at Enterprise.—Mr. Bert Amey spent Thursday in Kingston.—Mr. Arthur Switzer is visiting with friends in Napanee, Deseronto and Belleville for a few days.

BETHANY.

The sympathy of our neighborhood is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wagar and son in the loss of their daughter and sister. A number from here attended the funeral at Gretna on Tuesday afternoon.—Mrs. and Mrs. Jas. Miller, also Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Miller visited at Mr. Bert Hollingworth's, Deseronto Road, on Sunday. —Service here on Sunday last was well attended.—Mrs. Lamont and Mrs. S. Wamsley's—Their practise will be held at the Church on Wednesday evening, March 15th, for special missionary service on Sunday evening following. All please, rally for practise.

CAMDEN EAST

The heavy rain on Tuesday last removed most of the snow.—Mrs. Wagar, of Point Anne, arrived on Tuesday evening to visit her sister, Mrs. D. Rogers, near Violet.—Miss I. Martin left on Wednesday morning of last week to visit Rev. and Mrs. Spencer, at Gananoque.—Miss Leishman, of Kingston, visited her aunt, Mrs. Brien for a few days last week.—Mrs. W. J. Ainsley, of Kingston, visited her sister, Mrs. Ellen Lucas, for a few days last week, returning home on Monday last.—Fred Addis, of Amherst Island, will be the cheesemaker. He is a first class cheese and butter maker, holding a certificate from the Kingston Dairy School. He will be moving to the village next week, to commence making cheese the 1st of April. —Mr. Dave Patterson spent last week visiting his sister at Moscow.—Mr. Fred Snider spent last week end at Colebrooke East, with his sister, Mrs. Manna Hartman, and family.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Snider entertained a number of their friends on Thursday evening of last week to a seven o'clock dinner, after which the guests enjoyed a merry time in games and music till the wee sma' hours of the morning, when all returned to their respective homes, thanking the host and hostess for the good time enjoyed.—Mr. Hitchins and family, of Amherst Island, spent Monday last with their cousin, Mrs. Anna Hinch.

The following address was read and presentation made to Mrs. Lucas and daughter, Ruby, prior to their removal from the village :—

Dear Mrs. Lucas and daughter, Ruby.—A number of the lady friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mrs. Lucas on Saturday evening last to spend one more social evening with your home before your removal from our midst to your new home at Deseronto. It is with deep regret we learned of your intention to depart from this village. As a neighbor you have ever commanded our admiration and respect, and the memory of your noble acts of kindness and friendship will always be remembered as a bright spot in our lives. It is very hard to realize our loss that we have to part with your smiling face and acts of charity and love for your friends as you go from this home, which we trust is dear to you on account of the joys and sorrows which God has led you safely through, and may you always realize your true blessing to go with you to your new home and many years to work for Him till the end.

Signed on behalf of the friends of this village.

Miss B. Sheffell read the address, and Mrs. Wm. Loucks presented Mrs. Lucas with a purse of money from her Camden East friends, not for its intrinsic value but for a tie of love from your Camden East friends.

Mrs. Lucas made a suitable reply, as it was a great surprise to her, and said she would always remember her friends of this village, and trust them a hearty welcome to come and visit her in her new home.

ENTERPRISE.

The recent heavy rain has spoiled our sleighing for drawing hay loads, and the water has compelled the wood cutters to quit operations in the drowned lands.—A gleam was cast over our village last week by the sudden death of Mrs. Wm. Fenwick, who passed away from heart failure, after a short illness. Mrs. Fenwick had resided in Enterprise for over forty years, and was always ready with a helping hand to anyone in sickness or trouble. The funeral services were held at the residence of Rector, Rev. Mr. Poston, and the remains placed in Tamworth vault to await burial.—Mr. H. H. Vannest is in Kingston Hospital.—Mrs. J. H. Wagar is very ill; also Mrs. R. Lockwood.—Mr. Washington Wagar is also on the sick list.—Dr. H. V. Malone and wife, of Frankford, attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Fenwick; also Mrs. J. B. Armstrong, of Warkworth; Miss Emma McColl, of Wooler, and Arthur Reech, of Peterboro'.—Mr. A. E. Smith has leased Mr. Judson Vannest's house, Mr. Vannest having moved to Peterboro'.—Mr. Tim Kenny is renewing old acquaintances here.—Mr. Reginald Smith spent Sunday at the Lost Channel.

Send your mail orders to Wallace's Drug Store, Napanee. They will receive attention immediately.

STORY OF THREE SCHOOLS.

To the Editor of The Globe: With in the last week or so there have appeared in the Press statements by Dr. Edwards, M. H. C. Howe and Mr. George Snotton, in regard to certain separate schools—their legislative grants and teachers' salaries. I wish to deal with three which have been quoted in practically every important paper.

The above-mentioned gentlemen have stated the teachers' salaries in 1921 in

No. 1, Howe Island..	$ 987.20	$750
No. 2, Howe Island..	1,146.20	800
No. 3, Howe Island..	869.25	750

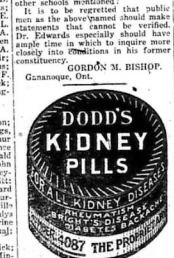

whereas the trustees of the above mentioned schools have stated to me that the salary in each of the above schools was $1,000 in 1921, and also in 1920—only $2.65 below the legislative grant.

Would it not be good policy, Mr. Editor, to take a pinch of salt with the statements of these gentlemen on other schools mentioned?

It is to be regretted that public men as the above named should make statements that cannot be verified. Dr. Edwards especially should have ample time in which to inquire more closely into conditions in his former constituency.

ENTIRE TRAINLOADS OF AUTOS PASS THROUGH NAPANEE.

28 CARLOADS OF STUDEBAKER CARS ON WAY TO MONTREAL.

An entire trainload of Studebaker automobiles passed through Napanee early this week over the Grand Trunk Railroad on the way to Montreal.

This is perhaps the largest single shipment of motor cars ever made in Canada. The train consisted of 28 automobile box cars, containing a total of 80 automobiles, invoiced at nearly $140,000.

The solid trainload of automobiles left the Studebaker factory at Walkerville, Ont., March 4th. Very severe weather was encountered by the baker, which would be evidenced by its record-breaking shipment in 24 hours. Factories at Walkerville are running full force, and have been for some time.

Hawkins—O'Shaughnessy.

On Wednesday, February 15th, 1922, at ten o'clock, the Church of St. Anthony, Centreville, was the scene of a quiet wedding, when Rev. Father McCarthy united in marriage Teresa Hawkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hawkins, and Joseph P. O'Shaughnessy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. O'Shaughnessy, Bellville. The bride wore a navy canton crepe dress and was attended by her sister, Ethel, who wore a taupe crepe-de-chene. Mr. Michael Brady acted as best man. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's parents, where dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. O'Shaughnessy left at 6.40 p.m. for Toronto, the bride's travelling suit being of brown trimotine.

CUSTOM HATCHING.

The poultry business leads all other branches on the farm—as a profit maker. Just think of over 90 lbs. of dressed poultry being sold in our town on only 2 days last fall at very high prices. Our chick contracts are less than two-thirds of the poultry sold in this country last year. Then when you take into account the eggs, which amounted to over $100,000, a total of $225,000. Are you getting your share of this great money making industry. If not, start in now.

In order to help you get started right, The M. B. Mills Co. will do custom hatching at reduced rates, We will take orders for Day-old Chicks of the popular breeds.

We are agents for the best Incubators made, the celebrated Buckeye Hot Water machine; also best Brooders. Can give clear instructions with the machines running before your eyes, so anybody can easily learn to handle them. Remember the most important thing is to have your chicks hatched early when you want them in good numbers, not waiting in disappointment for the clucking hens. Get your orders in now and be ready.

We buy and sell poultry any day the year round.

Wall Papers for 1922

Of late years many housekeepers have done most of their Painting and Paper Hanging in the months of February and March, for the reason, principally, that they can then secure the services of the paper hanger more easily than later in the season. We have in stock as good a selection of Canadian made Paper as can be had in the Dominion, which we are offering at the very lowest prices—quite a reduction from last year. We have also sample books of American, English, and French papers of the very highest class, and at prices from 20 to 50 per cent. lower than is charged by the city dealers. There will be positively no delay in the delivery of these papers. They will be here the second day after the selection is made. We invite intending purchasers to look through our samples and get our prices.

We have a new stock of Window Shades of the different grades, which we are offering at prices we know to be the very lowest.

We will have a full line of Window Poles, and the various fittings connected therewith.

RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is produced by the accumulation of Uric Acid in the blood, and this poisonous substance attacks and inflames the membrane covering the joints and separating the muscles, thus producing severe pains. If the waste products of the human system are not properly carried off, Uric Acid forms and is deposited in the joints and between the different layers of muscles. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS will correct this by its action on the kidneys and removing the Uric Acid from the blood. Try them and watch the results. If they fail your money will be refunded.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets are 50c. and $1.00 per box at Hooper's Drug Store, Napanee, Ont.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT SEA FISHES

HADDOCK.

From various traditions we learn that the European fishermen were lured to the great fishing banks of the western Atlantic a century before Columbus discovered America.

The predominating fishery of these early days was for cod, but it was not long before the haddock began to be caught in far greater numbers. Today thousands and thousands of people are engaged in catching this fish. It has grown so in favor with the public as a food that now it is one of the most important of deep-sea edibles.

The haddock is a quiet fish, with very little life in it when taken from the bottom. To catch haddock the fisherman employs a hand-line equipped with two or three hooks baited with herring, squid or capelin, or sometimes clams, etc., with a lead sinker to weigh the line down. A fisherman is adept in manipulating these lines and may operate several at a time from his dory. Haddock when caught by this method is considered by many as superior even to the cod. A long line some 2000 feet in length, commonly called a trawl, is used by the deep sea fishermen with perhaps as many as 800 hooks. But in recent years steam trawlers have come into use on this side of the Atlantic and this has resulted in a tremendous increase in the take of haddock. The fishing apparatus of a steam trawler is a huge bag of heavy netting shaped like a cone. This bag is drawn slowly over the bed of the sea and great quantities of bottom-dwelling fishes are trapped in it.

During the months of April, May, June and the last months of the year the haddock is very abuntant off our Atlantic coast, and it is then that the largest catches are made. The haddock is seldom seen at the surface, but is a bottom feeder. Although a bottom-dweller, the eggs being lighter than the seawater rise to the surface and are scattered over a vast expanse of the sea during the spawning season which is from April to June on our coasts.

Haddock swin from place to place in large dense schools. They usually weigh from four to five pounds each and are distinguished by latteral black lines on the body and a dark spot on either side just behind the gills. This peculiar spotting has led to the belief that was common in different countries that the haddock is the fish from whose mouth St. Peter, at the command of Christ, took the tribute-money, these spots being supposed to be the marks made by the apostle's thumb and finger as he held it.

To many, haddock is better known as "finnan haddie," one of the most delectable fish prepared in Canada. The name finnan haddie originates, according to legend, from the quaint little fishing village of Findon, Scotland. This village was swept by fire at one time and a single fish house containing the season's catch of haddock escaped damage, although it was enveloped in dense smoke. The villagers were greatly surprised to find that the smoke had given an added flavor to the haddock. This resulted in the new process which took its name from the village.

Haddock are also cut into fillets. The fillets have the skin and bone removed and are necessarily higher in price as there is no waste, but at the same time they are comparatively more nutritive as the food is concentrated.

There has been great variation in the abundance of the haddock according to Dr. Jordan. Some years it abounds, while in others it is scarce, but scientists have failed to discover the cause of this. Nevertheless the supply exceeds by far the demand. This is not due to any inferiority of the fish, but because most consumers have not been familiar with its merits of quality and price.

In the matter of quantity taken by Canadians, haddock gives place only to cod, salmon, herring and halibut, while the value of the catch is exceeded by salmon, cod, lobsters, halibut and herring in the order mentioned. In 1919, 564,574 cwts. of haddock were landed, having a first-hand value of $1,363,147, and a marketed value of $2,048,745. The greatest quantity was used fresh, but a large quantity was smoked, dried and canned and went into local and foreign consumption.

Have you had a cold? As a tonic afterwards, Rexall Tasteless Cod Liver Oil has no equal. $1.00 bottle, at Wallace's.

SO WEAK COULD HARDLY DO ANYTHING

Now Looks After Home, Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Meaford, Ontario.—"I was so weak I could hardly do anything and my back seemed the worst. I read so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for women that I thought I would try it. I feel that it did help me for I am looking after my own home now and am quite strong again. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to quite a few friends and you can use my name if you wish to do so."—Mrs. H. PORTER, Box 440, Meaford, Ontario.

In your own neighborhood there are doubtless women who know of the great value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women everywhere, either by word of mouth or by letter, recommend this splendid medicine. Those who have suffered from female weakness, change of life, and similar troubles know of the wonderful relief brought to them by the Vegetable Compound.

YOUR TEETH.

DENTURES.

By Rea Proctor McGee, D.D.S., M.D., Editor "Oral Hygiene"

A denture is an artificial set of teeth either for the upper or the lower jaw.

One person is capable of wearing two dentures—one above and one below. When the natural teeth are all gone, or even partly gone, the plate looms up as a possibility.

Let us consider just the full plate meaning by "full plate", a plate that replaces all of the teeth in one jaw or the other.

After the gums have healed sufficiently from the extraction of the teeth, an impression is made of the gums and a model in plaster of Paris is made from the impression. This model has certain changes made in it, so that the atmospheric pressure will cause the plate to remain in place.

The skill in making these changes is usually what determines whether or not a plate will stick in place.

The teeth that are used upon these plates are all made of porcelain. The very finest porcelain in the world is used in their construction. The colors and shapes of the natural teeth are very closely imitated. In making artificial teeth the greatest artistic effort is used to restore expression and appearance, and a very high degree of mechanical skill is used to restore the function.

This work upon the part of the dentist is the nearest approach to perfection that has ever been made in the restoration of a lost part and a lost function.

No replacement in any other part of the body will give so nearly a normal function as will the construction of artificial teeth. Those who have lost their natural teeth are particularly fortunate to be able to replace them with so good a substitute. But, regardless of how good the substitute is, nothing artificial can ever compare with the real.

So if you wish to go through life without wearing artificial teeth you will have to begin to take proper care of your natural teeth right now, because if you don't the artificial teeth will "get you" by and by.

His Rheumatism and Backache Both Gone

MR. JOHN NORDIN RECOMMENDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Saskatchewan Man Tells of Relief From Suffering and Gladly Advises Others to Try Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Percival, Sask., March 6th, (Special)—"I am more than glad to say a good word for Dodd's Kidney Pills." These are the words of Mr. John Nordin, a well-known resident here. And Mr. Nordin is always ready to give the reason why.

"For about ten years I suffered dreadfully from backache and rheumatism," he says. "Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Now my backache and rheumatism are gone.

"I always keep Dodd's Kidney Pills on hand in case of need and to everybody with kidney trouble and backache I say 'try Dodd's Kidney Pills'.

Dodd's Kidney Pills put the kidneys in shape to strain all the uric acid out of the blood. With no uric acid in the blood there can be no rheumatism.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the greatest of all Kidney remedies.

Dining Car Run by Electricity.

There was recently on one of England's main lines a unique service, that of electric cooking for the dining cars. The train thus unusually equipped, itself possesses many exceptional features. It consists of five coaches, which are run on six bogies only, these bogies being placed underneath the junction of two carriages, thus linking up the carriages on what is known as the articulated system. This arrangement gives very easy running and makes it possible to shorten the connections between the carriages.

In the kitchen all the cooking is done electrically. The equipment includes a water boiler, a grill, a steaming oven, a roasting oven, vegetable boilers, steaming pans, hot plates, hot cupboards, fish fryers, kettles, etc. This kitchen is capable of furnishing meals for 78 persons at one sitting, and over 100 dinners have been cooked and served on one trip. The electrical energy for the cookers is obtained from two dynamos driven through belts from the axles of the carriage.

Oyster Swallowed Crab.

A perfectly-formed hard-shell crab, about the size of the end of a person's thumb was found in an oyster, but presumably it proved too much for the oyster, as there was no oyster in the shell when it was opened.

"I Had to Hear Your Voice To-Night!"

Mother had never used the Long Distance telephone — she had no idea how to go about it. She longed to hear her daughter's voice; but she was so far away—she was afraid she would never be able to hear her.

But she could wait no longer. "I must speak to my daughter in Kingston" she told Central. A few minutes later she heard, "Ready with Kingston!"

"Is that you, Alice?"

"Why mother, where are you speaking from?" came the familiar voice she had so longed to hear.

"I'm at home in Hamilton, I just had to hear your voice to-night — I couldn't wait any longer!" And so mother and daughter, separated by many miles, had a virtual reunion that night.

It's a weekly affair now, those fond, intimate talks. Distance rolls away, and for a few minutes every Thursday night the familiar voices tell the little family gossip that both are so eager to hear.

Ask "Long Distance" to get the absent one on the telephone for you. Your telephone can bridge the gulf that separates you.

Mrs. J. B. Miller spent the week-end with her cousin, Mrs. H. Creighton, and attended the Anniversary services in Trinity Church.

Miss Hazel Leonard spent the week end in Kingston.

Miss Edna Ashley returned last week from Montreal.

Miss Helen VanLuven is home again, after spending a month in Toronto, visiting friends, and while there was the guest of honor at numerous small but very enjoyable social events.

Master Bruce McFarlane is gradually recovering, after being confined to his bed with pneumonia.

Mrs. Herbert Burnard, after having a very successful operation on Thursday of last week at the Hotel Dieu, Kingston, is recovering nicely.

Mrs. Wm. J. McCrudden, Sillsville, has returned home, after visiting her sister, Mrs. Fred Harper, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scott and little Dorothy, spending ten weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hartwick, left on Friday for Toronto to spend the week end with her brother, Mr. George Hartwick; leaving there on Tuesday for their home in Rothilda, Sask.

Mr. G. C. Davey, of Yarker, was in town on business on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Lake, of Morven, entertained a few friends on Friday last, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. J. Milling, Mr. and Mrs. E. Kayler, Mr. and Mrs. C. Kayler and Mr. Robinson, of Sask.

Mr. Peter D. Weese returned this week, after spending two months visiting Mr. P. Waite, and other friends in Hollywood, California.

Mr. Mearl Denison, Selby, is spending the week in Toronto, the guest of his brother, Mr. W. I. Denison.

Mr. F. E. VanLuven, who has been very ill for the past six weeks, is slowly recovering.

Rev. P. A. Scott left on Saturday for Cressy Circuit to conduct special services.

Mr. Herbert Burnard and daughter, Vera, went down to Kingston to spend Sunday with Mrs. Burnard.

At a very important meeting of the Kingston Presbytery held in St. Andrew's Church, in the City of Kingston, Rev. A. J. Wilson was unanimously selected as one of the commissioners to represent the Presbytery at the General Assembly, which will take place this year in the City of Winnipeg next June.

Miss Elizabeth VanLuven spent a delightful week-end in Belleville, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. E. Graham, Bridge Street.

Mrs. R. E. Lampkin came down from Brantford on Sunday to attend the funeral of her brother, the late Mr. Orval Fretts, and is spending a couple of weeks with her son, Mr. Fraser Lampkin, "The Maples".

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Laughlin, of Odessa, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Shane, Newburgh, on Sunday last.

Mrs. Menge has returned from Toronto, where she has been spending two weeks.

Miss Josephine Vrooman entertained a number of friends at a Bridge-Tea on Friday afternoon of last week. The rooms were very pretty with cut flowers giving a suggestion of spring, and the tea-table was especially attractive with jonquils, yellow tulle and dainty baskets of yellow "buttercups". Mrs. Herbert Daly and Miss Vrooman was assisted in serving by one or two friends.

Dr. Fletcher Bell Sharp, who has been practising in Southern Alberta, is visiting a few days with his brother, Mr. Clarence Sharp, Morven. Dr. Sharp has just returned from spending the winter in California and Chicago, where he has been specializing in Arthritis Therapy and Electronic Diagnosis and Treatment. He is opening offices in Toronto at Sherbourne St. and Wellesley Crescent.

Before the departure of Dr. J. P. Vrooman, Mr. W. S. Herrington and Mr. T. B. Wallace for the Old Country, a farewell dinner was given in their honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Daly. The prospective travellers and their wives were the guests of honor, and a few other guests were also present. The dinner table was unique in its appointments, and presented a pretty picture, with its miniature ocean liner sailing in a sea of blue and green tulle, the illusion of undulating waves being remarkably realistic. The favors were most appropriate, provoking a great deal of merriment, and after a delicious dinner, the guests spent a pleasant evening at Bridge.

Mrs. James Crossley is the guest of Mrs. Wm. Crossley.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Grange spent Sunday in Kingston as the guests of the Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Kidd.

SONG WRITERS.

They Used to Know Poverty In Brave Days of Old.

John Howard Payne, author of "Home, Sweet Home," did not get the $125 promised him for this song, of which more than 100,000 copies were sold within eighteen months.

Dr. Thomas Dunn English never got a penny out of "Ben Bolt," written in 1842, although a Cincinnati publisher made tens of thousands.

Thomas Haynes Bayly, who wrote "Long, Long Ago" just about 100 years ago, sold the verses for $1.50 to a country newspaper, and others took the profits of the song.

Samuel Woodworth, author of "The Old Oaken Bucket, lived a hand-to-mouth existence all his days. He never received a penny royalty from the publishers.

Consider how different the protection afforded by copyright law of this day to any poet, song or scenario writer, whose idea happens to be developed into a big seller, or a big screen hit.

A couple of Yale University students wrote "The Long, Long Trail" for a fraternity high jinx. The great war came on, and the author of the music happened to be in London. He doctored the tune a little to give it a marching swing, and offered it on a royalty basis. The two young men passed profits well into five figures.

The author of "Keep the Home Fires Burning" was a struggling young widow, with infant children to support. She, too, had the protection of the modern copyright laws, and shared the big profits.

Recently, the heirs of the author of "The Sweet Bye and Bye" recovered a sum upwards of $70,000 from a publishing house, the case having hung fire in the federal courts for many years.

There is not the shadow of a doubt but that if the originator of an idea can offer good proof of its origin, he can recover from any person who has either stolen it or tried to avoid payment for its use.

There are no John Howard Paynes wandering homeless and poverty-stricken to-day, not unless they are so stupid they cannot take advantage of the full protection that is theirs.

Amazing Feats of Strong Man

At one corner of Cadd's Row, near Islington Green, London, England, was formerly a tavern, known by the sign of the Duke's Head, which towards the middle of the eighteenth century was kept by Thomas Topham, better known, perhaps, as "the Strong Man," of whose herculean feats many wonderful tales have been related.

The father of Topham, who was a carpenter, brought him up to the same trade, but it appears that he quitted it soon after his apprenticeship. When he had attained his full growth his stature was about five feet ten inches, and soon he began to feel indications of superior muscular power.

The first public exhibition of his extraordinary strength was that of pulling against a horse, lying on his back, and placing his feet against the dwarf wall that divided Upper from Lower Moorfields. Afterwards he pulled against two horses; but his legs being placed horizontally, instead of parallel to the traces of the horses, he was jerked from his position.

It was the opinion of Dr. Desaguliers, a great mechanic and experimental philosopher, that, had he been in a proper position, he might have kept his situation against the pulling of four horses without the least inconvenience.

The following are feats which Dr. Desaguliers said he saw Topham perform:

By the strength of his fingers he rolled up a very strong and large pewter dish. Among the curiosities of the British Museum, some years ago, was a pewter dish marked on the back, "John Innocent, at the Miter Tavern, Fleet Street," and near the edge, "April 2, 1737. Thomas Topham, of London, carpenter, rolled up this dish (made of the hardest pewter) by the strength of his hands, in the presence of Dr. Desaguliers."

He broke seven or eight pieces of a tobacco pipe by the force of his middle finger, having laid them on his first and third fingers. Having thrust the bowl of a strong tobacco pipe under his garter, his legs being bent, he broke it to pieces by the tendons of his hams, without altering the position of his legs. Another bowl of this kind he broke between his first and second fingers by pressing them together sideways.

It is probable that Topham kept the Duke's Head in Islington at the time he exhibited the exploit of lifting three hogsheads of water, weighing 1,831 pounds, in Cold Bath Fields on May 28, 1741.

A number of curious and whimsical pranks are related of this man of strength. On his way home one night, finding a watchman fast asleep in his box, he took both on his shoulders and, carrying the load with the greatest ease, dropped the guardian of the night and his wooden tenement over the wall of Bunhill Fields burying ground.

On another occasion, thinking to enjoy a little sport at the expense of some bricklayers by removing part of the scaffolding from a small building, his grasp was so tremendous that a part of the front wall followed the timber. The bricklayers imagined that an earthquake was in progress, and immediately ran, without looking behind them, into an adjoining field.

During the progress of a foot race a fellow with a horse and cart would persist in keeping close to the contending parties, much to the annoyance of the spectators in general. Topham, who was one of them, stepping into the road, seized the tail of the cart and, in spite of the driver's exertions in whipping his horse to go forward, he drew them both backwards with the greatest ease.

Scarborough Castle Hill.

As the work of excavating the site of the Roman fort on the Scarborough Castle Hill proceeds, evidence of mediaeval remains are being brought to light. The level at which the Roman remains exist has not yet been reached, though a trench has just been commenced with the definite object of location of the site of the centre tower. Remains of the mediaeval church are in evidence, and from some of the recent finds it appears quite possible that a more modern dwelling-house, of which there is no record in any of the local histories, probably stood on the site of the fort after mediaeval times. The finds include pieces of old tobacco pipes, and a quantity of pottery of various shapes such as it is unlikely would be used in connection with the church. Fragments of stained glass from the church windows, and also some colored glazed tiles, which probably paved the interior, have been discovered. Certain foundations have been barred which belong either to the church or the supposed house. Recently three coins, two of silver and one of copper, apparently of the fourteenth or fifteenth century, were found.

Oil Versus Coal.

When the great liner Olympic burned coal she required the services of 229 men in her firerooms, with oil-burning engines 60 men do the work. It took nearly a week to put 7,500 tons of coal into her bunkers, but now six hours are enough for her to get a supply of fuel. The liner now makes her round trip in three weeks and travels with almost no smoke.

SPRING HAS COME AT ROBINSON'S

Come and witness for yourself the new 1922 production of "Spring Styles". The offerings of famous Canadian designers and workmen take the leading parts in our present collection of fashionable wearing apparel.

True, every single garment is the product of Canadian skill, yet a part of each, whether it be style, material or trimming, is traceable to famous American and European creators.

Decide whether yours shall be a natty homespun or trig, neat, tailor-made,—voluminous Wrap or jaunty Sports' Coat,—whether billowing Taffeta or 'supple Crepe.

Will your Hat have a High Crown and a Narrow Brim, or will you choose one of larger proportions? Will it be Scarlet, Red, Violet, Burnt-Orange, or just "ever as good" Navy or Black?

All of the newest styles will be handsomely expressed and exemplified in a captivating manner at our First Formal Openings on Friday and Saturday, March 17th and 18th.

Mannequins will parade in the various ready-to-put-on garments in a manner which beautifully portrays the vogue for Spring.

Parade, Friday (afternoon) will start at 3 o'clock.
Parade, Saturday (afternoon) will start at 2.30 o'clock.
Parade, Saturday (evening) will start at 7.30 o'clock.

Saturday morning we are having a special parade for school girls. Teachers and school girls are most cordially invited.

We are reserving Saturday afternoon for our country and out-of-town customers. If convenient we hope our town customers will keep this in mind.

Every Department will be in Gala Attire for this exposition of Styles and Materials.

To you, we extend a courteous invitation to our Openings.

ARE THE IMPLEMENTS READY?

A Question That the Prudent Farmer Will Keep in Mind.

With tillage and harvesting machinery in idleness during the winter period and with farm men not as busy as they are during the spring season, it is good management to see that all implements and tools are put into the best condition possible. Odd hours of the day during the 2-year-old seed oats, 4 milk cans, 2 winter on many farms are always available for such repair work. Such spare periods can be very profitably used in going over all machines and making good any wear and tear, tightening bolts and rivets, putting in new parts where needed; painting to protect against rust and weathering, have done much to prolong the usefulness of farm tools. Many hours and many dollars are lost each year through tools and implements being neglected. Ploughs, binders, mowers and rakes left in the fields or in the farm yard or along the fence row or in the orchard have worn out or rusted out years before their time. Fifty per cent. efficiency is too low for any implement or tool in which we have invested capital. One hundred per cent. efficiency from farm implements and tools comes only to those who take care of their implements. Provide protection from weather and put in the time and keep them clean, sharp and tight. The rush of spring work is seriously hindered by the ploughs being rusty, loose or out of adjustment, by the harrows being dull, by the grain drill and the roller being out of repair when such would be in the field and in use. A little attention to the implements during February and March will save hours and dollars in April and May.—L. Stevenson, Secretary Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

FLOWERS FROM SEED

Beauty and Fragrance for All at Very Small Cost.

Most Annuals May Be Sown Indoors For an Early Start—A Few Simple Remedies Suggested for Insect and Other Pests — Annuals May Be Transplanted.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Among the varieties that should be started early indoors are Petunias, Verbenas, Antirrhinum (Snapdragon), Pentstemon gloxinioides, Salvia, Ageratum, Centaurea gymnocarpa (Dusty Miller), Pyrethrum (Golden Feather), and Lobelia. The four kinds last named being of a dwarf habit of growth are very useful for planting around the edge of flower borders. The Lobelia does best in light soil and where it does not get too much sun. The first named varieties being of a taller habit of growth (one or two feet) are better suited for the centre of flower beds or borders. There are no summer decorative plants that can be raised from seed that will make a finer and more continuous display in the flower garden during summer than those named, if the seed is started early in a window, hot bed, or greenhouse, and the plants given even ordinary care and attention. If sown out of doors early in May they are very late in flowering. All the plants before named will also be found very useful for helping to fill up window and verandah boxes, rustic stands, and hanging baskets. Being of a perennial or lasting nature, many of them can also be successfully dug up in the autumn before frosts, and placed in pots or boxes for indoor decoration during early winter. Those late in flowering, such as Ageratum, Snapdragon and Penstemons are especially useful for this purpose. Seed should be saved from the best types of all of the plants named during the summer months for the next spring sowing. The Dusty Miller does not seed the first year, as a rule. A supply of cuttings may also be obtained from most of the plants named, if the old plants are kept in a cool window during winter.

Tall Plants for Centre.

If a few tall plants for the centre, or at the back of a large border are required, plant a few seeds of the Ricinus (Castor Oil Bean). These may be planted about an inch deep in shallow boxes early indoors in April, and transplanted singly into 3 or 3½-inch flower pots when three or four leaves are started; or one bean may be put in the same sized flower pot mentioned, and the plants allowed to grow there until planted out in the garden about the second week in June. All of the seedling plants started early as suggested should be transplanted when from four to six leaves have developed into good soil singly into 2½ or 3-inch pots or be set about 1½ inches apart in shallow, well drained boxes filled with good soil.

Some Annuals Suggested.

A few varieties of annuals such as Asters, Chinese Pinks, Phlox Drummondi, Zinnia, Balsams, Marigold, Coreopsis, Scabiosa, Calendula (pot Marigold), Mignonette, Schizanthus (Butterfly flower) and other varieties if needed, may be sown indoors early in April for early flowering or they may be sown out in the border about the second week in May for later flowering. A great many annuals such as Poppies, Nasturtiums, Ten Week Stock, Silene Armeria (Catchfly), Gysophila elegans, Nigella (Love in a Mist), Annual Larkspur, and other similar annuals do not transplant or succeed as well when sown indoors. It is best to sow these last named out of doors early in May where they are to grow. Sweet Alyssum and the Purple and White Candytufts are among the best dwarf edging annuals we have, and should also be sown out of doors early in May. Early sown Sweet Alyssum is often attacked by the small black flea beetle, that completely destroys the plants. Plants from seed sown later (end of May) are seldom attacked. The best remedy for this flea bettle is to spray the plants with a solution of Paris Green, made by first well mixing a small teaspoonful of Paris Green (or Arsenate of Lead) in a tablespoonful or two of cold water, then add water to make one gallon. Dusting the plants with Pyrethrum Powder, wood ashes, or soot are also good remedies. Another good annual, especially for a hot, sunny position is Portulacca. The seed is best sown broadcast on finely raked soil, and the seed raked in very lightly. Thin the plants later on from four to six inches apart. If you have a dry, hot, sunny position where very few plants will grow, try some Portulacca. If a few early Nasturtium plants, or of any climbing annual are wanted for window or verandah boxes, put two or three seeds in soil in three-inch pots in April, they will transplant much better from pots than from boxes. Nasturtiums are one of the best annuals for window boxes. The seed may also be sown rather thickly in window boxes out of doors early in May, and the plants thinned to about six inches apart later on. All annuals may be transplanted to advantage singly into small pots.

This list of annuals given may be extended considerably, those mentioned are among the most satisfactory for the average flower grower. —The late Wm. Hunt, O. A. College, Guelph.

Manure.

Much of the fertilizing value of manure is lost when piled in the barnyard till spring. Plan to haul it out to the fields as made. There, when spread or piled in small heaps, the bulk of this valuable by-product is utilized by next season's crops.

Manganese From India.

Revolutionary conditions in Russia have cut off the rest of the world from one of the principal sources of an indispensable metal, maganese. In the Caucasus there is one deposit of 100,000,000 tons of ore that is nearly 50 per cent. manganese oxide.

The metal is related to iron, slightly lighter in weight and with a silvery sheen. It is very widely distributed in rocks both igneous and sedimentary, but high-grade ores are scarce. Now that Russia is shut off we depend for our supplies mainly upon India and Brazil.

Manganese has a greater affinity for oxygen than iron has. Hence in the smelting of iron ores it is used to get rid of excess oxygen so that when the melt is complete there shall be no iron oxide left in the molten metal.

It is indispensable in the making of virtually all steels, taking up the oxygen that has to be eliminated, after which it is "slugged out" in the form of a complex manganese oxide.

Small quantities of manganese are added to steel to produce "manganese steel," which has great hardness and toughness.

High Life Below Stairs.

Edward Warren, the author of "Ten Thousand a Year," had a well-known weakness for boasting of his titled and highly-placed acquaintances, and dragged their names into conversation. Mr. Litchfield, in "Sparks from the Smoke Room," tells us that one day, at the Garrick Club, he, with Edmund Yates and two other men, was chatting, when Warren said that it was a singular thing that, happening to dine the previous evening at the Duke of Cleveland's, the dinner, excellent in other ways, was minus a fish course. "Oh," said Edmund Yates, "had they eaten it all upstairs?" It is said that Warren never forgave Yates.

Business and Pleasure.

Two Irishmen were comparing notes about politics, jobs, hard times and the like, when Pat O'Rourke, a third one, joined in the discussion.

"Sure, and I'm satisfied with things," said Pat. "I've a pache of a job."

"Is that so?" said the others. "And what might ye be doin'?"

"I'm pulling down the Episcopal church," replied Pat, "and I'm gettin' paid for it."

The origin of Freemasonry, or even of its name, cannot be traced with certainty.

BENEFITS OF ROTATION

It Maintains Both the Humus and Nitrogen Supplies.

Too Frequent Grain Growing Exhausts the Soil — Rotation Will Help to Destroy Weeds, Insects, and Fungus Pests—Currants and Gooseberries.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Crop rotations will, if properly planned and practised, maintain the humus supply in the soil, will restore the nitrogen supply, will give the benefits resulting from alternating crops that have different food requirements and leave different root residues in the soil; will help in weed, insect and fungus disease control; will make business management possible, will distribute the labor and reduce the risk of the loss in poor crop years.

Grain Growing Exhausts the Soil.

Lands that are continually used for grain crops will in time show exhaustion of the humus supply, due to annual tillage creating conditions that favor oxidation. Lands that are given a rest from the action of plough, disc, and cultivator, for two years out of every four while growing a hay or pasture crop will not become depleted of humus material, since the roots of the clover and grass crops will during their period of growth increase the quantity of vegetable matter or humus making material.

The common food plants have quite different root systems, legumes and root crops go deep, the grasses and grains have fibrous roots and feed nearer the surface. The grains develop their feeding roots and are most active during the spring and early summer, while corn and the root crops draw the greater part of their food supply during the late summer.

Use the Soil as a Feeding Ground.

The point is to use the soil as a feeding ground for the various food plants in such a way as to employ all its resources during the rotation period, but not to overwork or exhaust any particular part of what the soil may offer. A soil that is subjected to the task of nourishing a surface feeding type of plant over a long period of years will become exhausted of the food elements within the range of the feeding roots. The same is true when a soil is subjected to supplying the same food elements in excess to classes of plants requiring the same elements.

Alternate Shallow and Deep Feeding Crops.

By planting a rotation that will call for a surface feeding crop one year, a deep feeding crop the next year, and a rest from tillage for two years the soil is not subjected to the same everlasting drain on its fertility that the one crop or no system imposes. The work that the soil is required to do is distributed over a longer period, the soil is given time to rest up while certain food elements are reaching a condition suitable for plant food in quantity large enough to be of use to a developing crop. When crops are alternated, weeds, insects and fungus pests, all of which like the sameness of conditions characteristic of the one crop system, are not given a chance to increase, but are rooted out and destroyed annually through the breaking up of conditions suitable to such pests by employing a suitable rotation system.—L. Stevenson, secretary Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

He is a speaker of exceptional spiritual power, and St. Mary Magdalene Church is fortunate in having been able to secure him for this purpose. He will speak at each of the Sunday services, and each evening next week until Thursday, inclusive, at 7.45 p.m. He will also speak at the short services held each morning at 8.30. All are cordially welcome. The offerings at the week-day services will be given to the Bible Society.

—The regular monthly Prayer meeting of the Senior Adult Bible Class of Morven was held on Wednesday evening, March 1st, at the home of Mrs. E. M. Smith. Mrs. Ed. Kayler read a Psalm and made helpful comments on the wonder-working power of prayer. Then followed a season of prayer. After this, the members were called upon to give their favorite Scripture promise and a word or two of explanation as to why they had made that choice. Nearly all present took part, with the result that the evening was a very profitable one indeed. The enterprising officers of this class are to be congratulated for putting new life into the organization.

Osmiridium In Tasmania.

Recent exploration and development have revealed enormous deposits of osmiridium and gold-bearing gravels in the valleys of the large rivers of the western division of Tasmania, which is the sole producer on a large scale of "point metal" osmiridium. Tasmania, Russia, Colombia, and Papua, are the four principal osmiridium producing countries of the world, and Tasmania is by far the most important of these.

How Elephants Play.

The Cape Colony elephant reserve affords fine facilities for the observation of pachydermatous behaviour. The huge beasts often amuse themselves by squatting on their haunches at the top of a steep bank and coasting down to the pond at the bottom. Baby elephants that evince fear are coaxed to the crown of the hill and shoved off.

Asthma No Longer Dreaded. The dread of renewed attacks from asthma has no hold upon those who have learned to rely upon Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. So safe do they feel that complete reliance is placed on this true specific with the certainty that it will always do all that its makers claim. If you have not yet learned how safe you are with this preparation at hand get it to-day and know for yourself.

On the occasion of her hundredth birthday the village centenarian received a visit from the Vicar. Being anxious to hear from her own lips what she considered had been the source of her strength and sustenance, he said: "My dear Mrs. Adams, pray tell me, in order that I may tell to others, what has been the secret of your longevity?" The Vicar waited with unusual eagerness for the old lady's reply, but he was hardly prepared for it when it came. "Victuals!" she answered, rather rawpily.

The Oil of the People.—Many oils have come and gone, but Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil continues to maintain its position and increase its sphere of usefulness each year. Its sterling qualities have brought it to the front and kept it there, and it can truly be called the oil of the people. Thousands have benefited by it and would have no other preparation.

Geo. S. Kinsman, retired agent at Dulcsburg, Colorado, used to tell a story about a certain judge who, in the old woolly days, operated a "catfish" bank in addition to his somewhat light legal duties.

One day a stranger presented a cheque and was asked for identification. He dug up a number of letters and telegrams, but was informed that they were insufficient.

"But," protested the man, "you have hanged people here on less identification than this."

"I know," replied his honor, "but in money matters you got to be careful."

Internal parasites in the shape of worms in the stomach and bowels of children sap their vitality and retard physical development. They keep the child in a constant state of unrest and, if not attended to, endanger life. The child can be spared much suffering and the mother much anxiety by using a reliable worm remedy, such as Miller's Worm Powders, which are sure death to worms.

A Philadelphia clergyman is the father of a son whose habits of unpunctuality are a sore trial. Nevertheless, the youth's heedy tongue is a source of secret delight to the parent.

Once the young man appeared at Sunday breakfast twenty minutes after the appointed time.

"Son," said the minister, reproachfully, as he held his watch so that the youth might see its accusing face, "do you think this is right? Do you honestly think it is right?"

"Well, father," returned the young man, regretfully, "I wish it were about twenty minutes fast, but as you ask me to say honestly, I am afraid it's just about right."

A very stout woman, bustling through a park on a hot day, became aware that she was being followed by a roughly-dressed lad.

"What do you mean by following me in this manner?" she demanded, indignantly.

The boy hung back a little. But when the woman resumed her walk he again took up his position directly behind her.

"Look here," she exclaimed, wheeling angrily, "if you don't go away at once, I will call a policeman!"

The unfortunate lad looked at her appealingly. "For goodness' sake, kind lady, have mercy on me, an' don't call a policeman. You're the only shady spot in the park!"

Nobel Prize Was Awarded To Anatole France, Who Is Unique Literary Figure

Now that Anatole France has been awarded the Nobel prize for imaginative literature, it is possible that in English-speaking countries we will enter upon some such belated popularity as that which befell Knut Hamsun when he was similarly honored. Thousands who would never have heard of "Growth of the Soil" have the Nobel committee to thank for directing their attention to one of the noblest stories written in a generation. They may now turn their attention to "The Crime of Sylvester Bonnard," or "Thais," or "The Red Lily," or "L'Ile des Pingouins," with what emotions we shall leave them to discover. France, whose name is Jacques Anatole Francois Thibault, has long been recognized as the greatest of contemporary French writers, but his work is of a flavor that loses something in translation, which Hamsun's does not, and we doubt if it will ever attain a wide popularity in any tongue but the original. Even in France, Anatole is distinctly highbrow.

Anatole France is an impressionist. He contends that literature cannot be objective or impersonal. He says it is a hideous waste of time to seek for truth, but believes it to be the duty of all to seek beauty. He has been described as a pagan haunted by the spirit of the Christian era. One of his stories deals with Pontius Pilate in his old days

ANATOLE FRANCE.

Some one asked him if he remembered when he was a prisoner in Judea a case in which Jesus figured. He pondered for a while and then said: "No, I recall nobody of that name." He began his career as a reporter and then turned to militant socialism, like many of France's most brilliant writers. Quite early he enrolled himself with the Clarves, presided over by Rolland and Barbusse, who aim to reclaim the world through the leadership of international intellectuals. France repudiates no absolute in ethics or religion, and is even dubious if it exists in science.

A writer in the Boston Transcript says that for the price this year there were three leading contenders, if that word can be properly used. One was Thomas Hardy and the other of the three, d'Annunzio. He says that the three men have something in common. They are all pagans. He expresses the opinion that Prouse possesses more than either of the others, that radiant quality called charm, and writes: "D'Annunzio bathes in perfumes; Hardy chisels out of granite. France embroiders upon silk; the French-man achieves the rare feat of durability in delivery." He admits that he would have had great difficulty had he been the Nobel committee, in breaking an award between Hardy and France.

D'Annunzio's literary career has also been sadly clouded by his political capers, and especially by his adventure in Fiume. His choice would have been no more popular in Italy than elsewhere, for it is felt there that his great name has unjustly obscured the fame of other fine writers just as for many years the name of Tolstoy blocked from view the brilliant pioneer men in Russian literature. D'Annunzio has been described as a sensual temperament rather than a disciplined intellect. He has a gift of catch-words and one of them sums up his own attempts—Self-renewal or death. He has succeeded in renew himself in a hundred different ways. But his stock of ideas is small, and we thought he has troubled is probably attributable to the influence of Nietzsche. D'Annunzio considers himself a sort of superman, above good and evil.

There remains the austere Thomas Hardy, as differently character from d'Annunzio as could well be imagined. He has been called a pandiabolist, or one who sees in all things, not the hands of the deities, but the claws of demons. He has built his stories on the old Greek tragedies, although his first tales showed him rather an idyllist. It was in 1878 that he produced the "Return of the Native," and there followed in the course of the next fifteen years or so his great masterpieces, "The Mayor of Casterbridge," "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," and "Jude the Obscure." Finally he wrote what some of the best critics have pronounced his most lasting work, "The Dynasts," a great epic in nineteen acts and 178 scenes. This revealed Hardy as a poet, the greatest poet, some say, of our day. Thomas Hardy has never sought honors. He has been indifferent to applause. He knows that only comparatively few people will read his books, but if he were to have no readers at all he would continue to write with the greatest pains. His work is described in the phrase, "He chisels out of granite."

of people visit Montreal every year. The large tourist traffic has been greater than ever this Fall, and even more people are expected to visit Montreal each succeeding year.

The present hotels are overcrowded most of the year. It is next to impossible to secure accommodation of any kind during the Summer and Fall "touring months."

The 8% convertible debentures of The Mount Royal Hotel Company, Limited, carrying a bonus of 30% of Common Stock, now being offered, promise to be a very profitable investment.

The Hotel will be opened in October, 1922. Construction is under way, and is being carried on by one of the world's largest contractors—Thompson-Starrett Company of New York, Chicago and Pittsburg. This assures the job being finished on time.

Dividends are assured under the operation of the United Hotels Company of America, the largest chain hotel operators on this continent.

Write for our circular describing in detail this attractive offering.

I'll Show You A Silo

that will boost your farm earnings

My Toronto Silo will put dollars in your pocket.

It will boost the value of your farm.

Its double-tongued-and-grooved selected Spruce makes the Toronto Silo absolutely air tight, which keeps the ensilage in perfect condition.

Its famous Hip Roof allows you to tramp the Ensilage to the top of the staves—and that's the way to get the most out of your Silo.

Drop in next time you're in town and let us talk it over.

I have other lines of Farm Equipment too, and can show you their dependability and economy.

COURSE IN AGRICULTURE AT ENTERPRISE

The Lennox and Addington Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture conducted a four weeks' course in Agriculture at Meech's Hall, Enterprise, from January 23rd to February 18th, 1922. The course consisted of lectures on various subjects relating to Agriculture; demonstrations in judging of all kinds of cattle, sheep and swine; testing milk and cream; poultry culling; treating grain for smut control and killing and dressing poultry. The students were required to do practical work as outlined under demonstrations and in addition were given practice in judging all kinds of grain, grass and clover seed, identifying weed seeds and figuring out home problems. In order to make the course more interesting, competitions were conducted in judging live stock and debating. The students were also given an opportunity of displaying their ability in public speaking. The following students were enrolled at the Course:—Arthur Meredith, Stanley Jackson, Milo Guy Jackson, Miles E. Jackson, Maitland Jackson, Floyd Graham, Claude Jackson, Eadie C. Raymond, Harold Brown, Ronald Brown, Harold Thompson, Okel Drew, Theodore Wagar, Eric W. Jackson, H. E. Vannest, Cecil Denyes, Wilbert Jackson, Edgar Drew, Wesley Wagar. The attendance at the Course varied considerably. For one debate and one public speaking contests the attendance ranged from 90 to 126. At the Special Course in Swine Marketing the attendance was 55. At some of our stock judging demonstrations, the attendance ran up to 35. During the Course, a moving picture show was given one night each week, and was usually largely attended and greatly appreciated owing to the fact that they do not have a moving picture show in Enterprise. This was the first time that a Course in Agriculture has been held in Enterprise, and judging from the attendance and interest displayed by the pupils, we consider it a marked success. The following farmers were visited for demonstrations and practical work in live stock:—Claude Jackson, bacon hogs; Wm. H. Vannest, dairy cattle; Chas. Graham, beef cattle; Alfred Milligan, pure bred Clydesdale horses and beef cattle; Thos. Jackson, dairy cattle; Thomas M. Wilson, sheep. Through the kindness of these farmers, students had an opportunity of seeing some excellent specimens of live stock. Special mention may be made of Mr. Milligan's Clydesdales, and Mr. Vannest's Holsteins. As a result of our practical work with live stock, the following students have been selected to represent this County in the Inter-County Live Stock Judging Competition held at Ottawa Winter Fair, January, 1923:—Edgar Drew, Floyd Graham, Cecil Denyes, Okel Drew and Maitland Jackson. Those five young men will be given further training next fall, and the best three will be selected about the middle of December. At the conclusion of the Course, the Enterprise Junior Farmers' Improvement Association was organized, with the following officers and list of members. This year this Association will conduct profit competitions in oats and feeding hogs.

LORD LISTER & Zam-Buk

Lord Lister's discovery of antiseptic surgery has saved the world a lot of lives, but it has been left to Zam-Buk to bring into millions of homes the full benefits of antiseptic healing.

Zam-Buk is the greatest antiseptic healer the world has ever known. Being of a natural vegetable origin Zam-Buk has distinct and positive advantages over old-style mineral ointments.

Zam-Buk is a compact and highly-refined herbal balm with an antiseptic power many times greater than that of any ordinary salve or ointment. Zam-Buk kills germs, excludes disease germs, and instantly allays pain and irritation. It also cleanses a sore place and then grows over it new healthy skin.

As a first-aid dressing for injuries, and for all skin troubles as eczema, ulcers, ringworm, abscesses, poisoned wounds, blood poisoning, and sores, Zam-Buk is used the world over. It has the high endorsement of Dr. Andrew Wilson and other well-known doctors, surgeons and nurses.

VARIETY SHOWER.

The home of Mr. George Simpson, Fish Lake, was the scene of a pleasant evening, when his neighbors and friends gathered in the form of a surprise party, the object being a miscellaneous shower in honor of his eldest daughter, Gladys, whose approaching marriage was an interesting feature to her many friends and acquaintances.

Although the day was very stormy, the storm did not quell the ardour of the majority of the people and the greater number to about sixty, prevailed, and was certainly a mute testimony to the esteem and respect in which Gladys is held in her home community.

Her presence in the Sunday School, W. M. S., and choir, her willingness to help in every way she could, and these farmers, students had an opportunity of seeing "some excellent specimens of live stock. Special mention may be made of Mr. Milligan's Clydesdales, and Mr. Vannest's Holsteins. As a result of our practical work with live stock, the following students have been selected to represent this County in the Inter-County Live Stock Judging Competition held at Ottawa Winter Fair, January, 1923:—Edgar Drew, Floyd Graham, Cecil Denyes, Okel Drew and Maitland Jackson. Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. Catarrhal Deafness requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

Mrs. C. Hoin, who enjoyed an extended visit at her daughter's, Mrs. R. Jackson, of Hinchinbrook, has returned home again.—Mr. Oscar Kastner, of the Ore Chimney Mines, is taking a couple of weeks' vacation, and is visiting friends and relatives here.—Mr. Ed Chatson, of Sudbury, who spent a couple of months visiting his mother and other relatives here at his native home, left again for New Ontario.—Mrs. Gaul, of Colborne, is paying a visit to her husband, Rev. Mr. Gaul, minister for this Methodist Mission District, and is a welcome guest at Mr. and Mrs. G. Adams'.—The Methodist congregation is wishing to purchase a suitable parsonage for their minister, and the Lutheran parsonage has been vacant for some time and is offered for sale, as the place of residence for their minister has been changed to Palmer Rapids, which is nearer the centre of the mission district, composed of congregations at Denbigh, Ragian, Quadeville, Palmer Rapids and Maynooth. Negotiations have commenced, which it is hoped will end in a settlement satisfactory to both parties.

First Workingman—What sort of a job have you got now?

Second Workingman—Oh, I collect alms on the Patreaux Bridge, between midnight and one o'clock in the morning.

First Workingman—Are the people particularly generous around there at that hour?

Second Workingman—Yes. They generally give me everything they have on them.

PRICE—HUDGINS.

A very interesting event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Hudgins, Selby, on Wednesday, March 1st, 1922, when their youngest daughter, Cora Beetha, was united in marriage to Mr. Edward Rogers Price. The Rev. T. H. P. Anderson, pastor of both bride and groom, performed the ceremony, in the presence of the immediate relatives. The bride was becomingly attired in white silk crepe-de-chene, and carried pink carnations. The young couple were unattended. After a sumptuous wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Price left amid showers of rice and confetti for Ottawa and Montreal. On their return they will reside at Empey Hill, where the groom has lately purchased a farm. We wish them many happy and prosperous years of wedded life.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. P. L. Bogart.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

The party, given by Mrs. J. Geale Daly, Tuesday afternoon, on the occasion of the ninetieth birthday of her mother, was a very happy affair.

Mrs. Daly received the guests, wearing a handsome frock in beaver shade with Oriental embroidery; and Mrs. Richards was lovely in black duchess satin, with bouquet of violets. Although having reached the wonderful age of ninety, she still retains all her faculties and is the personification of cheerfulness.

The house was a mass of spring flowers, gifts from friends in town; and from outside cities came cheques and other remembrances.

Mrs. U. M. Wilson, in a gown of black radium lace with touches of coral, asked the friends to the dining-room; the tea table being most attractive with its exquisite rose centre, showing the much-coveted revival of silk embroidery. In the centre was a large crystal bowl of pink carnations and on either side a slender vase with sprays of mignonette. Mrs. Corkill, in turquois charmeuse, and Mrs. W. H. Milsap in navy and cardinal, were in charge, assisted by Mrs. McKenzie, Miss Richardson and Miss Preston.

Among the guests was Mr. Daly's sister, Mrs. L. Bennett, of Dauphin, Man., who is a very welcome visitor in town.

THE IMPLEMENT SHED

Should be an Important Feature in Farm Buildings.

Have It Centrally Located—How to Make Cement Posts for Foundation—Not Only Have Implements Under Clean Cover, But Keep Them Ready.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The storage of tools and machinery in a general barn is not always economical. Frequently the barn has to be cleared out during haying or harvest storage, necessitating the removal of the implements for a long period of exposure. A building designed and constructed for implement storage is to be desired on every farm. The size of an implement shed, can be determined by measuring the implements and then determining the space required by each. Wide buildings are not usually satisfactory, since such will incline toward a storage system that requires the removal of several implements in order to get the one wanted. Narrow buildings with wide eaves to protect the largest implements and wagons are to be preferred.

Should Be Centrally Located.

The implement shed should be located as a central feature in the farmstead group of buildings at a point midway between the house and barn, in such a position as to be convenient to teamsters going to and from fields and roads. Concrete floors are highly satisfactory, but not always necessary; gravel and dry earth floors are generally satisfactory. The walls need only to protect from wind and rain, while the roof, if it will keep out the rain and dust, is satisfactory. This means a cheap structure, made up of 2 x 4 to 2 x 6 inch boards and prepared roofing paper. The well framework can be constructed of 2 x 4 or four-inch poles set on 24-inch centers. Sheds planned to be 16 feet or more in width should have a 2 x 6 rafters if the roof is of one slope. Rough board flooring and battens well nailed will make a desirable and strong wall, quite good enough to shelter the farm machines and tools.

How to Make a Good Foundation.

The foundation should be firm, and can be easily made by setting half barrels in line and level, and then filling up with cement concrete. Such make excellent foundations. An inset of 2 x 4 in the cement to receive the sills to be very essential in windly localities. Implement houses may be built with one side open, or one side may be made up of doors, half of which give hung on an inside track and half on an outside track. This double track arrangement for door hanging permits the opening of a door at any point, which is an important feature.—L. Stevenson, Secretary, Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

THE LATE T. W. SIMPSON.

On Wednesday, the 15th of March, there passed away in his home at Napanee, T. W. Simpson, M.D. Dr. Simpson was one of the best known and most highly respected citizens of the community. For years he had taken an active part not only in his purely professional duties, but in all the interests and activities of the civic and religious life of the County, and any cause that had as its object the betterment of the community always found an ardent supporter in Dr. Simpson.

He was a member of the local Orange Lodge and of Union Lodge of A. F. & A. M. He had served several times on the Town Council, and had at one time been Mayor of the town. An ardent temperance worker, he never failed to get behind any and every movement which tended that end.

As a practising physician he held the respect and confidence of a wide circle of friends and patients, and true to the best tradition of his profession, he made several trips into distant parts of the county during the severe rains and storms two weeks ago, even though he knew it was detrimental to his own health. It was when on these journeys that he contracted a cold, which gradually became more deep seated, and from which he failed to recover even though the best medical advice in the province was secured for his case.

He leaves to mourn his sad loss his wife, three sons and one daughter, all of Napanee. In his passing the community loses not only a capable, efficient and devoted medical adviser, but as well a loyal, courageous and public-spirited citizen.

MAPLE AVENUE.

The roads are in a very sloppy condition at time of writing.—The young people of the surrounding country gave a surprise party at Mr. Roy Rose's, on Wednesday of last week. Progressive euchre was spent in dancing and games until the wee hours, when all went home feeling satisfied with the good time.—Mr. and Mrs. James McGaughey spent Saturday afternoon at Morven, guests of his father, who is very ill at time of writing.—Mrs. Arthur Stevens, Mrs. Grace Kellagher and Miss Hart, the York took in the hockey game at Odessa on Saturday last. Miss Grace McGaughey and Mr. Gerald Newman were the guests of Miss Hattie York on Sunday evening.—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clark took tea with Mr. Jas. McGaughey on Tuesday evening.—Mr. David Snider spent Thursday afternoon at James McGaughey's.—Thos. Woodcock has a very sick child. —Mr. S. Harten and Loren had dinner on Sunday at Mr. T. Woodcock's. —Mr. and Mrs. T. York and Percival York and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stevens took tea with Mr. and Mrs. Gaughey on Friday evening.—Mr. and Mrs. R. Bell and family spent Sunday at his father's.—Mr. and Mrs. T. Storey spent Sunday evening at S. Martin's. —The Misses Robinson are boarding at D. Smith's, one day last week. — Vera Smith is home for a week's vacation.

WESTBROOK.

The Methodist Church at Westbrook, which has been thoroughly renovated during the past few months, was officially reopened on Sunday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Sisco, minister. In the forenoon Rev. Mr. Sisco was assisted by Rev. R. H. Bell, Pastor of Sydenham Street Methodist Church, Kingston, in the place of Rev. Mr. Bell. Rev. R. H. Bell gave an excellent address, which was very much appreciated by the large gathering. The members of the church had fidgred on making some money for some time, so the Board met and decided to put the church building in first-class condition. The roof was re-sheeted with galvanized iron. The entire inside of the building, including the ceiling, was re-finished. The sum of $1400.00 for repairs, which was very much under for years was heated by stoves, now by the most up-to-date furnaces that money can buy. On Sunday afternoon service, Miss Verna Shilvock presided at the organ, Geo. Leonard, Collins Bay, sang a duett, and a Choir rendered two anthems. The evening service was commenced at 8 o'clock, was largely attended. The sermon was preached by the Pastor. Mrs. John Shibley, of Harrowsmith, sang a solo; also Rev. Mr. Sisco sang a solo, and the Choir rendered special anthems. During the time the alterations were being made, the services were held in the hall.—Miss Vernice Howie, Mount Pleasant, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. F. Sproule, Westbrook, and with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gates, Westbrook.

FATHER AND SON DIE THE SAME DAY

FRANK DAVY AND ROBERT VICTIMS OF PNEUMONIA AT VERONA.

Frank Davy, a farmer residing near the Village of Verona, and his son, Robert, aged nineteen years, both died on Thursday of last week as a result of a very severe attack of pneumonia. Both were taken down with the disease on Sunday. Robert Davy died on Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock and the father passed away about twelve o'clock at night. Dr. Geddes, who was in attendance since Sunday, called Drs. I. G. Bogart and J. W. Campbell, but both patients were beyond recovery.

Miss Irene Davy, one of the daughters, who survive, is feeling rather poorly. The death is very sad in view of the fact that one of the girls, Miss Ethel, is a missionary in Africa, and the news of the death of her father and brother was cabled to her.

Those surviving are the widow, two sons, Bert at Verona, Barney at home, and six daughters, Ethel, in Africa; Mrs. Stuart-Snider, Odessa; Mrs. Gordon, Sharbot Lake; Nettie, Irene and Ruth, at home.

The funeral took place at the Free Methodist Church and the service was conducted by Rev. H. Crowder.

OBITUARY.

David James Thompson.

On March 6th, 1922, David James Thompson passed peacefully away, after an illness of six years, being confined to his bed for the last six weeks. He was attended by his wife who never left his bedside.

The deceased was born in Camden on September 17th, 1855, but for the past twenty-nine years has resided near Bath, where he was highly esteemed by all who knew him. Besides a host of friends he leaves to mourn the loss of a loving husband and kind father, his wife, three daughters and one son, Mrs. Wm. W. Weese, Links Mills; Mrs. Chas. Morrow, McIntyre Corners; Miss Jessie, at home; also his son, Azel, at home. The funeral took place on Wednesday, at the Union Church, the service being conducted by his Pastor, Rev. G. Nickle, who took as his text John 11:25, from which he delivered a very impressive and comforting sermon, showing Jesus' ready sympathy with those who mourn. The remains were placed in Millhaven vault to await interment in the family plot at the Union cemetery in the spring.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

By the Canadian Forestry Association.

Q. To what extent are we Canadians sending logs over the border to American mills to employ American labor in paper manufacture?

A. It is estimated that we supply Uncle Sam with twenty-five million trees a year to keep his pulp and paper mills active. There is a considerable agitation at the present time in Canada to put a special export tax on this raw material or in some other way to discourage the sending of such wood to the States. Canadians obtain a minimum benefit from such shipments which if retained and manufactured in this country would give considerable employment.

Q. What is the greatest age to which a tree has lived?

A. Some of the Sequoia trees of Southern California have attained an age of 4,000 years, and there are supposed to be trees in the island of Teneriffe which have reached even greater age.

Q. Have aeroplanes succeeded in improving the work of forest rangers in any part of Canada thus far?

A. Most of the experiments in Canada with aircraft have had to do with the surveying of timbered areas from aloft and the taking of aerial pictures of timber lands. However so successful was the use of seaplanes in Manitoba last year for purposes of fire detection and the transport of fire fighters that the authorities in charge have decided to let out fully half of the Manitoba fire ranging staff for 1922 and use seaplanes as a substitute. This is the first innovation of the kind anywhere in the world.

Q. I have a considerable tract of useless farm land both in Ontario and Quebec. To whom should I apply to obtain a few thousand spruce or pine seedlings and who can instruct me as to how to be about planting them?

A. For Quebec, write Mr. G. C. Piche, Chief of Forestry Service, Quebec. Mr. Piche will be able to tell you whether he can supply you from the Berthierville nursery and will be glad to give you instructions as to how to proceed. For your Ontario property, apply to Mr. E. J. Zavitz, Provincial Forester, Toronto, and at the same time ask for a copy of the Ontario Government bulletin on the farm woodlot and its care. There is also an excellent publication issued by the Dominion Forestry Branch, Ottawa, entitled "The Care of the Woodlot", which would help you considerably with your planting plans.

"So you loved and lost?"

SPARE THE MILK AND SPOIL THE CHILD.

IMPORTANCE AND VALUE OF THE PRODUCT OF THE DAIRY COW.

Every family in Canada is vitally concerned in its main food supplies. Among them milk and milk products are as indispensable in the diet of both child and adult as is bread itself. Referring to child nutrition, Dr. A. J. Amyot, Deputy Minister of Health, recently made the statement that "there are many under-nourished or improperly fed children in this country, whose condition both physical and mental, would be greatly improved by the more liberal use of milk in the diet."

In a pamphlet just issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, entitled "Why and How to Use Milk," of which Miss H. C. Campbell of the Dairy Branch is the author, it is stated that milk contains all the requirements for the growth and repair of the body. Milk contains protein from which to build new cells and repair worn-out tissues. It contains fat and sugar, which serve as a source of heat and energy for muscular activity, and mineral matter, which has a regulatory effect and enters into the composition of the body, especially as regards the bones and teeth. The deficiencies of other foods are counter-balanced by milk in the diet. When milk is served with cereal, with bread, or other food made from grains, not only are the nutrients in milk used, but much other protein is conserved for body uses which would otherwise be wasted. Butter, for which there is no real substitute as a beneficial food, is made from cream, and cream is found in milk with a large percentage of that soluble fat without which the normal growth and development of the body or of the mental powers are impossible. All the good of the milk is not taken off with the cream, far from it. It still contains the protein, mineral matter and vitamines necessary to build bone and make blood. Nor is the food value of milk destroyed when it sours. Made into cottage cheese, one pound contains as much protein as a pound of meat, and who can deny the deliciousness of sour-milk biscuits and griddle cakes? Buttermilk has a food value equal to that of skim-milk or sour milk, is easily digested and is delightfully refreshing to drink. Condensed milk is useful where fresh milk is not obtainable but is not suitable as a permanent diet for babies. Evaporated milk will keep indefinitely if sealed, but when uncovered should be used as quickly as fresh milk. If given to children, fresh fruit juice should be added to the diet.

One particularly interesting piece of information in Miss Campbell's pamphlet is a description of the manner in which milk can be pasteurized at home, thus being freed of any possible obnoxious germs, with practically no expense and with only a modicum of trouble. People who retard ice cream as a mere luxury are mistaken; it is a real food. The conclusion it may be stated that forty-nine recipes are given in the bulletin referred to for making delicious dishes, in all of which milk is the principal or most important ingredient.

YOUR TEETH.

VARIETIES OF PLATES.

By Rea Proctor McGee, D.D.S., M.D., Editor "Oral Hygiene"

If you have lost very many teeth you must consider some method of replacing them, because if you don't you will only partially chew your food and your digestive apparatus will suffer severely from overwork and your general system must necessarily be undernourished.

So common sense dictates that when you lose a tooth, it must be replaced. There are other good reasons why teeth should be replaced, but, just now, the matter of plates is under discussion.

In a jaw where there are some natural teeth remaining the plate that carries the missing teeth is called a "partial plate".

There are many methods of keeping these partial plates in position, and the methods are so extremely clever that the feelings, appearance and function of the normal teeth are almost restored.

The old idea of placing fixed bridges, to restore every form of tooth that was missing, is rapidly giving way to the extensive use of the partial plate.

One of the great advantages of partial plate is the fact that it can be removed and thoroughly cleaned.

Now, cleanliness is one of the greatest possible measures in the conversation of health and anything that can be cleaned can be made sanitary; but if you have in your mouth an extensive set of unscrewable apparatus it will be very difficult to maintain a hygienic condition.

Always consider the possibility of cleanliness when any new work is being done in the mouth. The partial plates depend for their retention upon the teeth that are remaining in the mouth. They do not depend upon suction as do the full plates, particularly the full upper.

To be satisfactory, the teeth upon which the partial plate depends for support must be very healthy.

You cannot hope to have either a satisfactory or a healthful piece of partial plate work in your mouth unless the teeth to which it is anchored are healthy and will remain so.

If you have to have a partial plate, don't try to save a lot of hopeless teeth to interfere with it.

ODESSA.

James Johnston, Toronto, is visiting relatives and friends.—Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lindsay, Shenhams, spent Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Freeman.—Miss Bernice Henderson, Sunbury, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henderson.—Mrs. Andy Gordie, of Watertown, is the guest of Mrs. A. Gordie.—Miss Turner, a returned missionary, and travelling secretary of the Quinte Branch W. M. S., spoke in the Methodist Church last Thursday afternoon and evening, and on Friday evening. Each meeting had a large attendance, and the addresses were very much enjoyed by all. Friday night was especially for the young people.—Mrs. N. E. Adams and Mrs. (Dr.) H. C. Mosher have returned from spending a couple of weeks in Toronto.—Miss Darling returned Thursday from spending a few days at her home in Moscow. — Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Laughlin and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Shane, Newburgh.—The concert given in the Town Hall on Tuesday night by the Community Club was a great success. The opening number was a duet by Mrs. (Dr.) J. E. Mabee and Miss Ada Nickle, which was several times applauded. In the play staged, "The Elopement of Ellen", each actor took their part very creditably. The many class guessing games by the members of Cook's Church Choir, Kingston, proved to be a rare treat.

ENTERPRISE EAST.

The heavy rain of Tuesday and continued mild weather has completely spoiled the sleighing, and brought everything to a standstill for the time being, as the roads are in a bad condition. Many of this vicinity are much disappointed over the sudden change in the weather, as there is yet considerable hauling to be done. —The ice cracs, which were to have been held at Wilkinson, on Saturday, March 4th, had to be cancelled owing to the bad condition of the ice.—Mr. Patrick Dowling is busy getting out timber to rebuild his barn, which was destroyed by lightning.—Quite a number have already commenced sugar making, and report a fair run of sap.—The patrons of the Whitman Creek cheese factory will hold a meeting on Saturday, March 25th, to arrange repairs to conform to the new Dairy Standard Act.—A concert, consisting of songs and lectures, will be given in the Young Men's Hall on Friday evening, March 17th. — Mr. William Dowling is making preparations to move on his new farm, recently purchased from Mrs. Edward Ellis.—Mr. Leo Finn returned home on Wednesday, after spending a few days in Guelph, where he purchased a promising young horse.—Mr. William West returned home on Tuesday, after spending a couple of weeks with relatives in Toronto and Peterboro.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pullen entertained a number of their friends on Sunday evening.—Mr. Frank Casey spent Sunday at Mr. Arthur Kidd's.

Pain In Her Arm Is Now All Gone

MRS. STANTON RECOMMENDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Woodstock Lady Whose Rheumatism Has Vanished Tells Why She Believes in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, Ont., Mar. 16th, (Special).—Mrs. John Stanton, who lives on R. R. 1 near here is never tired of telling of the benefit she received from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"About four years ago I had rheumatism in my left arm," Mrs. Stanton states. "It was so painful I couldn't dress myself.

"I read about Dodd's Kidney Pills and what they had done for others, so I sent and got six boxes. They did me good from the start. The pain is now gone but I keep Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house as I have an occasional touch of lumbago and they help it a lot. They help my husband's head too."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best and most reliable of Kidney remedies. They heal the kidneys. Sound kidneys strain all the uric acid, the cause of rheumatism, from the blood.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make healthy kidneys.

RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is produced by the accumulation of Uric Acid in the blood, and this poisonous substance attacks and inflames the membrane covering the joints and separating the muscles, thus producing severe pain. If the weak muscles of the human system are not properly carried off they change forms and is deposited in the joints and between the different layers of muscle. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS will correct the trouble by acting on the kidneys and removing the Uric Acid from the blood. Try them and watch the results. If they fail your money will be refunded.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets are 50c. and $1.00 per box at Hooper's Drug Store, Napanee, Ont.

BROOKSIDE.

A warm welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Galbraith, who have moved into the home lately vacated by Mr. Wm. Wallace.—Mr. H. Holden has purchased the farm formerly owned by Kenah Leg.—Mr. Dan McLeod, of Echo Lake, has come to live with his daughter, Mrs. Holden.—The young people presented their concert at Yarker recently, and won well deserved praise.—Several from here attended the surprise party at Archie McLean's, and report Mr. and Mrs. McLean a jolly host and hostess.—Mrs. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Stover and family attended the reception held for Mr. and Mrs. Miles Shaver at Elginburg.—Mrs. Roy Freeman and son, Bruce, have gone to Gananoque to visit Mrs. Gilbert and her mother, Mrs. Wartman.—Mr. and Mrs. C. Freeman called on friends at Moscow.—Miss H. B. Wallace spent the week end under the parental roof.—C. W. Wallace has rented a new house.—Little Miss Evelyn Lee spent Saturday with Miss Hazel Freeman.—Mrs. Sidney Freeman attended the funeral at Napanee of the late Mrs. Irish.—Mr. and Mrs. McCormick spent a day last week at Railton.—Visitors x.M. Earl Lee and Mrs. Claude Vandervoort at F. Wallace's; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Boyce and Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Cammsall at E. W. Boyce's; Mr. and Mrs. G. McFarlane at C. W. Wallace's.—The assessors for Portland and Camden have each called this way.

ERINSVILLE.

Spring has come at last. The birds are beginning to come to our vicinity with their sweet songs. — Wood chopping is the order of the day.—Mrs. Pat. Byrnes is improving nicely from her injured limb. Hope she will be able to begin her spring work soon.—Mr. Pat. Caffrey is seriously ill from the effects of scarlet fever.—Miss Jennie O'Neill has returned to the city of Ottawa with her sister, Mrs. W. J. Ryan, who has been visiting her father and mother.—Miss Winnie Flynn has gone to Harrowsmith for a few days.—Mr. Pat Powers has just returned from visiting his friends in Napanee.—Mr. and Mrs. James Garratt are ni emies; twin girls.

NERVOUS AND RUN DOWN

Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cobourg, Ontario.—"For many years I have had troubles with my nerves and have been in a generally run down condition for some time. I could not do my work half the time because of trouble every month. I was told of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by friends and advised to try it. It has done me good and I strongly recommend it to friends I have taken it I have been able to do all my own work and I also have friends who have found it good. You can use these facts as a testimonial." Mrs. Thad. Fraser, Box 761, Cobourg, Ontario.

Any woman with this condition should take the Vegetable Compound, for it has helped other women and so it should help you.

For nearly fifty years this good old-fashioned medicine, made from herbs which contains no narcotics nor harmful drugs, has been the standard medicine for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, etc.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

CUSTOM HATCHING.

The poultry business leads all other branches on the farm as a profit maker." Just think of over 90 tons of dressed poultry being sold in our town on only 2 days last fall at very high prices. This amount represents less than two-thirds of the poultry sold in this county last year. Then when you take into account the eggs, which amounted to over $100,000, a grand total of $225,000. Are you getting your share of this great money making industry. If not, start in now.

In order to help you get started right, The M. B. Mills Co. will do custom hatching at reduced rates. We will also take orders for Day-old chicks of the popular breeds.

We are agents for the best Incubators made, the celebrated Buckeye Hot Water machines; also best Hovers. Can give clear instructions with the machines running before your eyes, so anybody can easily learn to handle them. Remember the most important thing is to have your chicks hatched early when you want them in good numbers, not waiting in disappointment for the clucking hens. Get your orders in now and be ready.

We buy and sell poultry any day the year round.

Wall Papers For 1922

Of late years many housekeepers have made most of their Painting and Paper Hanging in the months of February and March, for the reason, principally, that they can then secure the services of the paper hanger more cheaply than later in the season. We have in stock as good a selection of Canadian made Papers as can be had in the Dominion, which we are offering at the very lowest prices—quite a reduction from last year. We have also sample books of American, English, and French papers of the very highest class, and at prices from 25 to 50 per cent. lower than is charged by the city dealers. There will be positively no delay in the delivery of these papers. They will be here the second day after the selection is made. We invite intending purchasers to look through our samples and get our prices.

We have a new stock of Window Shades of the different grades, which we are offering at prices we know to be the very lowest.

We will have a full line of Window Poles, and the various fittings connected therewith.

We are busy every day with the Picture Framing, but contrive to manage it so there will be no disappointment. A new stock comprises some very taking lines.

Come in and see the goods. We will show them with pleasure.

Chas. Stevens Company LIMITED.

Beg to announce that we now have in stock, choice American Yellow Corn, which we offer at close prices either whole, cracked or ground.

We also handle Salt, Coal, Wood, Flour, Middlings, Crushed Oats, Hay, Crushed Oyster Shell, Oatmeal, Soap, Starch, Bluing, etc.

If you require Galvanized Iron, either for roofing and sheeting, it will pay you to get our prices before ordering, as we import same direct from the manufacturers.

We also have a few shares of stock in the Company unsold, which you can get at par at One Hundred Dollars per share, 25 per cent. down and the balance as called in at a later date. We do not anticipate calling in more 50 per cent; and buying one or more shares, as the Company is limited, each shareholder is only responsible for the amount of stock they subscribe for.

The business is a growing concern, having been conducted for over 45 years by Chas. Stevens, and we assure the public that the Company will be able to pay a handsome dividend. Drop in and see us and let us talk the matter over with you, as we have not paid one cent in premiums and furthermore do not intend to do so, so every subscriber gets in on the ground floor.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Malcolm A. McQuaig, who departed from us one year ago to-day, March 16th, 1921.

One year has passed since that sad day,
God called the one we loved away;
Forget him, we never will,
As years roll by we love him still.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we loved to hear,
Too far away from sight or speech,
But not too far for our thoughts to reach.

Anchored by love death cannot sever,
Sadly we miss him and will forever,
Some day, some time, we shall see
The sweetest face we hold in memory.
—Father, Mother,

Chamberlain and Gladstone.

Mr. E. T. Raymond, in his "Portraits of the Nineties," says:
"The whole story of the last twenty years of the nineteenth century might have been different if Mr. Chamberlain could have co-operated with Mr. Gladstone; that he could not was as much Mr. Gladstone's defect as his own. The whole story of the first twenty years of the twentieth century might have been different if he could have found in Mr. Balfour's qualities the full complement of his own; that also was Mr. Chamberlain's misfortune rather than his fault. There were a temperamental bar in the first case, and an intellectual bar in the second.
"Lord Salisbury antagonized little; he delayed much that was good as well as much that was ill; he belonged emphatically to that class of great men who must be praised rather for what they avoided than for what they accomplished. Had Lord Salisbury been succeeded by another, in precisely his own image, the political and social convulsions of the new century would, doubtless, not have been altogether avoided. For there were forces at work that compelled explosion. But that they would have come about in gentler fashion is hardly doubtful."

OPENINGS

OUR FIRST FORMAL DISPLAY OF SPRING FASHIONS TAKES PLACE THIS WEEK,

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, MARCH 17 AND 18

On the Second Floor of our Store we have constructed a special platform on which graceful mannequins will present for your consideration the new Spring Modes, as originated and created by the best of Canadian designers and manufacturers. Everyone interested in the imminent question of smart and suitable clothes is most cordially invited to come and view this immense and comprehensive showing of Suits, Wraps, Gowns, Skirts and Blouses, together with a splendid exhibit of New Spring Millinery and Sport Wear.

Every Department will be in gala attire for this exposition of styles and materials.

In vogue is the three-piece costume, with Cape or Coat —the Suit with its narrow belt and snug fitting shoulders,—the outdoor gown with a straightness that borders on severity,—the indoor gown with its overskirt and side drapery,—the wrap that performs the duty of a cape, yet resembles the gown with its low girdle and voluminous sleeve,—the mannish swagger ulster for motoring,—knitted garments for every type of sports wear,—separate skirts of fancy woollens. More firmly entrenched than ever are shades of Mid-Blue, Tan, Brown, Beige, Red, Navy and Black.

MANNEQUINS WILL PARADE,—
Friday Afternoon, from 3.00 p.m. till 5.00 p.m.
Saturday Afternoon, from 2.30 p.m. till 4.30 p.m.
Saturday Evening, from 7.30 p.m. till 9.00 p.m.

Saturday Morning we are having a special parade for school girls.

Three local girls will act as mannequins and will parade, costumed in garments which are of special interest to school girls.

We extend a cordial invitation to all school girls and their teachers.

We want every woman in Napanee and vicinity to see this revue of styles, materials and millinery.

We hope that our town customers will come on Friday afternoon and Saturday evening, so that we may reserve Saturday afternoon for our out-of-town friends.

All merchandise on display will be for sale.

THE ROBINSON COMPANY, LIMITED
NAPANEE, ONTARIO.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

On Monday evening, February 27th about fifty of the friends and neighbors met at the home of Mrs. Richard Marlin to spend a social evening before their departure for their new home at Tamworth, and presented them with three handsome chairs. The address was read by Rev. C. J. Wilson, and the chairs presented by Mr. J. W. Brown and Mr. A. C. McConnell. Following is the address:—

Mrs. Marlin, Eva and Murney.

Dear Friends,—On the eve of your departure for your new home, we, your friends and neighbours, have assembled to spend a social evening, wish you all good things for the future.

We realize that your removal will be a distinct loss to us, and a great gain to others. In the activities of our church and community life we have fully appreciated your valuable assistance and eminent Christian spirit, and we feel sure that the same commendable qualities will endear you to others as they have led us to hold you in very high esteem.

As a material expression of our love and appreciation for you we beg you to accept these chairs. Do not regard them for their intrinsic value, but as tokens of remembrance from the people of Lake Ontario neighborhood.

A. C. McCONNELL,
J. W. BROWN.

Mrs. Marlin made a suitable reply in behalf of herself and family, a dainty lunch was served, after which "God be with you till we meet again" was sung, wishing them every success in their new home, the guests took their departure.

Simple—How can I keep my toes from going to sleep?
"Don't let them turn in."

"When is your daughter thinking of getting married?"
"Constantly."

NEW RATES OF THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC COMMISSION

Napanee, March 13th, 1922.

To the Editor of The Beaver, Napanee, Ont.

Dear Sir,—

The Hydro-Electric Power Commission have made an advance in the Electric Light and Power Rates to take effect at once, and the users of Electric Power have received notice to this effect.

The Council, as representatives of the people, have taken this matter up with the Commission with the object in view of finding out the reasons for this advance at this time. The Council, together with the Executive of the Board of Commerce, met Mr. Ireland, General Manager of the Central Ontario Hydro System, and Mr. C. A. Walters, the Local Manager, at the Council Chamber, on Friday evening, March 10th, and the whole question was fully discussed. A full statement of the matter was made to the Town's representatives, and for the information of the citizens, I will endeavor, in condensed form, to pass on this information for your consideration.

In the year 1911, the Town was operating its own Electric Plant, generating power from the steam plant, and giving a night service only, charging the consumers a rate of 10c. a k.w. hour. During that year the Seymour Power and Electric Company bought the town plant and equipment, and were given a franchise to furnish electric energy to the Town for a period of ten years, the maximum price to be 8c. per k.w. hour, and to furnish a 24-hour day service. This rate of 8c. was charged for domestic and commercial lighting during the period the Seymour Power and Electric Company operated the service.

In the year 1916, the Hydro-electric Power Commission of Ontario purchased the holdings of the Seymour Power and Electric Company in Napanee, together with the gas plant and the canal property. In taking over the Seymour Power and Electric Company's franchise, it was pointed out that the Hydro-Electric Power Commission could have continued to collect the 8c. a k.w. hour rate for the period of the franchise. They, however, immediately established a very much lower rate, namely, for domestic lighting 3c. and 1½c., and for commercial lighting 6c. and 3c., and for power, a service charge of 90c. per month per h.p., plus a consumption charge of 2.1c., 1.4c. and 0.1c. These rates have resulted in a very considerable saving for domestic and commercial lighting in comparison with the former rate charged by the Seymour Power and Electric Company. It is estimated that the users of electricity have made a saving of at least $5000.00 a year since the plant was taken over by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission in 1916. In the case of the power charges, there have been cases where the result is the reverse, that is users of power have had to pay more for their service. It was, however, pointed out that under the Seymour Power and Electric Company the rates charged for power were not enough to cover the cost of this service, and the loss to the Company thus created was made up from the users of domestic and commercial lighting.

It should be borne in mind that the policy of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission is to operate their service on a cost basis to the consumer, that is to say, they are not working for a profit, and on the other hand the operation of the Hydro service in Napanee or any other point must pay its own way without any loss. During the years 1916, 1917 and 1918, they were able to operate the Napanee service on the above basis, showing a very small surplus in each year. In the year 1919 there was a small loss, in 1920 a still larger loss, and in 1921 a very much larger loss. One would naturally ask at this point, "if a loss was found in the operations of 1919 and 1920, why were the rates not raised then?" The answer of the Commission to this, is that the Commission were in hopes that by holding on for a short time, that the cost of material and operation would come down, and thereby permit the continuance of the rates then in force, without having to increase the rates to the consumers. It has, however, been established, that this hoped for condition has not arrived, and to make the operation of the Napanee service pay its own way, the Commission have had to increase their rates.

The main factors entering into the increased cost of our electric service are :—

1st. As a result of litigation between the Dominion and Provincial Governments over the waters of the Trent River, a judgment was handed down vesting all the rights to these waters in the Dominion Government, and as a result of this judgment, the Dominion Government commenced in the year 1920 have collected $2.00 for every horse power developed from the Trent System.

2nd. After a long and exhaustive investigation, the amount to be charged each municipality per horse power for electric energy delivered to the sub-stations at the respective municipalities, was arrived at. In arriving at this amount the Auditors for the Provincial Government had to be satisfied that the charge was right and fair to all concerned. Up to and including the year 1919 the amount charged for electric power at our sub-station was $23.86 per h.p., but as a result of the new basis of costing arrived at in 1919, it was found that it was costing $34.00 per h.p. to deliver electric energy to our sub-station at Napanee, or a difference of over $11.00 for each horse power delivered. Included in this advanced cost was the $2.00 which has to be paid to the Dominion Government. About 500 h.p. is required to service the Town and at this additional cost of $11.00 per h.p., it will note that over $5500.00 was added to the cost of our service at that time.

3rd. The balance of the increased cost is made up in increased cost of local operation, which has not been a very serious increase.

It has been reported that the closing of the gas plant has a bearing on the raise in electric rates. This is an error as the gas plant was always operated independent of the electric service, and has no bearing on the present case in any way.

It has also been stated that the cost of developing the Chippawa Canal is adding to the cost of our electric power here. We are told that this is not the case as the cost of our electric power delivered here is arrived at from the operating cost of the Trent River System only.

On comparison of rates charged here with other places of a comparative nature, we find that Napanee has had the advantage of a very low rate and that at the present price we are only being brought up to a level with these other points. Below, I am setting out the rates of Napanee as compared with other municipalities.

	Power	Commercial	Domestic
Napanee	11	6	6
Deseronto	13	6	6
Picton	13	6	3½
Belleville	13	6	1½
Trenton	13	6	1½
Tweed	13	6	2½
Napanee	2.8	6	2½
Colborne	2.8	6	2½
Cobourg	2.8	6	2½
Port Hope	2.8	6	2½
Lindsay	2.8	6	2½
Kingston	2.8	6	2½
Prescott	2.8	6	2½

The cost of horse power delivered to Napanee is $34.00, to Trenton $36.50, Belleville $28.75, Brighton $43.00.

All the figures in connection with the cost of operation, gross revenue, interest charges and depreciation charges were placed before the meeting. It is very much to be regretted that the advance has to be made at this time, when we are all looking for the cost of living to come down, but we are assured that just as soon as it is warranted the rates will be reduced, and there are reasons for hoping that a decrease in rates for electricity may be expected within a year. One feature that should not be lost sight of is that the new rates now in effect are considerably under the old franchise rates as charged by the Seymour Power and Electric Company, which still shows a very large saving to the consumers.

MARK P. GRAHAM,
Mayor.

WOULD GIVE TOWNSHIPS EXPROPRIATION RIGHTS

In order to give Township Councils a means of securing gravel pits for road work without being at the mercy of owners, legislation has been introduced in the Ontario House to give townships the right of expropriation. At the present time counties own gravel pits or quarries may expropriate, and the intention is to put townships on the same footing. W. D. Black, of Addington, is sponsoring the bill.—Mail and Empire.

Ex-Warden S. Miller, Reeve of Amherst Island, is entitled to the credit of having initiated the agitation for this legislation, and a year ago secured the promise of the Minister of Highways that such an act would be introduced by him, but through some oversight the matter was not laid before the legislature last session.

The bill has had its second reading.

Address and Presentation

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. Wellington Gibson, on Friday, March 3rd, when a number of their friends and neighbors gathered at their home to bid them farewell before their departure from their midst to their new home in Napanee. During the evening the following address was read by Miss Lela Russell :—

Empey Hill, March 3rd, 1922.

To Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Gibson and Gordon.

Dear Friends,—We cannot let you go away from our neighborhood without taking this opportunity of letting you know that you carry with you the very best and kindliest wishes of every one.

We sincerely regret that for the sake of your health, you find it necessary to leave this community where you have been at home with us so long. We are sure that you will feel even more lonely than we the having to leave where so many years you have had your home and know everybody, but we are sure you will soon feel "at home" where you are going; we trust also a rest will refresh you, so that you may have many years of work, and enjoyment of the very best health. We regret to lose you from our church services, and Gordon from the Sunday School. The W. M. S. will greatly miss Mrs. Gibson from its activities.

But that you may in the years to come have something to remind you of old friends, we ask you to accept this library table, and when you see this, let it remind you of the friends who never to be forgotten.

Signed on behalf of the community.
WILBERT WINTER.

Long Distance a Saving

Not an Expense

"What is this charge for $21.60 for Long Distance telephoning in your expense account?" said the Sales Manager of the Blank Manufacturing Company to one of their video-salesmen, Pretty steep, isn't it?"

"Depends on how you look at it. I thought you might raise some question, so I figured out how much actual saving for the firm that Long Distance telephoning represented:—4 days salary, $40.83, Railroad fares $18.70, Hotel $15.00, a total of $74.53. Deducting the $21.60 you have an actual cash saving to the firm of $52.93—to say nothing of the extra sales I made in the time saved."

More and more sales and accounting officials are beginning to realize that instead of being an extra expense, Long Distance actually saves money and valuable time when intelligently used.

"Use the Bell to Sell"—or to buy. Most good salesmen realize that Station-to-Station calls often answer just as well as the more expensive Person-to-Person messages.

Men have changed their minds

There men who formerly thought it wise to choose a cheap suit for reasons of price, now know that this was false economy.

They realize that it is both good business and sound finance to wear good-looking, well-fitting garments, that hold their shape—hence because of the careful tailoring and superior fabrics in them.

A railway director rebuked a ticket collector who allowed him to go through the gate without producing his pass.

"No matter if you do know who I am," he said in reply to the collector's excuse; "I am entitled to ride free only when I am travelling with that pass. You don't know whether I have it or not."

The collector, nettled into action, demanded to see the pass.

"That's right," exclaimed the director. "Here—why—where—well, I declare, I must have left it at the office."

"Then you'll have to pay your fare" responded the collector, grimly. And he did.

Cause of Asthma. No one can say with certainty exactly what causes the establishing of asthmatic conditions. Dust from the street, from flowers, from grain and various other irritants may set up a trouble impossible to irradicate except through a sure preparation such as Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Uncertainty may exist as to cause, but there can be no uncertainty regarding a remedy which has freed a generation of asthmatic victims from this scourge of the bronchial tubes. It is sold everywhere.

Didn't Look Like Police.

Sport is making great strides in France, but the police occasionally make strange mistakes when they see a long line of runners sprinting along the roads and across country.

Not long ago in Provence a number of young athletes from the military school of sport were indulging in a paper chase through the woods when they were arrested by gendarmes for being improperly dressed. They were all in white vests and running shorts. The gendarmes, however, had apparently not heard of such articles of attire or of the military school of sport. Protests made by the colonel in command had no effect.

A few days later, however, when the local gendarmes made a fresh haul of a dozen athletes, they realized their error, for the leader explained that he was an inspector of police and that the runners behind him were all Paris policemen enjoying a fortnight's training.—From the Continental Edition of the London Mail.

Side Whisker Back in London.

The London exquisite is doing his best to cultivate side whiskers, a fashion that was sought to be promoted only a few years ago when Lord Roksnaggs attempted its resurrection. But that was in the days before the war and probably it is as a change from the regulation military mustache of the last five or six years that British young men of today are growing tufts of hair in front of their ears with most hideous result.

The earl of Lonsdale and his brothers, the Hon. Lancelot Lowther, have always been famous in the fashionable world for wearing "sidecords," but in this climate face fittings they are usually credited with a desire to suggest the "sporting" atmosphere in which they are generally to be found.

At Any Time YOU May Need Zam-Buk

Every home and farm needs Zam-Buk simply because it is the purest, safest and best antiseptic healer ever discovered. Equally good in simple cuts and burns as for chronic wounds or sores. If you could have worry keep Zam-Buk handy.

FOR SCALDS—Mr. Geo. J. Duffis, C.P.R. fireman, of Fort William, says: "The water gauge of my locomotive burst and scalded the left side of my face terribly. Fortunately I carry Zam-Buk about with me, and as soon as possible I had the balm freely applied. Zam-Buk took out all the fire and smarting and in a few days I had my face nicely healed."

PIMPLES & FACE SORES—Miss S. G. Hamilton, of Alliston, Ont., writes:—"My face and hands were simply a mass of pimples, blotches and sores. The affected parts were so bad as if I had been scalded. I found nothing of real use except Zam-Buk. This soothed, purified and healed my skin perfectly."

OR POISONED LEG—Mrs. A. Berryman, 190, John Street North, Hamilton, who had her right foot crushed by a wagon wheel, says: "The flesh was terribly blackened and inflamed when I got Zam-Buk. Within two days all pain, swelling and discoloration had disappeared. In four days the injury was thoroughly healed."

British Press Agent Was Best Man at Washington During Critical Conferences

Critics of Great Britain say that the confidences her diplomacy has been the best in the world. The Germans blame the alleged hypocrisy of British diplomacy for reconciling the rest of the world to her vast territorial expansions. In our own times British diplomats seem to have little to learn as to the way of stating a case which shall make the best impression upon the public. This is not only wise; it is necessary, for a diplomatic stroke that has no public approval is likely to be repudiated. In the Washington conference it has been vital that when a case is presented the point of view of the nation that presents it shall be thoroughly understood by the vast outside audience, and especially by the people of the United States. British recognize this fact and have appointed a specialist in publicity to attend to it.

This expert is Lord Riddell, owner of the News of the World, a weekly with a circulation of 2,500,000. He is admittedly one of the shrewdest newspapermen in the world, and a press agent without a peer in Washington. His position there is a peculiar one. He is not the official representative of the British Government. He is not a liaison officer as he was between the delegates and the British press at Paris. He is in the United States at the behest of the Newspaper Publishers' Association of England. He does no writing either for his own paper or for the association. He simply talks to the newspaper correspondents at Washington twice a day, once to the men working for the evening papers and once to the men working for the morning papers. When he is not talking to them he is with the British delegates. He is deep in their confidence, knows everything that is planned, and his job is to have it presented from the British point of view in the American press.

Lord Riddell owns his position at Washington partly to the experience he gained at Paris, partly to his commanding position as an Englishman, and perhaps more than everything else to the fact that he is the intimate friend of Lloyd George. He is, as an American correspondent says, to Lloyd George what Col. House used to be to President Wilson. But he is something more. He is at liberty to handle situations himself as they arise. He is not a mere collector of views and an adviser. In the matter of publicity he is the Premier's vice-regent. He is not a mere link who ensures that the British headquarters the news that British headquarters thinks ought to be made public. It is Lord Riddell who, speaking as one with authority, decides what ought to be made public. This is his position, and how well he fills it may be gathered from the fact that he has conversed to the skeptical American newspaper correspondents the conviction that he is working for them harder than they are working for themselves.

We have read several sketches of Lord Riddell by American correspondents and detect a note of enthusiasm in them all. He blew into Washington, and in an hour had established the friendliest relations with the press. He is admitted to be a super fixer and "trouble shooter." Because he has a perfect understanding of what constitutes news, American correspondents never miss one of his sessions, though they know in advance that his aim is to circulate British propaganda; and they help him do it because it is the sort of propaganda that they know their readers will welcome. His success is said to overshadow the attempts of all other powers. The common language, of course, gives Lord Riddell a great pull in having the British case stated to the best advantage. His profound knowledge of affairs gives him another advantage, and his long training as a newspaperman gives him a third, and together they give him an irresistible combination.

Lord Riddell is one of those British peers who started in the race of life from scratch. He is of humble origin, and as he says himself, was "shunted into the world without a shilling." He worked his way through school and became a lawyer. He abandoned this profession, on the advice of a friend, to enter the business office of a newspaper. Then he became a reporter and an editor, and finally a proprietor. He became a political influence, and to-day is said to be as close to Lloyd George as any man living. The other day he expressed the opinion that the ideal newspaper had not yet been established. He thought it would be a combination of the best English papers, which are solidly packed with information, and the American papers, which have such picturesque methods of enticing and interesting their readers. We infer that Lord Riddell is but an inattentive reader of Canadian papers.

Very Saving.

Briggs had been a member of the club for many years, but had never been known to spend a penny.

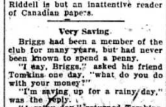

"I say, Briggs," asked his friend Tomkins one day, "what do you do with your money?"

"I'm saving up for a rainy day," was the reply.

"A rainy day," returned Tomkins, sarcastically. "I thought you were saving up for a flood!"

"Goes Like Sixty"

SAVE YOUR TIME

I'LL SAVE YOU MONEY ON AN ENGINE

The Gilson "Wizard" is the biggest selling line of farm engines in Canada. That's because they give service and VALUE.

The Gilson burns kerosene (coal oil), and mighty little of that! Throttle-governed. Built-in magneto. Easy to start—winter or summer.

There's a 1½, 3½, 6 and 10 h.p., and I'll challenge anyone to show an engine with a more generous surplus of power over rating.

Gilson's the lead in forcing down prices—got a big production as a result—and now offer more engine value for the money than anybody I know of.

Don't use your back for work an engine can do better. Get my low prices at once. If you like I'll demonstrate on your farm free. Give you 30 days' free trial. And I can make terms to suit.

No need to run to town every time you need "chop." A Gilson Grinder soon pays for itself. Handles all kinds of feed.

Gilson's all-steel saw frame is a winner. Saw up your own firewood—old rails, etc.—or make money sawing for your neighbors. Your boy can run the outfit—it will soon pay for itself. Get my proposition.

GREEN FEED FOR EVERY FARM.

(Experimental Farms Note.)

Perhaps no other plot on the farm will give such large returns for the amount of time and labour expended, as a small area of feed grown for soiling purposes. Green feed is relished during the summer months by cattle, hogs, and poultry (if they are in inclosed yards) but without doubt proves the most profitable when fed to milch cows. Soiling crops are found to assist very materially in maintaining the milk flow during the hot summer months when pastures are short and dry.

Corn, oats, peas and vetches; oats; rape; and sunflowers in the order named, are all valuable for this work.

Corn is one of the best crops for this purpose, and gives a large yield of succulent feed, much relished by both cattle and hogs. Planted before June 10th, it should be ready for cutting about August 10th to 15th, and has reached a height of from 5 to 8 feet, with an average yield of 18 tons per acre. "Longfellow" has been used with some degree of success over a period of years. Unless pastures are extremely bare, one-half acre wih fair crop should be sufficient for ten or twelve cows.

Oats, peas and vetches mixed, oats five parts, peas four parts, vetches one part by weight, and sown at the rate of three to three and one-half bushels per acre, will give large amounts of excellent feed. This should be cut and fed while the oats is in the milk or soft dough stage. This will necessitate two or three seedings, if soiling crop is to be fed over any great length of time. Two seedings, or at the most three, ten days apart, should be sufficient, and one acre should supply plenty of feed for fifteen cows.

Oats sown thickly also provides good succulent feed, and should almost equal oats, peas and vetches in yield per acre.

Rape is generally used as a pasture crop. It is particularly desirable for hogs, and when used for such must be seeded in several plots with about ten days intervening between each seeding. If allowed to make good growth before stock is turned in on it, and then pastured, say, for an hour per day, plants will throw up new shoots, and continue to grow even after being partly eaten. Rape may be sown at the rate of three to six pounds per acre, in drills, or on the flat. It has been grown with fair success when seeded broadcast, but this plan is not recommended, as it is generally found necessary to hoe this crop in order to allow it to make its best growth. With successive seedings and careful handling, an acre should supply sufficient feed for at least fifteen cattle.

The Experimental Station at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, reports that sunflowers were used as a soiling crop during the latter part of the season of 1921, and were eaten with apparent relish by beef steers. They were refused by hogs, and eaten but sparingly by dairy cows. These sunflowers (Mammoth Russian), were sown on the flat in rows thirty inches apart, and gave a yield of about twenty tons per acre.

A seeding of oats, or oats, peas and vetches, for early cuttings, with corn for use as a soiling crop during the later season is to be recommended. A small area of rape used as pasture during late autumn will be found very valuable.

Experimental Station,
Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. Catarrhal Deafness requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

Spy System of Germany Proved an Utter Failure And Helped Allies to Win

If good allied intelligence did not win the war, then at least bad German intelligence lost it. That was the conclusion annouqced by Lieut.-Gen. Sir G. M. W. MacDonogh, now Adjutant-General of the British army, but during the war, Director of Military Intelligence, in an address before the Royal Artillery Institution at Woolwich.

"Germany's intelligence failed her from the very beginning of the campaign," he began. "It grossly overestimated the time Russia would require to mobilize her armies. The Germans calculated that Russia could not advance in force before the middle of September, 1914, and consequently that there would be six weeks available to defeat the enemy on the western front before it became necessary to turn to the east.

"The intelligence of the Germans regarding the western front was equally faulty. Little or nothing was known by them of the movements of the British expeditionary force. When Von Kluck reached Mons he was surprised to find the British in possession, for he had been told by his intelligence service that there was no enemy within fifty miles of the place.

"I would not like to say that the Germans ought to have known many things which subsequent events showed they did not know, but I do say they ought to have known more about them; and the failure of Germany to win the war during its first few weeks was directly due to the shortcomings of its intelligence service.

"The German intelligence failed in 1914; the British intelligence succeeded in 1918. You will remember Lord Allenby's great campaign in Palestine in that year and you may have wondered at the audacity of his operations. It is true that in war you cannot expect a really great success unless you are prepared to take risks, but these risks must be reasonable ones. To the unitiated it may sometimes have appeared that Lord Allenby's were not reasonable. That, however, was not the case, because Lord Allenby knew from his intelligence every disposition and movement of the enemy. Every one of his opponents' cards was known to him, and he was consequently able to play his own hand with the most perfect assurance. In those circumstances victory was certain."

"However, in the middle of this eulogy of the British Military Intelligence Service we must stop long enough to say a few unkind words, without mentioning names, of intelligence officers who talked too much.

"The public has often been regaled with stories of the British Secret Service," he said. "That service has one great value—to act as a test of reticence of those connected with it, and I much regret that many distinguished men have failed when that test was applied to them. All I intend to say of the Secret Service is that its essence is secrecy, and the less said about it the better. Sensationalism enters but little into the work of the Intelligence Department. Its results are produced by hard work, great diligence, untiring watchfulness and the painstaking collection and collation of every possible form of information.

"During the later part of the First Battle of Ypres I received from Lord Kitchener the most circumstantial reports of the despatch and arrival of German reinforcements on the western front. Those reports emanated from Amsterdam and created alarm and despondency in London, when Lord Kitchener communicated them to the Cabinet without having them first properly verified.

"I well remember Mr. Asquith coming to my office at St. Omer and my telling the Prime Minister that I felt sure they had come direct from the German general staff; that their object was to conceal the withdrawal of larger masses of German troops from Flanders to Poland; and I was able to assure Mr. Asquith from incontrovertible evidence in my possession that the battle was practically over."

We Want Every Man to Know About These Clothes

What Will You Look For In Spring Cloth?

MOST men will look for "moderate price," and demand good quality and good style at a mighty reasonable figure.

If that's YOUR idea, then see these new BENGARD BRAND Suits and Topcoats. We "back them against the field."

Plenty of Novelties—plenty of conservative styles. Tweeds, Cashmeres, Worsteds, a fine variety of patterns in Heather mixtures, Browns, Tans, Blues, Greys.

Our Suits are all well made by the very best makers. It is not a first consideration with us as to how cheap we can sell you Suits, the main consideration is to get the best at as reasonable a price as possible.

YOUNG MEN'S BENGARD SUITS, in snappy styles, perfect in fit and tailoring, at $20.00, $25.00, $27,50, 28.00 and $32.50.

MEN'S CONSERVATIVE STYLES, at $20.00 to $37.50.

BLUE SERGE SUITS, at $20.00, $27.50, $33.00, $35.00 and $37.50.

GRBY SERGE SUITS, at $27.50 and $37.50.

YOUNG MEN'S GREEN SOFT SERGES, in double-breasted styles, at $25.00 and $27.50.

SPRING OVERCOATS, in Tweeds and plain Grays, at $20.00, $22.00 and $27.50.

We will be glad of the opportunity to demonstrate the value of our good clothes.

OBITUARY.

Miss Violet Helena Perry.

The death of Miss Violet Helena Perry, which occurred on the 10th of March, at Sea View Sanitarium, Staten Island, N.Y., was particularly sad, as Miss Perry had only just reached her 24th year. She was the niece of Mrs. J. Rudd Perry, with whom she made her home since a tiny girl of five years. She was born near Napanee, in the little village of Violet. On leaving school Miss Perry trained for a nurse at the Kingston General Hospital, finishing her course in hospitals at Guelph and Brooklyn, and was still devoting herself to the work she loved when she was stricken with the fatefol disease. Mrs. Perry was called to her niece's bedside a month ago and remained with her until she breathed her last, bringing the remains to Napanee for burial. Miss Perry had many young friends here who were greatly shocked at the suddenness of her death, and many beautiful floral tributes, notably the violets, so symbolic of her youth and name, surrounded her the last two days before she was laid to rest.

Her nearest relatives, who attended the funeral on Sunday afternoon, at the residence of Mrs. F. B. Boyes, were her brother, Mr. Donald Perry, of Kingston; her aunt, Mrs. J. R. Perry, who has been a devoted mother to her all her life; and her uncle, Sir Alyworth B. Perry, Com. N. W. M. P., of Ottawa. One other brother, Mr. Wm. Perry, of Banff, survives.

Miss Mary Jane Jackson.

The many friends of Miss Mary Jane Jackson, Newburgh, Ont., will be sorry to learn of her sudden death which came as a shock on Tuesday, Feb. 28th, 1922, although she had been in failing health for a number of years.

The late Miss Jackson was born in Dublin, Ireland, on June 18th, 1838, and came to Canada when only four years of age, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jackson, her sister Catherine and brother, the late John Jackson, who predeceased her on November 17th, 1907.

She having resided practically speaking within the Corporation of the Village of Newburgh since her arrival in Canada, and was one of the oldest and most devoted members of the Methodist Church, having become connected with it when but a young girl and maintaining those interests until the last, although unable to attend regularly of late owing to failing health. The funeral service was conducted by the Pastor, the Rev. Mr. Cooke, and her remains were placed in the vault to await interment in the family plot.

SAVE THE CHILDREN FUND

All those who are interested in the Russian Relief Fund, and have not yet been able to donate anything towards it, will be glad to know there is still a chance to bring their bit to the Dominion Bank and add to the present sum. For although the proceeds from the concert and the subscriptions given by the patrons, made a good beginning, the committee felt that the amount deposited at the Bank is really not up to Napanee standard. Perhaps we have not been taken in the fact that here is an opportunity to help feed the thousand of little starving mites in Russia of whom we read so much and feel so great a sympathy. The "Save the Children Fund" is in the hands of trustworthy people who will convert your money into food and guarantee to see that it reaches the ones for whom it is intended. Any sum will be accepted if deposited at the Dominion Bank for the relief of Russia's children.

Address and Presentation.

Selby, Feb. 27th, 1922.

To Miss Alma Wood.

We are gathered together to-night to wish "bon voyage" to Percy and Agnes. But then there is mingled with our joy a sense of loss to us individually and as a community, when we know that you are leaving us. Changes come, and we have to accept them, but we sincerely deplore this change. So long we have been associated with you in business life, social and church interests, that we dislike very much the idea of your leaving us, both because of a sense of personal loss and from a profound fear that your place cannot easily be filled by anyone else. Your willingness to serve wherever you could, your bright, cheerful spirit, your steadfast walk in the right way has been an example and guide in Sunday School, Epworth League and all our church life. As a Christian embracing choir, League, Sunday School and community of Selby, we unite to wish you and yours many years of very useful service for our Lord. The Sunday School to express our appreciation, ask you to kindly accept this ring, and on behalf of the community this club has every toilet accessories. May these continually remind you through all your future years of the high esteem, sincere affection and good will of the "folk back home" in Selby.

We hope that the rest and change will greatly benefit you, and that some day in the not too distant future you may return to be at home with us.

Camden East,
March 20th, 1922.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Cunningham and Sons.

Dear Friends,—We, a few of your friends and neighbors, have gathered here to spend one more social evening with you before you leave our midst for your new home in Fredericksburgh. We assure you, you will be greatly missed by us all, as you have always shown yourselves willing to help in all Church work and Sunday School work and every other good cause, and we know that your services so freely given and done cheerfully will be just as cheerfully rendered wherever your lot may be cast. We try to get the broader vision, looking at the Master's work to guide and direct you, and realizing that our loss is some other place's gain in your good citizenship with friends and neighbours in your new home. We ask you to accept this table linen, not for its intrinsic value, but just to serve as a link of friendship in memory's chain to remember your Camden East friends.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors in Camden East.

ONTARIO ARCHIVES
TORONTO

Canada's Great Inland Seaport

—Montreal, with a population of almost one million, has but 915 rooms in modern fireproof hotels.

These cannot accommodate the visitors—travellers, business men and pleasure-seekers—who, day after day, week after week, month after month, visit Montreal. More than fifteen hundred of these people will be able to find accommodation—comfortable, luxurious accommodation—in the new "MOUNT ROYAL" Hotel, which will be open about October, 1922.

This new Hotel will have 1,050 rooms, stores and offices, as well as a great convention hall, together with all the other luxuries and necessities that go to make a thoroughly modern hotel.

It will cost approximately ten million dollars. A study of conditions in Montreal will convince the most sceptical that "THE MOUNT ROYAL" will fill a long-felt need, and will undoubtedly be a most profitable enterprise for its shareholders.

We are offering the 8% convertible debentures, carrying a bonus of 10% of Common Stock, of The Mount Royal Hotel Company, Limited, and shall be glad to send descriptive circular on request.

COUNTY COUNCIL

Thursday Afternoon.

A survey of certain lands required for the widening of the Hamburgh road was read, and a by-law ordered prepared accordingly.

Account, Township of Denbigh, $1288.00, was ordered paid and charged Denbigh appropriation.

Notice of the introduction of a by-law, to assume a portion of the lands of James Myers for road purposes, was read.

A representative of the Tarvia people addressed the Council in reference to their products.

The following accounts were ordered paid:—E. J. Pullard, schools $3.75; Boyle & Son, gaol, $2.75; W. J. Shannon, contingent, $14.00.

A discussion of the rate to be paid for labor on County Roads resulted in fixing the rate of pay at $2.00 per day for men and $4.50 per day for man and team.

An account of F. Aylsworth, survey on Hamburgh road, $25.50, was tendered paid.

Friday Morning.

A general discussion of road and assessment matters occupied the Council most of the morning. The present state of the County finances and the payments necessary to cover the County's share of Provincial Highway expenditures, will necessitate a higher County rate. Schools also will absorb $5000.00 extra, administration of justice will be higher and some expensive bridges will have to be built this year.

A report of the Roads and Bridges Committee, recommending a 9 mill rate for roads. The purchase of a scarifier to be drawn by one of the County's engines. The report was amended to read that the County purchase a combined roller and scarifier, and the report referred back to the Committee.

The Roads and Bridges Committee presented an amended report, recommending that 10 mills be raised for road purposes. That a combined roller and scarifier be purchased from the J. I. Case Co. That the members of the deputation to Kingston receive $10.00 for expenses. Report adopted.

Council adjourned.

Friday Afternoon.

County Council attended the funeral of the late Dr. Simpson in a body.

A deputation appeared before the Council from the Addington Agricultural Society, asking for an increased grant to their society.

Moved by Mr. Milling, seconded by Mr. Johnston, that the County make a special grant of $1000.00 to the Township of North Frederickburgh to assist in the cost of widening, fencing and ditching Clone's lane on the Hamburgh road. Motion carried.

Mr. Loyst asked for the yeas and nays.

Yeas, 12; Nays, 3.

The County grant will be supplemented by grants from South Fredericksburgh, Adolphustown, North Fredericksburgh and Napanee.

The County Property Committee reported, recommending the report of E. J. Corkill be printed in the Minutes

The County Property Committee reported the purchase of six transfer cases for the County Crown Attorney's office. That the account of E. J. Pollard be paid. That sundry repairs be made to the Gaol and Registery Office. Report adopted.

A by-law, authorizing the expropriation of certain lands needed to widen the Hamburgh road.

Notice of the introduction of a by-law to appoint a gaol surgeon was given by Mr. Milling.

SATURDAY MORNING.

A by-law appointing Dr. T. M. Galbraith gaol surgeon was put through its various stages and finally passed.

On motion the County Road Engineer was authorized to have Provincial County Road No. 35, from Napanee to Tamworth surveyed and plan and description of lands required for widening prepared, cost to be charged to general road account.

Moved by Mr. Keller, seconded by Mr. Elliot, that 20 per cent. difference in cost between County and County Provincial Roads, be added to the appropriation of those townships having County Provincial roads.

Laid on table until June session.

A motion expressing dissatisfaction with the railway service north from Napanee was passed.

Mr. M. R. Reid addressed the Council in reference to Denbigh Continuation School.

A motion was passed that an engineer of the Highways Dept. be asked to inspect and advise in the rebuilding of floating bay bridge and that the department be asked to make a special grant in aid of said bridge.

AN OLD TIME RECORD OF THE FIRST TELEGRAPH OFFICE EVER OPENED IN NAPANEE.

By Mrs. Hawley.

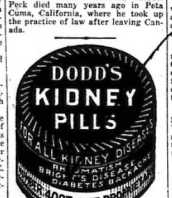

In the fall of the year, 1852, the Great Western Telegraph Company sent a young man by the name of Samuel Stanley Peck to Napanee to open up a telegraph office. His home was in Prince Edward County, across the Bay of Quinte from Trenton, or the Trent River as it was called in those days. He made the journey to Napanee by stage, going by way of the Carrying Place. The roads were very poor, especially the Mohawk road through the Indian woods, above Deseronto, being almost impassable. A pile of rails was placed beside the road in places to enable the stage to pass over the wet boggy holes.

The office was opened up in the second story of a frame building across from the Campbell House. A year later it was moved farther down the street, over H. T. Forward's store. In the spring Mr. Peck's younger brother, William, came to learn to operate. As the telegraph business was a new venture, only in its infancy, and not on a paying basis, a toy shop was added to help them along. When the office was first opened up for business, it caused a great deal of excitement. A holiday was given to the school children, who with their teacher, came to the office to see the instruments, the smaller children first, the older ones after. One man walked twenty miles to see for himself if the stories he had heard from his neighbours to the effect that he could send a message from Napanee to Kingston to his brother by wire were true. He sent the message, walked up on Roblin's hill to see it go, stayed two hours, came back to the office, said the thing was no good, and went home disgusted.

Another person greatly taken with the new office was a man by the name of Billy Appleby, a queer character, who ran errands for anyone that required his services. A bag of peanuts was sufficient payment. Unless he was told not to hurry, he liked to wander around at his own time and place, and keep dodging in and out of the office at all hours. He lived to be quite old and died at the House of Refuge in Kingston years ago. A funeral was held for him in St. Mary Magdalene Church, by the late Rev. Frederick Dibb. The organist played a funeral march out of respect to an old resident.

In 1854, William Peck sold out to John Benson, son of John Benson, Customs House Officer, Napanee.

William Peck is alive yet, but old and feeble, and still resides at his old home in Edwardsburg. Samuel Peck died many years ago in Pelta Coma, California, where he took up the practice of law after leaving Canada.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

By the Canadian Forestry Association.

Q. Please give me details as to the big planting programme which, I understand, the Ontario Government has launched.

A. According to a tentative announcement of the Premier of Ontario and his Chief Forester, several square miles a year would be planted with white and red pine. The Government estimates that if one thousand acres a year were planted the province would have sufficient pine timber at the end of sixty years to supply four hundred million board feet of lumber per year or about fifty million feet more than the present annual cut. The annual expenditure would be about $600,000.

Q. I am planning to plant spruce trees on several hundred acres. Where can I obtain the seed to start a nursery?

A. You would be better advised o secure seedlings from the Quebec Government nurseries at Berthierville, P.Q., or from a commercial nursery, instead of putting your money into the planting of seed. Spruce seed has been very scarce in recent years and quite costly.

Q. What are the chief precautions to take in transplanting small shade trees?

A. With such trees as maple, elm, ash, oak, etc., make sure to do your transplanting before the leaves commence to bud. Dig well taround the roots and carefully avoid destroying any of the fine hair roots which are so vital to the growth of the tree in its new location. Dig the new hole plenty large enough to take the roots comfortably and plant your tree about six inches deeper than in its first location. Allow as little time as possible to elapse while the roots are exposing exposed to sun and wind. Put the best earth closest to the roots and tamp it firmly.

Q. Have forestry aeroplanes ever been used by entomologists to sprinkle insecticide on trees as a means of killing fewest insects?

A. Last fall in Ohio a six acre grove of Catalpa trees was contained 4800 trees, 25 to 30 feet tall, which were badly infested with caterpillars was covered with poison by an aeroplane which took not more than 54 seconds to do the job. The experiment demonstrated the ability of the pilot to place the poisonous stuff where desired and at the same time the effect on the caterpillars was most gratifying, since it was estimated that 99 per cent. were destroyed. This experiment was conducted by the Government entomological station and the results as given are official.

WONDERFUL OINTMENT PILES

Mr. WILFRED ARMY writes: "After active service with the R.F.C. I contracted piles through sleeping on damp ground. Treatment by the M.O. brought no relief and various "pile remedies" I tried proved equally hopeless. Shortly after my discharge from the service a friend strongly advised me to try Zam-Buk. One box of the balm brought such benefit that I determined to continue the treatment. In a few weeks Zam-Buk caused the piles to completely disappear. All other sufferers should know of this wonderful herbal healer."

To Free Soil of France

Embattled as the farmers of Ontario are, how much loftier would be their embattlement if they stood under the burdens borne by the peasantry of France before the seigniorial system was abolished!

It would seem as if the luckless tenant had to pay some due every time he turned around. One landlord was made a Knight of the Holy Ghost, and ignominiously claimed a relief, or payment, from his vassals on the strength of this decoration. Sydney Herbert puts on instance like this in his book, "The Fall of Feudalism in France."

As a matter of fact, feudalism did not fall. It was knocked down and out by the peasants in a series of rough-and-ready encounters, beginning in the summer of 1789. They were a humorous, if somewhat illiterate and aurory folk, and their escapades make interesting reading.

The alm of the peasant uprisings was to get possession of and burn all the manor- rolls which contained the lists of obnoxious payments due their superiors. But in the performance the peasants sometimes set out to serve the farmers-in-general more color cockades, which were quite fashionable that year, and also placed red, white and blue cockades on the boxes which contained the blessed wafers in the churches having first opened the boxes "to let the good God go free."

There was a grimness in their procedure, too, for if a lord refused to produce his title deeds they would refuse to pay the rents, and innumerable cases are on record of lords denied the documents, well, his railers would burn them on the front lawn before his chateau. And, viola, they did not have to pay, for after the bonfire there were no titles.

In the first series of uprisings there were very few throat-cuttings. But the lords sought revenge later in the summer and tried to cure these heretical tendencies by hanging their former tenants. Then the peasants took sword and food a trifle scarce, the surviving former tenants also took a hand at the hanging game, and there were bloody times in France.

Meanwhile, the National Assembly was busy passing laws legalizing the "reforms" after they had actually been accomplished by the peasants. The trouble was that the nobles and clergy were always too late, conceding only after the event or conceding and then trying to withdraw the concession. Sydney Herbert describes very finely the evasion of the assembly on the famous August 4, 1789—It seems that August 4 was a great date long before the Civil War, when the nobles and clerical members dramatically renounced many of their vexatious ancient claims.

The author also describes, with some vividness, the outrageous character of the feudal exactions which had kept France from occupying her rightful place in agriculture. In some provinces serfdom actually survived and men had to work on the farms of their lords. Where this custom had been commuted to money payment, the lords kept the records, and very cleverly too. There were dues every time a tenant's child married, every time a tiny parcel of land passed from one hand to another, and whenever the lord needed money. Peasants had to use their lord's mill and winepress and pay a nice fat rent for the privilege. Hunting privileges were far more valuable and exasperating than in England.

Here is an example of the way feudalism worked out: There was no mill at Le Molay, nevertheless the lord collected a fee called fornage, paid by the inhabitants to be free from the monopoly of a mill which did not exist. Besides being stupid, feudalism was aggressive. The newly rich were getting estates and wringing every last cent from the country folk. The transfer of land and the cultivation of the soil were being discouraged. Men could not learn the farms on which they were born; it was a cruel business.

The French people had put up with it for centuries, but when they decided to smash it they did so in a year and became the greatest landowning democracy in Europe, with the possible exception of the Swiss. Here and there soon what they are to-day, a great bulwark of conservatism.

OXO CUBES
Build Strength

The conjurer in the village school room had invited any man from the audience to step up on the platform, and a youth responded.

"Now, friend," said the conjurer, "I suppose you consider it a matter of impossibility for me to make the rabbit in that box on the table pass into your coattail pocket?"

"I dunno about impossible," was the reply, "but I wouldn't do it if I were you, sir."

"Oh, you'll be in no danger, I can assure you," said the sleight of hand man airily.

"I wasn't thinking about myself," the youth answered calmly. "I was thinking of the rabbit. I've got a couple of ferrets in my pocket."

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Nurse Recommended Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bothwell, Ontario.—"I was weak and run down, had no appetite and was nervous. The doctor said I must take care of me told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I am getting strong. I recommend your medicine to my friends, and you may use my testimonial."—Mrs. Wm. Hamilton, R. R. No. 2, Bothwell, Ontario.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in restoring women's health is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women who have used it for years are continually testifying to its strengthening, beneficial influence, and as it contains no narcotics nor harmful drugs it is a safe medicine for women.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book entitled "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you upon request. Write to "The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

CUSTOM HATCHING.

The poultry business leads all other branches on the farm as a profit maker. Just think of over 90 tons of dressed poultry being sold in our town on only 2 days last fall at very high prices. This amount represents less than two-thirds of the poultry sold in this county last year. Then when you take into account the eggs, which amounted to over $100,000, a grand total of $225,000. Are you getting your share of this great money making industry. If not, start in now.

In order to help you get started right, The M. B. Mills Co. will do custom hatching at reduced rates. We will also take orders for Day-old chicks of the popular breeds.

We are agents for the best Incubators made, the celebrated Buckeye Hot Water them with also the best Brooders. Can give clear instructions with the machines running before your eyes, so anybody can easily learn to handle them. Remember the most important thing is to have your chicks hatched early when you want them in good numbers, not waiting in disappointment for the clucking hens. Get your orders in now and be ready.

We buy and sell poultry any day the year round.

Wall Papers For 1922

Of late years many housekeepers have done most of their Painting and Papering in the months of February and March, for the reason, principally, that they can then secure the services of the paper hanger more easily than later in the season. We have in stock as good a selection of Canadian made Paper as can be had in the Dominion, which we are offering at the very lowest prices—quite a reduction from last year. We have also sample books of American, English, and French papers of the very highest class, and at prices from 25 to 50 per cent. lower than is charged by the city dealers. There will be positively no delay in the delivery of these papers. They will be here the second day after the selection is made. We invite intending purchasers to look through our samples and get our prices.

We have a new stock of Window Shades of the different grades, which we are offering at prices we know to be the very lowest.

We will have a full line of Window Poles, and the various fittings connected therewith.

We are busy every day with the Picture Framing, but contrive to manage it so there will be no disappointment. A new stock comprises some very taking lines.

Come in and see the goods. We will show them with pleasure.

JONAH MERELY A MOUTHFUL

Monster Fish Recently Caught at Miami, Fla., Could Have Accommodated Twenty Prophets.

Was Jonah swallowed by a whale? According to the biblical story it was a fish of this nature that entertained the prophet in its interior for three days and nights, but the united size of the whale's throat precludes the possibility of its swallowing a man.

However, there was caught at Miami, Fla., recently, a fish that could have lunched on 20 Jonahs without suffering the slightest pang of indigestion, and among the many persons who have seen the fish are clergymen who have formulated the theory that it was really a fish of this species that swallowed Jonah.

Here is the way this denizen of the deep shapes up in the way of dimensional figures: The net weight of the fish, when caught, not including its last meal, was 30,000 pounds. Its liver alone touched the beam at 1,700 pounds, which is about the weight of a hefty bullock. From end to end it measures 45 feet, which is equal to the combined length of eight normal men. At the thickest part the circumference is 23 feet 9 inches.

One of the most impressive features of the fish is its mouth, which is 50 inches wide and 42 inches deep. Inside of the mouth is a tongue 40 inches and it has a multitude of teeth much smaller than a baby's. Nobody has ever attempted to count these molars. The tail resembles the caudal appendage of an airplane and measures 10 feet from tip to tip.

But big as the fish is, it died in infancy. Scientists who have measured its cartilaginous formations say they are far from developed and that had this monster attained full growth it would have been two and a half times as large as it is now.

According to the scientists of the Smithsonian institution the animal is a whale-shark, and is the first specimen of its kind that has been captured. They state further that it is an inhabitant of water of 1,500 feet depth, its hide of enormous thickness so as to withstand the most enormous water pressure, and its eyes, which have no lids and consequently can never closed, indicating that it dwelt as a depth where eyes are of no avail.

The Smithsonian scientists believe that it was thrown up by some subterranean volcanic disturbance, which injured its sifting apparatus so that it was unable to return to its natural levels and that thus disabled it strayed beyond confines of the most ardent of the deep.

Capt. Charles H. Thompson of Miami, caught the fish while cruising for tarpon off Knight's key, Florida.—New York Independent.

This final echo of the past football season comes to us. An irate gridiron fan who had watched his home team go down to defeat, stopped the referee as he was leaving the field. "Where's your dog?" he demanded. "Dog?" circulated the referee, "I have no dog."

"Well," said the grouchy one, "you're the first blind man I ever saw who didn't have a dog."

No. 1.—Three Lengths. — In each chest measure our Combinations are made in three lengths, namely, short, medium and long. Body lengths are proportioned just as carefully as on the highest priced union suits of underwear, thereby ensuring a perfect fitting garment.

No. 2. — Military Collar buttons tightly or more loosely as desired. The top button can be kept fastened without discomfort, no matter what position you assume, a decided advantage over any other suit on the market. Collar may be turned up high under the ears, giving protection in cold weather.

No. 3.—Swinging Front Pocket. — Convenient gravity swinging pocket on left chest keeps small tools, screws, cutter pins, etc., in place, as instead of spilling the contents the pocket swings forward, so is very easy to extract the smallest pin from this pocket, because one hand can be placed under the pocket, while the other extracts the article.

No. 4.—Ankle Straps.—Convenient straps on the bottom of legs greatly desired by garage men, stevedors, motorcyclists, threshermen, etc., because the dust, grease and chaff are excluded, and trousers underneath are perfectly protected.

No. 5.—Materials. — Constructed exclusively for our Combinations, exclude oil to a marked degree, and for washing qualities and long wear cannot be surpassed.

No. 6.—Roomy Pattern — These Suits are very generously cut, roomy garments, comfortable in any position. Comparison will show that they are generously over-size.

No. 7.—Safety Rule Pocket. — On right leg, for carpenter's rule or mechanic's pliers. Notice that tools cannot fall out of this pocket, no matter how high the knee is raised.

No. 8.—Clean Construction. — All facings inside and out, and inside and out of pockets are finished. No raw edges or ravelling after washing.

No. 9.—Sleeves.—Set in garment by exactly the same method used with a suit of clothes. An expensive operation, but it means fit and comfort to the wearer. It opens cuff at side not under the wrist. You can determine a cheaply constructed garment by the position of sleeve opening.

No. 10. — Cuffs. — Wide double thickness cuff with large opening, permits rolling up above elbows. Closed with two buttons.

No. 11.—High Waist. — Notice that this garment is extra high cut in the waist, which permits shaping in slightly at waist and at the same time gives a generous seat measurement. This results in the hip pockets being high enough so that you will not sit on tools or other contents of the hip pocket.

No. 12.—Side Openings. — Permits convenient entrance to inside trousers pockets. These openings are closed when not needed by button and buttonhole provided, which is another distinctive feature.

No. 13.—Strong Seams, double lock stitched, stronger than the material itself and guaranteed to outwear the material under any and all conditions. There is not a raw seam in the entire garment. Every pocket facings are turned in and hemmed.

No. 14.—Strain Points.—All points of strain reinforced with special extra thread bar-tacks.

No. 15.—Coat Hanger.—A convenient, appreciated exclusive feature.

No. 16.—Hip Pockets.—Extra large and very conveniently placed.

No. 17.—Guaranteed.—The Robinson Co.'s guarantee back of every garment.

Advantages.

1. The Consolidated School would be a graded school and consequently much more efficient than the present one-roomed schools.

2. It would bring High School privileges within the reach of every family in the area, and thus would be a great saving of money to the community, and the children would receive this education without having to leave home for it.

3. The children would be transported to and from school in the charge of responsible drivers. They would be comfortable and not tired out when they reached school and fit for the day's work.

4. The Consolidated School would become the community centre where all would meet for social and literary purposes and it would be the chief means and factor in making rural life happier and richer. Good crops are not of much value to the farmer unless they can provide him and his family with better living. While the cost of running this Consolidated school would be a little higher than that of running the present one-roomed small schools, it would bring greater privileges to the door of every resident in the district at very little additional cost. Is that not worth while? We believe that our boys and girls are worthy of the best we can give them. Let us therefore plan together and work together and give them the best education that we can afford.

OBITUARY.

Late Mrs. (Dr.) MacKinnon.

On Friday, March 17th, 1922, there passed away at her home in Renfrew, Mrs. K. L. MacKinnon, the wife of Dr. K. L. MacKinnon. Mrs. MacKinnon was formerly Miss Lucy Scott, the daughter of the late W. C. and Mrs. Scott, of Napanee. At the time of her marriage Dr. MacKinnon was serving as a Captain in the C. A. M. C., and Mrs. MacKinnon proceeded overseas with him, remaining there until the close of the war.

On the cessation of hostilities they took up residence in Renfrew, where Dr. MacKinnon entered practise with Dr. Murphy, one of the best established physicians in that part of the country. It was not long before Mrs. MacKinnon had won her way into the hearts of a community of kind and interested friends.

She had enjoyed the best of health until quite recently, when she underwent a slight operation, which was not at the time considered at all serious, but peritonitis set in, and though every effort was made she failed to recover.

The funeral was held from her late home in Renfrew on Sunday. Rev. A. J. Wilson, of Napanee, and Dr. Herod of Renfrew, conducted the service. She leaves to mourn her loss, besides a whole host of friends, her mother, Mrs. Scott, of Napanee, her husband, Dr. MacKinnon, and two little children, Donald aged four, and Kaireen aged six months.

Mrs. Ross Sills.

Word was received on Thursday morning of the death in Toronto of Mrs. Ross Sills. Mrs. Sills before her marriage was Miss Hazel Roblin, daughter of Mr. James Roblin, of Napanee. The young couple since their marriage had made their home in Toronto, where Mr. Sills conducted a drug business. About two weeks ago Mrs. Sills contracted scarlet fever. Not at any time of the strongest it was found that she did not possess strength enough to stand the strain of the disease, and after struggling for some days, finally succumbed on Wednesday night.

In the passing of Mrs. Sills, the community in Napanee, her home town, and those whose friendship she had won in her new home, loses a bright and popular young woman; the little baby a loving mother; her parents a sympathetic and affectionate daughter, and her husband a kindly and devoted wife.

Mrs. R. Richardson.

Mrs. R. Richardson, a resident of this community during her entire life, passed away on Saturday, March 18th, 1922, at her late residence, South Napanee.

Mrs. Richardson had been an invalid for the past eight years, but during her entire illness she was always bright, and cheery, and pleased to see all and any of her many friends who visited her. Although her illness was prolonged, still her loved ones always prayed and looked for her recovery, and it was a great shock for everyone when she was called to her reward.

She was a member of Grace Methodist Church and attended regularly until she was unable to leave her home. She often spoke of her appreciation of the thoughtfulness and kindness shown her by the members of Grace Church, and especially of Rev. A. J. Terrill, who so faithfully and tenderly rendered such words of comfort and cheerfulness since his short pastorate here.

Surviving are her husband, one son, Leslie, of Napanee, and two daughters, Lillian, of Detroit, and Vena, at home. The family have the sympathy of the community in this their double sorrow, having, two weeks previous, lost a daughter and sister, Vera.

Mrs. Jane Yeomans.

On Saturday, March 18th, 1922, there passed away one of the oldest residents of the Township of Camden, in the person of Mrs. Jane Yeomans of Newburgh, at the ripe age of 92 years, 1 month and 18 days.

Deceased was born at Wicklow, Ireland, on February 1st, 1830. Her maiden name was Jane Dack, and with her family she came to Canada in the year 1840. She was married to John G. Yeomans, of Wesley, on July 28th, 1851, and became the mother of eleven children, seven of whom are living. She leaves also twenty-four grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren. She also leaves one brother, Lawrence Dack, of Newburgh. Her husband predeceased her twenty-three years ago.

Mrs. Yeomans was a life-long Methodist, and will be remembered by her family as a faithful mother. She was in possession of all her faculties until the day of her death, and always wanted to be busy. The writer saw her knitting by light just a few weeks previous to her death.

On February 1st, when friends gathered at her home in celebration of her birthday, it was remarked that she appeared to be in better health than she was a year ago. But in a few weeks after she contracted a cold which developed into pneumonia, and on Saturday, March 18th, she fell asleep, without suffering any signs of suffering.

The funeral was held in the Methodist Church, Newburgh, on Monday afternoon, and was largely attended, the Rev. Mr. Hoare being in charge.

—The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held in the Public Library, on Tuesday, March 28th, at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Ben. Denison, of Selby, will be present.

—The death occurred at Adolphustown, on Saturday, of Isiah Sherman, a well known resident. A week ago a brother, James Sherman, was buried, both brothers dying of pneumonia A widow and grown-up family survive. The funeral took place on Monday.

—The Odessa Methodist Community Club gave an Irish concert and tea on Tuesday evening, March 21st. An excellent programme was given, by local and other talent. Rev. W. T. Dale, of Cooke's Church, Kingston, gave an interesting address on "Ireland". Mr. R. W. Anglin, Kingston, presided. There was a good attendance, and the evening was enjoyed by all.

DIARHOEA IN FOALS

Scours Causes Many Losses Annually Among Young Colts.

Symptoms Described and Timely Treatment Suggested — Laudanum and Castor Oil a Good Drench—Preparing for Gardening.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The occurrence of Scours in foals is responsible for a considerable part of the losses among them during the earlier periods of their lives. It often makes its appearance within a few days after birth, without any apparent cause. Among the various causes responsible may be mentioned too long intervals being allowed between the sucking periods, as is often the case when the dam is being worked and the foal allowed to suck only during the mornings, noon, and evenings, and when the foal is hungry the milk is swallowed rapidly and in excessive quantities. Another frequent cause is the foal sucking the mare after she has been overworked, or while she is in an overheated condition, and the udder has become filled with milk in which there may be an excess of the products of tissue waste, drained from the system.

Artificial feeding is also another cause, as in the case of foals being fed on cow's milk.

It may also result from the indiscriminate use of physic medicines.

The milk of the dam is also materially affected by the nature of the diet, and sudden changes from one kind of food to another cause a variation in the milk, which tends to derange the stomach of the foal.

There are also other predisposing factors, such as exposure to cold rains and the keeping of the young animal in a damp, unwholesome stable, and especially where the floors are filthy and wet, owing to lack of drainage.

In addition to the foregoing, there are also some infectious agents (disease germs) which cause a very fatal form of scours or dysentery in foals.

Symptoms.—When the foal is affected with scours, the symptoms may be first preceded by a constipated condition, which, however, is soon followed by the passage of liquid matter. The discharges at first appear soft and slimy and have often a peculiar, offensive odor. The tail and hips become soaked and covered with the discharges, which, in severe cases, became more frequent and very watery. The foal then rapidly loses condition and becomes very weak, and the belly becomes tender. If not arrested, the condition may prove fatal in from two to ten days.

Treatment and Prevention.—As a means to prevention, the first consideration should be the avoidance of the various causes which have been mentioned. The foal should be protected from exposure to cold rain storms. The stable should be maintained in a good, dry, and sanitary condition, and plenty of dry bedding provided in the stall occupied by the foal. In cases where the dam is being fed on cow's milk, it should be modified to suit by the addition of about one-third water and sufficient sugar to make it sweet to the taste. In cases where the dam is being worked and the foal having access to her only during mornings, noon, and evenings, care should be exercised to prevent it, when hungry and the stomach empty, from sucking the milk too rapidly and in excessive quantities. If the dam has been over-exerted and become over-heated, some of the milk should be withdrawn by hand from the udder before allowing the foal to commence sucking.

The nature of the treatment employed in affected foals is to some extent governed by the origin of the trouble, so that the cause should be ascertained if possible.

With the exception of those cases which have resulted from the improper use of physic medicines, it is usually best to begin treatment by giving a teaspoonful of laudanum, combined with two ounces of castor oil and a drench. In addition a teaspoonful of prepared chalk and powdered catechu may be given in a cupful of boiled milk or flour gruel every four or five hours, until the movements of the bowels become more regular. Another common remedy is a tablespoonful of lime water and a teaspoonful of laudanum given in a little boiled milk, repeated every four hours as required.

When the foal is in a weakened condition, its strength should be kept up by means of an egg beaten up with several ounces of the mother's milk, and poured carefully into the mouth, and repeated at-intervals of three hours, or as may appear necessary. The foal should in all cases be kept warm and comfortable until better. If the foregoing measures are not effective in checking the condition within a reasonable time, special veterinary treatment may be necessary.—C. D. McGilvray, M.D.V., President Ont. Vet. College, Toronto.

Preparing for Gardening.

This month begins the active gardening work. Hot-beds should be made, and the seeds of the early plants like cabbages, cauliflower, early celery, early beets, and tomatoes season plants like tomatoes for plants and peppers should be started. Many of these needs for small gardening work may be started inside which will relieve the necessity of making hot-beds until the first part of next month. Manure for top-dressing the ground may be hauled out the latter part of this month.

Put spraying machine into good condition, and test it.

Keep plant aphis in check by using some tobacco preparation.

"Don't rush away, old man."

"I must. My wife's sitting up and if I miss the last train I shall catch it, but if I catch it I shall miss it; and if I miss it I would catch it if I didn't catch it, therefore I don't want to miss it because I don't want to catch it. Catch on?"

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

Many have been relieved of corns by Holloway's Corn Remover. It has a power of its own that will be found effective.

There's no use, I must take up golf.

Need the exercise?

No; I want to understand what my friends are talking about.

Worms in children, if they be not attended to, cause convulsions, and often death. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will protect the children from these distressing afflictions.

Patron of the Arts—Eighty-five francs? That's rather expensive for the work of a painter who's still alive.

Art Dealer—Well, you might give me the money, and I'll see what can be done about it.

It Has Many Qualities.—The man who possesses a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is armed against many ills. It will relieve a cough, break a cold, prevent sore throat; it will reduce the swelling from a sprain, relieve the most persistent sores and will speedily heal cuts and contusions. It is a medicine chest in itself.

"Don't rush away, old man."

"I must. My wife's sitting up and if I miss the last train I shall catch it, but if I catch it I shall miss it; that is what I would catch after if I didn't catch it, therefore I don't want to miss it because I don't want to catch it. Catch on?"

There is nothing repulsive in Miller's Worm Powders, and they are as pleasant to take as sugar, so that few children will refuse them. In some cases they cause vomiting through their action in an unsound stomach, but this is only a manifestation of their cleansing power, no indication that they are hurtful. They can be thoroughly depended upon to clear worms from the system.

"My dear," said Mr. Plunger, when he went home one evening, "I've something important to tell you—I received an offer to be appointed to take charge of my affairs."

"How nice!" cooed Mrs. Plunger. "When will he hold his first reception?"

A Corrector of Pulmonary Troubles.—Many testimonials could be presented showing the great efficacy of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in correcting disorders of the respiratory processes, but the best testimonial is experience and the Oil is recommended to all who suffer from these disorders with the certainty that they will find relief. It will allay inflammation in the bronchial tubes.

To Asthma Sufferers.—Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy comes like a helping hand to a sinking swimmer. It gives new life and hope —something he has come to believe impossible. Its benefit is too evident to be questioned—it is its own best argument—its own best advertisement. If you suffer from asthma get this time-tried remedy and find help like thousands of others.

This final echo of the past football season comes to us. An irate gridiron fan who had watched his home team go down to defeat, stopped the referee as he was leaving the field. "Where's your dog?" he demanded.

"Dog?" ejaculated the referee, "I have no dog."

"Well," said the grouchy one, "you're the first blind man I ever saw who didn't have a dog."

Deflation Aids New Tire Firms to Enter Field

Whilst Large and Old Companies Cut Inventories to Bone Last Year, Conditions Offered Wonderful Opportunity to New Concerns. Tiger Tire Co. Makes Good.

Toronto. — Industrial conditions throughout Canada, as well as throughout the world, were in a somewhat chaotic condition throughout the entire year 1921, and in few industries was there less stability than in the rubber tire industry.

The raw product, rubber, had been selling at high prices for some years and, in 1920, along with most other commodities, began its downward course. Cotton or cotton fabric, which is the other principal raw commodity requisite to the production of the finished tire, had been selling around the highest price in history, and certainly at the highest price in a generation or more, and also had started on the down grade.

With prices of these commodities at the top, there had been an exceptional demand for tires in spite of the fact that tires, also, were selling at extraordinary prices. Those were the days when monetary inflation was at its highest point and when the public was spending money more freely than it ever spent or was able to spend before or since.

The change came before the end of 1920, but it was not till 1921 that producing companies or business as a whole were brought face to face with realities. The decline had only begun and would not be arrested. It would continue and inventories of rubber and cotton as well as of everything else would have to be written down.

Big Firms Hard Hit.

Thus, the larger the tire company, the heavier was it likely to be hit. In a period of active demand for tires, it would have been possible to cease buying the raw product for a period until the old product had been reduced to a safe volume and thus averted menacing losses. Unfortunately, when it became manifest that the raw product would fall to lower prices, demand for the finished product began to shrink. This situation had to be met by lowering the price of tires. This was done not once but many times during 1921, with the result that many of the oldest and largest companies were brought to the threshold of ruin, and reorganizations of capital and of industries became the order of the day.

Distressing as these conditions were to the established industries, they afforded opportunities for the launching of new industries the like of which had not been seen for many years. Men with experience and foresight were ready to perceive this and to take advantage of the situation. New industries entering the tire field, had everything in their favor save the advantage of an established reputation, and even this they could give some evidence of in the personnel of their organizers and management. Thus, was the basic advantage of being able to come unhampered into a market, purchase their raw or basic material at bottom prices, manufacture it on a lowering wage scale and dispose of it profitably at a price which would represent heavy loss to the older competitor.

TIGER TIRE COMPANY.

Naturally, many new tire and rubber companies were formed under such conditions and many of these have experienced a successful year. Among the notable instances is the Tiger Tire and Rubber Company, Ltd., which has its head office at Toronto, and its factory in the City of Belleville. This company did not begin to manufacture until March, 1921, and consequently had a period of but ten months to complete the calendar year, yet within that period had made such progress both in the way of earnings and new business as to more than justify the confidence of the management and shareholders in their undertaking and its future.

The financial statement for the initial period takes in business as from March 11th to the end of September, or approximately six and one-half months. Starting with nothing, the company within that limited period showed the following results:

Sales	$244,569
Manufacturing cost	178,493
Gross Profit	$ 66,076
Administrative expense, etc.	37,886
	$ 28,190
Loss on rubber and other materials purchased prior to operations	13,462
Net profits (6 per cent)	$ 14,728

It will be seen that even in the case of these operations, which was merely for the company to meet a certain small loss on the market price of the raw material purchased by it previous to its operations. This loss, however, it had no difficulty in overcoming and converting into a profit the tale of which would be regarded as most satisfactory by long established companies under normal conditions. This profit, naturally, was after full provision had been made for depreciation and bad debts and after all accrued expenses had been considered.

At the end of the period mentioned, the company was in good financial position, its liquid assets showing a surplus of $36,846 over all liabilities to the public.

Although the sales shown in the statement alluded to above were placed at $244,569, a further statement relative to sales up to the end of the year shows that the company did a total business of approximately $350,000. A very pleasant gratifying situation is found in the fact that already, with only one month of the new year gone, the company is in the fortunate position of having secured as much new business for 1922 as it booked to December 31 last year. All this new business is on its books and represents firm contracts with reputable concerns. In the judgment of the management, the company will be able to book as much and more additional business for 1922 so it has already over the estimate for the entire year being around three-quarters of a million dollars.

The profit and loss surplus of the initial period of business has all been turned back into the purchase of additional equipment. The company is now operating on a production of 180 tires per day. With the new equipment completed, the plant will be thoroughly modern and up-to-date and will have a capacity of 460 tires per day.

The officers and directors of the company are: President, Wm. Seward; Vice-President, R. J. Graham; Directors, John Uglow, T. B. Pringle, M. F. Smith; General Manager, H. H. Hastings; Treasurer, F. B. Milligan; Factory Manager, Wm. Seward.

Oxygen Device Tested.

Because of the possible disastrous failure of an airman's oxygen supply apparatus at great altitudes, the United States bureau of standards has devised a reliable method of testing the equipment in the laboratory. All the conditions of high-altitude flights are accurately reproduced, says Popular Mechanics Magazine in an illustrated article appearing in its July issue. Decreased pressure is obtained by inclosing the equipment in a bell jar connected to an air pump.

A Passing Jest.

We should have thought of this joke before, but even yet, if we hurry, a gentle reader here and there will know what we are talking about.

WHAT DID BETTY BUY?

COPY OF BETTY'S LETTER

Dear Mr. Simpson
You know Clara Green, don't you? WELL SHE WANTED TO BE A NURSE. What do you think of that? OF COURSE SHE WAS SIMPLY TRYING TO APE A SISTER OF MINE. However she left for Toronto taking her maid Topsy to carry her luggage. When they got to the station the train was pulling out. THEY RAN SO FAST TOPSY RUPTURED A BLOOD VESSEL IN HER LEG. However Clara got on the train alright. Then what do you think happened? SHE TUMBLED AND FELL PEL-MEL ON HER BAGGAGE. Isn't that funny? I BET SHE WANTED TO BAN A NASTY ENGINEER FOR JERKING THE TRAIN SO. She soon got herself in order and reached her seat safely. SHE TOOK OUT A BOOK BY CHARLES LAMB READ A PAGE AND FELL ASLEEP. On arriving in Toronto she woke with a start, and hurried off. Her baggage was heavy and looked a burden. A NICE CHAP PLEADED TO HELP HER She refused to let him as he was a stranger. But after walking two blocks she was tired out THEN SHE THOUGHT HERSELF A SIMPLE MONSTER FOR REFUSING HIS HELP. She finally reached the Training School and registered. But she didn't like it a bit. She felt very blue. IN FACT AT HER DINNER SHE ATE A VERY LITTLE. She fought with her room mate. IN A FIT OF JEALOUSY OR ANGER SHE LEFT. However before going home she bought a new dress at Smith's store. When she tried it on it didn't fit. SO SHE TOOK IT TO SMITH'S ALTERATION ROOM FOR CHANGES. Even then it didn't fit, and she wouldn't keep it. SO APPLYING FOR REFUND SHE GOT HER MONEY BACK. Then she took the next train for home. Isn't that an interesting story?

Betty Beatty.

FIND ABOVE THE NAMES OF 12 ARTICLES SOLD IN A GROCERY STORE

John Simpson was amazed when he read the above letter, which Betty Beatty had handed him. "Our order is in that letter" said Betty, "I've hidden the name of each article I've come to buy in each of the underlined sentences. Puzzle it out and I'll tell you the quantities." "Well" said Mr. Simpson "I can't find the name of a single article in my store, that is mentioned in your note." "Of course you can't" said Betty. But here's the clue. In each underlined sentence I've hidden one name. It is only the name of a grocery fruit or vegetable and there is just one thing in each sentence. The letters aren't jumbled and all you have to do is to find the right letter to start on. For instance, if you start on the letter "B" in the fifth word of the first underlined sentence you will quickly see B-E-A-N. That's the name of one of the things I want. There are twelve items altogether, and the name of each one is hidden in one of the underlined sentences. So now what do I want? Find the names and you get the order."

John Simpson puzzled the letter out and got the order. Can you do as well? If you can mail your answers at once Over $2500.00 in prizes and rewards is being given. Remember there are no trade mark name or products of any particular manufacturer In many cases, as in the first underlined sentence, the single name as "Bean" and not the plural "Beans" is used. Be very careful, therefore, if you find the names to spell them exactly as they appear in the sentence.

THIS GREAT CONTEST IS ABSOLUTELY FREE OF EXPENSE

There is nothing to pay—nothing to buy!

This wonderful Contest is nothing more nor less than a great advertising and introduction campaign. It is absolutely free of expense. You may enter and win the best of the prizes without spending a single cent of your money. You do not have to buy anything, or subscribe to anything, in order to compete.

The Contest is conducted by the Continental Publishing Co. Limited, one of the strongest and best known publishing houses in Canada. That is your guarantee that the prizes will be awarded with absolute fairness and squareness.

Three independent judges, having no connection of any kind with this firm, will judge the answers at the close of the Contest, and award the prizes. Contestants must agree to abide by their decisions.

In sending your solution use one side of the paper only, and put your name and address (stating whether Miss, Mrs., Mr. or Master) in the upper left hand corner. If you wish to write anything but your answers use a seperate sheet of paper.

The answers gaining 240 points will win first prize. You get 110 points if you find all the words correctly (10 points for each correct answer, excepting 1, which is given) and 20 points will be given for general neatness, punctuation and spelling, 10 points for handwriting and 100 points for fulfilling a simple condition of the Contest. This condition is only that you assist in this big advertising campaign by showing a copy of Everywoman's World, Canada's greatest Magazine (which we will send you post paid) to just four friends or neighbors, who will appreciate this really worth while Canadian publication and want it to come to them every month. You will easily fulfill this simple condition in a few minutes of your spare time. The Contest will close at 6 p.m. June 30th. 1922. immediately after which the judges will start to judge the answers and award the prizes.

DON'T DELAY Send your answer today. This announcement may not appear in this paper again. Address The Contest Manager, Department Continental Publishing Co. Limited, 136 Toronto Ont.

Flinton, Ont.
March 6th, 1922.

Mr. and Mrs. Kimmerly.

Dear Friends,—A number of your friends have gathered here this evening that we might spend a social hour together e'er you leave for your new home and field of labor. We regret that the time for parting has come, and that henceforth we shall be deprived of your service and aid in our community life. Yet we trust that your interest in our community will not fade. During the many years you have spent among us you have proven your worth as true citizens and neighbors. We have found you interested and ready to help in all the interests of our community life, municipal, social and religious. As neighbors we have always found you sympathetic in our sorrows and griefs, always ready to give a helping hand and a kindly word.

In many ways we shall miss you, but we feel that in the community to which you are going, you will labor with the same good will as you have among us, and that our loss will be others' gain, and soon you will win your way into the hearts of many who are now strangers to you.

In parting we would ask you to accept these chairs, as a slight token of our esteem and good will. We trust that you will live many years to enjoy their comfort, and may your thoughts often wander back to your friends who will always welcome you in their homes whenever you find it possible to visit us. Our best wishes go with you to your future home.

Signed on behalf of your Flinton friends.

"They Certainly Did Help Me"

WHY PASCAL THEBEAU RECOMMENDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

New Brunswick Man Now in Good Health, Advises all Sufferers From Kidney Trouble to Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Village St. Jean, Kent Co., N.B.—(Special)—"Dodd's Kidney Pills certainly helped me."

Such is the emphatic statement of Pascal Thebeau, a well-known resident of this village.

"I was very ill of Kidney disease," Mr. Thebeau continues. "In the mornings I was so weak I could not get up before mid-day. I took three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they did me a lot of good."

"Now I am well again and I advise any person suffering from Kidney disease to use Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are known in every corner of Canada as the old reliable Canadian Kidney remedy. They are known by the work they have done.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the remedy for sick kidneys.

BIG U. S. PACKERS REPORT DEFICITS.

The annual statement of Wilson & Co., packers, revealing an operating deficit of $8,462,650 during 1921, was made public to-day. Including payment of preferred dividends, the deficit for the year was placed at $9,206,260, compared with profits of $1,500,000 in 1920 and $5,000,000 in 1919.

The statement said that while sales totalled fewer dollars in 1921 than in previous years, the tonnage was very nearly the same.

Wilson & Co. was the last of the big five packers to issue a statement and each company reported a loss for the year. The aggregate deficit of Wilson & Co., Cudahy & Co., Armour & Co., Swift & Co. and Morris & Co., was $77,817,460.

One of the hardest things in the world for a colyumist to do is keep his hands off society items when they come in sequence like this:—

"Mrs. Q. S. Jones and daughters of Little River, Neb., arrived yesterday for a two weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. K. I. Smith of Locust street.

"Mr. K. I. Smith of Locust street, left for New York last night on a two or possibly three weeks' business trip."

BILIOUSNESS AND LIVER DISEASES

May be the result of Constipation or may exist when the bowels are irregular. The liver is congested often giving rise to pain under the right shoulder, the complexion is yellow, headache, nausea, loss of appetite, slight fever, distress after eating, sometimes vomiting. Bile does not enter the bowels to digest the fats which decompose, forming gas, irritating the intestinal tract, often producing diarrhoea. A natural Liver Stimulant is required and DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS taken according to directions not only stimulates, but tones that organ.

SWITZERVILLE.

Welcome back from the south, dear little robin, harbinger of spring! Inflame the hearts of our people with your inspiring song!—Many of the farmers here are busy in the woods attending to the sap, which Nature has so abundantly provided this year. No doubt in a short time the words of that poet who said, "the merry groups are speeding to sugar woods away", will be realized.—The W. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. Clayton Cranston, on Thursday of last week. —Mr. C. W. Vandervoort is on the sick list.—The pie social held last Tuesday evening, in aid of the Mission Circle, was quite successful, the proceeds amounting to $23.50. Many thanks are due Rev. Mr. Latimer and the Wilton Quartette, who assisted so efficiently in the programme. — Mr. Charles Lowry spent last week in Toronto.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Silver, who during the past year, were assisting Mr. John Walker on the farm, have left for their new home near Violet.—The service on Sunday last was conducted by Mr. Wright, of Newburgh, Rev. Mr. Cooke still being in isolation.—Mr. C. Rodgers and family are occupying Mr. C. Miller's tenant house.—The social tea held at Mr. R. J. Brethen's, recently, in aid of the Mission Band, was enjoyed by all those who attended. The sum of $10.00 was taken in.—Mr. J. Hunter and family, of Harrowsmith, have moved into this neighborhood, on the farm lately vacated by Mr. H. Dafoe. —Mr. and Mrs. Willie Robson spent Sunday at Mr. F. Wales'.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. Catarrhal Deafness requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

RHEUMATISM

Have you given up? Have you resigned yourself to that old, gnawing pain that nothing seems to relieve? Do you think because you can't go to Hot Springs or take some expensive treatment that you have no other alternative? We have many cases considered hopeless, tried everything, baths, serums, electricity, who found recovery by using T.R.C.'s (Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules). We have thousands of letters that prove beyond doubt T.R.C.'s to be the most practical and successful Rheumatic remedy sold. At druggists, $1.00 per box. For Free Trial write Templeton, Toronto. Buy Clothes That You're Sure About

It's only natural that you should look for lower Clothing prices; world-wide adjustment permits good clothes to be sold for less; we're doing it; other good stores are doing it. But beware of the fantastic tales that you may hear now and then. Use your own judgment. Watch your step. Don't be fooled into thinking you're going to get something for nothing. The best thing to do is to buy your Spring Clothes from a store you know always plays fair.

Our stock of New Spring Clothes is now practically complete. We are showing a specially fine line of Young MEN'S SUITS, in the reliable BENGARD MAKE. Styles will please the young men.

Fine Tweeds, in different shades of Gray, Brown, and Blue, in the new Effect, and Stripe effects, $20.00 to $32.50.

Fine Worsteds, in Plain and neat Pattern effects, $25.00 to $32.50.

Plain Blue in dependable English Serges, at $27.50 and $33.00.

Plain Dark Green, in one or two button, Double Breasted styles, best quality, $35.00 and $37.50.

MEN'S SUITS IN CONSERVATIVE STYLES.

For the man who prefers a more staple style, we have neat fitting two or three button single breasted models.

Tweeds, in a great variety of colorings, at from $20.00 to $30.00.

Plain Grey Serges, Canadian Cloth, $27.50; English Cloth at $38.50.

Plain Blue Serges, guaranteed as to color and tailoring, $27.50, $33.00 and $35.00.

We show only Dependable Makers' Goods. We have no use for the so-called cheaper makes; they never give satisfaction.

In all probability the season will open in June. The schedule will be out some time after the 1st of May.

Anyone wishing to try out with the team will hand his name in to Mr. E. J. Roy on or before the 1st of May, as their is plenty of room for good players.

A meeting will be held in the near future to appoint some one for the Executive to go to Belleville to the Executive meeting, May 1st.

OBITUARY.

A very sad death occurred at Toronto, on March 5th, when Florence Beatrice, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Young, passed away, after a brief illness, caused by after effects of flu. Her mother was called to her bedside on Tuesday, but in spite of the best of medical attention and nursing, she was called to rest on Sunday morning. Though sadly missed, she has left to her sorrowing parents many beautiful thoughts and expressions of great faith, which can never be forgotten, and which will be of great comfort to them. Her supreme happiness seemed to be in the thought that she was going home to be "Nearer My God To Thee", a verse of which she sang with rare sweetness shortly before death claimed her. Beautiful floral tributes were :—Father and Mother, pillow; Gretna Ladies' Aid, spray roses; J. B. and Mrs. Unsworth, Toronto, sheaf of carnations and lilies; Mrs. W. C. McDonald Toronto, spray carnations and roses; Col. J. B. MacLean and the Executive of the MacLean Publishing Co., Ltd., Toronto, wreath roses; friends in the subscription department of "MacLean's Magazine Co., Ltd., Toronto, spray carnations, lilies and roses. A cable of sympathy was received from Mr. and Mrs. Unsworth, Los Angeles, California; also letter of condolence from Rev. G. W. Boyce, Cournlee.

A very impressive service was conducted in Metropolitan Church, on Tuesday, by Rev. Mr. Truscott, after which the remains were taken to Riverview Cemetery, to await interment. Friends from Yarker in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Jas. J. Freeman, Mrs. McLean and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. Darby, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. S. Freeman.

Pictures of World's Sunday School Convention.
At the time of the World's Sunday School Convention held in Tokio, the boards of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Anglican Churches in Canada requested the Pathescope Company to send a representative to the Orient to film the work of these denominations. An expert operator was sent; and at a cost of fifteen thousand dollars the pictures were secured. This was the first time that anything of the kind had ever been attempted, and now the pictures are ready to be shown. They will be shown in St. Andrew's Church on Monday, March 27th, at 8 p.m. The purpose of the pictures is purely educational. A nominal admission of 25c. has to be made in order to help meet the expenses. This is the first time that these have been shown here, and ought to be seen by all who are interested in the missionary work of the various denominations, and especially should those who criticise adversely the missionary enterprise come and see what really constitutes missionary activity. 12a

ROD AND GUN.

The April issue of Rod and Gun in Canada is a particularly attractive one, and from cover to cover it abounds in bright, interesting features. The stories include a splendid contribution from the pen of Frank Houghton, entitled "The Trail of a Golden Hope"; while "Birds", by Phil H. Moore, is also worthy of special mention. Bonnycastle Dale is the author of "Our Wild Decoys". The various departments contain a wealth of valuable information, as usual. A complete report of the annual meeting of the Northern Ontario Outfitters and Guides, is given. A handsome art cover by F. V. Williams, who also contributes a short story, will likewise attract attention to this month's issue.

Rod and Gun in Canada is published monthly at Woodstock, Ontario, by W. J. Taylor, Limited.

PHYSICAL TRAINING IN SCHOOLS.

The following is an extract from a circular letter to the Inspectors:—

May I ask your co-operation in our efforts to promote systematic Physical Training in the schools in your Inspectorate. I might state that as far as the Military District is concerned, we are ready to lend our Permanent Force Physical Training Instructors to train your teachers according to the latest Syllabus of Physical exercises which has been adopted by the Committee of the Strathcona Trust, and also by the Department of Education.

Wherever teachers can be gathered together in numbers of twenty or twenty-five at some central point an Instructor will be furnished to conduct a Course to qualify teachers for Grade "B" Certificates. All teachers attending such a Course will be entitled to pay at the rate of 50c. an hour. The Course is a forty-five hour Course, and this is extended over a period of from four to five weeks.

G. H. GILLESPIE, Lt. Col.
I. C. S. M. D. No. 3.

Inspector of Public Schools,
Napanee, Ontario.

Teachers interested might communicate with the Inspector.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Allen Oliver.

The funeral of the late Allen Oliver was held on Friday afternoon, March 10th, at his home on the Deseronto Road, and was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Shorey, of Napanee, officiated. The body was laid away in the vault of the Deseronto cemetery to await spring burial.

Mr. Oliver was 82 years of age at the time of his death, and had been born and had lived continuously on the same farm. His father and forefathers were of the U. E. Loyalist stock that settled in this country during the last quarter of the eighteenth century. During his life Mr. Oliver was active and influential in the affairs of Richmond Township, as reeve and county commissioner for many years. He was at the time of his death a Justice of the Peace.

Mr. Oliver was liked by everybody, and was a good, loyal and kind neighbor. He was a lifelong member of the Conservative party and the Methodist Church. There are left to mourn the widow, Mrs. Allen Oliver, and two sons, Thomas, of Calgary, and Harry, on the homestead; and six grandchildren, and a legion of friends and relatives. Three sons have preceded him in death,—Lorne was killed while in action overseas during the late war; Morley died at Calgary, and Malcolm died at his home in Richmond. The pall bearers at the funeral were Alexander Thompson, Robert Bowen, Austin Kimmerly, Mendall Kimmerly, Robert Rennie and William Joyce.

Mr. Orval Fretts.

On March 4th, 1922, there passed away at Hawley, one of its most respected and well known residents, in the person of Mr. Orval Fretts. He was born in the Township of Ernesttown, and while yet a boy moved to this neighborhood, where he spent the remainder of his life. He was a staunch Methodist, and an ardent labourer for Christ, being Sunday School Superintendent for twenty years, and taking an active interest in all other branches of church work. For the last ten years, however, ill health had forced him to relinquish the former activities. Death came as a release, and an entering into the fuller life. In 1880 he was united in marriage with Miss Christina Farley, of Newburgh. Besides his widow he leaves to mourn his loss, two daughters, Mrs. Fraser Lampkin, Hawley; Mrs. Alfred Naufts, Toronto, and one son, Clayton, on the homestead. Two sisters, Mrs. Henderson, Wisconsin; Mrs. Lampkin, Brantford, and one brother, Mr. Andrew Fretts, Hawley, also survive him.

Many women now use Day Dream Toilet Water, as a purfume exclusively. It has such a delicate, refreshing fragrance, and is so lasting. For sale in Napanee, only at Wallace's.
